PRESE CREAM CAUSES TILLA-MOOK MANUFACTURER TO NO-CHANGE IS NOT VET GENERAL.

Canned Shrimus Are Very Scarce With Prices Looking Upward-Many Offers to Sell Potatoes Are Being Received By Local Dealers From Parmers Who Were Determined to Hold a Few

Front Street, Oct. 29 .- The move ents in the markets today were: Cheese is advanced. Canned shrimps will be higher. Many offers of potatoes. Hops are dull, with few sales. Good demand for old and young hens

Tillamook Cheese Higher.

Too many geese arriving.

Egg receipts increase.

One of the dargest cheese manufac turers of Tillamook has notified the trade that prices are about one cent higher than former lists. Although advance has not been a general one there is every indication that such an event will take place within the next The supplies of cream are growing shorter with the progress of the dry season, and even the cream that is produced cost advanced prices. The cheese market is very firm.

Butter Shortage Continues. The butter shortage-creamery stocks still continues and supplies in the local markets are growing less each Although there are no indications day. of an early advance in the market, still with the advent of smaller arrivals of Eastern stocks such a thing is very likely to happen. There are still plenty of Eastern stocks on the market. Store and dairy butter are in a weaker condition, the grade of present arrivals not being considered choice enough for anything but the bakery trade. Prices on store and dairy are one cent lower.

Canned Shrimps Are Scarce. There has been a decided scarcity in the canned shrimp market for several days, and this condition will continue Lohrke Wires that New York Worked 36 Loads Yesterday, Composed Mostly of Mard Winter, to Gulf and United Kingdom.

(Furnished by Overbeck, Starr & Cooke Co.) Chicago, Oct. 29,-The Record-Herald today says: Lohrke last night wired of the export situation: 'The export de-mand for wheat continues fair, 36 loads worked by New York parties and almost all hard winter from the Gulf for the United Kingdom. The continent imports and its bids are now nearly on a parity with our market. The corn demand is fair, but advances check business. We think with steady markets here, we will have a good export business in both wheat and corn. The popular sentiment for a corn rally availed yesterday to bring about an advance of % to % of a cent. The market has some help from the shorts. There was some vigorous opposition from some of the appearance of showers in the extreme showers in Kansas and Missouri today. The popular view is that wet weather would embarrass the marketing of corn. As all the corn moving at present is old. and as there will be no significant movement of new corn for at least a month, there is probably some exaggeration in the expectation that ordinary wet weather would very much affect receipts. There are about a half dozen influential and successful operators who are still expecting lower corn prices and who are in a scalping way working to bring them about."

The public is not in the market Southwest and from the prediction of and there seems nothing interesting showers in Kansas and Missouri today, enough in the situation to bring them Primary receipts are about the same as last year. The tone of the market seems to us on the whole a little heavy. Duliness, of course, contributes to this, but the Northwest is beginning to adthat there is wheat in that section and that farmers' deliveries are free and that larger arrivals in the immediate future are likely. The steadily increas ing receipts show this. Our opinion is that the market will gradually work lower. With liberal Russian shipments fine Argentine prospects and wheat at 80 cents, we doubt that Europe will stock up to any great extent.
