

OREGON DELEGATION
OF GRAND ARMY MEN

San Francisco Reached by Old Soldiers and Excellent Preparations for Entertainment Are Made.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 17.—The Oregon delegation to the G. A. R. 200 strong, reached headquarters, room 200, Occidental Hotel, this morning. A portion of this space is to be allotted to the Woman's Relief Corps, representatives of which are late to arrive. The president, Mrs. Schank, and secretary and treasurer of the organization are expected today. Department Commander D. H. Turner and Assistant Commander J. H. Turner are expected today. The following next department commanders are also here: G. S. Smith, H. Lamb, O. Sommers, S. B. Ormsby, C. B. Holway and A. J. Goodbody.

PARTY OF CAMPERS

Three Armed Men Approach Party in the Mountains and Ask for Food Which Was Given to Them.

Women of the Party Seek to Talk with Outlaws, but Are Warned by Them to Beware of Following Posses.

(Journal Special Service.)
PLACERVILLE, Aug. 17.—Attorney Fred Irwin of this place and John F. Armstrong, Register of the Land Office at Sacramento, who were camping at Phillips Station, near the summit, were visited last Friday by three armed men, who they recognized as escaped convicts. Armstrong identified Outlaw Theron from published pictures. The desperate men said they had nothing to eat for three days. They were given something and took a bag well filled away with them.

FORTIFIED HOME FOR THE KAISER

(Journal Special Service.)
BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The Vorwaerts today states that the reactionary advisers of the Kaiser recommend that he purchase the Island Pichelswerder in the lake a few miles west of Berlin as a site for a new imperial residence. The place, according to the plan, will be strongly fortified and special roads will be made from the military barracks to the shores of the lake, so that it may be possible to concentrate forces for the protection of the Kaiser in case of an emergency. The Vorwaerts says the scheme is the outgrowth of the recent increase of Socialism.

RUSSIA IN TRANS-
PACIFIC TRAFFIC

(Journal Special Service.)
ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 17.—Russia is about to inaugurate a trans-Pacific passenger and freight service to American ports. The Minister of Marine has issued an order authorizing the Russian volunteer squadron, which sail from Russia to the Far East, will prolong their voyages to American Pacific Coast points. The first to sail under the new orders will be the Smolensk.

ROOT WILL STAY
UNTIL JANUARY

(Journal Special Service.)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.—Secretary Root will remain at the head of the War Department until his return from Europe, and probably until the retirement of Gen. Young, January 9, 1936. Though it is no official announcement, it is generally understood that Taft will succeed Root.

SERIOUSLY INJURED

(Journal Special Service.)
THE DALLIES, Or., Aug. 17.—Mrs. S. M. McCall, recently from South Dakota, was badly injured near here yesterday while on her way to attend the funeral of her daughter, Mrs. Mills. Mrs. McCall was riding in a carriage, when the horses became frightened, throwing Mrs. McCall out. She sustained six broken ribs, a fractured shoulder and a severe scalp wound. Mrs. Mills resided at Hartland.

READY TO SWEAR.

(Journal Special Service.)
GEORGETOWN, Aug. 17.—Robert Noakes, who was the star witness in the first trial of Caleb Powers in 1930, arrived this morning ready to testify for the commonwealth. After the last trial he fled for his life and located in Chicago, never returning home. He was the organizer of the mountain army that invaded Frankfort at the time Goebel was assassinated.

VESSELS AT THE BAR

(Journal Special Service.)
ASTORIA, Aug. 17.—The schooner Ethel Lane and steamer Columbia and Dispatch sailed yesterday morning for San Francisco. The steamer Aurelia arrived from San Francisco this morning. The United States gunboats Marblehead and Concord arrived from Puget Sound at noon today.

SALMON FISHING
COMES TO CLOSE

Midnight Saturday Ended the Season and It Is Estimated that Cleanup Will Equal Business of Last Year.

Supply Very Short Up to August 1 When Great Run Came Into River—Pack of Canned Fish Shows Shortage.

(Journal Special Service.)
ASTORIA, Aug. 17.—The 1936 salmon fishing season on the Columbia River came to a close at 12 o'clock Saturday night. The packing houses will probably succeed in cleaning up all their fish by tonight. The representative of the Journal, who made close inquiry into the pack, learns that the total output of salmon by the canneries and cold storages will be approximately the same as last year. There may possibly be 25,000 cases difference, but it is impossible to tell as yet with a reasonable degree of certainty.

Singular conditions existed this season. With the exception of occasional runs of small proportions, the supply of salmon was short up to the great run which came into the river about August 1. Since then the packing-houses have been blocked, the facilities for handling being wholly inadequate as compared with the supply. It is estimated that fully 20,000 cases of fish have been packed since the commencement of the big run.

During the early part of the season and prior to the great run, practically all of the fish caught went into cold storage. On the other hand, the size of the early fish the packers picked the greater part of the catch, few of the fish going to the canneries. The cold storages have been grinding steadily and the output is much larger than that of a year ago.

Will Make Up Shortage.
From what can be learned from the different packs, who are inclined to be very reticent, the excess output of cold-storage fish will just about make up for the shortage in the pack of canned fish. The pickled product this season surpasses that of any former year, and the market is very strong, the demand having greatly increased of late.

Seventeen canneries were operated on the Columbia River this year, and the combined output of the number will be about 20,000 cases. The Columbia River Packers' Association operated four canneries—two at Astoria, one at Eureka, and one at Rooster Rock. P. J. McGowan & Sons run one cannery at McGowan, one at Ilwaco and one at the Cascades. Mr. Warren operated a cannery at Cathlamet and one at the Cascades. The following figures of the pack are probably as nearly correct as any estimates made at this time:

Warren's Large Pack.
Mr. Warren's large pack is due to the fact that he shipped many carloads of salmon to Wardendale during the big run. Perhaps later reports will alter the figures here given, but they are approximately correct.

It is estimated that the output of cold-storage fish will be about 7,000 cases. The (canned or barrel) will average 100 cases each, so the pickled fish output will be the equivalent of about 10,000 cases of fish. This brings the total catch to about 400,000 cases, which is just about what was handled last year on Puget Sound and Alaska.

ROOSEVELT TALKS TO A MULTITUDE

The President Addresses Meeting of Society of the Holy Name.

OYSTER BAY, Aug. 17.—A great occasion was the result of the meeting here yesterday of the Society of the Holy Name of Brooklyn and Long Island.

President Roosevelt delivered the principal address and entertained a vast audience on the subject of "Decency of Speech and Conduct."

Long before the appointed time for the meeting trains began unloading hundreds of persons into the town. Father Power, rector of St. Dominic's, presided, and when the carriage drove up bearing the President, Capt. W. H. Brownson, Superintendent of the Naval Academy and Secretary Barnes, a great crowd gathered about the entrance of the church.

The President at once entered the building and was treated to "America" by a full band. After being introduced Mr. Roosevelt with a quiet show of oratory spoke for nearly three quarters of an hour.

He dwelt at length on the requirements of good citizenship, and in his deductions made clear the necessity for cleanliness and order from manhood and womanhood and believed that the foundation of a lasting civilization could only be built of such material.

At the conclusion of the President's address there was prolonged applause. He was followed by a host of speakers, several Catholic prelates who were present.

HARNESSMAKERS' MEET

DETROIT, Aug. 17.—More than 100 harness manufacturers and dealers from all over the United States are here attending the annual convention of the National Harness Manufacturers' and Dealers' Protective Association, the principal object of which is to prevent the wholesale dealer from monopolizing the trade of the retailers. The first business session was held today with President John R. Weisner of Cincinnati presiding. Reports from the various associations were read, which showed the organization to be in a flourishing condition.

PLEASANT VISIT
BY BLACKSMITHS

Oregon City Entertains Union Men—Councilman Story a Host.

(Journal Special Service.)
OREGON CITY, Aug. 17.—The Blacksmiths' Union of Portland paid this city a visit today on Saturday evening. They were out for a good time, about 50 strong, and they had it. Councilman Story of this city, who is a blacksmith, gave the visiting hammer-wielders a lunch at the Brunswick Hotel.

Of for the Gold Mines.
OREGON CITY, Aug. 17.—A half dozen parties left Oregon City for the gold mines in the southeast end of the county on Saturday and Sunday. Among the party were John Flinchbaugh, R. L. Brown, W. C. G. Miller, R. K. Kratz, R. C. Hall, E. Williams, A. C. O. Tompkins, W. F. McGinnis, S. J. Burford, Dr. C. D. Love and George Heffer. Charles A. Pope is the manager. Harry Trimbush, the trainer. Chief of the Fire Department, Rucopick is in charge of the crowd and W. H. Howell of the Water Works Department goes along as chief of the Commissary Department and to see that the boys get all that is coming to them. The team is a good one and has been trained to the minute and Oregon City expects to hear a good report from them.

Rose Team for Astoria.
OREGON CITY, Aug. 17.—The Oregon City horse team left today for Astoria to participate in the regatta, horse contest and other athletic sports which will take place in the city at the mouth of the Columbia. The horse team is made up of the following well-known equestrian gentlemen of this city: L. P. Brown, W. C. G. Miller, R. K. Kratz, R. C. Hall, E. Williams, A. C. O. Tompkins, W. F. McGinnis, S. J. Burford, Dr. C. D. Love and George Heffer. Charles A. Pope is the manager. Harry Trimbush, the trainer. Chief of the Fire Department, Rucopick is in charge of the crowd and W. H. Howell of the Water Works Department goes along as chief of the Commissary Department and to see that the boys get all that is coming to them. Business Outlook Good.
OREGON CITY, Aug. 17.—Business in Oregon City promises to be better this fall and winter than it has been in many years. Every business house in the city, with one exception, is occupied and it will be occupied within a few weeks. Three new mercantile establishments have been opened up in the city during the past month and the Studebaker Company of Portland will establish a branch agency for their cars, wagons and buggy business at this place within two weeks. It will be in charge of C. A. Willy, a local business dealer. A residence can hardly be rented in Oregon City for love or money and there is not an idle man in town provided he wants to work. The prospects for the future are very bright and the general good conditions which prevail all over the county. The farmers are prosperous, they have abundant crops and prices for farm products were never better than now.

To Celebrate Labor Day.
OREGON CITY, Aug. 17.—The Carpenters' and Painters' Union of Oregon City have arranged to celebrate Labor Day with fitting ceremonies. They have a membership in this city of more than 100 active workers. They have secured the Columbia River Park, a stone and on Labor Day will give a blowout at that place. They will have a brass band, a ball game between the carpenters and the painters' teams, a lot of oratory by local and Portland talent and a big basket dinner. The indications are that they will have an excellent time.

Personals.
Joe W. Ganong, secretary of the Portland Flouring Mills at Portland, and his wife and children were the guests of his father, "Uncle Billy" Ganong, on Sunday.

Miss Ethel Cheney left on Monday for LaPayette, Or., where she will spend the week.

FEAST OF SAN GIOVANNI

Rarely does the city of Santa Maria del Fiore seem more overflowing with life than when the feast of San Giovanni is celebrated. The air is fresh and windless day. The olivander white and pink, and the roses in all her gardens are in bloom; the deep bells of Giotto's tower are throbbing with the joy of the feast. The people are in the streets, and the piazzas are thronged with the throngs of the feast. The people are in the streets, and the piazzas are thronged with the throngs of the feast.

WESTERN UNION CAN DISCHARGE ANY MAN

Federal Judge Decides that Telegraphers' No Place in Law.

(Journal Special Service.)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 17.—Judge Rogers of Arkansas, occupying the United States Court here today, denied the petition of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America for an injunction restraining the Western Union Company from discharging men who belong to the union. The application was filed two months ago. Judge Rogers holds that the company has a right to discharge any man with whom no contract is made. The alleged black list, he declares, is merely a record of discharges, which the company has a legal right to keep.

WOMEN ALL ALONE

(Journal Special Service.)
BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The world conference of women's rights leaders is being held here behind closed doors.

Fire Team Leaves.
VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 17.—The competition hose team, that will represent this place at the Astoria regatta, will leave tomorrow morning for the Coast town. Tonight the boys give a party on their own and will practice a few quick couplings and will be backers enough here who wager that the Vancouver delegation will not be left entirely in the cold in the various regatta events, and is that is the first regatta for several years that has been participated in by the local firemen, the results will be eagerly awaited.

Reduced Rates to the Seashore.
Go to Newport on Yaquina Bay—an ideal beach. It is becoming very popular with the Portland people. The low rate of $2.00 has been made by the Southern Pacific Company in connection with the Corvallis & Eastern Railroad for the Sunday round trip from Portland, tickets good going Saturday, returning Monday.

A delightful ride through the beautiful Willamette Valley, with privilege of stopping on the Main Street and River, returning the other way.

Ask any Southern Pacific Company or Corvallis & Eastern Railroad agent for a booklet describing the seashore resorts at Yaquina.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO BE TOO FEW

Readjustment of State's Educational Plans Discussed and Great Interest Surrounds the Subject.

President Campbell of University of Oregon Says Small Colleges in Many Incidents Defeat Higher Learning.

(Special Journal Service.)
EUGENE, Or., Aug. 17.—The discussion of a readjustment of the state's educational plans is of considerable interest in Eugene on account of the fact that Eugene is the location of the University of Oregon, which institution is the pride of Eugene locally as well as the state generally.

The plan as proposed by Mr. Parker of Philomath has been discussed by several of the leading educators of the state. President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon, in speaking on the subject, says:

"Everyone knows that I am in favor of an increase in the high school facilities of the state. These small colleges are a new one, but in and always will be one which is paramount to every other educational interest of the State of Oregon till it is settled and settled right."

From Bottom to Top.
"The plan of education is: First, the primary grades and elementary instruction; second, the finishing of the first eight grades of the public schools; third, the high school; fourth, the university. It is a ladder, and in the ladder is the ladder of proper regulation, an unbroken ladder by which the young idea can climb from the very bottom of learning to the top and graduate with complete equipment for the work which he has chosen."

"In Oregon it is different. As Mr. Parker says, we have a number of small colleges which pretend to more than they accomplish. They have been exacting in education in the past, but they are not ready to admit, but they usurp the place of a high school and break the connection between the lower grades and the university. They give the students a false degree, bestowed by the University of Oregon and still their graduates would—a great majority of them—enter the University here at the junior year."

A Hard Proposition.
"The question will be a most difficult one to handle. These small colleges are mostly supported by religious organizations, churches, etc. These will be loath to give up the management of the institutions. They will also be loath to make their institutions of a grade which will act as a ladder to the university. They will wish to maintain their independence, as it were, and refuse to recognize the superiority of the head institution, the university."

The problem will be hard to settle and yet until it is settled there can be no system about our plans; no plans by which we can instruct the lower grades to expect high school instruction in the place of the colleges and the university. They will wish to maintain their independence, as it were, and refuse to recognize the superiority of the head institution, the university."

PRUNE GROWERS' FIRE INSURANCE

Willamette Valley Men Meet to Form a Company for Mutual Protection.

(Journal Special Service.)
SALEM, Or., Aug. 17.—The prune growers of the Willamette Valley met here on Saturday afternoon and took preliminary steps toward organizing a mutual fire insurance association for the protection of the fruit driers of the growers. The reason for the step is that a number of insurance companies have made the rate on prune driers almost prohibitive, and this organization is formed for the protection of the growers at a nominal or rather the actual cost of insurance. The association will be on the lines of the Mutual Protection Association of Marion and adjoining counties.

YOUNG ROBBER'S FIND WATCHMAN

Masked Men Early Sunday Morning Seize John Jensen at Stone Quarries and Take His Watch and Money.

Sheriff Is Not Called for Three Hours and Thieves Escape in the Timber Lands—May Yet Be Caught.

(Journal Special Service.)
ASTORIA, Aug. 17.—A young highwayman held up Night Watchman John Jensen at Fisher's quarries yesterday morning and relieved him of a gold watch and what money he had, $15 in all, that surrounded the quarry. Jensen told the officers that the two were both young men, but he could not give a complete description, as both were masked.

Although the robbery occurred at 8 in the morning, the Sheriff was not notified until after 9 o'clock. He journeyed to the scene but the trail was too old and little hope of securing the men is entertained. The careful watch is being kept of suspicious characters entering county towns.

LOVELY TIME HAD
BY MAN AND MULE

"Rooky" Entertained by Beast That Was Resolute and Devoid of Pity.

(Journal Special Service.)
VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 17.—The way of a mule with a man is devious, wild and strange. That way may even become mysterious and wonderful if the beast is government property and the man is "rooky" of three months' service, was proved at the barracks this morning.

A private-laden mule was started towards the post headquarters at 8 a. m. bearing a message from the department headquarters. The mule was another trying to enter the barracks of the Eighth Battery; at 8:05 he was careening madly across the sacred parade grounds; at 8:05 he was pawing up the sand before the commanding general's quarters; at 8:10 he was in the barracks; after he was seen jumping piles of lumber, to prove he could follow the hounds if necessary; nosing around ornamental cannons in various secluded nooks, canyoning from one station to another in search of excitement and making sudden turns that left his rider stringing now far out to the leeward, then well forward over the long waving ears.

For some time the mule was in the quarters; at close intervals thereafter he was seen jumping piles of lumber, to prove he could follow the hounds if necessary; nosing around ornamental cannons in various secluded nooks, canyoning from one station to another in search of excitement and making sudden turns that left his rider stringing now far out to the leeward, then well forward over the long waving ears.

At this stage the mule remembered that he had forgotten to call at the stables, and off he started. A hasty tree sagged him from his incumbrance and when the duo was last seen a lame private was limping towards the post headquarters, with a meek and humble mule plodding in his wake.

FOREST FIRES IN SOUTHERN OREGON

Despite All Precaution, Timber Conflagrations Are Raging.

(Journal Special Service.)
GRANTS PASS, Aug. 17.—Notwithstanding the almost complete absence of rain, the forest fires in the mountain woods of Southern Oregon are raging in various parts of Josephine county and Southern Oregon. For a week past a bad fire has been burning in the woods of the State and Deer Creek districts between Wilderville and Selma west of here. Much damage has been done to the timber. The fire has burned over an area 10 miles or more in length and is working south into the heavier and unsurveyed timber. That part burned over is but sparsely timbered, but at least has been cut over, but the farmers and ranchers have worked like demons to save their homes from the destroying element.

Fires are also burning in the mountains of Southern Josephine county, and in the woods north of Grants Pass.

Harvest Excursion.
SALEM, Or., Aug. 17.—About 200 Salem people went to Newport on the Southern Pacific Company's harvest excursion yesterday, and enjoyed a day of pleasure and recreation on the Rye Creek beach. The party reached Newport about 12:30 p. m., and returning left there at 7:30 p. m., reaching Salem a little after midnight. They found the weather ideal, the surf bathing, unexcelled, and with a congenial company from Silverton, Albany and Eugene, a most pleasant day was spent. The excursion will probably be repeated in a couple of weeks.

Caught in the Act.
SALEM, Or., Aug. 17.—Charles Hammond, a well-known local character, was arrested on Saturday on the charge of larceny from the person and his hearing will be held today. The fellow is charged with stealing money from the person of W. E. Lynch on the streets of this city, in broad daylight, and was caught in the act. He will have a hearing this afternoon.

Funeral of Mrs. Sears.
SALEM, Or., Aug. 17.—Mrs. James K. Sears, wife of the warehouseman of that name, residing at McCoy, was yesterday buried at Zena, having died suddenly on Friday afternoon of apoplexy. Deceased was a native of Polk County, and was 65 years of age. She was a heartbroken husband, four daughters and one son to mourn her passing away.

Rich Greenback Mine.
GRANTS PASS, Aug. 17.—The 40 stamps of the Greenback's two mills, and its 100-ton cyanide plant, are kept steadily at work and from 55 to 60 tons of ore are milled each day. Last month the mine produced 20,000 pounds of gold, and the stockholders of the Greenback, and from all indications this will be repeated again this month as well as for many months to come. The new German process of cyaniding and the new machinery installed at the mine, the values of the tailings sand, but of the values as well, so that at least 95 per cent of the total assay values of the ore are saved. About 150 men are employed, and the town of Greenback is one of the liveliest mining camps in Southern Oregon.

COLUMBIA BEACH OPENED

Hundreds of City People Visit New Resort on the Sandy Banks of the Big River.

(Journal Special Service.)
VANCOUVER, Wash., Aug. 17.—The opening of the Columbia Beach yesterday, across the river from this place, was a most successful one. Hundreds of city people came from the city. The car service from Portland was doubled and even then the crowds could not be accommodated.

Though the beach has at present only a few bathing houses and a small dancing platform, it has evidently filled a want and, being unlike any other resort near Portland, will doubtless become an institution.

Hundreds of bathers tried the Columbia yesterday and pronounced it as cool and refreshing as the ocean. The sandy beach is said to be ideal and the excellent bathing machines and the four companies that leave tomorrow, and no one out of the hospital will miss his chance at the 800 and 1,000-yard targets.

Batteries will leave for the lake Thursday and Friday. As they make the journey overland they will arrive about the time the infantry departs.
