WAS KILLED IN LINE OF SERVICE

(Journal Special Service.) Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 11.—Frank Berkeley died Saturday night from injuries received on the railroad and his body will be shipped to his home in Smithville, O., this morning for interment. On Friday evening Berkeley endeavored to unload a car of piling at the junction of the W. & O. and P. V. V. divisions of the Northern Pacific company's line of roads. The piling was held on the car with standards on each side, Berkeley, in order to let the logs roll off on one side, cut one set of the standards to weaken them. He then got on top of the logs to cut the wires fastening the standards together at the top, and when the logs were loosened the sound stakes on the opposite side broke, throwing the carload of logs on top of the unfortunate man. He was brought to the hospital at Vancouver, but his internal injuries were so severe that he died Saturday night. The post mortem examination showed that no bones were broken, but he was severely crushed about the hips and otherwise injured so that recovery was considered impossible from the beginning.

The Journal Booming. H. W. Brooks, traveling representative of The Journal, is spending several days in Vancouver and vicinity. Mr. Brooks says he has some fine offers to make to subscribers, and that he is meeting with extraordinary good success in his solicitations.

An Unique Surprise. A very unique and probably unprecedented surprise party was tendered M. A. Minch and wife a couple of evenings ago. Mr. and Mrs. Minch arranged to go to Portland to attend the theatre, leaving the house in charge of Mrs. Minch's two young sisters. During the evening several girl friends of the two sisters called and spent the evening until it was too late to return home without an escort. There was no person handy, and they made the best of it—retired and waited till morning. On returning from the theatre at a very late hour the Minches were completely surprised to find all the sleeping apartments occupied and no room left. Being newly-married the two were even at a greater loss to know how to deal with the situation, but they finally withdrew in good order and went to a hotel.

NEW BREWERY MAY BE BUILT AT EUGENE

(Journal Special Service.) Eugene, Or., Jan. 11.—There are prospects for the establishment of a large brewery in Eugene in the near future. Henry Lang, who is registered here from Olympia, Wash., and who represents large brewerymen in Wisconsin, has been interviewing the business men in regard to the advisability of establishing a brewery here. He was given considerable encouragement and left on this afternoon's train, promising to be back in eight or 10 days to further consider the matter.

Mr. Lang was very much impressed with the city as a good location for such an enterprise. There is no brewery nearer than Albany, and the business of this city and adjacent points would seem to justify putting one in here. It is known that the parties whom Mr. Lang represents have plenty of capital and that the brewery will be a large one if established here.

Oratorical Tests Between States. Eugene, Or., Jan. 11.—President P. L. Campbell of the University of Oregon has just received a letter from the president of the University of Ohio in regard to a movement to institute a system of oratorical contests between state universities, to culminate in a final contest, the first one to be held in the hall of congresses at the St. Louis world's fair.

SPOKANE WILL CLOSE OUT DIVES

(Journal Special Service.) Spokane, Wash., Jan. 11.—Spokane's dives are going to be cleaned out. The police have let down the bars and any one who cares can prosecute the women engaged in the business. That the women will be prosecuted is unquestioned. The ministers have already taken the matter up and will swear to the warrants if need be.

"I will issue a warrant for the arrest of any owner or owners of a building or buildings who are renting their places for immoral purposes, upon complaint of any person, submitted in the regular form." So says Judge Hinkle when asked when the policy of the police was inquired about. The recent order of Mayor Boyd left the fines and rentals, which were attempted to

SOME OF PORTLAND'S BIGGEST FRESHETS

Winter freshets in the Willamette river usually occur in January and February, although in rare instances they have been known to make their appearance as early as November and as late as March. The highest winter freshet of which any record has been kept was February 5, 1890, when the river was 25.7 feet above zero, or the low-water mark. At that time Front and a part of First streets were partly inundated. The next highest freshet was on February 7, 1881, the rise at time being 23.8 feet above zero. On January 28 last year the Willamette rose to 19.3 feet, compelling the steamboat men to move to the upper docks. The danger point is about 16 feet. While at present there is a good stage of water, there is no indication of an early rise, but several rainy days in succession would soon change the situation. The high water seasons here often are confounded. There are two of them, one known as the Willamette river freshet and the other as the annual June rise. The former is caused by heavy rains, and the latter by the backwater of the Columbia, swollen by melting snows in the mountains. In the June rise of 1894, the highest on record, the entire lower part of the city up to Sixth and Oak streets was under water.

ROAD SUPERVISORS FOR LINN COUNTY

(Journal Special Service.) Albany, Or., Jan. 11.—The county court has appointed the road supervisors for the ensuing year, under the law passed at the regular session of 1903. The new law legislated every road supervisor in the state out of office on May 23, 1903, but they continued to act, as the law did not provide for the appointment of new supervisors until the January term of court this year.

SACRIFICE SALE DRAWS CROWDS

What is probably the greatest sacrifice sale ever held in Portland is that now under way at The Hub clothing store, Third and Burnside streets. All day Saturday thousands of men visited the store, each and every one taking away clothing that they bought for a mere song. So great became the crush the management was compelled to close the doors at intervals, that those inside might have room to turn around and buy what they could not even reach during the crush. On the pavements the crowd jostled and pushed one another until one man found his head through one of the large windows. It was at that time it was deemed necessary to call upon the police for aid. The bargains are simply ridiculous, so low are the prices.

WAS IT YOUR FAULT?

If you lose your job, or fall in business, and feel it was not your fault, because you did the best you could, it may still have been so, for the reason that you did not keep your constitution up to requirements and consequently were not capable. No matter what your weakness is you can depend on Selsin Pills to build you up. Selsin Pills sell at $1.00 a box, six for $5. At Clemenson's drug store, corner Second and Yamhill.

JIM HAM LEWIS ON CHAUNCEY DEPEW

(Journal Special Service.) Washington, Jan. 11.—Immense delegations are arriving today to attend the meeting of the national Democratic committee, which begins tomorrow. Harmony is the watchword. Senators Gorman and Parker are mentioned most often and Williams is also given occasional mention for the big candidate. Hearst is also heard of.

THE WOODMEN OF THE WORLD AND WOMEN OF WOODEN

Col. James Hamilton Lewis, formerly of Seattle, will do the oratorical stunt before the convention in behalf of Chicago. Colonel Lewis had an hour's symposium with Chauncey Depew today, and in leaving the New York senator slapped Lewis on the back saying, "The Northwest made an exponent."

SOME FAMOUS GLOVES

Fashion comes in and goes out as surely as the tide, and on the incoming waters often a style that has been carried far out on fashion's seas may return not much changed. The glove is an example of this. Today our long suede gloves, that in the white kid have a design of embroidery on the wrist, are very similar to those worn by Queen Anne. A pair of hers is preserved in a palace in London. They are two feet long, of doekin, lined with a soft, rich blue satin. On the back is a design of birds embroidered in gold braid. Both Queen Anne and Queen Victoria despised buttons, always preferring to thrust the hand into the glove. A glove worn by King George II. of soft yellow kid, measured about 14 inches in length and six in width. These measurements show that either the king had very large hands or that then as now large gloves were fashionable. The every-day glove worn by Queen Victoria was the unexciting buttonless black cashmere that any quiet old lady wears today. The gloves she wore at her coronation were more interesting. They were of white kid, 10 inches long and three wide. Those worn at the jubilee were more elaborate, being 24 inches long and adorned with a gold-embroidered embossed crown, beneath which is the monogram in gold letters, "V. R."
