

"DON'T INSTRUCT THE DELEGATES"

Chairman Sam White Counsels Oregon Democrats Concerning Presidential Nominating Convention.

Tariff Money and Commerce of Paramount Importance to People of the Pacific Coast, He Says.

Mid-summer politics has been stirred from its usual quietude by the visit for a few days of Sam White, of Baker City, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee. Captain White views the situation with his customary cheerfulness and sees progress promised by continuance of the work of organization that has been done during the past few years. He was in conference with several Portland Democrats at the Commercial Club yesterday afternoon.

Tariff, Money and Commerce.

"Looked at from the standpoint of the Pacific Coast citizen, the coming national election will involve three issues—the tariff, money and the commercial relations with the Orient."

"The Aldrich bill, proposing asset curbing and the basing of government funds upon securities other than government bonds, will unsettle the hostility in large measure of national character. It is true that a Supreme Court justice and a food and dairy commissioner are to be elected, but they will not arouse general interest among the voters."

"It is merely the financial plan of the Populist party of a few years ago without even the desirable features of the plan. It broadens the basis too much and proposes, as I understand it, in its present form, to permit the acceptance of so-called first-class industrialists as basis for government money. Anyone who knows the instability of the industrialists of today in Wall street will hesitate to consent that they be accepted as equal in currency sustaining valuation to the bonds of Uncle Sam. The financial program of the Republican party indicated so far is not likely to attract many voters."

"That the Pacific Coast is vitally interested in the adjustment of tariff schedules so that our relations with the Orient may expand. At present too many ships come into our coast ports in ballast, and that is due to the tariff being virtually prohibitive. Every vessel coming in ballast means higher rates on the return cargo of wheat or other product, and by that much hampers our development. And, too, the prevailing tariff operates to retard our Oriental trade growth."

"As a matter of fact, the existing tariff was made just as the Eastern manufacturer wanted it, and for his benefit almost solely. Devised as a war measure, it has been continued far beyond the time when such an excuse could be offered for it, and even the later cry of 'infant industries' has become absurd, with our industries able to go into the world's markets and bring competition to all competitors."

"It is, so far as the tariff is concerned, a conflict between the Eastern manufacturer and the Western man of whatever occupation."

Democratic Opinion.

"The foregoing is not only my individual opinion, but I believe represents the consensus of views of Oregon Democrats. Upon such a platform, with proper attention to the trust issue, they can work in unison, and lose no force by differences and quarrels. Such a platform will appeal to the sound business sense of the country, and this will be true, notwithstanding the Eastern manufacturers may oppose it. Even in the East there is much sentiment against the present tariff, so that, if we devise a revision program that will maintain business relations and not frighten the conservatives, we may win."

"As to the position that ought to be taken by Oregon Democrats regarding a candidate for President, we need not worry about that yet. I am confident we should stop dipping into that question, and that it would be wise to send an uninstructed delegation to the national convention."

LOVED 20 YEARS; NOW HE WILL WED

Senator Weldon Heyburn of Idaho Will Marry Quaker Maid Tomorrow.

(Journal Special Service.)

BOISE, Idaho, Aug. 11.—Many friends of Senator Weldon Heyburn of Idaho will make holiday tomorrow in honor of his marriage to Miss Gertrude Yeatman, of Pennsylvania. The Senator went East some time ago to claim his bride and the wedding is announced for tomorrow.

Notwithstanding the well known views of President Roosevelt upon this subject, Senator Heyburn has managed to discharge his official duties acceptably although a bachelor. Twenty years ago he loved Miss Yeatman and he loved but once. Now, after fame and fortune have been won, he goes back to marry the woman he has always loved. Miss Yeatman is of Quaker parentage.

LYNCH FOR ARBITRATION

(Journal Special Service.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 11.—President James M. Lynch, at the head of the International Typographical Union, now in session here, takes a decided stand in favor of arbitration. In the annual report, made to the convention yesterday, he spoke strongly against methods of boycott employed by labor unions against newspapers employing only union workmen, claiming such action worked a hardship on innocent persons.

"Arbitration, and not strikes, is desired," he said, "but if the arbitration agreement is juggled by unscrupulous individuals and made the vehicle for unjust and questionable decisions through the connivance of any interest in the party, then the cause of arbitration and the cause of industrial peace will receive a blow, from which recovery will be impossible for years."

HOOLEY UP TO HIS SAME OLD TRICKS

Man of "Guinea Pig" Fame Arrested in England Charged with Fraud.

(Special Journal Service.)

LONDON, Aug. 11.—The arrest yesterday of Ernest Terah Hooley for gross fraud in securing signatures to checks and bills of exchange, recalls the sensation caused by this man several years ago.

In the middle nineties Hooley blossomed forth with a gigantic scheme in connection with British Columbia agriculture and mining lands. He was not only successful in gaining the support of many members of the aristocracy, but he went into the byways and highways and secured many small fish as well.

Soon after launching his bogus enterprise, it was discovered that fraudulent means were the only capital employed by the promoter.

He was arrested but managed to evade severe punishment. At that time he caused much scandal by openly designating his subscribers, or supporters, as "guinea pigs," and even in several letters of correspondence to his pals in the scheme would use the term "another guinea pig secured." What has surprised the community most is the ability of Hooley to again inveigle people into a fraudulent proposition.

CHICAGO MYSTERY PARTIALLY CLEARED

Police Now Believe Miss Gordon Shot Herself—Young Woman Tells Story.

(Journal Special Service.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—Marie Gordon, the young woman who, it is said, attempted to commit suicide at the Auditorium Hotel Sunday night, is still alive and has made a full confession of the circumstances which led up to her rash act.

She told the police last night that she lived at Montgomery, Ala., and came to Chicago July 9. She said that after registering at the Auditorium she met a friend by the name of W. R. Lytle, and together they visited several houses of ill-fame in the city. She says that the last one visited Lytle became involved in a quarrel with the negro porter, Jacob Smith, and the latter was shot. Then the pair took a cab and drove some distance, where Lytle got out and directed that the carriage be driven with Miss Gordon to the Auditorium.

Young Lytle has been arrested at the home of his sister, but denies any knowledge of the shooting of either Mr. Gordon or of Porter Smith. The police believe the woman's story.

POPE LEO'S NEPHEW IS TO CONTEST WILL

M. Pecci Drops Title of Count and Wants Money Left to Church.

(Journal Special Service.)

ROME, Aug. 11.—Something of a sensation has been caused by the attitude of the late Pope's nearest relative, the son of his elder brother, who declares his intention to contest the dead Pope's will.

He calls himself simply M. Pecci, disregarding his title of Count, and declaring that titles are only fit for plain people. He is in poor circumstances, and earns his living by selling coal and doing a little poaching. He is not going, he says, to die of hunger, and against the express wish of the late Pope will contest the will, because he maintains that the money of the deceased belongs, not to the church, but to the Pope's own family.

W. C. T. U. CONFERENCE.

(Journal Special Service.)

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Aug. 11.—The conference and institute of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which opened here today, has attracted a host of leaders of the movement from various parts of the country. Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, national W. C. T. U. president, and Miss Anna Gordon, national secretary, are among the participants. The program provides for the forenoon to be devoted to platform work and the afternoon to platform addresses by clergymen and other prominent speakers. Congressman Charles E. Littlefield, Rev. Dr. Smith Baker and Rev. J. W. MacFarlane are among those expected to deliver addresses.

TO RECEIVE PALLIUM

(Journal Special Service.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Many eminent prelates, and priests of the Roman Catholic Church are in New York to attend the ceremonies in St. Patrick's Cathedral tomorrow, when Archbishop Farley will be invested with the pallium. The investiture was to have taken place last month, but was postponed owing to the death of Leo XIII. The ceremony tomorrow promises to be the most elaborate ecclesiastical function ever seen here. The elaborate system of electric lights recently installed in the cathedral will be used for the first time.

Why not make the trip to the famous Yellowstone Park? You can do so at a very moderate expense. The latest excursion tickets are on sale daily at the Northern Pacific ticket office, No. 255 Morrison street. This is the best month in the year to visit the Park and the Park Association are fully prepared to take care of all tourists desiring to make the trip. Call at the office, No. 255 Morrison street, for Park literature and full particulars. All arrangements will be made for you prior to starting on the trip.

Mayorality Candidates Already in the Field—The Question of Objectionable Immigration Again Comes to Front.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—If one is to judge by current gossip, New York will have the same mayorality candidates this year that ran in 1901. It is said upon good authority that Mayor Low will accept a renomination, and since Tammany Leader Charles F. Murphy's prestige has been so seriously damaged as a result of the Dock Board inquiry, the favor that once apparently belonged to his candidate, George B. McClellenn, is turning toward Edward M. Shepard.

Promised Mr. Shepard.

Then it is said that Mr. Shepard was promised the mayoralty nomination for Mayor again in 1903, when he failed to be elected, two years ago. There are not a few prominent Tammany men who believe that he is the strongest man who could be named. Not only is it said that Mr. Low will not run again, but that the fusion ticket may be a duplicate of that of 1901. Controller Grout can have a renomination if he wants it, while all of the borough presidents have made satisfactory records.

Fusion Forces Active.

Already the fusion forces have begun sending campaign literature, and nothing will be left undone before election day to show the voters what has been accomplished for the betterment of the city government by the reform administration. The strict business proposition of whether or not the people desire an administration conducted on business principles as a return to the Tammany methods will be the keynote of the fusionists' campaign.

The Refuse of Europe.

Commissioner of Immigration Williams thinks that the long influence at work to send the United States a portion of the refuse of Europe, and wishes to see the time when some restriction will be put upon the flood of immigration to this country. Mr. Williams thinks that if an arbitrary test should be applied to determine the fitness of immigrants to land, fully 90,000 a year would be debarred from entering this country. His belief is that the basis of exclusion should not be their inability to become a public charge, but the inability to lower our standard of living or civilization.

Itinerant Organ-Grinders.

The lazy-looking itinerant Italians who grind out rattle on hurdy-gurdies are not as uncalculating as they seem, as their newest "get rich quick" scheme will show. The elaborate organs of the street organs formerly had moving pictures and dancing figures that were set in motion by the turning of the crank-handle. The spirit of "something for nothing" appealed too strongly to one of these grinders, who arranged his instrument so that it is necessary to drop a cent in the slot attached to the hurdy-gurdy to start the show. Others quickly followed suit.

More School Buildings.

Within the last two or three years New York has erected a large number of substantial and costly school buildings, but the need for more is constantly increasing. The Board of Education is now considering the advisability of asking for $5,000,000 for several more buildings.

The Sunday Cocktail.

The vexed question of getting a cocktail on Sunday is not so difficult to solve if one knows how to go about it. This is proved by a young physician, who a few days ago wrote the following for one of his thirty friends:

Sp. juniper comp. 2 oz.
Ext. cuspariae li. 20 drops.
Sacchar. 20 grains.
Misc. fiat optus.

Sig.—Pour over cracked ice and laugh before taking.

St. John's Cathedral.

No building in the course of erection in New York has proved of greater interest than St. John's Cathedral, which will not be completed for 40 years yet, although a small army of laborers are daily working upon it. The work has just begun of moving the two huge columns from the pier at East One Hundred and Thirty-fifth street to the cathedral at One Hundred and Thirtieth street, and it will be long and tedious. Instead of the enormous truck which is customarily designed to cart the sections of the columns being drawn by horses, the truck will be moved, 200 feet at a time, by means of a steam winch. An anchor will be imbedded in the roadway to hold the pulley through which a wire cable will be run. It will take several days to cart each section to the cathedral, and it will take 30 horses to draw the empty truck back. The truck alone weighs 15,000 pounds, and the large sections of the columns weigh 50 tons each.

Bowery of Brooklyn.

Probably the most remarkable of all Brooklyn streets is Myrtle avenue. There is not a thing in Manhattan that can be compared to it, unless it is the Bowery, and only in a few things is there any similarity in this. The Bowery of Brooklyn is one of the longest streets in the borough, and is a mass of old-fashioned buildings, most of them of the tumble-down frame variety. Nothing like the Myrtle avenue merchant can be seen anywhere outside of Brooklyn, and it is possible to get an old thing—but very few new ones—on the avenue, and always on your own terms.

Presbyterian Boom.

Reports just issued show that the Presbyterian Church has not grown so rapidly in membership, but its members have given most liberal support to its work. Last year nearly $1,050,000 was given for home missions alone, the largest in the history of the denomination. On the other hand, the contributions of Episcopalians for mission work are decreasing, at least in the dioceses around New York.

Tammany leaders are courting popularity by giving their followers and their families outings during the hot months. It costs a pretty penny to charter a steamboat and provide refreshments and entertainment for 5,000 or 6,000 people, but it is a paying investment, and nearly all the leaders, not excluding Chief Murphy himself, have done it.

NEW YORK O. U. A. M.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 11.—The thirty-third annual session of the state council of the Order of United American Mechanics began here today with a good attendance. The proceedings opened at 10 o'clock this morning with appropriate exercises under the auspices of the local council, followed by the conferring of the degrees. There will be a reception in honor of the visitors and tomorrow the annual parade will take place.

FORESTERS ARE TO ALTER THEIR RATES

At International Catholic Order Finds Present Arrangement Inadequate.

(Journal Special Service.)

DUBUQUE, Ia., Aug. 11.—Fifteen thousand is a conservative estimate of the number of delegates and visitors here for the international convention of the Catholic Order of Foresters. The record-breaking attendance is due in a large measure to the number of important questions to be disposed of by the convention.

The principal question to be considered is the new rates. At the last international convention, which was held in Milwaukee two years ago, a committee was appointed to take this subject under consideration and make a thorough investigation. They have been engaged upon this task since and have prepared an exhaustive report. The report says in substance that the rates are inadequate and that if it is desired to perpetuate the order an increase is imperative. The committee will present several plans for increasing the rates, one of which doubtless will be adopted.

The question of admitting liquor dealers and saloon keepers also will be brought up again. The matter was argued at length two years ago, but final decision was postponed until this year. It is thought by some that this class will be admitted, but at an increased schedule and in a separate class. The Iowa state convention voted to exclude the saloon keeper, but it is uncertain how the delegates will vote, as there are varying views among the states.

The business sessions were preceded this morning by the celebration of high mass at the cathedral. This afternoon the delegates assembled in St. Mary's Casino, Spokane, Wash., and were welcomed by Mayor Berg. The business sessions will be commenced this evening and continued through tomorrow. The election of officers will take place tomorrow morning. A spirited contest is on for the office of speaker, and the rival candidates being two Iowans—James A. Hayes of Dubuque and John A. Limbach of Cedar Rapids.

Thursday morning the biennial parade will be held. The visiting delegates and their friends will take part, together with the local courts and many from nearby towns. Thursday afternoon the visitors will be treated to an excursion on the river. That evening and Friday will be devoted to business, and it is hoped to conclude everything by Saturday.

TACOMA EXERCISED OVER IMPURE FOOD

Those Arrested in the City Have Demanded Jury Trials—Great Expense.

(Journal Special Service.)

TACOMA, Aug. 11.—State Food Commissioner McDonald has appointed extra deputies, Spokane, Whitman, and Walla Walla and the state is now thoroughly patrolled. Deputy Commissioner Haskell of Tacoma claims to have taken samples of jelly in Tacoma and to have found them adulterated and not marked so as to advertise the true contents. It is probable that prosecutions will follow on this complaint.

The Commissioner seems to be temporarily blocked in the cases inaugurated against a large number of Tacoma restaurants, keepers charged with selling milk below the required state standard of butter fat. There were 23 of these arrests and the defendants through their attorneys have asked for a jury trial in each individual case. The cases are still in the Justice's Court, and to secure a jury for each of 23 separate cases and try each of the defendants would be a lengthy and expensive proceeding. The case has been continued until August 31. The county attorney and the food commissioner state that they will prosecute the cases to a finish.

FIREMEN 3,000 STRONG

(Journal Special Service.)

LATROBE, Pa., Aug. 11.—Latrobe is in gala attire in honor of the members of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Association, whose annual convention and tournament is in progress here. More than 500 delegates are present and in the big parade, which will be held tomorrow, there will be nearly 4,000 men in line, including 3,000 firemen. The only truck which is better than the Greensburg, Johnstown, Jeannette and Irwin are among the cities well represented.

WEDDED IN PARIS

(Journal Special Service.)

PARIS, Aug. 11.—Many persons of social prominence attended the wedding today of Miss Alice Boucherie and Mr. Charles Knight. The bride belongs to a well-known French family, while the bridegroom is a son of Mr. Ridgway Knight, the American artist, and is himself an architect of prominence.

Strain Too Great

Hundreds of Portland Readers Find It So.

The hustle and worry of business men. The hard work and stooping of workmen. The woman's household cares. Are too great a strain on the kidneys. Backache, headache, dizziness. Kidney troubles, urinary troubles follow.

A Portland citizen tells you how to cure them all.

Mrs. C. Richards, wife of C. Richards, painter, and living at 671 Market street, says: "Mr. Richards values Doan's Kidney Pills very highly. He has had attacks of kidney trouble for years. He is a painter by trade and there is no doubt but the turpentine has had more or less effect on his kidneys, as I believe most painters are more or less afflicted with kidney troubles. Last fall he had an acute attack and when Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our notice I went to the Laue-Davis Drug Company's store, corner of Franklin and Third streets, and got him a box. They so regulated his kidneys that relief came in a remarkably short time. I have heard him express his appreciation of this reliable remedy."

JAPANESE FAVOR PORTLAND'S FAIR

J. Lyons, Head of a Stevedore Corporation at Kobe, Visits America and Speaks of Conditions.

He Is Pleased with Oregon and Fascinated by Large Buildings Which Earthquakes Bar from Japan.

"Although Japan has just closed a World's Fair of her own, the people of that country feel very friendly toward Oregon and the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Her own display served to make more noticeable Japan's shortcomings and cause her to look for better things."

After 21 years of hard work, J. Lyons, of the firm of J. Lyons & Co., of Kobe, Japan, stevedores, is sightseeing in the United States. He made the above statement while in Portland yesterday on his way to San Francisco, from where he will cross the continent and go on to Europe. He expects to return to the Pacific Coast some time in January, 1904, on his way home to the Orient.

A stout, jolly man of middle age, born in Constantinople of English parentage, and one who has spent his entire life among those not of his own race, Mr. Lyons has an appearance not unlike one of the natives of his adopted land. He is an entertaining talker, and is loud in his praises of the things he has seen on this, his first visit to the United States.

Earthquakes Bar Skyscrapers.

"The houses and the harbors," he remarked, "are so unlike anything we have in Japan. Where an earthquake may destroy everything without a moment's notice we cannot afford skyscrapers. But I like to look at the tall buildings and see the ceaseless activity on the streets. Japan is improving, but is still far behind this country."

"There in the harbor of Kobe, if harbor you can call it, we have no breakwaters, wharves or drydocks, and you can imagine the difficulties we experience in relieving ships of their cargoes. Lighters have to be used, and in the unprotected harbor, especially if the water be a little rough, it is next to impossible to work. A breakwater is being constructed at Osaka, and the business men of that place are attempting to draw trade from Kobe, but I think it will be some years before they accomplish much."

The Lewis and Clark Fair.

Speaking of the Lewis and Clark Fair and the National Industrial Exposition just closed at Osaka, Mr. Lyons said: "Our people feel very kindly toward the coming Portland Fair, but they have hardly recovered from the effects of their own exposition as yet. I saw some very clever exhibits at the Japanese fair, but the progress of the business men of that place is attempting to draw trade from Kobe, but I think it will be some years before they accomplish much."

"That Japan would progress more rapidly if its people would deal more fairly with the foreigners Mr. Lyons did not hesitate to say."

"A Chinaman," he remarked, "recognizes a contract, whether verbal or written. If he says he will take a certain thing he will do so. There are warehouses in Kobe crowded with goods that Japanese promised to take, but when the stocks arrived they informed the agent that they had no money and refused to accept what they had ordered."

Of the natural scenery of Oregon Mr. Lyons said:

"Why, old Hood is equal in beauty to our celebrated Fujiyama. I am in love with this country, and I intend to try and make it my home, returning to Japan occasionally to attend to business interests."

FREIGHT CAR FAMINE

(Journal Special Service.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.—So great and constant is the demand from shippers for cars, that conditions have developed which seem to justify the conclusion that the shortage of equipment will probably continue indefinitely. An actual car famine has practically already begun, and unless there is unexpected improvement, a repetition of last winter's experience, with the high tide of activity arrived, appears inevitable, notwithstanding the number of new rolling stock and increased yard facilities acquired in large measure this early season is due to the larger grain movement that was delayed by the extraordinary amount of other freight which had to be disposed of earlier in the season.

OF INTEREST TO THEM, WEAK PEOPLE.

It is perfectly understood by every sick man or woman that if they can get some remedy that will stop the gradual loss of flesh and strength, their recovery is assured. People that are nervous and unsteady, have dizzy spells, with weakened memory, and loss of ambition, their blood is thin and watery. It shows in their sallow complexion and tired manner, soon as they commence to gain flesh they look better and sleep better. To gain from 1 to 2 lbs. of good solid flesh per week, the blood must be made rich and pure. Dr. Gunn's Blood and Nerve Tonic puts in the body the very purest of what makes pure, rich blood in the most direct way, and cures disease by making strength. This Tonic is in tablet form to be taken right after meals. It enriches the blood, making force where there was faintness. For women's weakness a better remedy was never made. Sold by all druggists for 75c per box, or three boxes for $2.00 sent by mail. Write us about your case. Address, Dr. Bosanko Co., Philadelphia, Pa.
