

PAPERS COMPLETED IN STOREY'S CASE

ANSWER IS UP TO SHERIFF

The Arrest of the Young Men on a Charge of Holding Up the Sellwood Car Results in a Damage Suit.

Others Will File Similar Claims Against Him and Ask for Money for False Imprisonment and Other Reasons.

Attorney B. S. Pague has completed his papers for bringing a damage suit against Sheriff Storey for the false imprisonment of Earl McIntosh. The papers will be filed this afternoon or tomorrow, unless something unforeseen arises to create further delay.

The complaint alleges damage to character and reputation, physical and mental suffering and personal indignity, all of which is appraised at $9,900. An additional financial harm of $100 is prayed for to cover the cost of attorney fees for services rendered in the gaining of liberty for McIntosh from the custody of Sheriff Storey. Action will be brought later by Hicks, Landers and Simon on the same grounds and for the same sums.

County Not Responsible.
Attorney Pague at first intended to bring action against Multnomah County for his clients. In the preparation of the case he found that the county was under the law exempt and not responsible for the actions of county officials and that the action had to be directed against Sheriff Storey personally and his bondsmen.

Sheriff Storey Wrong.
Attorney Pague stated: "Sheriff Storey was in the wrong and overstepped the functions of his office when he arrested and imprisoned my clients. The Sheriff has no business to make an arrest unless in the presence of crime, which is also within the power of any citizen. Under the law it is the duty of the Sheriff to act as the conservator of the peace of the county, and to serve only warrants and processes as ordered by the courts. In a city with a police force he has no business whatever to interfere with criminals, the detection of crime or the making of arrests, only as before stated. He is supposed to keep peace outside of the city limits, and should only act inside the city when called upon for assistance. The illegal arrests by the Sheriff will be one of the strong points in favor of the plaintiffs for damages."
"I understand that the Sheriff has threatened to file charges of cohabitation against my clients in case the damage suits against him are brought to a focus."

Why Storey Made Arrest.
The exact causes and circumstances under which Sheriff Storey made his sensational arrest of the alleged Sellwood car holdups has been brought to light. Mrs. Whitlock, of the Potter House, telephoned Storey that the city police had been at her house making an investigation relative to the Sellwood holdup, and that in her opinion the men were there. Mrs. Whitlock several years ago gave the Sheriff a tip which led to the arrest and conviction of some criminals, which was the basis upon which Storey took his action in the Sellwood rooming. A girl named Emma Craig, suspect at the Potter House, had had some trouble with Arthur Hicks, and told the landlady for revenge that she thought that he was a thief, as he had upon several occasions given her jewelry and associated with other bad characters. This tale she also told to Sheriff Storey, who arrested Hicks, and then arrested Landers, with whom Hicks worked on the steamboat. He took McIntosh on general principles, as a woman with whom he was living knew the Craig woman. He later took in Simon for no other reason than that he was a friend of McIntosh.

Misled the Prosecution.
Sheriff Storey represented to the office of the District Attorney the same as he did to the newspapers and the city police that he had the right men and the evidence to convict them. He was so emphatic in his declarations and clothed his case with such a veil of mystery that he was given credit for being able to deliver the evidence when the case came to trial. His star witness was the Craig woman. Chicken, candy, flowers, magazines, nuts and fruit are said to have been sent to her room in a constant stream. She stated to friends that the Sheriff was responsible for the good things. When the Sheriff found the girl had given him the double-cross, and that she had been at the Dalles with Hicks on the night of the Sellwood car robbery, he made haste to get out from under.

Storey Tells About It.
The day after Storey had landed all of his suspects, and while dished with victory and receiving the congratulations of his friends at the Court House, he delivered the following Storeyesque oration to a crowd. He said: "Gentlemen, I have captured the whole push that robbed the Sellwood car. They are bad ones, with long records of blood and crime. They are dangerous men, and but for my firmness and courage would probably yet be at large terrorizing the public. I went to the Potter House. I found Captain Simmons on the roof of the house with two revolvers. Another city detective was in a near-by room, armed to the teeth, and another guarding the door. They were afraid to arrest McIntosh, and had sent to the police headquarters for more men. I went to McIntosh's room alone, and with only one gun made him my prisoner and took him to the jail. Bravery and prompt action are qualifications which all efficient officers must have."

Hicks Has Clean Record.
Bronaugh & Bronaugh, attorneys in the Chamber of Commerce, several days ago received a letter from James Dawson, a prominent Spokane lawyer, asking for information about the arrest of Arthur Hicks for complicity in the Sellwood car robbery. He stated in the communication: "Arthur Hicks is the son of a very worthy old lady here, and you may imagine, are in great distress over the affair. Hicks has a good reputation here, and has always worked and donated to the support of his mother."
When arrested by Storey Hicks was taken from the steamer Dalles City, where he had been employed for a number of weeks. The officers of the boat give Hicks a good reputation as hard-working and honest.

County Judge Webster and Commissioners Barnes and Showers left this morning to inspect roads and bridges in the eastern part of the county.

TEAMSTERS' UNION ADOPTS NEW NAME

This will be a new amalgamated association. White ribbons, emblems of peace, will be worn hereafter instead of union badges.
A committee was appointed to draft a resolution "on the most damnable position of the capitalistic press," referring to the New York and Chicago papers.

THOUGHT TO BE INSANE.

Fred Frank, 32 years of age, was found wandering about half-naked in the vicinity of Madison and Second streets last night. Patrolman Thompson sent the unfortunate fellow to the police station, where he acted as if he were insane. He will have a hearing in the County Court. Frank has been living at the Metropolitan Hotel, Main and First streets. He formerly worked at the Bar Hotel, and last week was severely injured about the head by falling on the walk at Sixth and Glisan streets.

"N" RAYS

It has been found lately that most of the artificial sources of light emit radiations capable of traversing metals and a number of other bodies opaque to light, that is to say, radiations affecting the eye as light. These rays, which are distinguished by the name of "N," enhance the phosphorescence of phosphorescent substances, and M. Blondlot, the well-known scientist, has employed this fact in trying whether such rays are emitted by the sun.
To this end he placed a tube of phosphorescent material—for example, sulphide of calcium—behind an oaken panel or shutter closing a window exposed to the sun, and looked at the chamber dark. If now a plate of lead, or even the hand, be interposed between the shutter and the tube, the phosphorescence diminishes, and when the plate is withdrawn it increases. The experiment is so simple that many can repeat it. The panel of oak had a thickness of 16 millimeters. The phosphorescence is rather feeble at first, and a sheet of black paper may be held as a background to the tube. Plates of aluminum and cardboard between the shutter and the tube do not prevent the phenomenon.
The "N" rays from the sun can be concentrated by a lens of quartz. They are reflected by polished glass and diffused by ground glass. Like the "X" rays from a Crookes tube or a flame, those of the sun act on a small, tiny spark and a tiny flame, so as to increase their brightness, but M. Blondlot has not obtained any photographic effect from these rays.—London Globe.
