A person could put up three houses of this size on a full lot, where a large one alone would take it up. The rent from the three homes would be a great deal more than for a single large house, and the cost of building the three would not be near as much as the cost of one. People do not expect elaborate decorations and fittings in a small house, and this item would be a saving to the man who is going to build homes for rent

Real Estate More Active.

Although at present there is no gen-eral activity in the real estate market, some people are buying all the time Many are buying homes on the installment plan.

One of the principal sales of the week was that of the White House and 36 acres of land to J. H. Peterson Mr. Peterson recently disposed of some property on "Widow's Row," in Washington street. The price paid for the White House property is said to been $35,000, and it is said that Mr. Peterson will continue the operation of the roadhouse and divide the other property into town lots.

Inquiries Are Many. Many inquiries are being received from the East by local real estate men from intending purchasers.

"Immigration," said a real estate man slow at present, and I think that it will continue so during the present month. This is the sole reason why there is not more activity in the real estate market. Farmers in the East are busy with their harvests, but many of them are finding time to write for information concerning the coast cities. "This could be easily brought about if both interested parties would show a disposition to get together. The unions in the building trades line could prepare their scale and submit it to their council for approval, and then a conference could be arranged with the bosses to take final action in the matter. Heretofore, the building trades unions have always, submitted their scale to the bosses about the first of the year, but they never asked for it to go into effect until in the spring. idea has been that work is more plentiul in the spring of the year, and that the contractors would be more likely to grant them what they ask at that time than at any other period. It is invariably during the busy season that the strikes are declared. As a matter of fact the unions have been in favor of settling their disputes before that time, but the associations would not confer with them. So far as the unions are concerned this matter can be very easily arranged, if the other side is willing to show the proper disposition. "During my experience in the labor novement the most difficult people to handle are those composing unions newly formed. Just so soon as they are organized a majority of them insist upon making exorbitant demands at nce, and when they do not get them they want to declare a strike at once. They want to secure in a day what the old-established unions have been fighting for years to obtain. Occasionally these new men get the controlling voice in the old unions, and they are the ones that cause the trouble. They are usually the strikers.

One of the strongest productions of Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" yet offered the public comes to the Marquam Grand theatre next Friday night and Saturday afternoon, September 11 and 12. Little need be said in praise of this famous comedy, for it has long been recognized as the satirical masterpiece of Charles H. Hoyt. James R. Devlin, who has G. Barlow is the "Minister from Dahomey," May Bretonne is "Bossy," Will T. Chatterton "Major Yell." William Marble, Jr., "Brassy Gall." "The Texas Steer" quartette also will appear, The advance sale of seats opened this morning.

"THE LEGION OF HONOR" Cordray's theatre this week has been well filled at every performance. "The Legion of Honor" has proved all that was expected of it. Mr. Mordant and Miss Humphreys are artists second to few who have appeared here in the last GRACE WAYNIE AT SHIELDS'

Shield's Park was crowded again last night by people anxious to see Grace Walton Haynie and incidentally to enjoy the excellent program. The park closes Sunday night with an entire change of program. Miss Haynie is retained and will appear in a new dramatic recital. Many amateurs will make their final bow Friday night.

BIDS HEREAFTER

A new rule covering the opening of blds for street and sewer improvements has been ordered by the Executive Board and will be in effect hereafter. In the future all bids will be opened by City Auditor Devlin at 3 o'clock in the afternoons preceding the regular board sessions at 4 o'clock. The custom has been to open the bids in the presence of the full board, but that system takes so much time that it frequently delays important business.

WORKED A BLUFF ON A HIGHWAYMEN

E. House, keeper of a Third street restaurant, frustrated an attempted hold-up last night by bluffing the highwayman into believing that he had a gun and intended to ahoot.

The incident occurred about 10 o'clock as Mr. House was on his way to his home at 486 Rodney avenue. When at Tillamook street and Grand avenue he was accosted by a thug who stepped from the shadow of a stone wall where he had been hiding. It was very dark and Mr. House did not have an oppor-tunity to get a good look at the man. "Throw up your hands," was the command as the thug stuck a revolver under Mr. House's nose. The restaurant man kept his presence of mind. Instead of complying with the order he stepped back, placed-his right hand on his hip pocket and assumed defiant attitude.

"Get out of here quick, or I'll bore you full of holes," said Mr. House, adding a few uncomplimentary remarks which so frightened the would-be holdup artist that he turned and ran at top speed. The intended victim continued on his way home and while walking down Williams avenue he thought he saw the thug on the other side of the street, but a second attempt was not tried. He reached his home in safety.

Mr. House does not believe he could identify the man. He says he was young, of medium height and wore dark gray clothes. When he called at the police station this morning he was shown a couple of suspects arrested early this morning, but he could not identify them.
