VANCOUVER IS ON THE BIG ADVANCE

BUSINESS BEFORE THE CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT SHOW INDUSTRIAL INTERESTS TO BE GROWING—OTHER MATTERS IN THE THRIVING TOWN.

(Journal Special Service.) Vancouver, Wash., Jan. 19.—At the city council, which met last night in regular session, business which came before it for consideration indicated an industrial increase for Vancouver.

One of the most important propositions for consideration last night was the gas franchise sought by J. E. Morrison. This franchise was read the first and second times and referred to the committee on streets and public improvements.

The main features incorporated in the ordinance are: That the city will not construct nor enter into any contract nor partnership with any other parties to construct a similar plant for 20 years; that the Morrison company be granted a 10-year exclusive franchise; that the city will be given sufficient gas to light the city halls and heat the fire engines and furnish four gas jets of 30 candle power for the engine house.

A similar franchise was sought some time ago by two different companies, but neither of them gave the required guarantee that work would be commenced within a certain time, and no further action was taken by the council; but, in this instance, the company seeking the franchise deposited the required amount—$1,000—to insure that the franchise is sought in good faith and that construction work on the plant will be begun and finished within the specified time.

Star Brewery Company Will Build. The council also granted the Star Brewery company permission to construct a two-story brick building 50x100 feet on its property facing Seventh street, between B and C street.

Frank Lackoff was also granted permission to erect a story and a half building on the southeast corner of C and Sixth street.

John Elwell last night made an offer to the city council to rent a room facing on Third street for a city council chamber, and also part of the room in his office cornering on Third and Main streets for the city clerk's office, together with the use of the vault, for $15 for month.

The city council directed the fixing of the grades on East Twelfth street and intersecting streets between East Twelfth and Thirteenth streets.

Miss Maud Dix has accepted a position in a manufacturing establishment in Portland, Or., and left today to enter upon the discharge of her duties.

A leap year party was given by Miss Annie Mathews at her home, corner of Seventh and J streets, last night. About 30 invited guests made merry with various games and refreshments.

Maloney's Wedding. "The Robber Baron," a musical comedy of great pretensions, had a summer's run at a New York theatre. Its chief attraction lay in its chorus of pretty girls. Near the close of the season the management decided to reduce expenses and cut the salaries of the players. Twenty of the winsome chorus ladies refused to work for the reduced salaries and severed their engagements. They were immediately engaged by Manager McCoy as a special feature of "Maloney's Wedding," and will be seen with that attraction which plays at the Auditorium Wednesday, January 21.

TROOP "A" CELEBRATES. (Journal Special Service.) Lebanon, Or., Jan. 15.—Last Saturday night, besides being the regular drill night of Troop "A," O. N. G., was made an evening of general good time. The medals and the trophy won at Portland in October were presented in an able manner by Col. C. B. Montague. The state medal was presented to Corp. Eugene J. Smith, the troop medal was presented to Corp. Earl R. Pugh and the state trophy, a beautiful silver cup to the victorious rifle team, consisting of Capt. Harry A. Elkins, Sergt. Harvey Rawlings, Corps, Eugene L. Smith and Earl R. Pugh.

A large crowd was present, forming an appreciative audience to the drilling and maneuvering of the troop under Capt. Harry A. Elkins, the drill being an excellent one of its kind, and the men are taking a greater interest than ever before. After the presentation of the trophy and medals the troop and its friends repaired to the Odd Fellows' hall, where a reception was tendered. And thus passed away an evening of general good time and feeling, an evening like this tending to bring the troop more in touch with the citizens of Lebanon.

EAGLE CREEK MACGABEES. (Journal Special Service.) Eagle Creek, Or., Jan. 15.—The following Sir Knights were installed in their respective offices at Eagle Creek Tent No. 56 K. O. T. M. at the last review by Sir Knight J. E. Burnett: Commander, George Judd; lieutenant commander, Joe Bennett; record keeper, A. M. Abington; finance keeper, William Githens; physician and chaplain, Dr. C. B. Smith; M. and A. Frank Dowdy; first M. G. C. Heiple; second M. G. C. Albert Kitching; sergeant, Ward Douglass.

After the ceremonies a grand banquet was spread which was enjoyed by all present.

USED A JIMMY TO FORCE LOCKS. A persistent thief made a determined but vain attempt to break into the Farmers' store at 174 Front street, between midnight and 1:30 o'clock this morning. The attempt was discovered by Special Patrolman Byers. It was found that the thief broke two locks on one of the doors, but failed to gain an entrance because there was a bolt inside the door. It is evident that he was frightened away. The marks on the door indicate that a jimmy was used to force the locks.

OREGON WINTER IS ONLY PASSING JOKE

(Journal Special Service.) Salem, Or., Jan. 19.—Salem had the first snowfall of this winter yesterday, and to say that it was disagreeable is drawing it mild. Early yesterday morning a light fall of snow whitened the ground, but at daylight this began to disappear as warm rain was falling for a time. But during the forenoon the air suddenly turned cold and, driven before a high wind, came a genuine snow squall that drove everyone to cover. Fortunately this did not last long, and after an hour's experience of a snowstorm, the sun suddenly broke through the clouds and the snow soon disappeared under the warm rays.

A number of Eastern people who are here, having heard from local friends that a snowfall was rare in this part of Oregon, were surprised to see the ground white when they arose yesterday morning, and when the squall sent people scurrying for cover and they saw that the visit of the snow king was indeed a rare one and one that was not at all expected or appreciated by the local denizens, they decided that the mildness of the winter here had indeed not been overdrawn, and some of them who had only come on a visit decided at once to locate here, for they said, if this is considered winter weather here, it is certainly good to be here and see some of the really nice weather that the Willamette valley can produce.

"You call this winter weather in this country?" asked one gentleman. "I wish that we had so mild a winter where I come from in Wisconsin. This kind of weather I can stand the whole year 'round, and if this is some of your worst weather, I intend to stay here and see what you call pleasant, for that must be good, indeed. I intend to look in this country and enjoy life, and I am only sorry I wasted so many years away from this coast, where it is indeed worth a man's time to live and enjoy himself. You people do not appreciate the splendid country you have here. The fine climate, aside from your boundless undeveloped resources, is enough to double your population in six months if you would only bring the facts in the case to the attention of the people of the East, as you certainly should do. Thousands upon thousands of people means throughout the East and Middle West, if they knew one-half the splendid conditions prevailing here, would flock to your shores, not to make money, but to enjoy life, and you certainly can be employed to the full. You people ought to advertise, and while your boundless resources are a good thing to push to the front in placing the advantages of your country before the people of the East, you should under no consideration fail to present a truthful picture of your climatic advantages, for it is good to be here, and many thousands will come here and locate, once they know what a fine climate can be found so far north on the beautiful Pacific coast."

T. L. Davidson, Jr., Injured. A report was received here yesterday afternoon by wire from Sheridan that T. L. Davidson, Jr., a son of Hon. T. L. Davidson of this city, suffered a broken ankle by a fall with a horse, and he is so badly injured that he will be unable to follow his vocation for some time.

Young Mr. Davidson is conducting the Highland stock ranch near Sheridan, the property of his father and himself, and while chasing a steer down a hillside on the range, his horse fell, striking upon the hapless rider's left leg and sliding down hill about 50 feet. When the young rancher was extricated from his perilous position all realized the narrow escape from death he had. The injured man was at once taken to the ranch, where he is reported as resting easy, but it will be some time before he will again be able to ride the range after cattle. Mr. Davidson is one of the most successful young ranchers in Western Oregon. He is a native of this city and a prominent member of Salem lodge of Elks, as is his father, who is also prominent in the Democratic party of the state.

Millie Shepherd Wants Divorce. Millie M. Shepherd of Stayton yesterday afternoon filed a suit for divorce in the circuit court against Charles E. Shepherd. The couple were married in Stayton, July 7, 1899, and Mrs. Shepherd alleges that her husband deserted her December 15, 1901, and since that time has refused to live with her. There are two children, the issue of the marriage—Sadie, aged 4 years, and Delbert, 3 years old. Mrs. Shepherd, who is a resident of Stayton, asks for an absolute divorce, the custody of the children, and the right to resume her maiden name of Millie M. Downing. Mr. Shepherd is said to be a resident of Clackamas county at this time. Bonham & Martin of this city are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

The New Steamer. The new independent steamer that is being built at Independence to run on the Willamette between Salem and upper river points, is about completed, and C. S. Hamilton of this city and a committee of the Greater Salem Commercial club members expect to go to Independence in a few days and inspect the new vessel. The purpose of the steamer, the building of which was commenced at the instigation of the Greater Salem club, is to provide an independent freight and passenger line along the river, connecting Salem with upper river points, and especially points in Polk county.

Capt. George Skinner, a veteran river steamboat man, is constructing the new craft, and will operate it, and it is expected to prove of vast benefit and a great convenience to the people of this city and of the towns and cities on the upper Willamette river.

(Journal Special Service.) Oregon City, Jan. 19.—Last evening at 7 o'clock at the home of J. E. Beatty on Jefferson street, J. C. Meyers and Miss Jessie Myrtle Beatty were united in marriage by Rev. J. H. Wood, pastor of the Methodist church. None but the relatives of the bride were present.

A pleasant wedding took place at the home of F. M. Campbell in Canemah last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, where August W. Newman and Miss Carrie Pearl Hyde were united in marriage by Rev. J. H. Wood of the Methodist church. A number of invited friends were present.

A Church Social. The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church will give a social for the pleasure and profit of all of the members of the church and congregation in the church parlors next Wednesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Light refreshments will be served and a general good time is expected.

Alberta a Meecca. There is being quite an emigration from this part of the world to Alberta, Canada. The latest citizen who has announced his intention to move to that great part of the British possession is Mr. A. R. Stouffer of Needy. He has advertised all of his property for sale on the 25th of this month and will leave with his family for Alberta as soon as his sale is over.

PORTLAND MACCABEE VISITS IN EUGENE

(Journal Special Service.) Eugene, Or., Jan. 19.—J. W. Sherwood of Portland, state commander of the Knights of the Maccabees, made an official visit to the local tent last night. He addressed the lodge at considerable length and his remarks were listened to with great interest by a large number of members of the order present, not only from the Eugene tent, but from several surrounding towns. At the conclusion of the meeting an elaborate banquet was served. Mr. Sherwood found the local tent in splendid condition in every way. It has one of the largest memberships on the coast.

Judge Dorris Injured. Police Judge B. F. Dorris is carrying one of his arms in a sling, the result of a fall at Albany Saturday evening while on his way to Portland. He was getting off the train at Albany to eat supper, the train having stopped for that purpose, when he slipped off the car step and fell heavily to the depot platform, alighting on his arm, dislocating it at the elbow and badly straining the tendons. He boarded the train again and waited until he reached Portland late at night before he had a physician attend the injury. The judge returned to Eugene and is on duty at his office.

Death of Mrs. Lopp. Mrs. Joseph Lopp, wife of A. J. Lopp of Natron, died at that place Sunday morning from blood poisoning. She leaves besides her husband nine children. The funeral was held today, with interment at Mount Vernon cemetery.

Snow at Eugene. The first snow of the season in Eugene fell Monday. It commenced early in the morning and continued off and on during the day, but melted nearly as fast as it fell. At one time the snow covered the ground to a depth of one inch, but most of it melted away before another flurry came. Should a cold snap occur at this time everything would be in readiness for it. Cattle and sheep are well fed and fall grain is high enough so that the cold would not harm it.

bery. Phillips enticed a ranchman of his acquaintance, who was intoxicated, to take a walk with him and improved the opportunity to abstract the money, some $20 or $30, from his pocket. Phillips was arrested the same night and pleaded guilty on being arraigned before the circuit court. Justice was swift in his case, as within four days from the robbery he was on his way to the penitentiary.

Broke His Arm. Charles Edwards, an employe at a box factory in this city, is the victim of quite a peculiar accident happening this morning in which his arm was broken. The lacing of a belt had broken and the men were about to remove it for the purpose of relacing it. The broken lacing caught on the shaft, winding the belt rapidly round it. The flying end of the belt struck Edwards on the arm with such force as to break the bone.

THE GOAT SHOW AT DALLAS A SUCCESS

(Journal Special Service.) Salem, Or., Jan. 19.—At Dallas last Friday and Saturday the annual goat show was held and a fine display of the goats-blooded stock—for which Polk county is famous, was had. The show was followed by a sale of fine stock, some excellent animals being disposed of. In this section there are more goats bred than in any other portion of Oregon, and more mohair is produced there than at any other point on the Pacific coast, and the annual sales of this product attract the buyers from the entire coast.
