est-fought football contests that has been played in Portland this season.

The Indians secured permission of Manager McMillan to play outside men—that is, men who do not attend the Indian school at Chemawa—and engaged three star football-players, two of them from the Haskell Indian school of Kansas and one from the Perish school in California. The new men are McCully. California. The new men are McCully, who will play center, and Left Guard Bender of Kansas, and J. Peaszoni of the Perish school.

The game will be called promptly at 2:30 and the Multnoma's boys will battle hard to retain the laurels that they have gained at home. So far on their home grounds they have not been scored against, and the only defeats met with this season were those in California.

Multnomah lines up this afternoon without the services of Murphy and Horan, but nevertheless they are confident of defeating the Indians, if not preventing them from scoring.

The teams will line up as follows:

BASEBALL MAGNATES HOLD ELECTION TODAY

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Portland Baseball association, organisation next season is a matter of speculation. There are rumors circulating to the effect that a slate has been prepared by some of the most influential stockholders and it seems that it will prevail at the session without opposi-tion. The majority of the stockholders, who were disgruntled at the dropping of Mr. Marshall and Manager Vigneux, have

Richards will be again chosen to act in The champion was feeling strong and that capacity. The others have signified instead of taking the usual minute of their desire to retire from active connection with the club, and their suc-cessors are to be chosen at this afternoon's meeting.

Plans will be discussed regarding the proposed improvements of the baseball grounds. A short time ago the asso-ciation proposed extensive improvements, such as the erection of a new, up-to-date grandstand and new bleachers. Also the moving of the right field fence and the ralsing of the fences in order to shut off the "rail birds," who congregate on the world's fair fences and witness the ball games gratis. The work of fitting up the park, should the association decide to do so, will be started shortly after the new year, which will allow the contractors time enough to complete the work by the first of May, when the season opens in this city.

The present grandstand and bleachers are unsightly and but filmsily constructed, having been thrown up in a hurry upon the organization of the Pa-cific Northwest league in 1901, and when the success of a baseball venture was uncertain. Now conditions are different and prospects are bright for a successful season, and with the 1965 fair approaching an up-to-date ball park is in line and the coming of the exposition, as well as the comfort of the baseball patrons, warrants the outlay.

LUCAS WILL TRY TO OUST FISHER

Tacoms, Wash., Dec. 19 .- President W. H. Lucas of the Pacific National league has recovered sufficiently from his severe attack of typhoid fever. which has kept him confined almost con-stantly since the meeting of the na-tional baseball commission in Cincinnati, to be able to get out on the street again and talk with the fans. He has nade one visit over to Seattle to see Dugdale and the Seattle manager is coming over here again next week to try to pull the Tacoma situation out of the fire before Mique Fisher cinches the

Mr. Lucas still chaims to be sanguine.

He has the utmost faith in Dugdale's fidelity to the lost cause and says that money consideration. By this deal the nothing the Coast league can offer him infield of the Giants is materially will induce the Seattle manager to de-sert the Northwest league. Mr. Lucas intends to make a tour of his disrupted circuit before issuing a call for a meeting. He says that the baseball atmosphere will be cleared within two weeks average of .948. Lucas does not look for assistance this year from the national association of minor leagues, which failed misera-bly last season to give him help prom-ised before he ventured into California to fight the coasters. He is looking for support this year from the big leagues and claims to have had assurances from Harry Pulliam and other baseball men while at Cincinnati that the National and American leagues, which are now in the national agreement, will force the coast league to come into the union of son. He showed up grandly in the post-aseball leagues or subject its clubs to season series.

DIAMOND GLISTENINGS

Phil is a valuable player on any club, because of his bat-ting and base-running ability, and his many admirers will be glad to know of his decision to play with Portland another season.

Whether Dillon will go to the Superbas remains to be seen, as the Loo Loo captain is a great favorite in the southern city, and besides he recently married a California girl, and stated that he hoped to make his home in the Golden state in the future. Dillon's prospects in Los Angeles are much brighter than they are in the event of his making a change. In the scraphic burg he is a favorite, and should he go, he leaves it for an uncertainty. He has had several trials on both National and American league teams, and failed to stay on any club long.

As to Van Buren and Lumley, they are both good, fast minor league players, but whether they will stand the gaff among the stars is a question time alone can answer. Van Buren is a far better fielder than Lumley, and there-fore has a greater chance of making good. Lumley's fielding will handicap him more or less, and unless he hits extraordinarily well from the start he 13 likely to be farmed out or dropped.

Andy Anderson will not be a member of next season's Portland team, for Ely figures on getting a faster man for that position. Anderson seems to be some what overweight for a second baseman, which position calls for a light, quick and active man, one who can cover a large area of ground. Men like Casey, Mohler, Hollingsworth and Little Raymond are the right build for guardians of the second cerner. It is well known that Rube Waddell is dissatisfied with the provisions of his Philadelphia contract, and also that Connie Mack will not allow him to play with any other club. Therefore there is a good chance to secure this erratic player, who would prove a great draw-ing card in Portland as well as all over the circuit. Manager Ely intends to use his utmost endeavors to land the "Rube" and has high hopes of succeed-ing, for he (Ely) was captain of the Pittsburgs when Waddell pitched for that organization, and is therefore well acquainted with the big southpaw's eccentricities, and knows to a certain ex tent how to handle him. tion of Waddell would be the greatest coup the Portland management could spring on the local fans, as a drawing card, for his fame is known from one end of the states to the other.

An Oakland exchange states that Pete Lohman may have an outfield composed of the following players: Van Haltren, McCreedie and Dunleavy, with Murdock umpire in the Southern league last sea a pretty fast trio to draw to.
