J. A. HORANMcFARLANE WINS
HIS FIRST GAMEClever Pitcher Keeps Visiting Batsmen Guessing All the Time, and Is Cautious and
Steady Every Second.Browns Bat Mr Lindsey for Six Runs and Win a Game that Was Exciting and Interesting.Portland 6, San Francisco 1.
Batteries—McFarlane and Vignoux;
Lindsey and Jacobs.

The Browns pulled together yesterday afternoon and with the assistance of McFarlane's clever pitching, defeated the visiting San Francisco team by a score of six to one. The game had been a shut out but for Nadeau's error in left when Lindsey's hit bounded past him. If Francis were awake when the hit started down the third base line in all probability he would have stopped it. Francis may be a great player, but so far he has not shown it. One of the principal duties of a third baseman is to go after everything that looks like a chance. If he can't get it, good and well, he at least must try to start like an animated pedestal and look kindly upon passing balls, without even imparting to them a vagrant look of recognition is not in keeping with the requirements of baseball playing. There are at least four chances yesterday that he never attempted to handle. Aside from his fielding Francis is not batting up to the standard, having made but one hit in three games, and that one being a chance fly over first base. If the crowd clamored for a new third baseman give them either a star or the next thing to it. If Francis were a better player than Andrews, all right, leave him there, but from his exhibition to date, impartial fans admit that they are all from that proverbial state where they have to be shown. Put Andrews back on third and that will cement the infield, and give the entire team the confidence that they had when they downed Seattle, Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento.

McFarlane Pitched Well.
McFarlane, the new twirler, pitched a splendid game. He displayed good head work with men on bases, and kept the visitors guessing throughout the game. In the fourth inning he delighted the fans by making a fine two-bagger, scoring Vignoux from first. He has a pleasant delivery, watches the bases closely and throws every conceivable kind of a ball. The playing of the Browns was much better than on previous days, the men batting and running the bases with ginger. Blake in center still continues to let balls go through his legs. It might be an excellent thing if McFarlane were recalled, and put on first and return Van Buren to his old standing ground. Then with Andrews on third, the Browns would present a most formidable front and would make a strong showing. That combination couldn't be whipped. Thielman will pitch today.

Details of the Game.
Pat Meany managed to shove a safe hit past Francis in the first inning but that was all that was doing as the next two innings were easy victories.

In the Browns' half, Spec Hurlbert negotiated a walk, Van Buren and beat the throw. Nadeau's punt went for a sacrifice as he was out at first. Andy Anderson's two-run drive brought Hurlbert and Van Buren over the pan.

Both pitchers were well into the bases were habited frequently but fast fielding kept them on the sacks.

Portland got one more in the fourth when Vignoux walked and scored on McFarlane's two-bagger to right.

McFarlane was denied the credit of a shut-out through a couple of misplays in the sixth. Lynch was safe when Anderson threw his easy bouncer a trifle high to Van and Levy said Van was off the base when Lynch struck, although it was doubtful. Delmas flew to Hurlbert and Kelly forced Lynch at second. Lindsey hit one past Francis which the gent who is filling Jay Andrews' shoes didn't try to get and Phil Nadeau allowed it to go through him as a result Mr. Kelly scored and Povee Lindsey was pitched on third. McFarlane decided he would have to play the game himself and struck Jacobs out.

Portland scored two more in the seventh on Van Buren's single, a sacrifice by Nadeau, Holly's base on balls, Van stole third and a moment later Holly purloined the middle cushion and Blake's single to left scored both men. Francis struck out after Blake had stolen second.

Vignoux doubled. In the eighth and scored on McFarlane's out and Hurlbert's single to right.

DIAMOND GLISTENINGS
The Browns.
New directors.
Good game.
McFarlane.
Thielman today.

Andrews was missed.
Francis is not making good.
In three games Francis got but one hit.

Hollingsworth and Anderson can't be beaten.
"Spec" Hurlbert is playing brilliant ball.

Van Buren and Nadeau keep up the good work.
Sammy caught a fine game yesterday, throwing beautifully.

Francis looked like an old picture of Ramones in an upright position four distinct times yesterday.

It must be said, however, even if Francis can't bat or field, that he has a mighty arm. He ought to use it more.

Tommy Hess' sore finger is convalescing and that doughty catcher may perform Sunday.

Shay of Frisco certainly plays a great shortstop. Very few in the country can beat him.

If the Portland third baseman had a cradle and a bamboo tree he would gladly exclaim "O, Joy!"

Crawfish pie is the latest fancy dish with the gang. Shields and Thielman are wonders at the table. To see Charlie eat you would not be surprised to learn the real reason why his arm is sore.

"No, Ike, crawfish do not fly." Who told you that nonsense?

COULD GARDNER DO IT?
Billy Delaney says that George Gardner, fighting as he does today, would have made a monkey of John L. Sullivan when Sully was in his prime. Maybe not. The John L. who whipped Paddy Ryan would have carried a whole broadside of guns too many for Mr. Gardner. He would have torn through Gardner's fancy footwork long enough to land at least two good swings, and to learn the best, properly applied, would have been a sweet sufficiency.

Gardner claims that his best game is the "straight rule" thing, where you can maul, slug, twist, and generally combine the good old London prize ring with the boxing rules. Imagine John L. Sullivan, with the strength, stamina, and slugging power he carried, mingling with the cocky Mr. Gardner under straight rules! Where would they pick up the Gardneresque remains? Exchange.

RUDOLPH PRAEL
NEW PRESIDENTDirectors of Portland Browns
Step Out and Elect Five New
Directors to Conduct the Ball
Affairs.Samuel Vigneux Will Be Retained as Manager of the Players, No Radical Changes
Being Contemplated.At a meeting of the directors of the Portland Baseball Club last evening,
President J. P. Marshall, Treasurer J. C.
Ainsworth, Max Fleischer, F. A. Spencer and A. H. Devers, stepped out of the directorate and immediately elected Mr.
Rudolph Prael, R. W. Schmeier, John F.
Richards, Isaac White and R. S. Farrell
in their places. The following officers of the club were then chosen: President,
Mr. Prael; Vice-President and Treasurer,
Mr. Schmeier; Secretary, John F. Richards.

T. hiaction on the part of the former directors was expected, as it was known for some time that as soon as capable men were found to assume the burden and carry on the work so well begun, that the change would come.

The policy of the retiring directors will be followed for the present, especially in regard to a high grade of baseball.

The new directors are men of high standing in the community and are thoroughly acquainted with baseball. Mr. Prael is President of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club and is conversant with every line of athletic endeavor, and an ardent exponent of pure athletics. He will undoubtedly devote his time and energy in making Portland a winning combination. Mr. Schmeier is assistant cashier of the Almsworth National Bank and has been an old student of the national pastime. John F. Richards, of Clatsop & Devers, is also a baseball enthusiast, and will find his new work pleasing and agreeable.

Samuel Vigneux will be retained as manager of the players. There will be no radical changes made at present.

The work done by the retiring directors has been well attended to. When Mr. Ainsworth, Mr. Fleischer, Mr. Spencer and Mr. Devers took over the trouble of collecting a team that would be a credit to Portland, they undertook a most difficult task. At first unforeseen troubles menaced the club and made winning a very hard task. Knowing that a team couldn't be got together in a day, the directors went about the work systematically and enthusiastically. New players were imported, old ones let go, and many changes made. Gradually things assumed a tangible form, with the result that a winning team was at last secured. The Browns today are second to none in the league and their future is bright with promise. During all the struggle to secure first-class players, the greatest care had to be exercised so that no rowdies would be introduced into our midst, and today the players were imported, old ones let go, and many changes made.
