LARGER RECEIPTS AND THE PULL-NESS OF RETAIL STOCKS CAUSES MARKET TO DROP-TURPENTINE MAKES ANOTHER ADVANCE-HALIBUT IS LOWER.

Foultry Market Weakens.

As was told yesterday in The Journal the larger receipts of poultry in the Front street market and the smaller demand caused prices to show a 'certain degree of weakness. Today the arrivals showed a large increase and the demand was nearly absent altogether. The retailers are well stocked up and do not care to make further buys at present quotations. In the afternoon the stocks became so large that dealers began to out prices about 1/2-cent on mixed chickens and straight bens. There is still a good demand for ducks, geese and turkeys and former quotations are easily being obtained for all arrivals.

Changes in Turpentine.

The Standard Oil company today announced an advance of 8 cents a gallon in the former quotations on turpentine, making the second advance of 3 cents a gallon in that market during the past 10 days. The following are the old and

A SHARP RALLY EARLY IN WHEAT ADVANCE WAS BROUGHT ABOUT

ON SHORT COVERING INDUCED BY STRENGTH IN COEN AND CATS -THE RISE WAS OUICRLY LOST LATER-CORN WAS ACTIVE.

Wheat had quite a sharp rally early in the day on short covering, induced by the strength in corn and oats. It was ON NEW YORK STOCKS quickly lost, however, and the close was rather heavy. Foreign markets are dull. Argentine weather is still unfavorable, Conditions here are unsatisfactory.

The commercial position is not strong and prices are maintained by Armour and fears of war. The scattered interest on both sides of the market has been pretty well juggled out. In our judgment it should sell lower but it is the July. market which will not take any amount August, October of liquidation, and that may prevent the effort.

(Furnished by Overbeck, Starr & Cooke Co.) New York, Jan. 14.—McInityre & Mar-shall say: It is the old story of over-speculation and the necessity for a pro-cess of digestion to follow a market which has broadened with undue haste. The falling off in receipts has now brought a fixed fact, and continues on a basis of from 25 to 30 per cent less than last year. We take no stock in the suggestion that cotion is being held by farmers or merchants for specula-tive purposes. All of our information and investigations are contrary to this theory. The question only to determine is what will the world do for their sup-plies during the next seven monthe, and when will another wave of speculation take hold of the staple and advance it? We have been reluctant to follow the market above 14 cents up to this time, as with 7,500,000 bales of the crop mar-koted, we feel that its absorption by consumers must relieve speculators to a great extent before a further advance can be sustained. We have alluded sev-eral times to the cormous moneyed value in the world's unsnut stork of

can be sustained. We have alluded sev-eral times to the enormous moneyed value in the world's unspun stock of American cotton, and this factor is in full effect at this time. It would seem, in view of these facts, that advice on the market would be to go slow in buy-ing except on extreme depression, and that the market before getting in should be viewed with caution. DOG AND HORSE HOSPITAL

At an I will an

Quite a lot of contracting is going on at 16 and even 17 cents, but generally the growers are not disposed to tie up their crops.

Potatoes Go Higher.

The better feeling in the San Fran-cisco potato market has been reflected here and the buying prices have been advanced 5 cents a hundred for the best The reports from San Franstocks. cisco say that the market there for the Oregons range from $1 to $1.20, but no dealer in this city has been able to get over $1.10 and $1.15. Quite a large amount of stocks has been purchased up the valley during the past week by Portland shippers, the top figure being 80 cents a hundred. This price is a little strained, but the competition is so keen at present that the shippers are willing to pay it in order to make the buys.

Higher Price for Onions.

There is an improved feeling in the local onion market and the quotations show an advance of about 10 cents a hundred over the old quotations. The shippers are now offering $1.10 a hundred for the very best stocks out in the country, but the price of onions, as in potatoes, has been strained by compe-tition. The onion and potato markets are both showing an improvement in the local tone.

Mog Market Is Weaker.

Larger receipts of hogs along Front street weakened the market today and although there were no changes in the quotations some sales were made below them. The weather at this time is very unfavorable for dressed hogs and the price will very likely go lower if the present condition of supply and demand continues. There is a good call for beet at published prices. Veal continues scarce and the few arrivals are eagerly sought after by the retail trade.

In the Egg Market.

The egg market is not quite so weak as it was-the market being cleaned up. The receipts are still lively, but at the present quotations the demand is larger and the outward movement is more lively. Eggs were selling along Front street today all the way from 24 to 26 cents with the majority of the sales at 25 and 26 cents. The dealers who were long on Eastern eggs are making an endeaver to unload before there is any demand at all. Big Glut in Oranges.

The arrival of orange cars are too swift for the prevailing demand and the local market is glutted with all kinds of stocks. Prices are in the main -touching the bottom. A car of sweet potatoes is expected in today.

Opinions on Today's Market.

W. B. Glafke company-Just received advices today from large New York' firm that they couldn't use our prunes because they had too many already. They have just received a consignment of Oregon's which they are unable to pay more than 11/2 icents base. We asked 1% cents.

G. S. Smith company-A good local demand for both onlens and potatoes. Bell & Co .--- Hogs weaker with larger
