TRANSACIONS IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD

SALT TRUST IS FIGHTING AGAIN

ACTIVITY OF INDEPENDENT CONGRESS CAUSES A DROP IN ALL DOMESTIC PRODUCTS—CHANGE TAKES EFFECT ON NEXT MONDAY MORNING.

Sensational Change in Salt. There was something of a sensational character doing in the salt market today. The change is in the nature of a decline from former quotations, but what the exact figures are cannot be given until Monday, as the new figures do not take effect until that day.

Oats Ranging Upward. The prospects of this city landing a large government order for oats have caused the local market to stiffen up and the quotations today show a decided advance, both white and gray oats being quoted at the same figures.

Local Dealers in Dark. Local dealers in hay are in the dark as far as the government contract for hay is concerned. It is now said that the hay will be purchased and shipped on the sound and that the lower figures for supplies will be ignored by the government.

Eggs to Touch Bottom. The egg market is rather shaky at the present time and only a very severe cold snap with its consequent falling off in receipts will move the market from touching the bottom of the ladder at about 14 or perhaps 15 cents a dozen.

Dullness in Prunes. The dullness in prunes continues and few, if any, of the local packers and shippers expect to make a profit on their investment during the present season.

Now that there are less than 3,500 bales of hops remaining unsold in the state the local dealers and holders are endeavoring to boost up prices and scare the brewers into submission.

More Meats Are Coming. More meats are coming, but the market on all lines is considered good and the top quotations are still ruling for all products.

Options on Today's Market. W. B. Glarke company—Don't look for any improvement in butter soon. Eastern market is too low to admit of high prices here.

W. S. Swank—Potato cargo on last steamer to France and light and heavy one will be the same; market firm for fancy potatoes.

BROKERS' OPINIONS ON NEW YORK STOCKS RANGED UPWARD TODAY

(Furnished by Overbeck, Starr & Cooke Co.) New York, Jan. 9.—The fluctuations in the cotton option list the past week have been wide enough to satisfy the most exacting trader and nearly every influence on the market has played its part with an effect rarely experienced by the trade.

Logan & Bryan, New York: The market has been firm but without special features. The local market was very much affected and closed at about the best prices of the day.

Waller & Co., New York: There seems little probability of a better market and higher prices next week.

Hutton & Co., New York: There seems little probability of a better market and higher prices next week.
