Other Lumber Carriers in Port Increasing.

The British bark Glencairn completed her lumber cargo, consisting of about 1,000,000 feet, this morning at the Inn-Poulsen mill. The vessel is under charter to the Pacific Export Lumber Company, and her destination is Del-agoa Bay, South Africa.

Comparatively quick dispatch was wen the Glencairn. She has been in port since June 16, but several weeks elapsed before a berth was secured for her at the dock. She came from Hono-

Other lumber carriers in port are the Saxon, the Agnes Oswald, the Virginia and the Blythswood. The Two Brothers is taking on lumber at Vancouver, Wash, and will soon be ready to sail. The Saxon is trimming her ballast, and will soon begin loading for the West Coast of South America. This afternoon the Blythswood will shift from the Mersey dock to the North Pacific mill, where she will receive a lumber cargo for South Africa. The Virginia will shortly finish loading at the same place.

While the lumber business of Portland is in an unusually flourishing con-Mon. according to those interested in s line, there is every evidence for beleving that it will assume still greater proportions before the expiration of

The coast trade, they state, is bound to increase, for the reason that the Southern Pacific has announced that beginning on August 20 freight rates to California ports for carrying lumber will be $6 per ton, instead of $5, as at For the same points coast schooners charge but $5 per 1,000 feet, which is equivalent to only $3.50 per ton. This big difference in rates in favor of the water route, it is pointed out, will be the means of greatly in-creasing the coast fleet, now engaged in the lumber trade. It is said that many vessel owners are already making preparations to come to the Columbia River in search of lumber cargoes and it is further remarked that they will experience no difficulty in securing all the business they can handle In the meantime all the local mills are running to their full capacity in supplying the demand for the product of

CAMPERS BE CAREFUL

The forest fire season is beginning early this year, which is all the more reason why our forest regions, which are much too small, should be carefully safeguarded. It is quite the fashion to attribute these fires to careless campers or other human creatures in whom the spirit of wantoness is rampant, but old mountaineers know that nature sets many of her own fires. A bit of gum which has exuded from a pine tree will sometimes serve to establish a conflagration in the woods, on the principle of the sun glass, especially when old sol is sending down his rays with sever-ity. At the same time there is no doubt that many of the fires in the woods are occasioned by people who ought to know better than to set them. It should be considered the duty of every person who goes into the mountains to act as camp, and to be careful where they Near Independence about 35 men are throw burning matches, as they light engaged in constructing a bank revet- their pipes, cigar or cigarettes when

UNDERGOING CHANGE

Vast Improvements Being Made Owing to Faulty Conditions Which Were Apparent.

(Journal Special Service.)
SALEM, Aug. 7.—The improvements contemplated at the penitentiary for some time and for which provision was made by the last Legislature, will soon made by the last Legislature, will soon be under way; in fact are under way now, and the big prison will soon take on a different appearance. Already changes have been made that reflect great credit on the new administration and indicate that a new order of things may be expected in this, the state's great prison pen and which in the last 13 months has become one of the most talked about penitentiaries in the United States, by reason of the sensational out-

States, by reason of the sensational out-break of the late Tracy. On every hand improvements may be noted at the big institution by the careful observer who has been familiar with conditions there during the last decade and the changes already made are but a tithe of what may be looked for in the near future. he near future.

The Legislature provided for the improvement of the new wing, constructed two years ago for a kitchen and dining hall, the changes contemplated including the raising of the roof a full story, so pleted according to the present plan, will have over it the hospital, a large room capable of housing over half a hundred patients, a number greater by far than the prison has ever had in the hospital in its history at one time. The ceiling of the room to be used as a hall for the prisoners will be fully six feet higher so as to permit the installation of a cage on one side far above the heads of the prisoners, in which armed guards will be placed to oversee the prisoners at mealtime. Here the men will be fed in a on dining room, and not in the cells as has been the custom in the past and as it is done now.

The Death Chamber. At the south end of the new wing and immediately adjoining it the much discussed death chamber will be constructed, ground for which addition has stready been broken. This new addition will be 32 by 46 feet, two stories high, and will contain, in addition to the scaffold, the steel cage in which tion, are to be kept confined until the arrival of the fateful day when their earthly careers are to end to satisfy the law. As above stated, ground for this building has been broken and a number of prisoners are at work in digging the trenches for the foundation, while others are preparing the material for the foundation. In the old south wing of the main prison a large baker's oven, unused for a number of years, was built of solid brick, made many years ago, and this oven is being torn out by a force of convicts, the brick being cleaned to be used in the construction of the foundation of the new addition. Material for the entire building and for the changes in the entire wing is being delivered on the ground rapidly and the work of construction will begin before the end of this week.

The painters have taken the lead in the local American Labor Union move ment, but recently other unions have joined them in the matter. Among these are the carpenters' and plumbers' organ izations.

The paperhangers failed to materialize at the meeting last night. A short time ago they threatened to withdraw from the Painters' Union and form a separate organization of their own. A meeting was called for the purpose, but the proposition was temporarily set aside The painters say that they can prevent them from receiving an international charter, and that they intend to do so. Two Silent Young Men Board Train in Baker City with a Gunny Sack in Which was a Valuable Nugget.

Neither Would Say Where They Had Procured the Find or from What Direction They Came Into Town.

(Journal Special Service.) BAKER CITY, Or., Aug. 7 .- Will Osorn, aged 23 years, and Fred Jennings, aged 24 years, both young men from a farm near the little town of Eldorado, Iowa, are on board a train returning home with a fortune apiece this morn-

When the O. R. & N. train pulled out of Baker City last night for the East the two young men loaded a gold nugget into the passenger car with them that the two were barely able to handle. "It was in a large meal sack, and when they moved it along the platform one held one end and the other the opposite end of the sack.

They refused absolutely to tell from which direction they came into Baker City yesterday afternoon, or to disclose the region from whence they secured the find. They were well armed and placed the nugget at their feet after they had boarded the train. But little is known of the two young men in Baker City. They were seen here about three months ago. They had just come from an Iowa farm, and were wandering about the country, getting experience more than anything else. They had never heard of the gold fields of Eastern Oregon. One of them bought a map with statistics of the region. This was their only guide. How they got out into the country and their methods of their prospecting are unknown. They direction they came into Baker City in the afternoon. They attracted a great deal of attention on the platform with their burden.
