Two weeks ago Friday a fatality occurred on board. William Moran, an able seaman, fell from the top mainyard to the deck below, receiving injuries from which he died a few days later. The unfortunate sailor was 36 years of age and came from Wexford, Ireland.

About three years later, while the ship was en route from Cardiff to Port Elizabeth with coal, the cargo caught fire, and for a time it looked as though the vessel would be a complete loss. After the deck was burned bare and other damage done, the flames were finally extinguished. Captain Nichols has been at Portland on three different occasions, but this is his first trip as master of the Cromartshire. He has also abeen through some strenuous experiences. While master of the Sutherlandshire, a sister ship of the one he is now with, he was wrecked off the coast of Australia about three years ago. His wife and nearly all his crew were lost at sea. The captain and a number of the sailors were picked up by a trader several days after the accident occurred.

A runner from the sallor boardinghouse boarded the ship early yesterday morning and persuaded two of the men to desert. One man left at Astoria, and it is said to be quite probable that the remainder will be ashore here before many days. The vessel is not chartered for an outward trip, and for this reason it is believed that no effort will be made to keep the sailors from deserting. Harbormaster Ben Biglin visited the ship shortly after the desertions occurred. He was told of the boardingrunner being aboard. He said: "I have investigated the matter and found out that it is true. Without the co-operation of the captain, however, I co-operation of the captain, however, I am unable to do anything. If he is willing to swear out a complaint, I will give him any assistance in my power. The fact of the matter is the ship is not chartered, and is likely to lay here not chartered, and is likely to lay here some time. I do not think any effort will be made by those in charge of the vessel to keep the men from deserting."

As yet, the avowed candidates for county assessor are not numerous. Probably the best known of those in the field is L. H. Maxwell, chief deputy under the present county assessor. He has had many years of experience in the office, having served /under a number of the regular examination of applicants for state and county teachers and primary grade certificates will be held in the committee room on the west side of the city hall. Hitherto these examinations have been held at the Park school, but the destruction of that building by fire necessitates seeking new quarters. R. F. Robinson, the county school superintendent, says that about 70 applicants for certificates are expected to e present.

For state papers, the following is the examination program: Wednesday — Penmanship, history, spelling, algebra, reading and school Thursday-Written arithmetic, theory of teaching, grammar, bookkeeping, physics, civil government. Friday—Physiology, geography, men-al arithmetic, composition, physical geoghraphy.

Saturday - Botany, plane geometry, Inglish literature, psychology. The schedule for the examination for ounty papers is as follows: - Penmanship, history, Wednesday spelling, reading. Thursday — Written arithmetic, they of teaching grammar, physiology. Friday — Geography, mental arithme-tic, school law, civil government.

The examination for primary grade certificates covers only Wednesday and Thursday. On the first day the studies for examination will be penmanship, spelling, reading and arithmetic. The art of questioning. theory of teaching, methods and physiology will be taken up on Friday.

No papers are to be sent to other counties unless written consent is secured from the superintendents of their espective counties to take the examinations.

A Severe Cold For Three Months.

A Chattanooga Druggist's Statement,

The following letter from A. J. Nusbaum, of Batesville, Ind., tells its own story: "I suffered for three months with a severe cold. A druggist prepared me some medicine, and a physician prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I then tried FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR, and eight doses cured me."

Robert J. Miller, proprietor of the Read House Drug Store, of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes: "There is more merit in FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR than in any other cough syrup. The calls for it multiply wonderfully and we sell more of it than all other cough syrups combined."

FISHERMEN EXPECT ADDITIONAL WAGES

A special meeting of the delegates from the different branches of the Fishermen's Protective union of the Paclfic coast will be held at the home office at San Francisco next week. The object of the meeting is to decide on a scale of wages for the coming year Last year the rate was 2 cents per fish and an allowance of $50 each way it each man for transportation. The fish ermen are not satisfied with that rate and for some time have been agitating the question of a convention, view to getting a better price for their fish. The demands of the men are that they be paid 3 cents a fish and $70 for trans-portation each way. This scale would increase the earnings of the men. In Bering sea the proposed scale would increase the earnings of the men to about $75 per month for the entire year, while fishing in Southeastern Alaska would receive a smaller increase. This rate would not only affect Alaska, but the entire coast, from San Pedro, Cal., to the furthermost points in the north. As soon as a satisfactory rate has been docided upon a committee will be appointed to submit the terms to the different fishery companies for their approval. Whether or not the companies
