We feel that we can modestly and honestly claim some share of this Thanksgiving on account of the special bargains we are offering this week in ready-to-wear garments and, in fact, throughout the entire store. We have no fancy prices on our goods, a fact that our patrons surely appreciate judging from the steady increase in our business this month.

UNPAID VETERANS SHOULD GET MONEY

JUDGE MORELAND TROWS OUT A HINT FOR THE SPECIAL SESSION—THE APPROPRIATION IS $34,000 SHORT — DEFICIENCY SHOULD BE REMEDIED.

Judge J. C. Moreland is of the opinion that the legislature, convened in special session, should enact a bill for the relief of the Indian war veterans whose claims were not presented in time to be paid out of the appropriation made at the last session. That appropriation amounted to $100,000 and was supposed to be sufficient to cover all outstanding claims. It has since been found, however, that the total of claims outstanding is about $134,000. The appropriation was soon exhausted. The secretary of state paid claims up to the limit of $100,000, but has been kept from issuing warrants in excess of that amount. A suit is now pending before the supreme court to compel the issuance of warrants to claimants whose papers were presented after the appropriation was exhausted.

Intent Was Plain.

"The legislature clearly showed," said Judge Moreland, "that it intended to pay all of these Indian war veterans. That is apparent from the last section of the act, which recites that the territorial legislature promised, in 1856, to pay the veterans for their services, but that this promise, but has been kept to either by the territory or by the state. "Since the appropriation made last winter has proved insufficient, the legislature should provide for the payment of veterans whose claims have not been paid. There are many of them living in remote parts of the state, who did not realize the necessity of filing their claims at once, and so they did not get in until the appropriation had been exhausted. Something should be done for these poor old fellows. It would not take an hour for the legislature to pass a bill directing the secretary of state to draw warrants for these claims, and I think it should be taken up at the special session."

DRAW FUNNY PICTURE FIGHTS AND PAYS $25

There was considerable amusement in Justice Reid's court yesterday during the trial of Edward James, accused of assault and battery upon Joseph Bradley, a man of middle age. The latter showed a badly bruised eye as a result of a fight last Thursday. James was found guilty and fined $25.

Both men are employed in the O. R. & N. shops, and the evidence showed that Bradley had been the subject of much ridicule. The climax was reached when it was reported to Bradley that James had drawn a picture of an old man and a calf. Words led to blows, and the old man and his young antagonist had a bitter battle until separated by the other workmen.

During the trial of the case the "calf" was frequently mentioned, and it produced a titter of laughter each time it came up.

RETURN PASSES TO THE ARCADE

COUNCILMEN THINK THEY SEE IN A THEATRE MANAGER'S BY-PLAY AN EFFORT TO INFLUENCE LEGISLATION—STORY OF A PAIR OF ELECTRIC SIGNS.

The mails last week were burdened with a curious correspondence that will prove of considerable interest to the public. Each of the 11 city councilmen received a letter from the proprietors of the Arcade theatre enclosing an annual pass, with an explanation about as follows:

"Please find annual pass enclosed, in your favor. Hoping you will appreciate, etc. etc., etc. We remain, "THE ARCADE THEATRE."

The following mail carried letters containing the same passes from a number of councilmen, at least, couched something like this: "Contents of communication duly noted. Pass returned with thanks."

Behind It All a Story. Behind this is said to be a story. The proprietor of the Arcade theatre erected two large electric signs across the sidewalk in front of the Washington street playhouse and this is claimed to have been done without a proper permit from the authorities. The fact was called to the attention of the council street committee and after a due investigation it ordered the signs removed, which, it appears, has not been done, though apparently only because of a mixup of orders at the city hall. Then came the mail with the passes. Councilman Sharkey acknowledged that he had received a pass, "but it went back in the next mail," he explained, "and I suppose the rest of them took the same route." Another councilman confirmed this statement, but did not wish his name used.

The signs are still in front of the theatre, but the officials say they must come down.

An Opportunity.

At a cost of $1.00 a week the famous "Eclipse" range can be secured of I. Gevurtz & Sons, 173-5 Front street. The firm, by this plan, places the range within reach of all. The "Eclipse" has made a reputation that is surpassed by no other range, a fact being attested by the large number now in use in Portland.

HANDSOME RESIDENCE AT OSWEGO BURNS

The handsome residence of John Gardner at Oswego burned to the ground Sunday morning. The fire had burned out early in the morning, and it is supposed a spark smoldered all day. The whole upper story was in flames before the family, which was in the sitting-room, was aware of it.

Mrs. Gardner had only been home a few days from the hospital, where she had undergone a severe operation. She was carried out just before the roof fell. Some of the furniture in the lower story was saved, but all the valuable jewelry and other effects of Mrs. Gardner's sisters, who were visiting her from Scotland, were lost.
