existence, of an individual nature, had done so much toward the development of Americah 'odcupation | and | settlement, American commerce, domestic and foreign, and American civilization as has the geographic, military and scientific expedition acros the then trackless American continent by Captains Lewis and Clark 100 years ago. He quoted from President Rooseveld speech delivered in Portland to show the character of this expedition and the equences flowing from it, and paid fervent tribute to the mem-ory of Thomas Jefferson, through whose agency the Louisiana territory was pur-chased and the Lewis and Clark expedition sent forth.

If for the grand universal exposition at St. Louis the government felt justi-fied in appropriating a total of $6,478,-990, then the great empire of the Far West feels warranted in expressing the belief that it is entitled to a fraction less than one-third that amount.

The Pacific Northwest has never had a dollar in aid of an industrial expo-He showed that the Oregon country, not including Wyoming and Montana, had received over $20,000,000 in customs duties alone in the past 52 years, over $14,000,000 in internal revenue receipts in the past 40 years, and over $20,000,000 from the sale of pub-lie lands, making a total of almost $55. 000,000. In all that time there has been expended all told for rivers and harbors n that area a little over $13,000,000, and for all other purposes about $9,000,000. The Oregon country has contributed $125,979,918.33 to the wealth of the nation in precious metals alone. He dwelt at length and with much eloquence on the exalted purposes of the Lewis and Clark exposition. He then went into the history, ancient and modern, of the Oregon country in minute and careful de-tail, coming down to the first real assertion of sovereignty in all that vast region in May, 1792, by Captain Gray of Boston, and the subsequent clinching of the title-through the overland journey a few years later by Captains Lewis and Clark. He went at some length into the old "Fifty-four-forty or Lewis and Clark. fight." which was the rallying cry Polk's campaign, and which from the subsequent backdown on the part of this country lost her so much valuable territory. In support of his statement of the capacity of what was once known as the Oregon country to furnish homes for 50,000.000 people, he called attention to the fact that at the end of the fiscal year there were undisposed of $5,500,000 acres. He then pointed with pride to the enormous development of the coun try and its enormous and varied natural resources and the importance of the sec tion as an outlook over the broad Eacific upon our far-away possessions in Ha wail and the Philippines.

Whether it was uninsured could not be learned, although there is a rumor in circulation that the Orientals believed their god could tect himself from harm. The hall of the Sin Tong was also damaged and much valuable property destroyed. Water rushed in streams into the plant established their own unfitness for pub ic employment. "Eighth-The employment of so-called laborers, to do 'classified' work was clearly illegal, and under the express direction of the civil service rules to be punished by dismissal from office. Straw Pay Bolls.

"Ninth-An agreement by any public officer with any person within or out of the public service, that the latter shall receive the empluments of public em-ployment under the pretense of being employed, without rendering any services to the government, constitutes a conspiracy to defraud the United States, and, if followed by any overt act tending to its accomplishment by any of the parties, renders all of them responsible un-der the terms of the United States revised statutes, section 5440.

"Tenth-The detail of Thomas W. Gilmer to different work of a lower grade and at a reduced compensation by A. Vanderlip, then acting secretary of the treasury, under all the circumstances atending it, was apparently unjust and oppressive, and certainly disas-trous to the public interest, since it would be generally and naturally understood by those cognizant of it as a pun-ishment inflicted on a faithful public servant, who had, by the henest dis-charge of his duty, incurred the enmity of active and influential politicians. It seems to have been preceded by no suf-ficient inquiry on the part of Acting Secretary Vanderlip, and would render proper an investigation of the latter's nduct were he still in the United States service. "Eleventh-While we express no opinion as to the propriety of Seymour W. Tulloch's removal from the office of cashier by Postmaster Merritt, the precipitancy and discourtesy shown by the latter in effecting this removal seem to have been without justification, and tend to cast grave doubt upon the good faith of his explanations of the self- and his course was clearly regrettable in the public interest as leading naturally to the belief that the cashier had been in fact removed for his failure to comply with irregular and even il-legal demands upon the funds in his custody.

Suggestions Made.

"We very respectfully recommend: "First-That a thorough investigation be ordered, if it has not already been ordered, (a) of the administration of the Washington postoffice; (b) of the administration of the New York postoffice; (c) of the administration of the office of the first assistant postmaster-general, within the past three years. It is probable this recommendation has already been in great part and purpose anticipated by the action of the present postmaster-general; but we are not at the moment of preparing this report fully informed as to the scope of the departmental inquiry now for several onths in progress under his orders, and we venture to submit it. We have been favorably impressed by the zeal, fidelity and intelligence of the postoffice inspectors, and deem them fully compa tent, under the supervision of the fourth assistant postmaster-general, to conduct an investigation, as is here suggested. "Second-That a carefully chosen, small commission be appointed by the president to report a plan whereby the work of the offices of the controllers and of the several auditors may be removed from all political, personal or other extraneous influences; the officials therein employed protected from injury through the enmities they may incur in the discharge of their duties, and the complete competency and independence of all en-gaged in this branch of the government secured through their selection by free competition, promotion for merit only used for the best interests of the company. Truesdell further states that Green, at a subsequent date, purchased back from Heath this stock. Doremus admitted to the inspectors that Truesdell told him subsequently the stock which Green asked them to contribute was to be transferred to Perry S. Heath in con-sideration of receiving a large order for machines. Beavers Took Money.

Truesdell said the payments made to Beavers were cashed at the bank by the former bookkeeper. Mrs. Ida E. Crowell, she bringing the currency to Beavers at the office of the company here, and then absenting herself from the room when Beavers called to re-ceive the currency; that the payments were entered by the company as "commission account," and that the payments which Beavers alleged were to be divided with Perry S. Heath were made with the positive knowledge and ap-proval of George E. Green and W. Doremus. The evidence against Heath was submitted to the grand jury here, but the district attorney decided it was not sufficient to warrant his indictment. The report quotes section 3739 of the revised statutes, inhibiting contracts with congressmen, and says Beavers, nevertheless, made contracts with members of congress for the rental of premises, either in their own names, the names of their agents or some mem-bers of their family. Mr. Bristow says: "A careful investigation, however, does not show that the government has been defrauded by the payment of ex-cessive rentals to members of congress either directly or indirectly. I recom-mend, however, that all leases where a member of congress is a party, be can-celed and leases executed in conformity with the statutes. "There is no evidence to indicate that

Beavers' reckless and high-handed proceedings in the matter of leases was the result of any general scheme of corruption or blackmall on his part. His purpose seems to have been to place members of congress and influential politicians under personal obligations to
