Not many in truth, but that is what Miss Vera Michelena, prima donna of the "Princess Chie" company, did to obtain her heart's desire.

The news that the Empire theatre will soon reopen in a season of melodrama is welcome, indeed.

Our motto is: "Hard to get, hard to hold."

In other words, the more expensive the attraction, the harder to find room to hold the folks who flock to our festival.

We send many a message of merriment during a season, and we are going to send a lot of happygrams between now and next Sunday night, so be ready to sign for yours. There will be a bunch waiting for you and

ALL FOR TEN CENTS

This is the time to give thanks, and every patron of the theatre will do it this week, when the Thanksgiving bill is put on. For this week's bill we have signed merry-makers of the top-notch order and they will all be there from the Commander-in-Chief of Fun to the highly diverting pictures of the American Bioscope. We will start out with

WELLS BROTHERS

Here is an act that will make you snap your eyelashes. A duo of comely acrobats who do amusing feats, as well as singing and dancing of a superlative order.

FOUR BRAGDONS

These candidates for popular favor are sure to win your vote. They do a comedy sketch, many odd tricks, and some laughable antics combined.

BREAHN & MASCOT

Scintillating skittists, in a hot mixture of spicy dialogue, comical incidents and droll songs. Here's where you get a sure return for value received.

PAUL NEWMAN

What does he do? Well, if you can name a balladist who can take first money away from him, we'll amputate a few wires and give some grape gas a chance to get in its work on you. He sings tunes that are illustrated.

AMERICAN BIOSCOPE

A new lot of moving pictures will delight men, women and children.
