"I AM BOYCOTTED" SAYS JUDGE HAINE

Municipal Judge Believes that Marshal Bateman is Taking City Cases to Justice Sparks Out of Spite.

(Journal Special Service.) Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 13.—The municipal judge, Arthur Haine, does not fancy the modus operandi of the police department of the city and is wondering how the situation can be bettered.

The trouble between the judge and Al Bateman, marshal, is not of recent origin, as the two have been at odds since the early summer over a question of fees and other matters connected with the city's government.

The latest grievance of Mr. Haine is that he believes the chief is taking undue advantage of his authority and is carrying before the justice of the peace cases that belong to the police court.

According to Mr. Haine the court over which he presides has no cases except those brought to him on a change of venue, and he is informed that recently cases of violation of city ordinances have been tried before Justice Sparks, when the police court was established for this purpose.

The judge some time ago placed in the hands of the council police committee charges against Bateman and others, but to the present time the judge has not had the satisfaction of seeing these attended to either favorably or the reverse, and just what should be his policy is what is at present worrying the judge.

Will Wait Until Spring. Because the loggers will soon leave the vicinity about Yaocut until next spring, G. W. Hughes has decided that he wishes no saloon license for the running of an establishment at the town.

The commissioners were ready to consider his license yesterday and at the appointed hour no one was on hand to oppose the granting of the permit, but the applicant informed the board that he would withdraw his application. The petition will probably be made next spring, when logging operations are resumed. The commissioners spent the day in allowing claims on various county funds.

Marriage Licenses Issued. Marriage licenses have been issued to the following: F. M. Plusky and Florence Crook of Portland; J. C. Charlton and Lillie Dillon of Clark county; E. E. Lacy of Astoria and Mrs. Mildred Heather of Portland.

Trespass His Habit. Henry Luch, charged with trespass, yesterday secured a change of venue from the court of Justice Sparks to that of Judge Haine. It is charged that Luch persisted in hunting in the fields of farmers who refused him permission. Luch some time ago was arrested because he persisted in riding a heavily shod horse up and down a creek path, to the disgust of the riders who had laid out the path and tolled to make it rideable.

Spore Arm While Aleep. Charles Duffy of Portland was brought to the hospital late last night by a train from Yaocut with his right arm severed from his body. The man was found near Yaocut lying in a pool of blood, his arm lying inside the track. It seems evident that while in a drunken stupor Duffy lay down by the track and threw his arm across the rail. A passing train amputated the arm close to his shoulder without arousing him from his torpor. The hospital attendants state that Duffy was very weak from loss of blood Duffy will recover. On examination it was found that his arm was cut close to his body, only a mere stump remaining.

Social Club Dances.

The Vancouver Barracks Social club met last night and elected officers and received eight new members. Sergt. Brown of company E, Nineteenth infantry was elected secretary and Sergt. Deuser, Eighth field battery, was elected treasurer. The club is composed of non-commissioned officers and enlisted men and gives weekly dances at the post hall. It was started by the Nineteenth infantry and has so far experienced success with its dances. From now on until the spring drill begins the club will give a dance every Thursday or Friday night. There are at present 45 members in the club and care has been taken to escape some of the objectionable features that sometimes render very hops annoying.

NATIVE SONS AND DAUGHTERS SOCIETY

Organization of Such Description—State Baptists' Association Convenes.

(Journal Special Service.) Oregon City, Oct. 13.—Preliminary steps have been taken for the organizing of a society in this county called the "Native Sons and Daughters." A meeting was held in the office of O. D. Eby last Saturday afternoon to take the initiative. At this meeting various committees were appointed, one to draft resolutions, one to arrange for meeting places and so on. A meeting will be held in this city on the 24th of October at which a permanent organization will be effected. The society is in no way connected with the old order, Native Sons, which formerly existed in this city, and is itself not a secret order. The promoters state that the purpose of the organization will be to have two or three big picnics each year, at which all the native sons and daughters will be invited to attend and as many other people as desire. Speeches will be delivered and a general good time enjoyed at these meetings, which will be in the nature of a reunion.

The State Baptist Association convened in the Baptist church in this city last evening. Rev. A. S. Costa, formerly of New York, delivered the sermon, the subject of which was "So Great Salvation." The church was comfortably filled and the audience was electrified by the eloquent manner in which the great divine handled his text. This morning's service commenced at 9 o'clock, with praise service, led by Rev. W. B. Clifton. J. W. Mount followed in a sermon, "Spontaneous Reasoning." Other divines who will take a part in the services this morning are Rev. G. A. Learn of Montavilla, Rev. J. W. Mount of Heppner, and Rev. Arthur B. Watts. Rev. Myron Coolidge closed the morning's meeting with an address on "Lessons from the History of Revivals." He is editor of the Pacific Baptist.

Another Board of Trade.

For the twentieth time a board of trade has been organized in Oregon City, and this time it is confidently predicted that the organization means something. Articles of incorporation have been signed by the following prominent business men (Cheney, W. A. Huntley, Frank Busch, E. E. Charman, D. C. Latortette, E. C. Caulfield, G. B. Dimick, Franklin T. Griffith and C. H. Dye. The board is incorporated with a capital stock of $1,000. Shares are $10 each. Fifty dollars per share is to be paid at once, which will give the organization a fund of $500 with which to inaugurate the work. The balance of the capital stock is to be paid in monthly installments of $1 each, which will give the board a fund of $100 per month with which to prosecute its work.

Fire Near Canby.

The belated report of a fire which occurred two and a half miles east of Canby reached this town yesterday afternoon. The fire occurred at an early hour Saturday morning and destroyed two barns belonging to John Hammond, man, valued at about $1,000. The entire contents of the barns, 50 tons of hay and three farm horses and much valuable machinery, were destroyed. A bin containing several hundred bushels of wheat, one of one of the barns was saved. The total loss will aggregate $2,000. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. There was no insurance.

Death of A. D. Allen.

A. D. Allen of Sturgis, Mich., died suddenly of apoplexy at his son's home at Redland last Sunday. He arrived on a visit two days previous. His remains will be shipped to his home in the East for burial today.

GETTING READY FOR ST. LOUIS FAIR

(Journal Special Service.) Albany, Or., Oct. 13.—J. R. Douglas, superintendent of the Oregon horticultural exhibit at the St. Louis fair, is making every effort to have a fine collection of fruit on display. He is getting specimens from every section of the state and is confident that Oregon will be second to none. He is now preserving several jars of Selway peaches that he thinks are world-beaters. A number of the peaches measure over 12 inches in circumference and have a splendid color.

80,000 Pounds of Prunes.

H. J. Moore, who lives about two miles from Albany, has nearly 80,000 pounds of dried prunes. The fruit was all raised in his own orchards and will net him a handsome sum of money.

Buying for Portland Market.

George D. Barton is in the city buying apples for the Portland market. He has purchased 900 boxes and expects to get nearly 2,000 more. They are mostly Baldwins, with a few Ben Davis and Jonathans.

SALEM PEOPLE WILL STAND IT NO LONGER

Commercial Club Will Meet Tonight and Take Action Against Morning Paper of Portland for Its Persistent Vilification.

(Journal Special Service.)

Salem, Or., Oct. 13.—The Greater Salem Commercial club will meet in regular session tonight when matters of the utmost importance to the city will come up for action. The matter of Salem's water supply is to be discussed, and the indignation of the citizens at the persistent vilification of this city by the ambition-crazed editor of the Portland Oregonian will be vented. The people of Salem have long suffered from these attacks without showing their resentment, but they have grown tired and will stand it no longer.

Salem is not the only city in Oregon suffering at the hands of the big Portland morning paper. There are others. It was but a few months ago, on the occasion of the flood disaster at Heppner, when every city, town and hamlet in the state sprang to the rescue and the wealth of the rich as well as the mite of the poor was contributed to feed the hungry and clothe the naked. The short-sighted policy of that paper in fighting the smaller cities of the state is by some of the citizens of Salem ascribed to jealousy, the big lights in the Portland morning paper being openly charged with a wholesome fear that these smaller places might in time become rivals with Portland in the race for supremacy in the commercial world of Oregon. Business men here say there is no danger of that, but they are openly threatening to turn some of the trade to other points if Portland's morning paper continues in its senseless fight against Salem; that they will be compelled, in self-defense, to take their business elsewhere.

Criminal Court Convenes.

The criminal department of the circuit court convened yesterday with the lightest docket in many years. Charles Hammond, indicted for larceny from the person, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny, and on waiving time for sentence, Judge Burnett sentenced the man to three months in the county jail. Hammond was caught in the act of abstracting a watch from the pocket of a drunken man whom he had taken down on the river bank, and several parties, including Chief of Police Gibson, witnessed the robbery. Hammond has been in jail, awaiting the action of the circuit court, for about 80 days.

George Appleyard, an old miser, who has been in jail 81 days awaiting the action of the court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, also pleaded guilty, being permitted to enter a plea of simple assault. Appleyard claimed that he had gone into the office of W. H.

Burghardt, Sr., a local mining man, to collect $60 due him, when Burghardt ordered him to leave, and in the scuffle that ensued Appleyard drew out a pocket knife. He was arrested for disturbing the peace, but Burghardt failed to appear in the police court, and the defendant was discharged. Later he met Burghardt and again asked for the money due him, when Burghardt at once swore to the complaint charging the defendant with assault with a deadly weapon, and the poor prospector was sent to jail. It is now stated that Burghardt, though knowing that the case in which he was the principal witness was set for yesterday, was not in court, but left for the mines in the Santiam region. When the case was stated to the court by District Attorney Hart and the attorney for the defense, L. H. McMahon, Judge Burnett fixed Appleyard's sentence at $10 fine, or the alternative of five days in jail.

In Supreme Court.

In the supreme court yesterday afternoon the case of E. and E. R. Mendenhall, respondents, vs. Rush Mendenhall, executor, appellant, came up for hearing. This is the Mendenhall will case which the sons of the late Mrs. Esther Louise Mendenhall brought suit to set aside the will of their mother, the father of the plaintiffs being the defendant in the suit.

The court made orders in the following cases pending on appeal: The Union Street & Suburban Railway Co. vs. The First National Bank of Union et al., plaintiffs; ordered on motion that the original papers, exhibits and documents, including the judgment roll in Hutchinson vs. Fry, all the bonds, notes, papers and documents filed by either party be returned to the circuit court for Union county. Laura E. Froman, appellant, vs. Thomas Froman, respondent, ordered on stipulation that the respondent have until November 3 to serve and file his brief. B. Brockway, respondent, vs. The City of Roseburg et al., appellants; ordered on stipulation that the respondent have until November 15 to serve and file his brief. The office of Governor Chamberlain is in receipt of a letter from Bishop O'Reilly of Baker City inviting the governor to attend the dedicatory exercises to be held at the new hospital in Pendleton, November 1. The governor being on his way to Washington it is not known whether or not he will be able to accept and attend, but should he return in time he will doubtless cheerfully respond to the invitation. The governor has also been invited to attend and address the State Irrigation association at Pendleton, November 9 and 10, on which occasion Governor Morrison of Idaho will also be present and participate in the discussions that will be of vast importance to the arid districts of this and adjoining states.
