Capt. J. E. Nelson of the steamer Enterprise, which is moored at the Star dock, was saved from drowning Thursday night by First Mate Erickson. While going down the gangplank to board the vessel the captain's head struck against a beam on the dock, and he was thrown into the river. The blow stunned him somewhat, and he seemed helpless in the water. As he was sinking for the third time Erickson plunged in beside him. A fight for life was then begun. Passersby noticed the struggle and went to the assistance of the men. They were soon gotten ashore, the captain in a completely exhausted condition. It is said that he would certainly have drowned had it not been for the prompt action of the brave first mate.

Thomas Stevens, a small boy, was taken to the police station Thursday by Patrolman Connors. He was brought before the municipal court this morning on the charge of smoking cigarettes. His case was continued pending an examination to learn what to do with him. He is now in charge of the Boys' and Girls' Aid society.

A number of complaints have been made about the condition of Pine street, between Sixth and Seventh streets. One had hole in particular draws down the condemnation of the residents. her patients many of the leading citizens of the city, and at the advice of one of these an east side lady, who had been "doctoring" five years without success, has been so relieved, after two weeks' treatment, that she is able to be about the house for the first time in two years. It is expected that within two or three weeks she will be in perfect health, except that she will require a little time to regain the strength she has been about seven years in losing. It is positively true that this drugless system, as practiced by Dr. Fulton, is winning fresh laurels almost every day. She has in Portland scores of men and women who gladly speak for her at any time opportunity is offered. The lady has apartments in the Lewis building, Morrison and Park streets, and a visit to them will disclose the splendid clientele she has acquired. Many of her cures are marvelous.

BALLINGTON BOOTH WILL LEAD REVIVAL Dr. Ruth of Indianapolis, one of the celebrated evangelists of the Middle West, will arrive in Portland next week to begin a series of revival meetings under the auspices of the Volunteers of America. These meetings will begin on February 5 and continue until February 18. Dr. G. W. Wilson of Urbana, Ill., a Methodist Episcopal evangelist of great renown, will continue these revival meetings, opening on February 21. The duration of his campaign is not yet announced.

Ballington Booth, head of the Volunteers, will be in Portland within a few weeks at his post as lieutenant, Edward Fielding of Chicago, will follow a week or two later.

Dr. B. Caradine of St. Louis, who spent two weeks at the Volunteers' hall last summer with such great success, will follow, reading the reporter's thoughts. The Portland Volunteers expect 1,000 converts before the Fourth of July. The corps in Portland will be exceedingly busy from this time on.

THE GREAT ROSCO'S MOST PERILOUS RIDE Blindfolded, the Wonderful Hypnotist Will Ride Through the Streets of Portland at Breakneck Speed, Accompanied by Reporters.

Mixed up with a band of wild-eyed reporters, probably desirous of ending their earthly careers, passing over the River Jordan, so to speak, winking at the twinkling stars on the aerial flight, the celebrated Professor Rosco, the world-renowned hypnotist, will, on Monday, blindfolded, drive through the streets of Portland at breakneck speed. An object will be hidden by one of the newspaper fellows, who will hold the professor's hand as the blindfolded man urges his team to unusual haste, and because the reporter cannot keep his mind off the spot where he secreted the article, reading the reporter's thoughts, Professor Rosco will go straight to the place and, dismounting, pick the object up. This is one of the mysterious charms some men possess, perfectly unaccountable to others. It is one of the strangest characteristics of some persons that this mystery may be acquired, but how it is done is another mystery.

Professor Rosco comes to Portland under the auspices of the Maze Cafe, 85 and 187 Third street, opposite the Baker theater, and will do his strange work in that place, and from its pretty stage, every evening next week. He will doubtless draw great audiences, as there is no admission charge.

THREE MORE SHIPS ARE COMING HERE Martin Foard of the firm of Foard & Stokes, Astoria, says he is in receipt of a letter from his brother in San Francisco stating that three ships not listed are soon to start from there to Portland in search of charters. He has forgotten the names of the vessels, but says one of them is a German and the other two are Frenchmen. It is believed on the waterfront that the first mentioned is the German bark Alsterquer, commanded by Captain Jensen. She arrived in the bay city on August 12 from Newcastle, N. W., after a passage of 62 days. Since then she has been lying idle. Much speculation is being indulged in as to the names of the other two, but no satisfactory conclusion has been reached.

After spending a couple of days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Fisher, the board and wife left yesterday for Bucoda, Wash., to spend a short vacation.
