TRANSACTIONS IN THE FINANCIAL WORLD

STATE LAW GOES INTO EFFECT TO-DAY-WILL REMAIN CLOSED UN-TIL APRIL 15-MORE ADVANCES IN PLOUE-BEAMS ARE HIGHER

Front Street, March 1.—The principal items f interest in the local markets today are: Salmon season closes.

Many changes in flour. Prunes are spoiling. Beans are much higher. New firm on Front street. Eggs continue weak,
Meat situation very firm,
Butter shows more weakness.
Three cars banans arrive.
California steamer due tonight. Little wheat is selling.

The close season for salmon fishing in the state of Oregon began at midnight last night and will continue until April 15. The dealers and will continue until April 15. The dealers will be given until about the end of the week to dispose of all their fresh stocks—which are not large enough to last them more than perhaps one or two days. Then all the salmon used in this market will be of the coid-storage variety. Fishermen of this city every year protest against the close season, as they say that it is placed at the wrong time of the year to accomplish its principal purpose—the protection of the salmon during the breeding season. Fishermen here all agree that the salmon does not spawn until about the latter part of September or the first of October and the closing of the season at this time is a direct loss to the state. When the season aloss in this state variety. Fishermen of this city every year protest against the close season, as they say that it is placed at the wrong time of the year to accomplish its principal purpose—the protection of the salmon during the breeding season. Fishermen here all agree that the salmon does not spawn until about the latter part of September or the first of October and the closing of the season at this time is a direct loss to the state. When the season aloses in this state the fish men order their supplies from the Sacramento river in California, which state does not believe in the close season as does Oregon. A large amount of money is thereby sent from Oregon into that state animally for salmon which could just as easily be paid to local fishermen without affecting the salmon industry a particle. "We think it a shame," says Malarkey & Co., "to close the season for salmon fishing just at the time when the fish is in the most demand. This close season is all a farce, inasmuch as it fails to accomplish the purpose intended. Salmon do not spawn at this time and the state makes laws that the stime and the state makes laws that the orders the more anxions the prune holders become and the more which is offered them. The fact that the Oregon prune season does not carry well is the strongest reason for the lack of orders. Unless the shipments go into immediate consumption, it entails loss on the holders. A California fruit grower in speaking of the matter says: "California prunes may be put in cold storage on the advent of warm weather, and they know the coming of Groceries, Nuts, Etc.

A California fruit grower in speaking of the matter says: "California prunes may be put in cold storage on the advent of warm weather, and they keep perfectly for an indefinite period. Oregon prunes will not keep in the heat, and they will not keep in cold storage, as they begin to mold almost immediately. Oregon holders inform their agents that owing to wet weather the prunes are spoiling [66c.]

26632c; Java, o owing to wet weather the prunes are spoiling on their hands in the bins and are urging them to sell at almost any price to move the fruit." Beans Are Higher. The shortage in the bean crop during the last season and the large demand for this class of stocks by the various governments for the use of their troops in the field has caused a num-bet of sharp advances in the entire bean market during the past season and the market shows every indication of doing further stunts. Today the market on nearly all grades shows an advance of about 25c per hundred pounds.

The entire meat market is firm with the receipts especially or hogs inadequate to fill the demand. The arrivals of veal have been larger this week, but the market is still in good condition,
Butter Is Weaker,

Everything in the butter line is weaker account of the large receipts of local and Call-fornis stocks. The latter grade is still being quoted lower than the Oregon stocks. A further drop in prices is not considered unlikely.

Merchants' Opinions on the Markets. W. B. Glafke company—Car bananas was unlosded today; California steamer due to-

FOREIGN CABLES NOT ENCOURAGING

LIQUIDATION IN WHEAT WHICH BEGAN YESTERDAY WAS CON- December, 12.00 TINUED TODAY-CORN VALUES ARE ALSO DOWN-OATS MARKET VERY WEAR TODAY.

(Furnished by Overbeck, Starr & Cooke Co.)
Chicago, March L.—Logan & Bryan advise:
In wheat there was nothing particularly encouraging in the cables and the liquidation which began yesterday was continued today. It is simply a market readjusting their to fundamental conditions. The confidence in higher prices on account of the war has resulted in abnormal prices. The cash situation does not warrant it. Primary receipts were 712,000 bushels, against 391,000 bushels last year, and shipments were 336,000 bushels, against 180,000 bushels last year. The total clearances of wheat were 28,000 bushels; flour, 11,000 barrels; wheat and flour, 80,000 bushels. The southwest is still without rain, but this is a feeble factor up to the present time. We are approaching a point, however, when the rains should come and will be needed. There will undoubtedly be some reaction from this severe treak at some point, but we are still inclined to think that prices har high and there will be considerable market breaks.

Corn Follows Wheat. Corn Follows Wheat.

Corn Follows Wheat.

There was the same liquidation in corn as in wheat and from the same weakness. The market was without any support and prices declined steadily during the session. The recent strength has been almost wholly speculative and cash did not seem to warrant it. Primary receipts were 711,000 bushels, against 700,000 bushels, last year, and shipments were 553,000 bushels, against 550,000 bushels. The exports of rye bushels, against 550,000 bushels.

Cots Wars Wars Wash

Oats Were Very Weak. In oats it was a very weak market and a great deal of scattered liquidation and very poor support. The same overhought and strained condition existed in oats as in other grains. Considence in the war has been exhausted and the reacting is taking place. Total clearances of oats were 26,000 bushels.

Liquidation in Provisions.

In provisions, too, it was a case of liquidation by outsiders. This has only been partial and we think there is still a large scattered interest in provisions. Local traders are bearish and packers are bearish also. Receipts of hogs were large and the demand is no better than moderate, with stocks rapidly accumulating. The theory that war will increase has been mainly sentiment and no trade on it. Hogs at the stockyards clased 5 to 10 cents lower and cattle strong. We still think provisions should be sold on the railies.

Sumpter, Or., March 1.-Arthur B. Browne, the Sumpter mining engineer returned a few days ago from the returned a few days ago from the Quartzburg district where he made an examination of the Dixie Meadows mine. Mr. Browne says that he was agreeable surprised at the magnitude of this property. The mine, he says, as a whole presents one of the most interesting developments of the district. With less than 2,000 feet of work, at least three years' ore supply for a 100-ton mill has been developed in a single shoot, a record seldom equaled in any hoot, a record seldom equaled in any section. The ledge, he says, is unquestionably one of the strongest fissure TUSCAN MINERAL SPRINGS CORP., eins in eastern Oregon.
