

VACATION IS OVER; SCHOOL-BELL RINGS

OPENING OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS TODAY MARKED BY THE LARGEST ATTENDANCE OF PUPILS IN THE HISTORY OF PORTLAND, AND THERE WAS OVERCROWDING.

Girls and Boys in Holiday Attire to the Number of Upwards of 10,000 Answer Roll Call in the Various Schools, and There Are More to Come—Inconvenience Experienced Because of Unfinished Buildings.

The neighbors in the vicinity of the various public school buildings this morning presented an Easter Sunday appearance. Little girls and big girls, all in bright colored garments, and small boys and big boys nattily attired thronged the thoroughfares. Vacation is over and today marks the reopening of the schools.

Inside the buildings it was much like the opening day of a legislative session and no little trouble was experienced in assigning the pupils to their respective classes. The task was no small one and occupied about two hours.

No attempt to take up routine work was made, but following assignments the pupils were furnished with lists of the books and other materials needed, and then dismissed for the day. Tomorrow school work will begin in earnest.

About 10,000 Attend. The attendance for a first day was larger than was expected, but accurate figures are not available. Last year the total enrollment on the first day of the school year was 9,500. The first day of the week roster showed 10,500 pupils.

In many of the school buildings, especially those to which annexes are being built, there was considerable congestion today, and it is probable that the half-day classes will be organized in the overflow. This condition of affairs will not continue long as the finishing touches are being put upon the annexes.

The highland school, in North Albina, was not opened, and probably will not be for about ten days. This is the building that is being enlarged from a four to a 14-room structure.

City Superintendent Rigler is much gratified at the showing in attendance this morning and estimates that the enrollment this year will show an increase of about 700 over that of last year.

Teachers Get Instructions. Saturday afternoon at the high school building the superintendent held a meeting with all the principals and teachers. Roll call found nearly all the teachers present, and those not there sent excuses for their absence. The superintendent announced that hereafter all excuses for absence on the part of teachers must be sent to the board, that he had no authority to excuse anyone. General announcements of grade assignments were made, and several special meetings were held after the general session was adjourned.

The superintendent announced to the principals that if any teachers were detained and not reporting this morning, to place the rooms in the charge of substitute teachers. He also insisted that the principals look carefully after the matter of their teachers' certificates. If any teacher reported for duty without her certificate, and gave good and sufficient reasons why she did not have it, she might be allowed to commence work, but with the distinct understanding that it was on her own risk; that the board would not be held liable for her pay without a proper certificate.

Objects to Night Lessons. The superintendent said he had two matters to bring before the assembled teachers. One was the matter of night lessons. He said that the experience of the best educators was that the school room should be the place of training of the youth. That work at home was likely to be done by parents or other members of the family and not by the teacher. He said that he had been brought before the board that had been done at home it was more than likely that his inspection meant passing upon work done by others than the student.

The other matter which Mr. Rigler especially desired to impress upon the teachers was that of anger. He said that there was no worse manner of using up nerve force and wasting vitality than the emotional wrath. From the view point of physiology the emotion of anger was detrimental to the best work. He said that he had seen one in a had frame of mind and bodily weak as well. He also made some suggestions as how best to curb the habit and urged all the teachers to do their best to control their tempers in the school room.

The plan of grade meetings would be the same this year as last year, and it was announced that another general meeting would be held in the high school building next Saturday morning at 10 o'clock for the purpose of making assignments.

In the Suburbs. School opened this morning in the seven suburban districts of Forest Grove, each without an exception the enrollment of each shows an increase over last year. Last fall, when the sessions began, the total attendance the first day numbered 1,490. Today the number is more than 1,700. The suburbs themselves have increased in population.

Forest Grove. Mount Tabor, is presided over by the following teachers: West avenue school—Edward Adams, superintendent of district and principal; Margaret Tracey, primary; Bessie Fields, second grade; Mary C. Tracoy, third grade; Mrs. Cook fourth grade; Mrs. B. Stafford, fifth grade; Francis Vall, sixth grade; Mary E. Hoover, seventh grade; Mrs. C. L. Buxton, eighth grade. Glencoe school—Ruth Simpson, primary; Miss Hart, second grade.

The corps of instructors in Montavilla district is composed of four grade, two high and principal. Edna Ross, Mrs. H. D. Rider, Miss Agnes Matlock, Miss Julia Spooner, Miss Minnie Butler, Miss Mamie Rogers, Miss Ellen Taylor and Miss Dumphries. The schools are crowded and it is expected that an extra room will have to be provided within a short time.

The South Mount Tabor school is packed today, and the directors are looking for additional room. The teachers are: W. A. Law, principal; Eula Strange, Cornelia Felling, Eleonora Blom and Anna C. Davidson.

Russellville House-Warming. A seven-room school building has just been completed in the Russellville district, and the sessions opened with J. F. Croft as principal. He has three assistants. This afternoon exercises were held in celebration of the completion of the new school building.

Ward B. Swope and Mrs. Davis are in charge of the Lents school. This district also has a new two-room building, and it is expected that another teacher will be added within a short time.

The Milwaukee school consists of four rooms, one more than last year. The instructors are: A. Reed, principal, and three assistants.

John Teuscher is principal of the St. Johns school. He has two assistants, but owing to the rapid growth of the school it is thought another teacher will soon be employed.

The school at Woodstock opened last Monday. J. M. Miller is in charge. He has two assistants.

Back to College. Portlanders who are attending schools out of town are departing daily to resume their studies. Sunday David Hirst, John Johnson, A. S. Wells and W. Espey went to Corvallis to enter the state agricultural college. Marion Stokes left today, and Horace Brodie will go tomorrow.

Booksellers Busy. Anent the opening of the schools today the book stores had a busy-time of it, and most of them found it necessary to employ extra help.

Nearly every one of about 10,000 pupils who answered roll call found it necessary to purchase one or more books and writing materials, and after the adjournment at the schools a rush was made to the book stores.

GRAFT CHARGES ARE VENTILATED

DEFENSE ALLEGES THAT PROSECUTION IS TRYING TO INJURE CHIEF HUNT, BUT NO DIRECT EVIDENCE WAS PRODUCED TO SHOW THIS—A WITNESS STATED THAT MONEY HAD BEEN PAID TO REINSTATE GIRLS INTO THE DANCE HALLS.

NEEDS OF FIREMEN.

The decision in the case of Special Officer Roberts, charged with grafting, will not be known until the latter part of this week. An extended report of the witness will be completed by the prosecutor and the matter will be brought before the commissioners, after which they will hold a special session and prepare their decision.

The hearing was concluded on Saturday, when the defense had its innings before the commission. One of their witnesses, W. Moore, of the Cosmopolitan saloon, admitted that he had paid Roberts money at different intervals, but he represented that the payments were merely because the officer looked after his building and saloon in the capacity of a watchman. Under cross-examination Moore admitted that he had formerly paid an officer $1 a month for the same work, and that he had paid Roberts as much as $2.50 a week. The prosecution remarked on the discrepancy between the payments for what was alleged to be the same services.

Captain John Moore of the police force took the stand and produced a general order, issued January 27, in which Chief Hunt forbade the officers to spend so much of their time in saloons. Patrolmen Gibson and Bailey had both testified to receiving personal orders to keep out of saloons. This, Captain Moore explained, had been the later instructions from Chief Hunt, who had simply wanted the officers to keep from loafing in saloons, but he had not intended to have them keep away altogether.

The defense has claimed that the charges are really directed against Chief Hunt through Special Officer Roberts, and come from Deputy Sheriff Jack Hoare. W. Moore was supposed to have been stating in his testimony, but his only statement was about an alleged claim of Hoare "that we would have the chief out of office in 30 days."

Moore believed that the breweries had "fixed it" so the girls had been allowed to go back into the dance halls. He had paid Chief Hunt $100,000, but the girls could return. The money was for the chief or some one—he couldn't remember just who.

Later, however, it seemed that there had been some miscalculation in the plans, for Geisler had returned with the money with the explanation that "it was all off."

Mr. W. H. Warren, who filed the charges, was severely cross-examined by Lawyer Hume, for the defense, but he did not alter his statements any. He declined any comment on the charges, but the man Hoare to misrepresent existing conditions. The information on which he filed the charges, he said, was the result of personal investigations.

After the lawyers for both sides finished their testimony, the court closed until the commissioners could render their decision.

LERVEY WAS OFTEN WITH MRS. BOWERS

PRELIMINARY HEARING OF ACCUSED WOMAN CONTINUES—PROSECUTION BELIEVED TO BE WEAKENED BY NOT PROVING SUFFICIENT MOTIVE.

(Journal Special Service.) San Francisco, Sept. 21.—At the conclusion of taking testimony in the preliminary examination of Mrs. Martin Bowers and Mrs. Zylpha C. Sutton the attorneys for the women will petition the superior court for a writ of habeas corpus. It is the contention of Attorneys Drury and McIsaac that no motive has been shown for the murder of Martin L. Bowers and that accordingly the women should not be held for trial before a jury. Judge Cabanis intimated this morning that the prosecution has failed to show that there was any attachment between Mrs. Bowers and James Lervey. The absence of proof that the woman wanted to get rid of her husband in order to be free is expected to hurt the case of the prosecution materially.

Examination Resumed. The preliminary examination this morning resumed at 11:30. Robert P. Cavanaugh, paying teller of the Hibbernia bank was the first witness. He testified that about August 27, Mrs. Bowers drew out $2,500 all the money in her name and that of her husband's. She had drawn money out of the bank before in her own name.

William Meyer, a saloon keeper at Fifth and Clementina streets, testified that Mrs. Bowers and Lervey came to his place as often as once or twice a week. On no occasion did he observe that either one seemed to be very much interested in the other. They simply stood at the bar and took a few drinks and then went away. Robert Harris a saloon keeper at 446 Clementina street, testified that he saw the couple together almost every night for three months.

LEVANTING DRUG CLERK RUN DOWN

W. E. HAMBROOK, WANTED IN THIS CITY FOR THEFT, IS CAPTURED IN MONTE YAKIMA, AND WILL BE RETURNED HERE FOR TRIAL ON SEVERAL CHARGES.

It is alleged that he has stolen large quantities of goods from his employers and sold them to local merchants—made desperate attempt to escape when taken into custody by the Washington Constable.

W. E. Hambrook, who is alleged to have stolen a large quantity of supplies from Woodard, Clarke & Co. is under arrest at North Yakima, Wash. He will be brought here for trial. Policeman Carpenter has gone to the Washington city to return with the fugitive.

The arrest was made on a request from the Portland police, who have been tracing the movements of the man since he left this city over a month ago. After taking him into custody a North Yakima official granted his request to return to the Bartholomew Hotel to pack up his clothes. The constable refused to permit him to go into a closet, but the prisoner dashed through a door, closed it and then jumped out of a window. He alighted on the roof of a building and then made a second leap to the ground.

A large crowd of citizens chased the runaway and the officers fired at him. Several hours later he was captured in a hayrack.

Some time ago The Journal printed the story about the peculations of an employe of a wholesale firm. Hambrook was the man referred to. Since then his former employers have sworn out a warrant charging him with larceny, and upon being brought back here he will be prosecuted.

Hambrook was employed by Woodard, Clarke & Co. as a clerk in the drug department. Supplies were missed and finally the suspicion became so strong that the young clerk was discharged. After leaving the store he was in the habit of returning after business hours and is said to have been able to steal a large quantity of drugs and druggists' supplies. Considerable cocaine and morphine were taken from the store.

When he learned that he was about to be arrested Hambrook decamped and the police and the members of the firm have since been tracing his movements. He was at Astoria and Ilwaco, but before the officers discovered him. He is about 30 years of age and of good address.

The young man, it is said, would represent himself as a representative of a wholesale drug firm of San Francisco. He has cards engraved with his name and he sold his drugs and supplies at less than the wholesale price, he did a good business in the smaller stores about the city. The value of the goods taken from Woodard, Clarke & Co. is supposed to be about $500.

FOUR MORE BREAK JAIL FOR CONTRACTS BY THE YEAR

CARPENTERS' UNION TRYING TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS WITH THE EMPLOYERS BY WHICH STRIKES DURING THE BUSY SEASON MAY BE AVERTED.

Executive Board Appointed to Assume Charge of All Differences Between Masters and Men is at Work Learning the Disposition of the Contractors Toward Such a Method—Secretary Bomberger Endorses Journal's Plan.

As published in Saturday's Journal, the members of the executive board of the carpenters' union were instructed at the regular meeting of the organization Friday night to confer with the Master Builders' Association and endeavor to have some agreement drawn up to the effect that there will be no strikes or lockouts in the building line, so far as they are concerned, for a period of one year, dating from January 1. This is in accordance with the plan which has been recently advocated in the editorial columns of The Journal. When the matter was brought up at the meeting all present were favorably disposed toward taking such a course, and the members of the executive board, after a general discussion, were given instructions accordingly.

The executive board of the carpenters' union was appointed several weeks ago, and is composed of representative members. Their duties are to assume charge of all differences which may arise between the workmen and their employers, as well as to attend to all other matters looking to the improvement of the organization. Just how soon they will call upon the Master Builders' Association for the purpose of ascertaining if there is any possibility of having an early agreement drawn up between the two bodies, they are unable to state. At this time they are unprepared to give out any definite information furnished decided upon could go into effect.
