PRESBYTERIANS TO WANT TO RETAIN FAIR OFFICERS

GOVERNOR WILL ASK THAT PRESIDENT WEHRUNG, SECRETARY WISDOM AND COMMISSIONER STEINER CONTINUE THEIR DUTIES ON STATE BOARD.

Only the Pressure of Private Business Impels Them to Insist Upon Being Believed, It Is Said—Governor Has Not Yet Accepted Any of the Resignations—A Word to Fruitgrowers as to Displays.

W. H. Wehrung, president of the state fair board, J. H. Settlemeier of Woodburn, one of the members and M. D. Wisdom, secretary, have all asked that their voluntary resignations be accepted. Gov. Chamberlain has the resignations of President Wehrung and Mr. Settlemeier and the board has that of Secretary Wisdom.

"I have not yet accepted these resignations," said Gov. Chamberlain last night. "I wish to induce them to remain in their positions and continue the good work they have been doing, that has made the state fair such an unqualified success."

"There are no other reasons for the resignations. Mr. Wehrung has been without precedent the best president we have had, and Mr. Wisdom as secretary has been perfectly efficient. Mr. Settlemeier has been a real asset and he must not have duties other than those that pertain to his own business. Both Mr. Wehrung and Mr. Wisdom have the same reasons for resigning. They have sacrificed their private businesses for the state fair and think they cannot longer do so. However, I shall induce them all to reconsider, if I can, and believe that in so doing I will be insuring another successful state fair for Oregon."

Mr. Wehrung is a merchant at Hillsboro, and Mr. Wisdom is the owner and publisher of the Rural Spirit. Mr. Wehrung is already in the active prosecution of his duties as superintendent of the Lewis and Clark fair.

Gov. Chamberlain has not yet considered anyone to appoint in the event the resignations are accepted, as they will be in each instance. Mr. Wehrung is already in the active prosecution of his duties as superintendent of the Lewis and Clark fair.

Displays for St. Louis. "At the Dalles," said Mr. Wehrung. "I secured some products for the St. Louis exposition, and some promises that will be faithfully fulfilled of a fine display from Wasco county. They will send to St. Louis fresh stuff throughout the summer and the same will be done by a number of other counties."

"I wish to emphasize this matter, too, and to have the people realize what excellent effect it will have to have the representatives of Oregon giving out fresh fruit neatly wrapped in a good wrapping for the city center. I shall send there at once, to be placed in cold storage, kept during the winter and opened to be ready for the first days of the exposition next summer. Then as the time passes there must be frequent renewal. To do this the various counties will have to be called on for contributions. If they respond I will see that in each instance there is due credit given by placing the name of the county over the display."

BATTERY LINEUP.
The football team of the 26th Battery Athletic club of Vancouver has completed its lineup, and though some changes may later be made, and men may be shifted about, the present lineup is: Left end, Martin, 150 pounds; left tackle, Spears, 185; left guard, Campbell, 180; center, Riggs, 165; right guard, Rainey, 160; right tackle, Hardy, 170; right end, Short, 145; quarterback, Howard, 150; left halfback, Harper, 145; right halfback, Montague, 155; fullback, Christian, 170. The average weight of the team is 166 pounds. The team will play the Multnomah aggregation at the latter end of October 17, and although the visitors will be new to their work and will be practically a raw team, they expect to show the city players a game that will surprise them.

The Belgians are great pigeon-breeders, and one of the choicest birds of this kind is the true Antwerp carrier, which is comparatively rare.

Unfamiliar with the ways of the city, Eric Christiansen and Emil Peterson, fishermen just returned from Alaska, blew out the gas in their room Saturday night and as a result both were nearly asphyxiated. The men are said to have been drinking freely and upon returning to their quarters at Sixth and Burnside streets, forgot to turn out the light. They were discovered, insensible, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning, and Dr. Louis Buck attended them. The men were taken to Good Samaritan hospital and Christiansen was able to leave during the day. Peterson is still a patient, but he is recovering rapidly and will soon be out.

MARCONI'S EXPERIMENTS.
(Journal Special Service.)
New York, Oct. 5.—Signor Marconi, the inventor of the wireless telegraph, is in the Lucania. Before the ship reaches the other side he hopes to have satisfactorily demonstrated that wireless telegraphy, of which he is the pioneer, has now reached the stage where it has become practical for commercial purposes. While the Lucania is in mid-ocean Signor Marconi will conduct a series of experiments in sending messages to the station at Table Head in Nova Scotia. One particular purpose of these experiments will be to determine whether or not it is feasible to do away with the tower system and substitute improvements recently devised.

AN EXPORT BASIS NOT YET REACHED

Of the charter market at San Francisco the Commercial News says: "The market for grain freights has been fairly active during the week. Vessels have obtained 15s 6d for barley, with 12s 6d for wheat stiffening, and 16s 3d for general cargo. The tone is rather weaker, as owners of British vessels seem more disposed to accept prevailing rates; several have taken charters in the last few days. The export movement of wheat has not yet commenced; while prices in our own market have declined, those in England have also gone lower, so we are pretty nearly as far away as ever from the export basis. The season of the North is just commencing; one vessel has finished loading and two or three more are under way; rates are about 18s 6d to U. K., and 20s to 21s 3d to South Africa. The market for lumber freights is quieter and rates cover a wide range."

ESCAPED LUNATIC STARTLES NORTH END

John Peterson, Glad Girl in Night Dress, Slides Down a Porch Pillar at St. Vincent's Hospital and Leads Police a Merry Chase.

After escaping from St. Vincent's hospital about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, John Peterson, an insane patient, frightened a number of residents of North Portland. He was finally rounded up by the police and returned to the hospital little the worse for his experience.

Peterson was admitted to the hospital about a week ago. It is said that he has an attack of insanity every year and it was for the treatment of his mental weakness that his friends sent him to the hospital.

While the two men attendants were busy caring for a very sick patient, Peterson rose from his bed in his night clothing and walked out of a door unnoted. Upon reaching a porch he slid down a post and reached the ground in safety.

"Tim" Concannon, a Thurman-street grocer, heard a noise in his store and upon investigating was startled to see a white-robed form dash past him. Peterson, yelling at the top of his voice, rushed out of a shed back of the store and into the street. Next he appeared at the Pintch gas works and frightened the workmen by his demands for clothing. One of them took off his shirt and gave it to the crazy man. Numerous messages were sent to the police and the patrol wagon followed the trial of the lunatic to the gas works where they arrested Peterson. He was wrapped up so that he might not catch cold and about 2 o'clock was taken back to the hospital. While his face was slightly scratched he was otherwise uninjured.

Although the above sideshow cry was not heard around the halls of the union depot Saturday morning many people around the building were expecting every minute to hear it yelled out. Among the passengers in the waiting-room were Ella K. Ewing of Gorin, Mo., who is advertised as being 8 feet 4 inches tall and George Speck of Blakesburg, Ia., said to be but 25 inches high.

SAYS MONUMENT COSTS TOO MUCH

OTTO SCHUMANN, DEALER IN GRANITE, BELIEVES MEMORIAL FOR SECOND OREGON COSTS $2,000 MORE THAN IT SHOULD, AND THAT DUE CARE WAS NOT USED.
Construction Committee Has Authorized the Cost of Granite Shaft at $8,200, and the Bronze Figure at $6,000, and Contracts Have Been Let—Committee Alleges that All Bids for Native Granite Were Too High.

The construction committee of the general committee to purchase a monument to the soldiers of the Second Oregon, who died during the war in the Philippines, met Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and accepted the bid of H. G. Wright of Portland for the granite shaft, to cost $8,200, and of Douglas Tilden for the bronze figure, for $6,000. Concerning the action of the committee, Col. James Jackson, chairman, said: "The committee on construction for the Second Oregon monument to be placed in the Plaza block in front of the courthouse met at Colonel Gantenben's office, all members being present, and in accordance with instructions from the general committee, let the contract for the construction and placing of the monument. The contract for the granite work was unanimously let to H. G. Wright of Portland, the shaft to be in one piece from top of cap to base, to be of Barre granite, without flaw or defect and subject to inspection and rejection by the committee. The committee preferred Oregon granite, but Oregon quarries are all new and none of them could furnish a die of such length without going beyond the means at disposal of the committee. The contract for the bronze figure will be let to Mr. Douglas Tilden of Oakland, Cal., to whom was awarded the $1,000 offered for the best design. Mr. Tilden is a sculptor of note and has done some of the best work in this line in California."
The other members of the committee are Major McDonell and Colonel C. U. Gantenben.
About $15,000 is to be expended for the monument.

Says He Can Supply Oregon Granite.
Otto Schumann, a dealer in granite, claims that he can furnish Oregon granite of the kind demanded, and in one piece, according to the terms of the specifications. He also alleges that the firm of Bell & Mauch, of which firm Mr. Bell is in charge of all statutory work at the St. Louis exposition, offered to furnish the bronze figure according to design for $2,000. He has in his possession letters and telegrams from Mr. Bell to that effect.

He believes that the committee could secure fully as good results from the St. Louis sculptor as from the California man, with $3,000 saving in the sum expended.
Colonel Gantenben of the construction committee said today:
"The matter had dragged along for three years, and it was finally thought that a smaller committee would more quickly dispose of it, hence at a meeting of the general committee a committee on construction was appointed, which committee was empowered to proceed with the work and let the contracts. This we have done, and wish only to secure the best monument possible from the money at our disposal. Both Major McDonell and myself were members of the Second Oregon, and naturally want the best results. We inclined to favor Oregon granite, but when the bids were opened as advertised for, there were seven in all, one only from an Oregon quarry, but so high as to make the total run $1,000 over the sum at our command."
