J. C. Leonard, a young man who told Detective Weiner he was a "grifter" by occupation, was held to the grand obtaining money by false pretenses. Leonard had a check for $48.10 drawn in favor of Milton D. Jacobs on the First National bank and signed by W. S. J. Cohn. He attempted to get $40 on from the keeper of a lodging house, but the woman was suspicious. Monday night he left it at A. E. Black's saloon, $6 being advanced on the paper. The young man stated that he knew Jacobs and happened to find a purse containing the check at Third and Columbia streets Monday. He admits he was drinking and was foolish to get the money on it. He claims he meant to repay the loan yesterday morning, but by that time Detective Weiner had him under arrest. He waived examination.

Conrad Anderson was looking for work yesterday and met a genial fellow who claimed to be laboring starting for the work. Anderson was willing to take the job, and the "boss" lured Anderson into the Worcester block and told him to wait. In a few minutes the fellow appeared in a great hurry. In his hand he held what purported to be a check for $50. He had no immediate funds, he said, and if Anderson would let him have a handful of change he would give him the big check as security. The scheme worked to perfection. Anderson was glad to help his friend, and without a thought of being swindled handed over the money. The stranger told Anderson to wait for him. He waited, got cold, wet, and told the police.

Tired of working on the rockpile and with a year's labor staring him in the face, "Bob" Lucas wants his liberty again. His attorney has asked Judge Hogue to fix the amount of bail for an appeal and to make sure that Lucas will not get away. He made it $750. Lucas is an ex-convict and is given an all round bad reputation in police circles. Two weeks ago he was arrested for stealing a woman's hat from a millinery store and upon conviction Judge Hogue promptly sentenced him to 12 months in the county jail.

A case that is expected to attract wide interest and which is set for trial during the present session of the United States district court is that of Thomas A. and Hoesa Wood, charged with forging and presenting to the commissioner of pensions claims for widows' pensions in August and September, 1902. The recent federal grand jury returned an indictment against the Woods, father and son, charging them on four counts with forging the declarations of the affidavits of Mary E. Biles and Elizabeth Hovenden, widows of Indian war veterans.

Willie Terrell, aged 18, will be permitted to return to his home at Chehalis, Wash., after spending nearly a week in the city jail. The boy, with Frank Hartman, aged 17, was arrested for carrying concealed weapons. Judge Hogue turned Hartman over to the Boys' and Girls' Aid society, but Terrell has been held to await word from the reform school at Chehalis, where he formerly was an inmate. Finding that his parents were willing to take him and he was not wanted at the penal institution, the court decided to let him go back.

Otto Kubik, the only one of the quartet of poachers who were caught trespassing near Vancouver trestle 10 days ago, who appeared before Justice of the Peace Reid yesterday, had his case decided. He did not plead and the judge allowed him to go, as he did not consider Kubik's offense an aggravated one, and because the others were not on hand to be punished also.

The "Different" Store. OLDS, WORTMAN & KING. THE HOME OF QUALITY AND RELIABILITY. "SUPERIOR VALUE GIVING". Is what has made this store worthy of the flattering patronage which is being accorded it. We are trying harder than ever to deserve the same; and we want YOUR patronage—but not unless we deserve it. If there are worthier goods to be found elsewhere; if prices, ON EQUAL QUALITY MERCHANDISE, are lower at other stores, then you should profit by them; but FACTS prove this NOT to be the case. Wherever lower prices than ours are quoted COMPARISON proves that quality has been stolen from. It matters not what the sale may be—a yard of lining, or an expensive costume, both receive the same careful attention and QUALITY MUST be wrapped in the bundle ere it leaves us to go to you. We believe we have a right to expect every woman who reads this announcement to come to this store tomorrow. This 31st Friday Economy Sale assumes a distinct bargain character for every department has been drawn upon for exceptional values and particular stress has been laid upon COLD WEATHER GOODS needed for this THANKSGIVING SEASON. Prices for tomorrow placed amazingly low even for this strenuous expanding store. None who come here tomorrow will go away disappointed. A grand, fitting feature of the week will be our 31ST BIG FRIDAY ECONOMY SALE with its 36 matchless special values for the day and hundreds of others that do not get a touch of printer's ink in today's mention. We print 24 of the 36 below, a round dozen—perhaps more, will appear in tomorrow morning's Oregonian; watch for 'em—get 'em all.

Fashionable Shirtwaists for Half New, Stylish $5.50 Winter Shirtwaists $2.63. Actually the most wonderful sale of Shirtwaists held in Portland since that one, which must still linger green in the minds of Portland women, held more than a year ago by this store; when women surged thro' the broad aisles of the Women's Wear Salons and fairly fought for possession of the coveted waists. The values here tomorrow are even greater than then. The Winter Shirtwaist Girl may outdo her Summer Sister in beauty and elegance at little cost. Rich, superb, heavy, imported English Mer-cerized Cheviots and Cottons, that for richness rival silk, with all the appearance and beauty of silk, but with triple the wear of that fabric; white grounds with white and colored lined and squared figured patterns in black green and blue colorings. These aristocrats of the Shirtwaist family have fancy stocks or stock collar with tie, separate from waist. The quantity is limited—we hope enough to last all day, but—with the memory of that former sale in mind we advise every Shirtwaist woman and girl in Portland to be here at the stroke of "ready"—$2.63 the price tomorrow only, is...

Superb Trimmed Street Hats. That are the better of any being shown in Portland today at their regular prices—VALUES UP TO $4.50, bought for a mere song, as it was house clearing time with the wholesaler, with whom we've held pleasant trade relations for years; he favored us by giving us the chance to give these to you at a price tomorrow that does not, in some cases, pay for material.
