Vancouver Treasury Will Gain More Than $150 from Three Soldiers Who Were Arrested for Fighting.

Sergeant Reduced to Ranks by Court-Martial, Then Fined $75 by Justice Court—Comrades Pay Fines.

(Journal Special Service.) VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—Final action has been taken in the cases of all connected with the pay-day battle and the city treasury will probably benefit materially.

Saturday afternoon Sergt. G. H. Minger was tried before Judge Stewart on the charge of striking Policeman Gansway with a rock when the fight was at its height. Minger pleaded not guilty and produced two witnesses who asserted that he was not the man that started the trouble with his blow. The officers were certain that he was the guilty party and several witnesses testified that he was later engaged in battling with the police. It was also stated that his remarks were one cause of the attack on the officers. Minger was fined $75 by the court and in default of the cash was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

The post court-martial on Saturday sentenced Minger to reduction to the ranks and according to post officials will be liable to dishonorable discharge if he is absent from roll call for more than 10 days while working out his court sentence in the city jail. It is believed, however, that fellow band members will raise the needed sum and will gain his release and save him from discharge.

The two battermen, Privates Mosher and Williams, who were fined $50 apiece Friday for resisting an officer, will also escape dishonorable discharge, the amounts needed for their release having been raised. Mosher was bailed out soon after his sentence was passed and Williams will be released today.

The court-martial that reduced Sergeant Minger to ranks did not act because of the trouble in town, but because of violations of army regulations. If there is any side taken by the officers of the regiment at all it is certain that to an extent they uphold the men and the query of one officer is significant.

HEAVY CARS CRASH
INTO COLUMBIA RIVER

(Journal Special Service.) VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—Two loaded flatcars went over the edge of the P. V. & Y. dock Saturday evening and today rest in the Columbia. In their rush these cars, which were heavily loaded with piling and poles, tore away considerable of the pierwork and badly damaged the dock and tracks.

The cars were being switched at the time of the accident and it is said that the failure of the brakes to properly respond to the air was the cause of the crash. It was by a mere chance that no one was killed in the accident, the warehouse being empty at the time and dock generally deserted. Had the cars made their crash country charge earlier in the day fatalities would probably have resulted. One woman was sitting on the lower dock at the time of the crash and was too terrified by the crash to move. To this she owes her life, for heavy timbers, cars and iron rails fell all about her and several feet of the dock near her was smashed by the falling cars.

ARE FEELING THEIR WAY

Saloon Men Believe that by Being Orderly They May Again Keep Open Sundays.

(Journal Special Service.) VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—It is coming evident that the Sunday closing question has been agitating the merchants and citizens for more than a month will soon solve itself, if no new feature is introduced.

Last week the merchants not directly affected by the new custom of tightly shutting all business places on Sunday, resolved to take a neutral stand. In the estimation of the saloon men this means that they would be allowed to keep open house if they were quiet and orderly about it.

Yesterday as a feeler several restaurants and cigar-store men cautiously opened up. No serious consequences followed and the general opinion seemed to be that the ancient order was best. It is also reported today that a few rear doors of the saloons were to be entered by those on the "inside" track and for the future it is promised that gradually, little by little, the mer open-day will be duly installed, being strictly understood that quiet and peace must prevail.

Unless steps are taken by the prosecuting authority to quell the rising hopes of the saloon men, it is extremely probable that within the next month a gradual return to former usages will be accomplished.

For Fish and Game.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—A party of Vancouver young men left this morning for a two weeks' stay at St. Martin's Springs. A full outfit of fishing and hunting tackle was lugged away by canoe and salmon trout and grouse shipments are expected. Among those who left were Fred Ferrell, E. C. Dunne and John Miller.

Deaths at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—Miss Mollie Winterberger, daughter of Mr. Stephen and Mrs. Barbara Winterberger, died yesterday at the family home near the city. The deceased was 28 years of age at the time of her death and was a well-known society girl of the county. The funeral will be held from the residence at 3 a. m. tomorrow. The church services will be held at St. James' at 10 a. m. Interment will be made in the Catholic cemetery.

Signe Emily Peterson, 2-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Peterson, died at an early hour this morning. The burial will be made late this afternoon in the government cemetery, the father being an employee at the garrison.

OREGON CITY

DIED IN SAVING
HIS LITTLE SON

Father Hears Cries of His Child and Endeavors to Rescue Him.

(Journal Special Service.) OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—N. N. Weir, an employee of the O. R. & N. Railway, who lives in Portland, was drowned in the Clackamas River about a mile from this place yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Weir was spending the day picnicking with his wife and family near Gladstone Park. A number of small boys were wading and bathing in the river when Weir, evidently he had no idea of the depth of the water, as it was clear as crystal and one not accustomed to the stream would not have imagined it to have been more than a few feet deep. Weir immediately sank to the bottom, where he became entangled with a rock which was at the bottom. A crowd of bridge carpenters rushed to the scene and assisted in recovering the body. In the meantime the boy had been gotten ashore with the assistance of bystanders and was in no way the worse for his experience. The coroner of Multnomah County was notified of the accident, but from the reports he was convinced that the death of Weir resulted from accidental drowning and did not deem it necessary to hold an inquest. The body was sent to Portland last night.

The drowned man was 35 years of age and was employed by the O. R. & N. railroad as a clerk. His family consisted of a wife and three children.

Body Brought Here.

The body of H. N. Weir, who was drowned yesterday in the Clackamas River, was brought to this city and is now in the morgue. Weir resided in Albina and worked for the O. R. & N. in the Albina offices of the O. R. & N.

Some Rich Ore.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—Joe Harless, of Molalla, brought 300 pounds of ore into Oregon City Saturday from the mines on Ogle Creek. While the ore brought in by Harless was not so rich in gold as that already on exhibition here, it still contains enough of the precious metal to make its mining exceedingly profitable. Harless is a fifth owner of the newly located mineral claims that promise great results, and is highly pleased with the outlook. He believes that the main ledge has finally been struck and that great quantities of gold will be taken from the claims on Ogle Creek within a short time.

In the meantime, the mining excitement is spreading in all parts of this county. A party of 20 left Saturday last from Molalla for Ogle Creek for the summer, while a smaller party left from Oregon City. Next Saturday Harless says a much larger crowd will go from Molalla and will be accompanied by a number of Oregon City people.

People who have seen the samples of ore brought in from the Ogle Creek country, say it is the richest ore they have ever seen. Much it will assay to the ton it would be added to the estimate, but many who claim to have a knowledge of mining and minerals say that it would go more than $1,000 to the ton. Mining and prospecting has been going on in the Ogle Creek country for more than 20 years, but the recent find is the only one that has been made that promises to amount to anything.

Beer Bottle the Cause.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—A beer bottle, thrown by some one Sunday night, evidently going home from a midnight carousal, struck a large plate glass window in the furniture store of W. L. Block and smashed it. The remnants of the bottle were found by the side of the window this morning. The damage to the window is about $60. The building belongs to the Methodist Church.

Seriously Injured.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—A. A. Baird, a bridge carpenter on the Southern Pacific Railroad, was badly injured yesterday afternoon, while engaged in repairing the Clackamas bridge, both hands being severely crushed. He was pulling a rope when his hands became entangled and were drawn between some timbers. Two fingers of his right hand had to be amputated, while the left was very badly mashed. Dr. Sommers treated his injuries and says that Baird will be laid up for several weeks.

Alive with Woodmen.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—The town was alive with hoodlums Saturday night. At the corner of Main and Eighth streets about 3 o'clock in the morning a regular fusillade of pistol shots rang out on the air. By the time the night watchman had reached the scene, the evil-doers had dispersed and all was quiet.

Woodmen's Picnic.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—A harvest picnic at Damascus Saturday attracted a very large number of people. The picnic was given under the auspices of the Modern Woodmen. Mayor G. B. Dimick was the orator of the occasion and delivered an excellent speech on fraternalism. Dinner was served on the grounds and the picnic wound up with a dance at night.

Chicken Thieves.

OREGON CITY, Aug. 10.—Thieves broke into Dr. M. C. Strickland's place last night and stole a number of chickens. The doctor is quite a chicken fancier and frequently attends bouts between the bantams and on several occasions has entered his own "pets" in encounters. The other morning when he went to his chicken yard he discovered that every chicken had been stolen. He values the birds very highly and has offered a reward of a hundred dollars for their return. He has no clue whatever as to who the chicken thief is.

Oregon City Notes.

A marriage license was issued Saturday to Mattie Blankenship and Michael Ohman. They are Clackamas County parties.

Miss Daisy Leavens, of Bonneville, is visiting relatives in Oregon City.

The West Side baseball team of this city went to Hubbard yesterday where they crossed bats with the Butteville team. The game resulted in a victory for the West Side team by a score of 4 to 2.

SALEM

REVERSES DECISION OF COUNTY COURT

Judge Boise Acts in Case of Appeal in Wm. Fowler Case.

(Journal Special Service.) SALEM, Aug. 10.—Judge Boise, in the Circuit Court Saturday afternoon reversed the decision of the County Court, in the appeal of the William Fowler West case, holding that the County Court erred in giving judgment against F. B. West, executor, for $450 per year, the amount of the alleged income of the estate, and also giving the executor his costs and disbursements. The cause was an appeal from the county court, the executor, F. B. West, having been removed from his trust and judgment was given against him for what the petitioners claimed the estate should have brought as income for the years from the demise of W. F. West to the time of removal of the executor.

Gone Into Hop Business.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—Ex-Sheriff Frank W. Durbin, a hop-grower of wide experience and for years one of Marion County's most successful hop dealers, has gone into the hop trade, and in addition to operating his extensive farms, will deal in Oregon hops. He has associated himself with R. O. Schuchling, one of Salem's most successful hop dealers, and they will do a large and extensive business in this state and Washington this fall.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—Mrs. E. A. Scovell of this city was on Saturday evening adjudged insane by County Judge Scott, and committed to the asylum. The patient has been in the Salem hospital for some weeks, and she was last night transferred from that institution to the asylum.

Remains of Mr. Simpkins.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—The remains of the late A. J. Simpkins, who was drowned near Hoquiam, Wash., on last Tuesday, were received in this city Saturday night at 10:30 o'clock and taken in charge by a committee of the local Odd Fellows lodges. Yesterday morning, escorted by the Odd Fellows, the remains were taken to Hopewell, Yamhill County, near the old Simpkins homestead, where, at the little country church, funeral services were held conducted by Rev. Ballantyne of Dayton, after which the Odd Fellows of Salem took charge and laid the remains away in the nearby cemetery with the beautiful and impressive rites of that order. Past Grand Master George H. Burnett conducting the ceremonies.

Mr. Simpkins was a native of Yamhill County, a single man, and leaves a father, Hiram Simpkins; four brothers and eight sisters, all residing near Hopewell, to mourn his demise. The funeral was attended by nearly 500 people, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held where he was best known, and the floral pieces deposited on his grave were many and beautiful. Deceased was a member of Hoquiam Lodge No. 45, and a member of the Odd Fellows Encampment, and of Hoquiam Aerie No. 252, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Typhoid Fever.

SALEM, Aug. 10.—A few cases of typhoid fever in Salem recently have given the impression that this city is afflicted with that disease to a large extent. This is not the case, however, as there are less cases of that dread disease this year than have been known here at this time of the year in the past, and less than in other valley cities. As an evidence of this the records of the state penitentiary show that not a single case of fever has been known in that institution for over four months, and there are no cases at the Insane asylum or at any of the other state institutions, and it is one that was brought to the outside world by a patient. Very few of the local physicians report typhoid patients, and a number of them have not had a case of that kind for a number of months.

PROBABLY A COLD-BLOODED MURDER

A Belligerent Real Estate Man Shot Down a Man in Open Street.

COLFAX, Wash., Aug. 10.—The usually quiet town of Garfield is in a state of excitement today over what is termed the cold-blooded murder of Thomas Turnbow, a real estate dealer, by J. E. Brown, another real estate dealer, yesterday morning.

At the time of the shooting, Brown and three other Garfield citizens were walking up the main street and were followed by Turnbow. Brown stopped at the steps of the Bank of Garfield and turned to Turnbow, saying: "What are you following me for?"

Turnbow replied that he was not following, whereupon Brown drew his gun and shot Turnbow through the chest, the bullet ranging upward and landing in the neck. The wounded man cannot live.

Brown has a wife, and the dying man a wife and little daughter 10 years of age. Brown was arrested immediately afterward at his office. Fears of lynching were expressed, as the man has a hard reputation.

EUGENE

LOG DRIVER HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

M. M. Jones Held at Bottom of Stream Until Unconscious and Almost Dead.

(Journal Special Service.) EUGENE, Or., Aug. 10.—After being forced to the bottom of a stream and held there by weight of a giant log until he was unconscious and all but dead, M. M. Jones has been brought to this city for medical treatment and is relating the terrible experience which so nearly cost him his life.

Jones was an employe in the Williams logging camp in the mountains above Eugene. He was loosening logs when he slipped off the jam into the water. The log was raised on one end by following logs and he was caught on the bottom of the river by the upright log and held in that agonizing position fully a minute and a half before being rescued by comrades. He was drawn from the water unconscious and almost dead.

Immense Log Run.

EUGENE, Aug. 10.—Logging operations on Little Fall Creek will soon release a run of 20,000,000 feet of timber to the Springfield saw mill. The Booth-Kelly Lumber Company is constructing four big camps on this stream and it is the intention to store enough logs in the big pool at Springfield to run the mill well into the winter. The logs are floated out by means of stage dams which are built at intervals in the course of the creek to check the water until enough is collected to rush down the best of the creek and carry all the logs before it on the wave. The logs thus reach, by short stages, the Willamette river and are floated easily down that stream to the Springfield mill the largest of the company's four mills.

Miss Ford Appointed.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 10.—Miss Sadie Ford, daughter of Dr. T. B. Ford, presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church for this district has been selected as assistant to Arthur Louis Frazer, in the piano department of the University of Oregon school of music.

Miss Ford is a well known musician of Eugene and on numerous occasions has demonstrated her mastery of the most difficult compositions known to the musical world.

COTTAGE GROVE A VERY TIGHT TOWN

Recently Enacted Sunday Closing Law—Obeyed by All but One Merchant.

(Journal Special Service.) COTTAGE GROVE, Or., Aug. 10.—As a result of the action of the City Council in passing a Sunday closing law a few days ago, Cottage Grove was yesterday a closed town, everything of a business nature being suspended with the exception of one cigar store, which is understood to have kept open for the purpose of making a test of the recently enacted ordinance.

James Angell has been brought to this city from one of the Pacific Timber Company's camps east of here for medical treatment. In some manner an ax fell from a log and came near severing the big toe on the young man's left foot. An artery was cut and he came near bleeding to death, but he could get the assistance of a physician.

President Lloyd of the Crystal Consolidated Mining Company, is back from San Francisco, where he went to purchase machinery for his company, which the state penitentiary has made by a complete portable saw mill outfit, purchased, as well as machinery for a 10-stamp mill, which will be installed before the season closes. All machinery has arrived and is being sent out from this city.

MIDNIGHT BRAWL ON ROAD

Two Unknown Men Fight Until One Is Senseless—Bloody Traces Left of Conflict.

(Journal Special Service.) VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 10.—Late travelers along Main street north of this place Saturday night report that a brutal assault was made by a well-known man on his companion. Several local men saw evidences of a severe struggle and heard cries, but one member of the garrison passed with his wife while the assault was being made. He stated this morning that he and his wife passed one burly fellow was kicking and beating a form that was lying apparently senseless in the dusty road.

After escorting his wife to a place of safety this man returned, and found nothing but a blood-soaked road, and gore-soaked soil. The local police have reported nothing of the matter, no arrests have been made, nor has anyone been found who knows either of the parties or whether the man so seriously injured is dead or alive.

It is thought that the two were probably drunken quarrelers from one of the numerous country railroad camps and that they later settled their differences away from the road.

THE DALLES TO PAVE

(Journal Special Service.) THE DALLES, Aug. 10.—Work is shortly to begin paving Main street with crushed rock for its entire length. A short strip of street was paved in this way on trial and has proven an entire success. The cost of the new paving will be assessed against the abutting property.

County School Superintendent Gilbert, of Wasco County, announces the regular examination of applicants for state and county papers will be held at the High School in this city beginning next Wednesday.

For state papers the examination will continue until Saturday, but those applying only for county certificates will complete their work Friday afternoon. First, second and third-grade certificates will be striven for on Wednesday and Thursday.

TILLAMOOK WILL BUILD STEAMER

Freight and Passenger Boat Shortly to Be Placed on Run Between Portland and Hoquiam Slough.

Condensed Milk Cannery with Capacity of 50,000 Pounds Per Day Soon to Be Established There.

(Journal Special Service.) TILLAMOOK, Or., Aug. 10.—In order that they may have a direct steamer line to Portland, the merchants of this city and the farmers living in the surrounding country have subscribed nearly $40,000 for the purchasing of a new craft to ply between this port and Oregon's leading city.

At the present time all the Portland freight that is brought in here by steamer has to be rehandled at Astoria, which is said to make the cost of transportation 50 per cent more than it would be if a steamer ran direct between Tillamook and Portland. It is claimed by many who are in business here that freight can be brought up from San Francisco nearly as cheaply, if not at the same rate, as it is now brought from Portland.

If the present plans of the stockholders in the new vessel are carried out, the steamer will make no stops between this city and Portland. The boat is to be specially fitted out for the carrying of dairy products, and is to be modern in every respect. Special accommodations are to be made for the passenger traffic, which is growing every season.

The steamer is to be constructed so as to easily ply up and down the Hoquiam Slough. Tillamook being situated on this four miles up from the bay. Vessels drawing 12 feet of water can come up to the Tillamook wharves very readily at high tide. The new craft is to be a speedy one, and will be 150 feet long with a 30-foot beam. It is expected that the new vessel will be on the run within 100 days. Another vessel is to be chartered soon, so it is reported, to make the trips while the regular steamer is on the way.

CONDENSED MILK TO BE LARGELY CANNED

(Journal Special Service.) TILLAMOOK, Or., Aug. 10.—Plans are being laid for the erection of a large condensed milk factory at this place. The capacity of the plant will be 50,000 pounds of milk a day, which, it is said, will be increased as the business grows. The factory is to be owned by local capitalists.

Many business men here are of the opinion that the manufacturing of condensed milk will be the leading industry of the Tillamook Valley within the next few years. They say that there is an increasing demand for this commodity in the United States, while it is thought that the condensed milk trade with Oriental countries will soon assume large proportions.

Settlers for Tillamook.

TILLAMOOK, Or., Aug. 10.—Tillamook Valley is said to be enjoying one of the greatest booms in its history. Not a week has passed this summer that from 12 to 15 families from Eastern and Southern States have not moved into this or neighboring districts and purchased homes and farms.

During the past six months 300 families have settled in the Tillamook, Nehalem and Necanicum valleys, and the land looks crowded. Quite a number of those who recently moved to this section of the state came from Kansas, Nebraska and Missouri. A greater part of them have purchased dairy farms, and the state that they will push this industry to the limit. The people from the "semi-arid region" state that they like Oregon because it rains here quite frequently.

The second annual convention of the International Stereotypers and Electrotypers' Union was called to order here today. Several scores of delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada were present. Until last year the stereotypers and electrotypers formed a division of the International Typographical Union, but at the Cincinnati convention they organized independently though a close connection is maintained with the parent body.

This afternoon the delegates and visitors to the two conventions are being entertained at a outing at River View by the local unions. The business sessions will be resumed tomorrow and will probably continue a week or 10 days as a considerable quantity of routine business is to come up for consideration and disposal.
