WEEKLY LUGS

Afflict Many Men and Women and Lead to Pneumonia, Grip and Consumption, if the system is not kept in healthy condition. Strengthened with Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

Throat and lung troubles cause more deaths in this country than other diseases. At least one-half could be cured if taken in time.

STOPPED HEMORRHAGES
"Gentlemen—My lung trouble is two years old. I had had about eight or ten hemorrhages, which broke me down as well as my health. In February, was the worst of all, so that I honestly believed I could not live to see another summer. When I commenced to take Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey my weight was 115 pounds; today I weigh 123 pounds and have made good improvement in every respect. I feel stronger from day to day, and have had no hemorrhage since I commenced to use Duffy's."

CURED
"Dear Sirs—Having suffered with weak lungs, severe cough and loss of appetite, I tried nearly all medicines, but without benefit. A few weeks ago on advice I commenced the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. My appetite improved almost immediately, my cough stopped and my lungs are as strong as ever; my strength has returned, and I shall continue its use as a preventive of all lung diseases."

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

cures consumption, coughs, colds, grip, bronchitis, pneumonia, catarrh, asthma, pleurisy and all diseases of the throat and lungs, indigestion, dyspepsia, and every form of stomach trouble; malaria and all fevers. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic; builds up the nerve tissues, tones up the heart, gives power to the brain, strength and elasticity to the muscles and richness to the blood. It brings to action the vital organs and enables you to get from the food all the nourishment it contains. It is invaluable for overworked men, delicate women and sickly children. It strengthens and sustains the system; is a promoter of good health and longevity. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee.

ALBANY
ALBANY POLITICIANS
VERY SPECULATIVE

Albany, Or., Oct. 20.—The last session of the Oregon legislature passed an amended election law which provides that elections in all cities of 2,000 population or over shall be governed by the Australian ballot law, and it further provides that all nominations shall be filed under the same law. Heretofore the city election law was very short, and the Republican city committee has failed to call primaries or announce a definite plan.

EVERY PLACE PAYING PREMIUM FOR CASH
Cash Wheat Everywhere Largely at a Premium and is Owned Invariably by the Users and Distributors of It.

There was a sudden increase in the offerings of corn from the country yesterday, the first sign of the speculative in this direction in weeks. It had a pronounced effect upon prices. It redoubled the selling by the bear element, which has been awaiting for some such change of heart by the Western corn people. Corn was taken at the market for shipment about 600,000 bushels. But the cash demand was not large enough to offset the other bear features. It was a fact that the only buying was by shorts and the best buyer of all was the bear who has been nearest right on the way down, Bryan.

Wheat No. 2 Sells High.
The wheat market early was a good deal stirred by a report that St. Louis had taken 250,000 bushels of No. 2 red wheat here at a price 6 1/2 cents over the Chicago December bid down at St. Louis. Everybody for a while assumed the business had been done, but was reported later when it was ordered at 6 1/2 cents over Chicago December and it was not possible to confirm the buying reported. No. 2 red wheat here yesterday sold as high as 2 cents over December, and a temporary advance in the October price put that future 1 cent over the December and 2 1/2 cents over the May. Cash wheat in the other market was easier, Minneapolis at 1 1/4 cents and Duluth cash off 1 1/4 cents and St. Louis cash off 1 1/4 cents.

SENSATION CAUSED AT OREGON CITY

(Journal Special Service.)
Oregon City, Oct. 20.—Something like 18 months ago there blew into this quiet little city a young man who represented himself to be a newspaper man. He was smooth, dapper, a good conversationalist and he soon succeeded in ingratiating himself into the good graces of one of the local newspapers of this place and was given the position of local editor. Shortly afterwards he secured the position of correspondent of the Portland morning organ of the news trust. Between the two his salary was in the neighborhood of $100 per month, and with very little to do, he ought to have been satisfied with his job. But he wasn't. He soon hankered for wider fields to conquer. Accordingly he jumped his job on the local paper and established a small job printing office of his own. This was about a year ago. A little later he concluded that the job printing business wasn't paying large enough dividends and he started a twice-a-week newspaper in Oregon City to run in connection with his job plant. He wasn't content to sail along in the poky ways of the other two papers in the town, but he must needs install a typesetting machine. This he did, but before he could make the necessary purchase it was necessary to become possessed of a little of the useful coin. To prove that he was no novice at floating a stock company, which he succeeded in persuading some of his good friends to put up from $25 to $100 each, with no other surety than his individual note.

It Soon Suspended.

The new paper began publication the first of last January. On the first day of August it suspended. There was a well-defined rumor current at the time that the erstwhile publisher had been persuaded to suspend by the payment of a sum of money by the two local papers which existed before he came to town, and that he had agreed for a consideration to remove his plant to the Oregon City and from the county and never again was to be engaged in newspaper work in Oregon City. How the easy ones who had put up the coin for the young publisher have fared is best told by a little incident that happened last night. The publisher had been loafing about his old office for several days. He still wears good clothes and his appearance indicated anything but a dead broke printer. One of his old-time backers is a prominent business man and highest official in the town. The two met in the hallway. The merchant was not in good humor.

UNNATURAL PARENT CONDEMNS HIS BOY

(Journal Special Service.)
Salem, Or., Oct. 20.—Elgar Welch, aged 10 years, a son of Thomas M. Welch, was yesterday afternoon committed to the reform school by County Judge Scott. The child was three months ago arrested on the charge of stealing a bicycle tire. W. T. Ramsden making the complaint. The bicycle tire was the property of Mrs. M. Welch, step-daughter, a cousin of the lad, and severe criticism was heard at that time when the child was taken into court and arraigned as a common criminal. The boy acknowledged taking the property in a spirit of mischief. A plea of guilty was entered and sentence suspended during good behavior. Yesterday the father came into court and asked that the boy be sentenced, and he was sent to jail for 10 days in default of paying a fine of $20. On the transcript from the justice court, showing the proceedings had, County Judge Scott committed the child to the reform school. The little fellow sobbed bitterly when taken out, and many condemn the action of the complaining witness and the father.

Annual W. O. T. V. Convention.

The state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union met in annual session in this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The executive committee met at the same time and discussed plans for the week's convention. There are many prominent members in attendance. Tomorrow forenoon the secretary and treasurer will submit their reports, and tomorrow afternoon the state president will deliver her annual address. The officers of the convention are:

Had Grievances.

Among the many callers at the Oregon City land office yesterday who sought to have some grievance redressed, was John Godwin of Linn county. Godwin stated that several years ago he filed on a quarter section of land in the western part of Linn county. At that time he was "dog poor," as he expressed it, having just barely enough to make his payment for entrance. He had had a hard struggle to maintain himself and family, but had managed to do so. He had improved on his holdings. He had proved his claim and was just getting in shape to make a little money and a recent living, when, by order of the secretary of the interior, the land was withdrawn from public entry and he was thrown out of a home. He says that his case is but the fate of scores of others in his section of the state and that no end of suffering will

A MEASURE OF MERIT

Portland Citizens Should Weigh Well This Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence. Convincing evidence in Portland is not the testimony of strangers, but the endorsement of Portland people. That's the kind of proof given here. The statement of Portland citizens.

G. H. Springmeyer, expressman, residing at 1016 First street, says: "Exposure to rough weather and the constant jarring of the wagon while I was riding brought on kidney trouble. My back ached almost constantly, and the muscles controlling the bladder appeared weak and their action far too frequent. Doan's Kidney Pills came to my relief, and I got a box at the Laue-Davis Drug Company's store, corner of Yamhill and Third streets. The pain in my back was relieved and the kidney secretions became normal. Two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills brought about this result, and it is with pleasure that I recommend this effective preparation to others."

DEATH TRAP STILL AWAITING VICTIMS

(Journal Special Service.)
Vancouver, Wash., Oct. 20.—The county commissioners wrestled with the Burnt Bridge crack bridge problem yesterday and listened to the statements of several interested parties, but were unable to reach a solution of the question nor to find any two people that had the same idea.

As the bridge now stands it is probably more of a death trap than anything outside the melodrama. The bridge is surrounded entirely by railroad tracks, none of which are switches. One line runs parallel to the bridge, another crosses it at a right angle and another cuts through the bridge at such an angle that it runs on the structure for some distance. Heavy logging trains dash over the bridge, regular passenger trains run beside it, and freight crosses it at a right angle and another cuts through the bridge at such an angle that it runs on the structure for some distance. BURIED ON WEDDING DAY.

The death of Miss Grace Stamp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Stamp of Mill Plain, last Saturday was one of the saddest of recent local deaths. Miss Grace was a Clarke county child and during the 24 years of her residence in the county she had many friends, practically all the young people, no one had a larger circle of acquaintances and none had warmer friends and was more sincerely mourned. What made the death especially sad was that the day before her death she had been engaged to set the time of her wedding and by some mysterious chance chose the day on which she was buried yesterday. For two weeks Grace lay seriously ill with brain trouble and only during the last day was she entirely conscious for any considerable time. Shortly before her death her parents suggested that the doctor be sent for. "Never mind troubling him," she said, "I am dying," and by night she had gone to her home in glory. She had been suffering slightly from ill health during the summer and her marriage had been decided on for the early date because it was thought best for her to go to California for the winter. The funeral was held at her home yesterday and hundreds of young people attended to take the last look at their companion who was attired in what was to have been her wedding gown.

New 100 Yard Track.

Fatigue men have leveled and are making ready a 100 yard track at the post. The old track was frequently covered with water and much of the time was unfit for use. The new track runs near the post canteen and being on a hillside will always be ready for sprinters.

Surprise to Stranger.

A number of friends tendered Miss Grace Pompa a surprise party at her home Saturday night. The guests welcomed the hostess to their midst. The custom of the young people here has been to give a surprise party to the guest of honor. The surprise party was given for this purpose.

New Court Martial.

The following officers compose the general court martial convened here: Maj. A. B. Dyer, artillery; Capt. E. M. Johnson, infantry; First Lieut. C. V. H. L. Hawthorne, artillery; Capt. B. Enoch, nineteenth infantry; First Lieut. G. A. Hadsell, nineteenth infantry; First Lieut. H. E. Mitchell, artillery; First Lieut. W. F. Squires, battalion adjutant nineteenth infantry; First Lieut. C. V. Leonori, nineteenth infantry; Second Lieut. I. A. Smith, nineteenth infantry; Second Lieut. R. C. Taylor, nineteenth infantry; Second Lieut. C. M. Allen, artillery, judge advocate.

MYSTERIOUS ORDER CAUSED ACCIDENT

Capt. Mitchell Says Almond Branch Bumped Bridge Because Somebody Gave a Strange Order at a Critical Time.

"If the engines on the steamship Almond Branch had not been ordered to work ahead, while those on the towboat Vulcan were working astern, I believe the vessels could have been backed through the bridge without any accident."

This statement was made by Capt. W. E. Mitchell, master of the Vulcan at the time that vessel and the steamer bumped into the Morrison street bridge. Capt. Mitchell was on the witness stand several hours this morning in the trial of the suit of Multnomah county against the Willamette & Columbia River Towing company, Pilot Emkins and others, to recover damages on account of the Almond Branch having collided with the bridge.

Capt. Mitchell related the story of the accident. He stated that he had been receiving his orders from Pilot Emkins, but as they neared the bridge some one, who Capt. Mitchell does not know, ordered the engines of the Almond Branch to go ahead while those on his own vessel were working astern. This caused the vessels to swing around and strike the bridge.

The captain stated that it was his opinion that the Almond Branch could have been handled by one towboat the size of the Vulcan if the engines on the two vessels had worked together.
