WEATHER FORECAST

Showers and thunderstorms have occurred in Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota, Eastern Nebraska, Iowa and Northern Illinois. Fair weather prevails in the Pacific Coast States, with seasonable temperatures.

The hot weather continues in the central valleys; the temperature at St. Louis this morning at 7 o'clock was 82 degrees.

The indications are for fair weather in this district Saturday.

H. O. McCallister, an employe of the City & Suburban Railway Company, fell from a sprinkler at the corner of Sixteenth and Marshall streets this morning, and sustained bruises about his face sufficient to cause him to walk to the Good Samaritan Hospital to receive attention. The injuries were not at all serious.

Chief of Police Hunt has secured a book, which is to be kept at police headquarters for the purpose of keeping the names of people all over the city who are going to the Coast for the season. All who notify the police will be written there, and the officers on their beat will be instructed to take special care of their house in their absence. Reports may be made by mail or telephone. Many have been received already.

Suit has begun in the State Circuit Court by P. Burgduff against E. W. Bell, asking to be declared a partner with Bell in a restaurant known as the Popular Kitchen. The plaintiff alleges that he held an option for a lease on the premises at 155½ Fourth street last January. This he turned over to Bell and one Brown in consideration of a one-third interest in the establishment. Brown retired from the business in February, and Bell refused longer to recognize Burgduff as a partner.

Ladies' have you ever thought that you can buy your dry goods and crockery cheaper at my store on the East Side of the river than you can procure like material for on the West Side, where rents are eight times greater than I have to pay? And have you thought that you can step out of my store onto a car and thus save the present, at least, harrowing experiences of those who have to "pack" bundles from West Side stores to the cars at the foot of Morrison street? My expenses are so low that I can afford to give lower prices than can those in the high-rent regions of the city. Baumer, Union avenue and East Morrison street.

A huge map of Josephine County, executed in colors by William P. Wright of Grants Pass, is on exhibition at the rooms of the Oregon Bureau of Information. The map is only loaned to the bureau, but it is intended that a blueprint be made from it for the benefit of patrons of the place. The map is 40x60 inches in size and the mineral deposits, agricultural and timber lands, water courses and elevations are indicated. "A glance at the map," said A. LeRoy of the bureau, "will show the prospective settler, miner or timber man just what the county contains and where and how such can be reached. A neat folder, containing a copy of this map would be an excellent thing to give visitors." The bureau also contains a smaller map of Baker County in which every mineral claim is indicated and its name given.

CAMERA CLUB EXCURSION

The camera fiends will be in their glory on Sunday next and those who accompany them will have spent a most enjoyable day. The Oregon Camera Club has chartered the Bailey Gatzert and will give their annual excursion to Cape Horn Sunday, July 12, and from all reports the weather promises to be good by that time. Excursions given by the Camera Club are always popular inasmuch as they are conducted in the most orderly way possible, and great care is exercised in selecting a most suitable place at a suitable time of the year. Cape Horn is their destination, and as few people touch at that point on their way up the Columbia, is is expected many will avail themselves of the opportunity to see the great basaltic cliffs that rise perpendicularly from the water's edge. The committee visited the place about a month or so ago on a special steamer and found it to be an ideal spot for a picnic.

Low excursion rates to all points East July 12, 13, 14, 15 and 16, via the Northern Pacific Railway.

ANOTHER GIRL MISSING

Martha Maud Schevey Leaves Plummer Residence in Anger—Believed She Went Home.

Martha Maud Schevey, aged 13 years, and said to be very much of a brunette, left the residence of Dr. and Mrs. O. P. S. Plummer, where she was employed, early yesterday morning about 8 o'clock and has not been seen since, to the knowledge of any one in this city. It is thought, however, that she went away from the Plummer residence in anger because she was not permitted to go out on the streets at night, and that she went home to her mother, who lives at Starford, a distance of about 12 miles.

There are some who believe that the young girl met with foul play, and the police have been requested to investigate. All that could be learned was that she left the Plummer home in anger, after the family had gone away for a visit. She had been employed there but one day.

BEAUTIFUL PRINTING

The job printing house of Mann & Beach, 92 Second street, has turned out a piece of printing for the Willamette University that for neatness of composition, excellence of presswork and quality of halftones, would be difficult to equal anywhere in the United States. The book might well be termed a work of art, so beautiful are its pages. The concern has recently done similar work for the Bishop Scott Academy, Pacific University at Forest Grove, St. Helens Hall, this city, and other educational institutions.

These gentlemen have made large additions to their plant, enabling them to produce a class of printing that is not surpassed by anyone, and the floor room has been expanded so as to afford an entrance at 233 Stark street as well as at 92 Second. In keeping with this increase of work room, the firm's business is three-fold greater now than on January 1, and constantly enlarging. Its superior stock of stationery and paper, bought directly from Eastern manufacturers, enables the institution to turn out the best jobs at a less cost than can be afforded by those buying locally and in small quantities. "Progression" is the watchword with Messrs. Mann & Beach. They find it pays.

DELINQUENTS TO BE APPREHENDED

All Those Failing to Pay Their License Fees Are to Be Placed Under Arrest Commencing Tomorrow.

Besides the Regular Amount Due They Will Be Assessed an Extra Fine at the Option of the Court.

There are many people in Portland who failed to pay their licenses today that will probably be surprised at a summons of arrest tomorrow or Monday. The license officers have their instructions to apprehend all the delinquents and give them a chance to explain before the Municipal Judge why they were so forgetful. The city officials are more determined than ever to see the law strictly enforced.

The announcement made yesterday that this was the last day of grace for those owing license fees for the quarter resulted in a large rush at the license department today, but at that there are fully one-fourth or more of those on the books who have failed to take out their quarterly permits and instead of the regular fee these people will have to pay an additional fine of from $5 up. That was the average fine assessed upon the delinquents last quarter, and if it fails to remedy the evil this time it will be doubled for the next quarter.

As stated yesterday, an investigation will probably be made as to why there are so few lawyers and practicing attorneys paying license fees. It is said that from the average total there appears to be about one in five complying with the law in that regard. The physicians are much better in this respect, but still there are thought to be a number who have taken advantage of the laxity of the officials, and these are to be proceeded against. In short, those of every class who have not secured their licenses by tonight will not only be compelled to disgorge the regular fees, but also an extra fine to make them remember better the next time. The law covering violations of the statute is as follows:

"Section 10. Any person, firm, corporation or joint stock company who violates any of the provisions of this ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof before the Municipal Court, be punished by a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $300, or by imprisonment not to exceed 90 days, or both."

BIG RUSH TO BEACH.

Many Preparing to Go Down on the Potter Saturday.

The popular T. J. Potter leaves for Astoria and North (Long) Beach, Saturday forenoon at 9:40. The trip is one long to be remembered. A jolly, big crowd goes down Saturday. Join them. Particulars at city ticket office, Third and Washington.

MRS. O'DONNELL.

ONE DAY MORE.

Come this evening or tomorrow and see Mrs. O'Donnell, the lady from one side of whose face the smallpox pittings have been removed. She is exhibited merely to demonstrate to the incredulous that facial disfigurements may be obliterated. This woman is living evidence of this. She will be with me only one day more. Open evenings.

THEATRICAL OFFERINGS

Shields' New Show.

Shields' Park is everything that could be desired these nights, else crowded houses would not be the record. It is an event of satisfaction when a couple of thousand theatre patrons can sit in the open air and enjoy an entertainment made up of acts that are believed to be as good as were ever given in Portland. Such is the case this week, and for the week beginning Sunday night Mr. Shields announces a program made up of entirely new faces. There is not a specialty on the bill but what is a "top-notcher." High-class work is the reputation which the people enjoy who have been engaged by Mr. Shields. Above all the other merits of the show it can be understood that there will be no two features alike. Such an arrangement of a program is what makes it of 10-fold more value than one on which three or four teams appear, each one doing about the same class of work. Sunday night the new show begins and it will be the greatest one of the season.

This Week at Shields'.

Two more nights of the old program at Shields' Park. This week has been one of great encouragement for outdoor vaudeville and the 10 features of the show now running at the park have made great hits. It will be the last week when Hugh Emmett can be seen and heard. He is considered the world's greatest ventriloquist, and the comedy work he adds to his act is most acceptable to the patrons of the park. Moving pictures of Multnomah Falls are also shown this week, besides the other attractions. Its a clever show and there is no mistake.

Next Week at Empire.

The bill announced for next week at the Empire Theatre, commencing Monday, July 13, is fully up to the high standard set by the management of this fashionable resort. A duo of minstrels, whose very names will attract attention, top the program. McIntyre and Primrose is the title of the team whose melodious mirth will please Empire patrons all next week. Marsh Craig, the marvelous equilibrist, has no superior in his line of work and the team of Christy and Willis, in their sketch entitled "The Tramp Juggler and the Dancing Soubrette," will entertain the most exacting playgoer in Portland. World and Kingston, a comedian and soubrette who made good when they first appeared in Portland some weeks ago, will return and present an entirely new act. Haywood and Haywood and Conroy and Pearl are new sketch teams who are also on the list.

The Empire.

The Empire Theatre continues on its career of success this week. The heavy bass singing of Arthur Hahn is a feature whose excellence makes it perpetually new. The grotesque act of Delphino and Delmora is an entire novelty, while the colored comicalities of Devaney and Allen should be missed by no one. Matinee tomorrow afternoon.

"East Lynne."

Only three more performances of "East Lynne" remain to be given at the Baker Theatre. Judging from the advance sale for tonight, tomorrow afternoon and evening, the multitude of friends which the Baker Stock Company have made, are determined that no seat shall remain vacant at any of the three last presentations. As a farewell offering, "East Lynne," one of the most powerful of modern dramas, is most satisfactory.

Jose's Minstrels.

When Richard J. Jose, the wonderful contra-tenor, who is at the head of his own minstrel organization that is coming to the Marquam Grand Theatre next Monday and Tuesday nights, July 13-14, first made his appearance in New York City, with Denman Thompson's "Old Homestead" company, the critics of the metropolis were unanimous in their praise of his wonderful voice. One critic, in commenting on the performance the following morning, devoted almost his entire space to the singing of this phenomenon, and wrote thusly: "The singing last night was the best that ever accompanied an "Old Homestead" company. The double male quartet was headed by that peerless contra-tenor, Richard J. Jose. Around the old well in the first act they sang "The Old Oaken Bucket," and "Fifty Years Ago." Later they sang Shattuck's arrangement of "In Old Madrid" and "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight." In the Grace Church scene, "The Palms" was sung behind the scenes. In all of these numbers, Mr. Jose's voice was given an opportunity to be heard. He stands without an equal today upon the American stage as a contra-tenor. The quality of his voice is perhaps the sweetest that ever issued from the throat of man. His enunciation is perfect. Every word is so distinct and so intelligible that it is quite evident that Mr. Jose's voice has never been spoiled by a teacher.

"Dick Jose, as he was known in Reno, Nev., when he was a jolly young blacksmith, is a living example of the absurdity of stage traditions. In all comic operas, the blacksmith is always a basso-profundo. The assumption that a deep, gruff voice is the indication of physical strength is a popular fallacy as exemplified by Mr. Jose. He was a blacksmith when Frillman, the well-known minstrel basso, found him at the forge at Reno, but he happens to possess the highest singing voice of any man in America.

"Mr. Jose looks as though he could fell an ox with a single blow, and the disparaging remarks about the effeminacy of tenors promulgated by envious bassos is not likely to find any serious expression in his presence. Inconspicuously dressed in his plain blue overalls, Mr. Jose was recognized last night by many of his admirers and was given the best reception of the evening."

"The Circus Girl" Tonight.

Tonight at Marquam Grand Theatre will be given the first performance of "The Circus Girl" by the Augustin Daly Musical Company, to be followed by performances tomorrow afternoon and evening. The cast of characters which is given below shows the full strength of this excellent company:

FIRST ACCIDENT AT SEASIDE

As time goes on we have been wondering if the ocean would claim its usual victims this season. None have met fate so far, but many people have troubles almost as harrowing. If it were not for the fact that Cylead cures eczema and all forms of itching, skin troubles, these afflictions would be equally hopeless. Cylead, the great skin cure, sold by J. A. Clemenson, the druggist on Second and Yamhill streets, costs only 25c per large pot, and has no equal in troubles of this kind.
