

DISCUSS GAME PROTECTION LAWS

OREGON FISH AND GAME ASSOCIATION HOLDS SUCCESSFUL MEETING AND SMOKE—SEVERAL INTERESTING PAPERS READ DURING THE EVENING.

The unfinished business of the Oregon Fish and Game association, which was postponed from the annual meeting, was taken up and concluded at a smoker given last evening in the rooms of the Mining Exchange.

Dr. Tucker opened the program with a paper on "Field Trials," which he has become the advocate of since witnessing some very interesting events of that kind which took place last fall upon Whidbey Island in Puget sound.

Dr. Tucker thinks that the establishment of an association formed for the purpose of holding field trials and coursing events in this state would be of interest, as well as of benefit, to the local sportsmen.

In San Francisco and many other localities in California the game of coursing attracts almost as much attention as horse racing, and if a club was organized here, under whose auspices a coursing ground could be held, a great number of those California dog fanciers would come here to compete in the sport.

Dr. Tucker's remarks were enthusiastically received, and will probably bear fruit.

President Taylor of the Kennel Club read an interesting paper on the "Up-land Birds of Oregon." Capt. Jesse M. Baker delivered a forceful address upon the subject of "Game Protection."

EDDIE HANLON A MODERN WILLIAM TELL

Boxing is not the only sport at which the clever little Californian is an expert. The little wonder of the Pacific coast is also a crack shot with the rifle. In this picture, which was taken especially for The Journal at his training quarters, Hanlon is shown as a modern William Tell. So accurate is the father's aim that one of his trainers does not hesitate to sit on a tree trunk holding an apple in his hand and let Hanlon shoot at it. Hanlon performs this trick frequently and has never failed to shoot the apple from the palm of the outstretched hand without leaving so much as a scratch on the flesh.

not believe that all the game laws in the land would be of any effect until the hunters themselves were weaned of their hoggliness and desire of monetary profit derived from the marketing of game.

Mr. Holman's remarks were very appropriate, hitting the nail on the head, so to speak, and the sense of his listeners was to endeavor to do all in their power to secure the enactment of legislation prohibiting the sale of game at all seasons of the year.

At the conclusion of the several papers the names of several new members were proposed and elected. Leo F. Thibaut, the Cowgill brothers, Walter Honeman, Dr. A. W. Smith, R. S. Howard, M. S. Spencer, H. E. Jeckyl, Dr. George Ansley, W. R. Andrews, W. F. Erwine, E. G. Clarke, A. H. Tanner, W. Williams, Dr. Dave Rafferty, and A. W. Lambell.

A meeting of the association will be held every quarter hereafter, instead of annually, and the next gathering will take place in April.

As to property in fish and game it was in this country prior to the enactment of certain laws, the property of man without restriction, provided he would catch or kill the same.

Dr. Neuchurchman delivered an instructive as well as humorous address upon the habits of the wily trout. The doctor's remarks were well rendered and received amid considerable mirth by his hearers, whose risibilities were aroused by the speaker's droll remarks, which he sandwiched in, otherwise quite instructive lecture. The only fault that could possibly be found with the doctor's remarks is that they were not long enough.

Mr. Holman further stated that he did

SPOKANE PLAYERS JUMP TO TACOMA

(Journal Special Service.) Spokane, Wash., Jan. 20.—Things are happening in baseball circles now and several startling affairs have been occurring of late. A letter received from Tacoma states that both Billy Dammann, the star southpaw of the Indians, and Nordyke, the favorite first baseman of the Spokanes, have jumped Spokane and will be enrolled with the Coast league this season.

The fans of Portland are educated to fast baseball and no "Lucas League" tactics will be found profitable here.

WILL DUGDALE SUCCEED ELY?

THE QUESTION OF A CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT OF THE LOCAL TEAM HAS ARISEN OVER THE CONTEMPLATED VISIT OF THE SEATTLE MAN TO THIS CITY.

Do the magnates of the Portland Baseball association contemplate the taking in of Mr. D. E. Dugdale of Seattle as manager and part owner of the local team?

This momentous question is the principal topic of conversation in local baseball circles and the vast majority of the fans seem to think that a serious mistake would be made if the rotund Seattle cherub were taken into the fold of the Pacific Coast league in this city.

Mr. Dugdale is on his way to this city to confer with the local magnates, and notwithstanding the denials of several of the club officials, it looks very much as though the former enemy of the Coast league was to be put on the back and given the best town on the northern circuit, if not in the league.

GOOD PAY FOR THE SAVING OF SOULS

(Journal Special Service.) Pendleton, Or., Jan. 20.—While here on a soul-saving mission, and holding revival meetings at the Christian church, the noted evangelist, Rev. M. S. Martin, of St. Louis is receiving $100 per week, with his expenses paid. This is a salary of $5,200 per year by working full time. Before he came Mr. Martin received word that the congregation had guaranteed such a salary.

are to have an inland league, but for all that the quality of baseball to be furnished should be up to the high standard of last season. There is nothing to indicate anything but good baseball.

WALTER GEARIN TO COACH COLUMBIA

(Journal Special Service.) Boston, Jan. 20.—Only two minutes of fighting were required for "Kid" Carter of Brooklyn to put a quietus on his opponent, the veteran Joe Choynski of Chicago and other places, last evening.

The battle was to have been a 15-round affair, but after about two minutes of a grueling match, during which Choynski seemed to have the advantage, Carter sent a terrific right to the veteran's stomach, which was of sufficient force to effectually stop the Chicagoan, who went down and out.

A track team is now being formed and candidates are training earnestly to earn the big C. The team is being coached by Mr. Walter Gearin, who is an experienced man in track athletics. He is a very speedy runner and was a member of the crack relay team of Notre Dame university, which defeated Cornell at Washington, D. C., two years ago, for the eastern and western championship.

Columbia will no doubt compete for track honors this year with the different teams of the city and state. There is talk of an invitation meet to be held in the big gym before long. If so the athletic loving people of Portland will have an opportunity of witnessing indoor athletics where, competitors are not handicapped by lack of space.

CHOYNSKI PUT OUT IN TWO MINUTES

(Journal Special Service.) Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 20.—Harry Lenny and Crockey Boyle, who are to furnish the windup at the boxing show tonight of the Lancaster Athletic club, have completed their work of preparation and appear to be in fine physical condition for the go. They are slated for a six-round contest and as both are fast fighters and hard hitters the fight is expected to be one of more than ordinary interest.

BOYLE AND LENNY

(Journal Special Service.) Mount Clemens, Mich., Jan. 20.—The match between Joe Gans and Clarence Connors last evening was stopped in the second round by the authorities, after Gans had knocked Connors to the floor three times in succession.

THE FIGHT WAS STOPPED

SHARKEY-MUNROE THE NEXT BATTLE

THE SAILOR AND THE MINER ARE TO MEET SHORTLY AND THE RESULT WILL PROBABLY ENABLE MUNROE TO SECURE A MATCH WITH JEFFRIES, SHOULD HE WIN.

The next ring battle of any prominence to agitate the sporting fraternity is the coming fight of the heavyweights Tom Sharkey and Jack Munroe. In eastern circles the bout is arousing considerable interest among pugdom followers, but out here on the coast people do not pay much heed to the purely second-rate.

Tommy Ryan and Jack O'Brien are the next to meet, but as their bout is to be of only six rounds duration, it will not materially figure in the important fights unless a knock out should be scored.

The question is often asked, "Is Munroe an over-rated fighter?" So far as his ability has been displayed he certainly is, and nothing more.

In Sharkey the miner has an opponent who has been a hard man to defeat, but since his battle with Jeffries he has not made any material advancement in the boxing line. He has met several men of minor importance with more or less success. In the bout with Munroe he should, according to form, win with ease for Munroe has not demonstrated any great amount of bistic ability.

Sharkey is doing his training in New York City and adjacent driveways furnish him with excellent courses for daily runs.

In training he wraps up warmly, for real winter weather prevails in Gotham now, and takes his daily run through the snow-covered parks and country roads, of several hours in length at a stretch, and seems to enjoy the exercise immensely.

The outcome of the battle, although it can almost be forecasted will be watched for by a considerable number of the pugdom fans throughout the country.
