

SAYS PRINCIPAL WHIPPED TOO HARD

Complaint Filed Against G. E. Jamison of D. P. Thompson School by the Parents of Leon Sax—Both Sides of the Story.

Charges of undue severity in inflicting corporal punishment upon a ten-year-old boy, Leon Sax, a scholar in his school, were filed against Principal G. E. Jamison of the D. P. Thompson school today. The charges are in the form of a communication from the boy's parents, who live at 855 Williams avenue, drawn up by J. C. Adler, a neighbor, requesting an investigation.

The complaint says that Prof. Jamison whipped the boy so that the marks of the stick still remain.

Sax was engaged in playing on the grounds of the school with the other boys during recess and fell to scuffling with another lad. This was witnessed by the principal, who ordered the boy to report at his office. This the lad did not do, the principal says because he was unruly, the boy says because his playmates would not let him go.

Prof. Jamison says that the boy was given three chances to obey, but refused, and that he resorted to corporal punishment in a mild form because the discipline should be maintained. "I do not feel that I was cruel," he stated during an interview today.

The trouble started because of some misunderstanding on the school grounds. I witnessed a violation of the school rules and asked the Sax boy to come to me. This he refused to do. Then I told him to report to the office. He did not do so, and the next day he slipped away again without minding orders. Then I had no thought of punishment. I merely wanted to find out who was to blame for the trouble on the grounds. The third day I brought the boy to my office. He was obedient and paddled him, maybe half a dozen times. He said that the other boys put him up to disobeying me.

The parents had advised corporal punishment rather than expulsion in the case of his brother, so I knew they did not object to such discipline. It comes down to a proposition of either using corporal punishment or expulsion. It is entirely a choice with the parents.

Mr. Adler, who drew up the charges for the boy's parents, claims that the principal used too much severity in the case, and says he will see that the matter is sifted to the bottom.

GAMBLERS FINES PAID AS USUAL

POLICE COURT COLLECTS $450 IN FORFEITED BAIL—MUNICIPAL ASSOCIATION'S APPLICATION FOR MANDAMUS TO ENFORCE LAW TAKEN UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Not a ripple of excitement ruffled the tranquility of the police court this morning when the gambling cases were called and the bail-money was forfeited in a usual manner.

While the officials of the court have been watching with interest the movement of the municipal association and have expected to hear from them officially, no papers were served and the matter of forfeiting the bail of gamblers took its usual course.

The sum of $450 reverted to the city treasury today through 11 Chinese gamblers, most of whom were taxed but $50 each. Two who run more games had paid $100 apiece. The arrests were made Saturday, and the names entered on the books, but not until this morning was the money declared forfeited. None responded to his name.

Those who helped the city to the extent of $50 each were: Dai Lee, 135 Second street; Dai Wo, 21 Second street; Lee Yuen, 133 Second street; Tai Hing, 89 Second street; Wong Gons, 83 1/2 Second street; Wing Hui, 135 Second; Tai Lee, 147 1/2 Second; Chong Hing, 141 1/2 Second; Quong Yuen, 85 1/2 Second; Fong Yuen, 246 1/2 Couch, and Dock Yuen, 29 North Second street, paid $100 each.

Application was made this afternoon, by Miller Murdoch, a representative of the municipal association, before Judge Cleland for a writ of mandamus, directing Mayor Williams and the executive board to give orders for Chief Hunt to enforce the gambling laws. The basis for the application are on the papers which were filed Saturday, showing that gambling existed in Portland contrary to law, and that it could not be conducted without the approval of the officials. Judge Cleland took the issue under advisement, and will make reply the latter part of this week.

HE IS VIGOROUS IN RECOMMENDATIONS

Washington Bureau of The Journal.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—Attorney General Knox submitted to congress his annual report today. He discusses at length the recently discovered naturalization frauds, and in presenting the report will be vigorously pressed. He emphasizes the need for reforms and the change of existing laws, including the more stringent measures against violations. He wants the laws amended so that the federal government will have complete information and undergo a full physical examination and registration, and when they apply for citizenship papers they must present these. The government must furnish uniform certificates of identification and to prevent substitution. The certificates should be printed in Washington, containing the government watermarks, and the unlawful possession or counterfeiting should be made an offense against the government.

Mr. Knox also recommends the appropriation of $500,000 for the prosecutions of land frauds, postal crimes and naturalization frauds. He says a grave condition exists in some cases and vast portions of the public lands have been fraudulently acquired through perjuries and forgeries and similar measures. In the violations of the postal laws he wants the criminal laws amended so as to extend to the federal government the right to appeal, especially when the lower court sustains a demurrer to indictments. He also wants the statute of limitations extended to five years, instead of three, and to prevent the use of special reference to the recent land and postal cases, where the alleged violators were protected by the statute of limitations, and says the minimum of such limitations should be five years, and a greater time would not be inconsistent.

Mr. Knox recommends the abolishment of the office of assistant attorney-general of the postoffice, and the place to be filled by an assistant to the solicitor of the postoffice department, to be appointed by the president. At present this appointment is made by the postmaster-general. The report then reviews the cases of the past year, numbering 16,000. At greater portion of these were violations of revenue laws.

MISS ETTIE I. SPERRY WEDS H. R. BURKE

Miss Ettie I. Sperry and H. R. Burke were united in marriage by the Rev. G. B. Van Wagoner at the home of the bride's parents last Thursday evening at 6 o'clock. Only the relatives and family friends were present. Miss Sperry made a charming bride and was becomingly adorned with pink roses. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The ceremony was performed in the parlor which was decorated with white chrysanthemums and green foliage. The dining room, where the wedding supper was served, was also decorated with pink roses and delicate green ferns. Mr. and Mrs. Burke left on their wedding tour to Honolulu by way of San Francisco. On their return they will make their home in Portland.

PEOPLE GO HUNGRY IN SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Dec. 7.—More than 100 restaurants were closed this morning and a hungry public is scurrying all over the city to find places in which to eat. The restaurant-keepers voted to stand firm. The mayor says he cannot interfere in the dispute, and there has been no demands for arbitration. The keepers say they will fight to a finish and the unions are preparing for a long stand. This is a great restaurant city, and the public will be much inconvenienced if the strike holds out. About fifty-third street, which was occupied by 50 families. None are believed to be killed. Firemen made several thrilling rescues.

CHILDREN MAY ACT IN GOOD PLAYS

BARRED FROM QUESTIONABLE PLAYS AND QUESTIONABLE HOUSES SAYS H. G. KUNDRET OF THE CHILD LABOR COMMISSION—MANAGERS MEET COMMISSION.

A temporary settlement of the child-labor question has been effected by the termination of the engagement of the Bragden children at the Arcade theatre and their departure, in company with their father, for other fields. The child-labor commission allowed them to complete the engagement but intimated that another week's play in the city would not be tolerated.

Asked if any further steps would be taken against the employment of children on the stage, H. G. Kundret, a member of the commission, said this morning:

"The commission will take an absolute stand against the employment of children in questionable plays and questionable houses. But so far as the houses are concerned, they are governed by a city ordinance prohibiting the employment of children."

"Will children be allowed to play in reputable houses as members of traveling troupes?"

"The presumption is that they will, but no official action has been taken in the matter."

A ROYAL PRINCESS NOW A MURDERESS

(Journal Special Service.)

Jerlin, Dec. 7.—Actress Clara Zeigler, who was shot by Princess Elizabeth, died today. The princess will probably be compelled to stand trial, as she sacrificed all her privileges when she married Prince Otto in opposition to the wishes of her imperial grandfather, Emperor Franz Joseph.

The princess, who is the granddaughter on her father's side of the emperor of Austria, and on her mother's side of the king of the Belgians, is only 20 years old.

The affair took place in the palace of the estate of the prince's family at Prague.

It appears that Prince Otto had been secretly paying attention to the actress, whose beauty has been causing a sensation in Prague. The princess, presuming to be a disappointed suitor of the youthful favorite that a rendezvous had been arranged in the palace, was thrown into a passion and hurried to the prince's apartments with a small revolver he had given her.

A valet stood at the door and refused her admittance. She drew the revolver and fired. It is stated. The valet fled, screaming at the top of his voice. Entering the rooms, the princess confronted her husband, who attempted to hold her, but she is then said to have been at the height of rage and to have fired point-blank at the actress, who cowered in a corner.

The woman fell, severely wounded on the breast, and the princess fell in a swoon. The victim was hurriedly carried to her home and her servants spread the story, despite strenuous efforts to hush it up.

Prince Otto is 30 years old and was a lieutenant in the 31st regiment of Chinas. The Austrian emperor, whose favorite granddaughter the princess was, opposed the match, but finally consented and gave away the bride, whose marriage was celebrated in a magnificent way at Vienna after the archduchess had renounced her right of succession to the dual throne of Austria and Hungary.

In consideration of her renunciation the emperor gave to the bride securities valued at $1,600,000, a yearly allowance of $250,000, jewels worth $1,000,000, a gold dinner service and several residences. The princess is the daughter of the unfortunate Crown Prince Rudolf, whose tragic death at his hunting lodge several years ago was the sensation of the day.

ASKS DIVORCE FROM MOSES BLUMAUER

MRS. HANNA K. BLUMAUER CHARGES A SCION OF A WEALTHY PIONEER FAMILY WITH DRUNKENNESS—SEE ASKS SHARE IN VALUABLE PROPERTY.

Suit for divorce was begun in the state circuit court this afternoon by Hannah K. Blumauer from Moses Blumauer, a member of the wealthy and pioneer Blumauer family and a salesman in the employ of the Blumauer Drug company. The charge made in the complaint is gross and habitual drunkenness. State Senator H. E. McGinnis is the attorney for the plaintiff. They were married March 18, 1896, and have one child, Stanley H. Blumauer, of whom the mother asks the custody.

Samuel and Louis Rosenblatt are named as co-defendants in the case. In so far as a bond executed to them by Blumauer and signed by his wife in 1896 affects the title to property in the city of Portland and in Multnomah county, Oregon, and in Pacific county, Washington. The property in Portland is situated principally in the business district and is valued at from $75,000 to $100,000. The value of the remaining property is estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000. Mrs. Blumauer asks that she be assigned her share in the property, and that she be given support for herself and child.

SUPREME COURT HANDS DOWN THREE DECISIONS

(Journal Special Service.)

Salem, Dec. 7.—The supreme court handed down decisions today as follows: Levi Ankeny, appellant, vs. William Blakely, sheriff, and Umatilla county, respondents, from Umatilla county; judgment affirmed. Opinion was made by Justice Wolverton. The action was brought to restrain the county from collecting taxes on the stock of the First National bank of Pendleton, at Umatilla, higher than that assessed by the assessor, and taxed to shareholders. The complainant alleged an arbitrary action of the county board of equalization in raising the assessment. The case was dismissed by the lower court and judgment was sustained by the supreme court, as the action of the equalization board was not found arbitrary.

J. Galloway, respondent, vs. A. G. Bartholomew, et al., appellants, from Morrow county; judgment affirmed. Opinion by Justice Bean. This was an action to recover on note, the defendants contending that the note was void because the word "surety," after the note was signed, was erased. The lower court overruled the motion for a nonsuit and this was held proper by the appellate court.

W. G. Jenkins, appellant, vs. the city of Ontario, respondent, from Malheur county; judgment affirmed by Justice Bean. This was an action by the complainant, who alleged that a proper action could be brought against the marshal, and not the city. The judgment was affirmed.

HERMANN INTRODUCES NEW PENSION BILLS

Washington Bureau of The Journal.

Washington, Dec. 7.—Rep. Hermann will introduce bills amending the pension laws so as to admit the claims of survivors of the Indian wars who served less than 30 days. The present law fixes the minimum limit of 30 days' service for those entitled to pension, thus barring out many meritorious survivors of persons who served a few days less than 30 days. The present law also introduces a bill bringing under the benefit of the pension law the survivors of the civil war who served in independent companies and were not enrolled in regular organizations.

SUFFERINGS MADE HER GO TO ASYLUM

(Journal Special Service.)

Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 7.—The commitment of Mrs. Mary Galloway to the insane asylum a few days ago is said to be the result of her great suffering for the past five years. She lived with her husband, who hired as a sheepherder, and kept his wife living in a tent in the region of snow, thinly clad and poorly fed. Her father is E. C. Merry, who lives near Touchet. He says that when he rescued his daughter she was more like a wild animal than a human being.

LUMBER RATES EFFECTIVE TODAY

REDUCTION FROM $7.50 TO $5 FROM PORTLAND TO INTERIOR CALIFORNIA POINTS BEGINS—INCREASE IN OTHER OREGON TOWNS PUT OFF TILL JANUARY 1.

Though the local lumbermen have not yet been notified formally of the reduced rate now effective to California points, the Southern Pacific has so generally announced the new rates that satisfaction reigns in lumber circles. The lumbermen tomorrow hold a meeting, at which time it is expected the millmen will formally notify the millmen of the new rates.

Mr. Coman, general passenger and freight agent of the Southern Pacific, said this morning that in brief the change was to make the rate from Portland to north interior California points $5 a ton instead of $7.50, which has recently prevailed to bay points. This local rate goes into effect today, but the rate of the rate for interior mills at from $3.10 to $3.50 will not be made effective until January 1. The rate in each case is the minimum.

Concerning the announcement that a basing rate of $3.50 would be made interior mills, and that the basing rate for the bay where the local rate did not exceed $1.50 would be included in the $5 class, Mr. Coman did not have final information and stated that complete figures were as yet not available.

The final settlement of the question is not yet ready for announcement by the company was shown this morning when representatives of the lumbermen asked the Southern Pacific to place in writing the exact relief given by the company, the company was not able to do this and beyond a verbal announcement nothing has been given out. The rate of $5 from Portland to California points is, however, effective and that is the chief thing the local mills desired. The car shortage is expected to remedy itself, as the rule in other shipments was somewhat less for a time and cars are generally reported to be easier.

JAMES H. HAWLEY, A BROKER, IS DEAD

James H. Hawley, a prominent Portland broker, died at his home in this city at 10 o'clock last night after an illness lasting a week. He leaves a widow and four brothers. The funeral arrangements have not been perfected.

Mr. Hawley was born in Troy, N. Y. He came to Portland in 1896. He was engaged in business at No. 2, Chamber of Commerce building, and was well known to Portland business men. His four brothers reside at Troy. They are James L. Hawley, president of the First National bank of Troy, and John, Julius and Charles Hawley.

THE VANISHING TEN POUNDS.

Rules for the Woman Who Thinks Herself Too Fat.

From the New York Sun.

It is a pity that any woman should be unduly fat, unless she desires to be so. Overweightness is unhealthy, it is uncomfortable, it hinders good looks and it is unnecessary. Numerous examples exist of women who have been fat and have taken off 50 pounds, and there are countless cases of women, past middle life, who retain the graceful figure of childhood.

It is the way of living and the habits that cause fat to come. You can build yourself up or you can reduce, and the beauty of it is that it takes very little time to do either. The woman who is unduly fat and nearly 10 pounds too heavy in three weeks, while the woman who is too fat can take off 10 pounds in the same length of time.

Now there are some rules for the woman who wants to get thin.

Eat fruit before you go to bed, all you can, choosing figs, prunes or apples. Do not lie in bed more than seven hours. Either go to bed late or get up early, but let seven hours be the limit. Do not drink over one cup of tea, coffee or water at each meal, and do not have either the tea or coffee very sweet. One cup must suffice, no matter how much you want another.

For breakfast take nothing but dry toast. Eat a little salt on it instead of butter. Eat three slices of toast if you please, but only one cup of coffee.

Do your own marketing and your own shopping and do your own walking. Three hours is not too long to spend in walking. Don't sit down, but keep moving.

Have your feet in good condition, for the fat woman who has trouble with her feet might as well have no feet so far as exercise is concerned. She cannot walk. Don't wear tight clothing, for tight bands, tight laces and tight collars keep the fat firm and it is impossible to exercise when the muscles are tightly banded or bound down.

Don't have ailments, although fat people are very apt to have many aches and pains. Forget them and remember only that you are going to grow thin.

SUNDAY MORNING AT PORTLAND BARS

Saloons in the Gambling Trust Running Full Blast as Late as 3 a. m., in Spite of Chief of Police Hunt's Orders.

Why does the police department persecute certain saloons to remain open after 1 a. m. in defiance of the laws of the city of Portland?

What significance can be attached to the fact that these favored saloons belong to the gambling trust?

About two months ago it was so generally known that liquor selling after hours were permitted in certain places that other saloons men followed suit.

But it was only a short time before Chief Hunt had warrants issued for the proprietors who dared to imitate the gamblers in violating the law. They were taken before the municipal court and in several cases fines were imposed. But none of these prosecutions were directed against any member of the gambling trust.

What the Chief Says.

Chief Hunt has repeatedly said that there was no violation of the closing order, especially since he had a few violators arrested. But it has been common knowledge that it was no trick to secure drink at Erickson's, Fritz's or the saloons kept by the two Blaziers' after hours. Long after closing hour Sunday morning their places were open.

These conditions exist with the consent of Chief Hunt or he is deluded by his subordinates.

At 2:35 o'clock Sunday morning the bars in Blazier's business-street saloon were almost as crowded as they were long before midnight. At least 50 men were in the barroom, some of them very drunk. The street doors to the drinking room were closed and locked, but outsiders could easily enter the gambling rooms from the street and thence get into the barroom. One of the employees opened a side door as an exit.

Women at the Bar.

A few minutes later practically the same conditions were found at Fritz's combination theatre, saloon and gambling house. Two bars were running full blast with drink mixers on duty. One of Fritz' bars is on the second floor, and at this were standing two women drinking. A dozen men also were in the room and the women drank as if it was a common occurrence for them to be at the bar. On the ground floor is the second bar. Only two men were drinking at the time, one of them being a Bohemian. Several men were playing the slot machines at this time, and the clubrooms were going full blast. Entrance was barred.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of John Rometsch, a saloon-keeper at 253 Morrison street, and for L. Castor, whose place of business is at 193 Third street. Both are charged with keeping their barrooms open between the hours of 1 and 5 a. m. on December 6. The complaints are signed by Patrolman William Jones.

CITY GAMBLING ACT IS VALID

By a decision of State Circuit Judge George in the case of Wing H. Yick this morning the city ordinance governing gambling are held to be valid and Yick must pay the fine of $50 which was imposed by the municipal court. Yick appealed from the judgment of the lower court on the ground that the ordinance was invalid in that it was not passed by a majority vote of the city council.

The ordinance had been placed upon final passage under a suspension of the rules, and the vote for the suspension of the rules had been entered upon the records as the final vote. The question, the court said, was an interesting one and of vital importance to the city. It involved the matter as to whether the ordinance had been entered upon the records. The court was of the opinion that entry had been made, and declared the ordinance valid and found Yick guilty.

ACCUSED OF THEFT: CAUGHT IN SEATTLE

J. H. Peterson, a livervyman, for whom Thomas Welch owed a complaint charging him with stealing a horse and bakery wagon, went to the police station yesterday and gave himself up when he learned the police were looking for him. He was arraigned in the police court today and waived examination through his counsel. He was held to the grand jury in $500 bail. Peterson claims to have a lien for $90 on the property of a Washington-street bakery, formerly owned by E. McGinn, but now run by Welch. To satisfy the board bill Peterson is said to have taken one of the horses and a wagon.

BRICK FRACTURES SKULL.

Jay Coykendall, aged 12, is at his home, Third and Jefferson streets, recovering from a serious injury. His skull is fractured. The lad was struck in the head with a brick thrown by a drunken man and intended for several boys who were teasing him.

The affair happened a few days ago at Third and Salmon streets. Young Coykendall happened to run the corner just as the brick was thrown.

OREGON DELEGATION VERY MUCH PLEASED

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—To the Oregon Daily Journal.—We are much gratified with the recommendation of the president regarding the Lewis and Clark exposition in his message just submitted to the congress. It is as follows: "I trust that the congress will continue to favor in all proper ways the Louisiana Purchase exposition. This exposition commemorates the Louisiana purchase which was the first great step in the expansion which made us a continental nation. The exposition of Lewis and Clark across the continent followed thereon, and marked the beginning of the process of exploration and colonization which thrust our national boundaries to the Pacific. The acquisition of the Oregon country, including the present states of Oregon and Washington, was a fact of immense importance in our history. First giving us our place on the Pacific seaboard and making ready the way for our ascendancy in the commerce of the greatest of the oceans. The centennial of our establishment upon the Western coast by the expedition of Lewis and Clark is to be celebrated at Portland, Or., by an exposition in the summer of 1905, and this event should receive recognition and support from the national government."

BULL DOG SHOWS A WONDERFUL ENDURANCE

(Journal Special Service.)

San Francisco, Dec. 7.—A valuable bulldog, the property of Grocer Henning of this city, has shown astonishing endurance. He broke a leg and has suffered much pain. This was 30 days ago.
