VANCOUVER

STRANGE FIRES WORRY OFFICERS

Another Blaze Breaks Out in Eighth Battery Bounds at Vancouver and Talk of Incendiarism is Common.

Absolute Quiet Seals the Lips of Officers and Privates, but the Men Believe a Fire Bug Is Working.

(Journal Special Service.)
VANCOUVER, Wash., July 24.—The fire that partially destroyed the barn of the Eighth battery yesterday was followed by another smaller blaze early this morning, the quarters of the Eighth battery being the scene this time. The fire is said to have started in a bunk and caused little damage, the battery members extinguishing it before the fire company could respond.

Details of this latest fire are hard to obtain and a sudden silence seems to have settled over the officers and men of the battery. Subordinate officers referred unanimously to Lieutenant Mitchell, commanding officer of the battery, and Lieutenant Mitchell paused only long enough to remark that there was no damage, before he disappeared from the inner office.

The fact that two fires, both occurring on Eighth Battery ground and both coming at times when usually no one was near, excited some comment among the men of the garrison, but several who were in close touch with doings of the battery gave reason, not only for the fires, but for the reticence of the officers. These say that the fire this morning was of incendiary origin and that a quiet search is being carried on to discover the culprit, who is also charged with the blaze of yesterday.

Members of the battery, who usually are willing to report local happenings, are determinedly silent and if a private utterance has been issued no greater secrecy could be observed; behind the barriers, where private utterances themselves to their fellows, the atmosphere was clearer and the origin of the fire today was clearly stated to be incendiary.

LOGGERS SEVERE AN ARTERY AND LIVES

Rides Six Miles With Blood Flow Unchecked, Remains Conscious and Cool.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 24.—Pierce Trent, a logger working in a camp on Salmon Creek, six miles north of this place, had a narrow escape this morning and would have bled to death had he not been possessed of an unusual vitality that enabled him to stand a severe shock.

While Trent was sniping piles he gashed his leg with an axe and severed the main artery. His companions made every effort to stop the flow of blood by binding with whips and handkerchiefs above and below the cut, but their efforts failed to even check the stream.

Trent was placed in a wagon and driven here and for the six long miles the blood dripped from the wagon and formed a pool on the bottom of the bed. Dr. Black attended Trent after his arrival and though he was weak from his loss of blood, Trent was not unconscious and stoically bore the cleansing and stitching of the wound. Trent is half Indian by birth and to this strain the doctor attributes his surviving the long tracking ride and great loss of blood. No especially serious results are expected from the accident.

Tramps Cannot Linger.
VANCOUVER, Wash., July 24.—The annual pilgrimage of the American tramp is sending dozens of hungry tourists through this place and for the last month the police force has been occupied with these wanderers. The "move on" order is the one enforced here and no arrests are made for mere vagrancy, as the local funds do not permit of free board for hoboes and the rock pile has never been instituted.

General Court Returns.
VANCOUVER, Wash., July 24.—At the department of the Columbia headquarters this morning it was stated that the general court-martial would probably convene next week. The members of the court are en route from Alaska to hold court at this post, and it is expected that they will arrive early next week and begin the taking of testimony soon after.

Army Ball Teams Play.
VANCOUVER, Wash., July 24.—The Eighth Battery Maroons will meet the ball team of the Stevens tomorrow Sunday on the league grounds here. The visiting team is composed of Coast Artillery men and the corps spirit of rivalry is strong. The Maroons have been defeated only twice during the entire season, and expect to win. The Stevens team to their list of vanquished.

IMPROVEMENTS AT COTTAGE GROVE

Work of Construction Continues Steadily on the Oregon & Southeastern Railroad.

(Journal Special Service.)
COTTAGE GROVE, July 24.—The Oregon & Southeastern Railroad yesterday received the new coach for its passenger service. A feature was made of its first run today. The road has also in the past few days received and is now unloading and distributing a shipment of 200 tons of steel rails from Germany.

The construction gang at the front is working slowly but surely, under difficulties, and the road will be finished this season as far as Warehouse, a distance of about 10 miles from the base of the mountains leading up to the famous Bohemia mines, and about 29 miles from this city. The great activity in the mines this season is being felt in this city, as this is the base of supplies for the entire region. Every line of business here gets some benefit from this source and a great many of our people are interested in the development of the different properties in that camp.

Lee Henry, secretary of the LeRoy Mining Company, one of the pioneer companies of the Bohemia district, is just back from a ten days' trip to the properties of that company and reports not only his own company as pushing work rapidly, but that on every property as many men as can be used to advantage are at work doing development work and making other improvements necessary to make the properties wealth producers. Mr. Henry made as many as 40 camera views while in the camp. The Oregon Securities Company alone is spending $5,000 on the construction of a wagon road from the Champlain Basin to its mines, which are now and have been for years heavy producers. This company is also at the present time putting in an electric light plant, increasing its mill capacity by many stamps and otherwise spending a mint of money to improve properties.

President Lloyd of the Crystal Consolidated Mining Company is now in San Francisco for the purpose of buying a 10-stamp mill and sawmill machinery to produce the necessary lumber for the mill building and mine timbers. This company is composed almost entirely of local capital.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Chicago and Manitoba defeated Minnesota and St. Louis respectively in the Western Cricket Association tournament yesterday.

OREGON CITY

CHAUTAUQUANS NOT DETERRED BY CLOUD

Immense Crowd on Hand at Gladstone Park to Hear Champ Clark.

(Journal Special Service.)
OREGON CITY, July 24.—There was a big crowd at the Chautauqua yesterday, but the prospects are for a bigger one today, despite threatening weather. Almost everyone from this city and hundreds from the surrounding country are on hand to hear Champ Clark, the Missouri Congressman, deliver his lecture this afternoon, while an unusual number from Portland are in evidence. The subject of the Congressman's lecture is advertised as "Rich as Gold," in the official program, but the subject has been changed and he will now speak on "Picturesque Public Men."

An address was delivered this morning on "Church Finances," by Hon. W. W. Cotton of Portland. This evening at 8 o'clock Karl Gerstene, the wizard, will be the attraction. His entertainment last evening was attended by a very large crowd, which was duly appreciative.

The baseball game yesterday afternoon between Oregon City and the Vancouver Maroons resulted in a score of 11 to 6 in favor of the Maroons. The Oregon City team had the game well in hand up to the seventh inning, when it began making wild throws and inexplicable errors. Oregon City made more errors than hits, getting a total of 7. The Vancouver team made 8 errors and 12 hits. The game was witnessed by a large number of people, but it was really one of the poorest exhibitions of ball playing that has been seen at the Chautauqua during the meeting.

One of the leading attractions for tomorrow is a lecture by Rev. Mr. Broucher of Tennessee, on the subject of "How to Be Happy Married." It is confidently predicted that tomorrow's session will be a red letter day with the Chautauqua. If the attraction of Champ Clark and the added attraction of fireworks at night fail to bring an immense crowd, the managers will be very much disappointed. The Chautauqua Indian School is also advertised to render a program at 11 o'clock in the morning. Governor Chamberlain will attend the meeting tomorrow and will deliver an introductory address.

Burial on Sunday.
OREGON CITY, July 24.—The remains of Miss Dora Stover, who died at her home near the Barclay School yesterday morning, will be interred Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Mountain View Cemetery. The funeral services will be conducted from the Stover residence by Rev. Young. Miss Stover was 20 years of age and was a very popular young lady.

Oregon City Notes.
OREGON CITY, July 24.—Mrs. Belle Adams has filed suit in the Clackamas County Circuit Court for a divorce from her husband, W. Adams, on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. They were married in Vancouver in 1892.

Mountain View Tent, K. O. T. M., will have a grand picnic at Highland Saturday of next week. Mayor G. B. Dimick of this city and State Commander J. W. Sherwood will be the principal speakers of the day. A lunch will be served on the ground and dancing will be engaged in.

George Califf has been appointed mail carrier on the new free delivery route which will be established between this place and New Era the first of August. The route is known as No. 2.

BAKER CITY HAS PLENTY OF WOOL

But the Clip There Is Dirty and Does Not Demand Good Prices.

and in other sections of the state there are small quantities of wool in storage, but even these have been sold and Baker City is alone the market attracting woolbuyers. But while it has the only wool, Baker City also has the dirtiest wool.

The Baker City wool runs 72 per cent in dirt and grease, which leaves only 28 pounds of wool out of every 100 pounds purchased. The price of scouring wool in Boston is about 45 cents and to pay more than 11 cents a pound for 72 per cent wool in the grease would not be justifiable according to the ideas of the purchasers.

When asked why Baker City wools were so much dirtier this year than last it was stated that the only reason apparent was that so many clips were made in the same camp by electrical machinery. This necessitated the driving of many large flocks over the same trail, increasing the dust and dirt to a very appreciable degree. It was added that this might be found in the future a detriment to shearing by electrical machinery unless the camps were frequently moved from place to place.

There is 1,000,000 pounds of wool in Baker City untouched and from present prospects it will remain here, as buyers and sellers do not seem to agree.

RIGHT OF WAY FOR THE PORTAGE ROAD

Engineer Hammond in the Dailies for Purpose of Consummating Project.

(Journal Special Service.)
THE DAILIES, July 24.—Engineer Hammond arrived here yesterday for the purpose of securing the right of way for the proposed Portage Railroad. He expects no trouble with the owners of the property along the road, except where the portage will run over the O. R. & N. Co.'s right of way, as this company is against the project.

The action of the O. R. & N. in refusing to furnish Mr. Hammond with the boundaries of their right of way caused no surprise here, and further trouble from the railroad interests is expected. The railroads have always worked against all projects which were of interest to the entire eastern part of the state, except when it was to their interest.

Little is thought of the railroad trying to use all in its power to delay the portage by forcing it off its right of way, where it will be necessary to run over, by compelling the state to bring condemnation suits and receiving a large verdict by claiming it will interfere with the running of trains and betterments. All such cases will be tried in the Circuit Court here, and the feeling for the railroad in Wasco County is not of the best.

The court being up to date on work, no delay was result from this source. The chances are the railroad would receive nothing for its trouble at the hands of a Wasco County jury.

MORTON BODY RECOVERED
(Journal Special Service.)
ONTARIO, Or., July 24.—The remains of Reuben Morton, who was drowned in the Cuyahoga River near the mouth of Dry Creek, about 40 miles northeast of this city, were recovered and brought to the home of his brother, L. M. Morton. The remains were interred in the Ontario Cemetery at 10 a. m. yesterday.

The deceased was a son of J. A. Morton and a member of one of the most prominent pioneer families in this section. This is the third one of the family to lose life by drowning. A sister was drowned in the Malheur River several years ago, and another sister, Mrs. J. T. Hanson, was drowned in Harris Creek, Idaho, about three years ago.

ASTORIA

MYSTERY ABOUT ILWACO SHOOTING

Injured Man Is Now at Astoria—Salmon Prices Are Cut Down.

(Journal Special Service.)
ASTORIA, Or., July 24.—There is much mystery surrounding the shooting of William Black, an Ilwaco salmonman, wounded in the stomach Thursday night. W. W. B. Hewen, prosecuting attorney for Pacific County, Wash., has been in this city consulting the injured man in the effort to obtain some clue to the perpetrators of the crime. Black was brought here for treatment.

It was almost midnight when the shooting occurred. Black being attracted to a rear door by a noise. Two shots were fired through the door, one taking effect in his stomach.

"Doc" Winfield was arrested on a charge of assault with intent to kill, but his friends protested that he was not the man who fired the shot. Mr. Hewen consulted with Black about the matter. The wounded man insists that he recognized Winfield as one of his assailants, and that he also recognized the other man, who, he alleges, was Dick O'Brien. Black had some trouble with Winfield once, but not with O'Brien.

Prosecuting Attorney Hewen left Astoria after the consultation and stated that he would cause the re-arrest of Winfield. An effort will also be made to arrest O'Brien. Black is not nearly so badly hurt as was at first thought, and he will doubtless be able to return to Ilwaco tomorrow. On his arrival there he will assist the state in its prosecution of the two suspects.

Price of Fish Out.
ASTORIA, Or., July 24.—Yesterday afternoon the Sanborn-Cutting Packing Company reduced the price of fish to 5 cents flat. This price is now paid by the company for all sizes of fish. A few days ago J. G. Megler of Brookfield reduced the price from 6 to 5 cents, but the price was immediately restored, as the cut was due to a misapprehension.

None of the other packers on the river have followed the example set by Mr. Sanborn, and 6 cents is still paid by them for fish weighing over 25 pounds. Sanborn has no cold storage plant, while most of the other canners have. The large fish all go into cold storage. It is this which has doubtless prompted Sanborn to make the cut.

All other packers stated that they had no immediate intention of reducing the price of the salmon and result for pickled fish is a break that they can well afford to pay 6 cents for the large salmon, and until such time as the July run enters the river the present prices will unquestionably be maintained.

High Mass for Pope.
ASTORIA, Or., July 24.—Rev. Father Waters of St. Mary's Catholic Church yesterday officiated at a requiem high mass for the repose of the soul of the departed Pope Leo XIII. The church was filled with people anxious to thus pay tribute to the virtue of the deceased Pontiff. Father Waters' eulogy was masterly. High mass will continue every morning until the election of Leo's successor.

HORSES ARE MOVING IN EASTERN OREGON

Stockmen Seeking Market in Canada This Year—The Wheat Yield.

(Journal Special Service.)
PENDLETON, July 24.—The horse raisers of this section are beginning to hunt for the annual market, and the movement of large bands has commenced. J. F. Mahon of Mule, Harney County, is in this city with a band of over 100 hundred head of horses from his ranch, having driven them 200 miles across the country for shipment from the O. R. & N. yards here to Alberta, Canada, where he will sell them to the farmers of that country.

The eyes of the horse man seem to be turned towards the Canada countries.

now, for more shipments are being arranged and will be made as fast as the stock can be gathered from the ranges. Owing to the large influx of immigration to that section of the Dominion, horses are in demand there and will bring good prices and the men who are the owners of the stock on the overpopulated ranges of the eastern part of the state are anxious to supply the demand.

Mahon shipped his horses today and about the middle of the next week W. F. Matlock and J. Starks of this city will ship a train load from the yards at Echo to the same place. There will be 700 head of the second shipment and they will all be taken to the Alberta district to sell to the new comers there who are in need of horses to help them in the improvement of their holdings.

The government is also looking for horses for the cavalry service, but it is hard to please its agents. The general run of the range stock is too small for the use of the government service, so very few of the horses offered for inspection are taken. It is only from the bands that have been specially bred by the owner with a view to improving his stock that the government men can pick their mounts.

Unsettled Wheat.
From the reports that are coming from the harvest fields of the county, the wheat is yielding from 12 to 35 bushels to the acre with a general average of about 20 bushels, taking the reports as they come from all the different sections of the county. This will give the farmers more than a two thirds crop, and as the market is opening at 62 and 63 cents for the grain, the growers are feeling quite better than they were a few weeks ago when they thought the crop was a failure. If the yield is over the two thirds mark and the price is 62 cents or better, the wheat men of the county will be better off in the end than they would with the full crop and the price at 60 cents.

H. C. Guernsey Buried.
PENDLETON, July 24.—The funeral of the late H. C. Guernsey was held yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock from the residence, under the auspices of the Masons and the Elks, of which orders he was a prominent member. Guards of honor from both lodges followed the hearse to the grave.

The funeral was one of the most largely attended ever held in the city, the procession reaching the whole length of the Main street as it passed from the north side of the river to the cemetery.

YOUTH IS KILLED AT FOREST GROVE

Frank Pautmeier, Jr., of Hillsboro, Was Accidentally Shot in Stomach.

(Journal Special Service.)
FOREST GROVE, July 24.—A charge of shot, accidentally fired at close range, inflicted a terrible wound in the abdomen of Frank Pautmeier, Jr., and caused his death in this city yesterday.

The young man's home was at Hillsboro, but he had been here some time, spending his vacation with an uncle, Anton Pautmeier. Yesterday he returned from a hunting trip and while hanging his gun on a rack the trigger accidentally caught and the weapon was discharged. A full charge of shot entered the boy's stomach inflicting a terrible wound. The youth lived but a few minutes.

The body has been shipped to Hillsboro, where the funeral exercises will be held.

"OLD HOME WEEK"

(Journal Special Service.)
BOSTON, July 24.—Great bonfires blaze forth from every hill in Massachusetts tonight, sending forth a red glow that is visible from the water. Tomorrow the good housewives will bake pies and cakes of unusual dimensions, the best "yellow-legs" in the barnyard will go to slaughter and the larders will go to the chopping block. The Old Home Week, which will be held during the coming week throughout the state. The festival of this year, according to advices received from all over the state, will surpass that held last year. The list of cities and towns that have prepared special celebrations exceeds 100, among them being Danvers, Melrose, Weymouth, Northfield, Sandwich, Hull, Haverhill, Plymouth, South Hadley and Amherst.

GRANTS PASS

RUN TUNNEL UNDER THE SILVER FALLS

Some Colorado Miners Are After Placer Gold in Southern Oregon Country.

(Journal Special Service.)
GRANTS PASS, July 24.—A big placer mining enterprise is under way by a company of Colorado men, headed by F. G. Leigh, and consists in driving a tunnel under Silver Creek Falls of Western Josephine County to tap a vast auriferous basin brought down as a slide from the mountainside above and filling the original Silver Creek Canyon. This filling is rich in gold, but on account of the peculiar manner in which the ground lies, can only be reached by tunneling under the falls. This the Colorado men are doing. They began their big work last summer, being obliged to abandon it during the winter. They are now busy again and hope to have a good share of the big job done by the close of the summer.

By the running of this tunnel there would be opened up many acres of exceptionally rich ground, which could then easily be worked by pipe and giant. Silver Creek has been known to be rich for many years, but in fact was worked extensively during the palmy days by the pioneer gold diggers.

The monthly cleanup of the Grants Hill mines of the Louse Creek district was brought in by Manager W. C. Morphy yesterday. Morphy, who is president of the American Gold Fields Company, owner of the Grants Hill mines, is having a great amount of development work done on their properties.

Besides opening up the ledges to advantage they are putting in a new 10-stamp mill and new equipment of engines, boilers, dynamo, compressors, drills and hoists. From all indications the Grants Hill mines will become a second Greenback for Josephine County. They contain a score of wide ledges, all of which carry gold in quantity, and all of which are strong and permanent. There are also many acres of fine placer ground that are worked by pipe and giant, and which yield the virgin metal at the rate of $8,000 an acre. The claims are very heavily timbered, and a sawmill is at work cutting a portion of it into lumber for the building of the new mills and more extensive quarters for the men.

Shot in the Eye.
GRANTS PASS, July 24.—While loading a rifle a few days ago Frank McDonald, who lives here, lost an eye and had his hands very badly lacerated. The shell hit too tightly and McDonald attempted to drive it into the chamber of the rifle by force. As a result the shell exploded with the above results.

May Not Go Back.
GRANTS PASS, July 24.—On account of being detained at Baranquilla, Consul and Mrs. G. W. Colvig will not get home from Columbia as soon as they expected. They will arrive here some time in August. In his letters to friends here Consul Colvig intimates that he may not return to Colombia, as the job of Consul is not one of bliss.

J. M. HILL BURIED

(Journal Special Service.)
WALLA WALLA, Wash., July 24.—The remains of John M. Hill were laid to rest late yesterday, the funeral being one of the largest in the history of this city. The exercises were held at the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of which the deceased was a prominent member. The Odd Fellows conducted the funeral.

The death of Mr. Hill occurred early Wednesday and was due to gangrene resulting from a laceration of the foot.

The deceased was a pioneer of the Pacific Northwest and was one of the first employees on the old Dr. Baker "strap iron" railroad, the first rapid transit device north of San Francisco. He leaves a valuable estate.

BEACH BURGLARIES
(Journal Special Service.)
LONG BEACH, July 24.—Several summer cottages along the beach have been entered by burglars during the past week, but nothing of great value has been taken.
