GOSSMAN NOW UP ON CHARGE OF ARSON

Said to Have Tried to Burn

Residence of Former Wife, Mrs. D. C. Burns.

An information against Robert Goss man, who has been charged with making efforts to set fire to the residence of his former wife, Mrs. D. C. Burns, was filed in the State Circuit Court this morning by Deputy District Attorney Spencer. The charge made is arson. When the case comes to trial, burglary also may be alleged. Gossman and Mrs. Burns were divorced two years ago, but ever since the beginning of their separation and her marriage with Burns he has been persecuting her. He has, according to the information, tried to break through an outer window of Mrs. Burns' house and also tried to burn the residence. Timely interference prevented both the burgiary and the blaze and as' Mr. Gossman seems too destructively inclined it was thought best to have him brought before the court. He is now under bonds. Mrs. Burns, the former wife of Gossman, is well and favorably known in Portland. Her present husband, D. C.

Burns, has been engaged in the grocery business for years.
