ACTRESSES THE GAME OF BOY THIEVES

Boy thieves are still frightening defenseless women and baffling the police. Miss Edna Archer Crawford, leading woman at Baker's theatre, was accosted by two boys at Twelfth and Yamhill streets Tuesday night. They seized her purse, but were unable to break the chain. Wednesday night Miss Eileen, Miss Crawford's maid, was held up at Thirteenth and Main streets by two young men who stole her purse containing $3. It is believed that the crimes were committed by the same gang, the members of which robbed Miss Ethelyn Palmer, of the Empire theatre, of $5 last week.

"It Was the Dutch."

Gus Hennekamp, proprietor of the New York Grocery store, at Eleventh and Morrison, says the small boys in his neighborhood are going about on the streets crying, "Who lowered the price of groceries in Portland—'twas the Dutch!" He says it must mean the New York grocery, as he is certainly "Dutch" and has lowered the price of groceries since he opened his business. A proof of this is found in his ad. in today's issue.
