

WINNERS TO MANY POOR

Volunteers of America Ready With Thanksgiving Food.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

Charitable Women Hard at Work Preparing to Bring Joy to the Hearts of Inmates of Children's and Baby Homes.

Systematic aid instead of promiscuous giving to all classes of hungry vagrants is the motto of the Volunteers of America in their Thanksgiving offering crusade.

As the Salvation Army has generally come to do, poor families will be provided with provisions, but no public dinner will be given to those who may be attracted by the odors of home cooking.

The Salvation Army and the Volunteers were both in the field last year at Thanksgiving time, and each strove to collect money for charity's sake.

Money boxes have been left at all the city schools and the contents of these will be used to purchase groceries, the boxes to be opened tomorrow by the Volunteers at their hall at 15 North Second street.

Among the homes that will be visited is one where a widow with six children is washing stray bundles of clothes for a meager living.

At the Children's Home. Subscriptions for the Children's home are being taken at the Woodard and Clark drug store.

At the Baby Home. For this institution donations are being received at Park and Morrison streets by Mrs. O. M. Scott and Mrs. E. F. Riley.

At the Eastern Outfitting company, at 230 Washington street, are giving away 80 sacks of flour to the needy.

On the Waterfront, Too. All day tomorrow the waterfront will have a deserted appearance.

At the Seamen's Institute a Thanksgiving dinner will be served in the afternoon at 6:30.

At the Churches. Special services will be held in most of the churches.

At the Children's Home. The children of the Children's home are being visited by the Volunteers.

Thanksgiving services will be held at the Taylor-Street M. E. church at 10:30 a. m.

At the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception there will be special Thanksgiving services at 10 a. m.

Thanksgiving services at St. Mark's, corner of Nineteenth and Quimby streets, on Thanksgiving day will be at 6:30 a. m. and 10:30 a. m.

There will be special Thanksgiving services at St. Stephen's chapel, Thirteenth, north of corner of Clay, at 10:30 a. m.

The Grand Avenue United Presbyterian, Westminster Presbyterian and Hassalo-Street Congregational churches will unite in union Thanksgiving services at the Westminster church at 11 a. m.

Marshall-Street Presbyterian church will hold special Thanksgiving services in its auditorium this evening at 7:45 o'clock.

Thanksgiving day exercises will be held at Temple Beth Israel tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Organ Prelude—Andante Religioso... Reading of the President's Proclamation... Hymn—Thy Way Not Ours...

At the Home. To the children under the care of the Boys and Girls Aid society tomorrow, Thanksgiving dinner will be served to about 60 children.

The unfortunate at the police station will not fare on turkey, so Chief Hunt's advice is to keep out of trouble.

At St. Vincent's hospital an unusually fine dinner will be served for the patients, and an effort will be made to make it a fine one.

The inmates of the Florence Crittenton Rescue home will be treated to a Thanksgiving dinner.

OPENING UPPER COLUMBIA RIVER LIKE THE FAMOUS CHAS. FAIR CASE

Baker City, Nov. 25.—"The Oregonian in recent issues points out the way for the state of Oregon to secure the Dalles-Celilo canal in five years' time," said Col. W. F. Butcher of the Citizens' League yesterday while conversing in a private room at the hotel.

Why Not Use It? "Why should not Oregon utilize the $150,000 portage railroad fund in purchasing the right of way for the canal and thus start the government wheels moving right off? To any sane man this would appear to be the simple solution of the whole problem, and it would be putting the money of the people of Oregon, already appropriated, into a permanent improvement that would soon bring the desired results instead of throwing our money away in a pothouse political scheme which cannot possibly benefit anyone."

Good News to Mariners. Edward Whittaker, proprietor of the stage line operating between here and Cornucopia by way of Medical Springs, today closed a contract with the Cornucopia mines, formerly the big Searles property, to haul 2,000 tons of freight from Baker City to Cornucopia.
