Mrs. Margaret Mountain Stephenson died Sunday at 87 North Tenth street, aged 56. Mrs. Stephenson was the daughter of Capt. Thomas Mountain, a ploneer of Portland. She had lived on the Pacific coast since 1852, and in Portland since 1857. She leaves a large family of children and many relatives and friends. The children who survive her are: Mrs. J. B. Mansfield of San Fran-cisco: M. William Stephenson of San Francisco; R. E. Stephenson, the Misses Emma, Catherine and Louise Stephenson of this city and T. M. Stephenson of Missoula, Mont. Her father lived in this city and she has relatives in California. The funeral will be held tomorrow at 10 a. m. from the Catholic ca-thedral. Burial will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

The suit of Capt. James N. Fisher, formerly master of the steamer tug Lizzie, to collect the sum of $262.25, is being tried today in the United States circuit court. The defendant is T. E. Taylor, owner of the vessel. Fisher alleges that he paid out money for supplies from his own pocket. The defense declares that the money paid out was from the steamer's funds. Fisher is represented by Spencer & Davis. J. H. Middleton and V. R. Strode represent

AT THE THEATRES

"THE ETERNAL CITY." Hall Caine's dramatization of "The Eternal City" from his novel of the same title, is an excellent refutation of the statement that a novelist cannot dramatize his own stories successfully. Mr. Cain in the story parts David Rossi and Donna Roma Voienna forever, but in the stage portrayal he relents and leaves them happy ever after.

"The Eternal City" is divided into five acts and eight scenes. Special music was written for the play by Pietro Mascagni.

The action of the play is strong throughout and all-absorbing. The scenery is said to be historically cor-rect. The company is capable and complets. The characters of principal in-terest are David Rossi (Edward Morgan); Baron Bonelli, prime minister, (Frederick de Belleville); the pope, (Frank C. Bangs); Bruno Rocco, (W. E. is particularly strong and the man's suicide in court, crying "Long Live Rossl," is a striking climax.

In their leading roles Miss Truax, Mr.
Morgan, Mr. Belleville and Mr. Bonney were compelled to answer a score of curtain calls last evening. The same bill will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night.

"MISTRESS MELL."

At the Baker theatre this week is a very elaborate production of Henristta Crosman's pfay "Mistress Nell." It is a comedy replete with beautiful scenery and costumes, and abounding in lively and amusing situations. Its style is somewhat new to Portland.

ARCADE'S NEW BILL.

The new bill presented at the Arcade theatre this week is more than commonly amusing. The Tetsuwari troupe of Japanese jugglers and the Baisdens. trick bicycle riders, are features of the performance. Jessie More sings and the fun of the hour is furnished by Leslie and Langton in a sketch "A Country Cousin," and by Delmar and Dexter. The bioscope carries a new line of moving pictures.

How to Find It.

How to find happiness is the question of everybody. There is, of course, only one condition conducive to that state. It is the rejuvenated condition produced by those great assistants to nature, Sexine Pills. No man or woman can get too tired to sleep well at night when using Sexine Pills. They remove that dizzy and dull feeling in the head, and send new vigor to every part of the body. They are sold only by J. A. Clemenson, druggist, corner Second and Yamhill streets, Portland, Or.
