THE OREGON DAILY JOURNAL, PORTLAND, THURSDAY EVENING, FEBRUARY 4, 1904.

Paul Strain's popular stores, 285-287 glad that his sales were so great in the past two months that he has been enabled to wipe out every cent of his in-debtedness and start in this month with a clean balance sheet and $30,000 worth of clothing to the good. Mr. Strain says that these goods cost him practically nothing, and that he is going to show this city and community how cheaply clothing can be sold for, so he will in-sugarate a great jubilee sale on Saturday that will astonish the country. He expects to make Rome howl-and he usually accomplishes what he sets out to do.

advanced at that time. Here is to be the manufacturing city of Western Ore-The $750,000 electric power plant being erected at that place by the Ore-gon Water Power & Railway company guarantees abundance of power, but persons desiring to own their own power can secure a water right, build their own dam and create their own power. The river at this point affords water power nearly anywhere one may desire to take advantage of it. This will be the mill town of Oregon—the Lowell of the West. The Order of Lions is a fraternal or-ganization that pays to the heirs of deceased members a monthly pension of from $25 to $50, according to the class in which the member may be. Or members attaining the age of 70 years are entitled to draw the sum their heirs would be entitled to at their death. It is a local institution, managed by local men in Portland, but has spread its membership over all the states of the northwest. It is one of the most pro-gressively managed bodies of men and women in the country, and is growing at a pace that will soon place it in the lead of the fraternal insurance societies of the West.

A devoted wife and two little children, all entirely destitute, saved Walter Ham from a stiff jail sentence yester-Ham lives with his family at 1733 Russell street. Ham was ar-rested Sunday in Sullivan's gulch. As Judge Hogue was about to pass sentence Mrs. Ham tearfully addressed the She told how she and the little court. ones had no means on which to live. Ham was not at work and she didn't know where they were to get help. Sentence was suspended.

Incurably sick Birdie Gerlock had to be arrested before she could be made to go to the county hospital. She wanted to be sent to a private sanita-rium. She is said to be a victim of a fast life. Some time ago she was takan ill and her friends provided for her as long as they could. She was in the Seattle lodging-house without means and authorities were notified. county ambulance called for her, but she refused to go, stating she would not be thus humiliated. The gentlemen who are to build the new flouring mill at Estacada have written that they will be in Portland shortly to conclude arrangements for building. They say in their letter to G. M. Morrow, manager of the townsite company, that they will operate the ma-chinery day and night. This is but one of the many valuable enterprises soon to be established at the beautiful new young city on the Clackamas river, 87 miles southeast of Portland.

> Sixty days on the rockpile was the sentence meted out to James Lacy yesterday because he assaulted Sergeant Hogeboom and Patrolman Endicott Tuesday night. Lacy was in a saloon at Second and Burnside streets, where he stole a hat from a lounger. Hogeboom tried to arrest him, when Lacy showed fight.

It will cost from $50 to $150 more for lots in Estacada after March 1 than it costs today. Prices will positively be advanced at that time. Here is to be terment was in Lone Fir cemetery. Three children survive her, J. Fred Kennedy, Bruce Kennedy and Mrs. Belle C. Stanley.

> A seasonable suggestion. The chance of catching cold is greatly lessened by wearing the right kind of chest protec-tor. Albert Berni, the druggist, Second tor. and Washington, can fit you out with the proper kind, and it would be to your advantage to see him about it now, as "prevention is better than cure."

Two kegs of beer, valued at about $10, disappeared from the cellar of D. T. McCartney's saloon, 295 East Morrison street, Monday night. Policemen learned that a gang of young men had been gloriously drunk the same night. Accordingly Patrolmen Reising and Wendorf arrested Frank Lunn, who is said to have been one of the party. Mr. McCartney swore out the complaint. Dunn's case was continued until Fri-

At a meeting of the directors of the Haywood Dramatic and Musical club, held in the auditorium of the Haywood building Tuesday night, the annual report of President J. B. Easter was submitted. According to the report $1,000 has been expended in improvement on the audi-torium, during the last year. President Easter recommended the offering of prizes for the best improvement of lots and houses along the lines adopted by the Albina sub-board of trade.

GOV. BRADY DINED AT ARLINGTON CLUB

Gov. John G. Brady of Alaska was entertained at dinner last evening at the Arlington club by Director-General H. W. Goode of the Lewis and Clark exposition. The affair was informal, and was given for the purpose of allowing the governor to meet prominent Portlanders and dis-cuss the St. Louis and Portland fairs. After the dinner the governor departed for the sound. Those present last night were: Mr.' Goode, Governor Brady, Mayor

George H, Williams, Commissioner Whit-ney L. Boise; Maj. E. M. Brannick, Fred. Holman and Engineer Oskar Huber. Fresident H. W. Scott of the fair, and President A. L. Mohler of the Oregon Railroad & Navigation company were among the guests invited, but were unable to be present owning to previous engagement.a

CHANNELS NO DEEFER.

While the Columbia river bar may be somewhat deeper than it was prior to the arrival of the aredge Chincok, the local United States engineers are of the opinion that the difference in depth is so slight as to be hardly noticeable. Their opinion is based upon the surveys that are now in progress at the bar. Enough of the work has been completed, they state, to prove that the depths of the channels have undergone slight changes, if any, since the last soundings were taken last June. The work is progressing under considerable difficulty on account of the unsettled condition of the weather.
