

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS ON THEM

Perpetrators of Carty Burglary Trapped by Portland Detectives—One $700 Ring Is Missing—They Confess Guilt.

William Dean, aged 36, and Harry Richmond, aged 22, robbed the home of W. A. Carty, 341 Eugene street, of nearly $1,000 worth of diamonds and jewelry Friday night at 7:15 o'clock, and were arrested last night at 7 o'clock by Detectives Day, Weiner and Vaughn. To The Journal, immediately after their arrest, both men confessed to the burglary, but declared they had not perpetrated any others here or elsewhere. This is not believed by the police, who confidently expect to prove both men to be old professionals. With the pair was taken Ed Wiley, a local prizefighter, in whose room the goods were stored.

The burglars, self-confessed, were captured by genuinely clever detective work by Day, Weiner and Vaughn, and the best part of the catch is the fact that the men had the plunder with them in a satchel, with the exception of a lady's gold watch and a diamond ring, the latter valued at $700. The ring they deny taking, but their denial is not believed. The following articles were recovered:

One gold ring set with diamonds and valued at $500; a lady's gold watch valued at $100; one lady's gold necklace valued at $50; two gold nugget stickpins; one revolver and one clock.

Valuable Ring Missing.
The most valuable of all the goods stolen was a ring, set with two sapphires and 20 diamonds, valued at $700. It is missing.

"What did you do with that ring?" was asked of Richmond, the eldest of the pair. "I did not take the ring that I know of," he replied; "but if I did take it, I have lost it."

The officers believe that Richmond did take the ring, and that it has been turned over to someone else. They believe there is a third party in the job, to whom the ring was given.

"I admit that I burglarized the house, with Dean as my helper," said Richmond. "The work was done quick. We broke in the door, which was locked, then broke in the inner door leading to the room in which we found the jewelry. Everyone in the house was gone at the time and we had no difficulty in getting the stuff."

Sold a Watch for $10.
"The only thing I sold was a watch. I got $10 for it, and the man who bought it was some kind of a farmer, or logger. I met him on the street and sold it to him. I deny ever entering any other houses here, or anywhere else. Dean has been with me all the time and has not done any jobs with the exception of that Friday night. We both came here the first time from Seattle about five weeks ago. We remained here a while and then went to Seattle. We got back here about nine days ago. I don't know anything about that diamond ring the detectives say is missing. I don't remember having seen it, and if I took it I have simply lost it—that's all."

The capture of the burglars is considered one of the most clever pieces of detective work ever done in Portland. The arresting officers had no description to work on. The detectives ascertained from a reliable source that Dean was a skillful burglar. This they learned some weeks ago, but until they had an opportunity to catch him with plunder in his possession, they did not desire to arrest him. When Dean and Richmond returned from Seattle nine days ago, they made their headquarters in various saloons in the north end, notably a place owned by a woman known as "Liverpool Liz." Their every action stamped them as night prowlers, and they have been under close surveillance by the officers.

After the Carty diamond robbery, the detectives were almost sure that the culprits were Dean and Richmond. Late yesterday afternoon the detectives started out to locate the suspects. They first ran into them shortly after dark on the corner of Third and Washington streets. Richmond was known to the officers especially because of the fact that he is nearly bald. By this means they kept easy trace of him. The two crossed the street and ran after him, in so doing getting out of sight of the detectives, as there was a car passing. Weiner told Vaughn to rush over and nab Richmond, as he feared he would get away, but Richmond ran up the stairs into the Eagle house, and was lost to view for a few minutes. Dean, however, was placed under arrest at the corner. He was taken absolutely unawares by Detective Vaughn, who slipped up behind him and snapped the handcuffs on his wrists before he knew what was taking place. Soon after Richmond came down the stairs with the satchelful of plunder, and was also taken. Wiley, the prizefighter, was seen with the men early in the evening, and was arrested on general principles.

The detectives believe the two men under arrest have turned all the burglaries of the past few weeks. They say all of the jobs have been done in the same manner. The officers hope to secure further admissions from them today.

Jewelry Is Identified.
Mr. Carty appeared at the police station shortly after the arrests were made, and identified all the goods found in the satchel. He said that the thieves must have been watching his home that night, for his wife was not out more than an hour, and that was the first time she had ever left the house in the evening for many months.

A thing that above all others stamps Richmond and Dean as clever and professional criminals is that they did not attempt to dispose of any plunder at pawnshops, but instead sold it to people on the streets.

There is a possibility that Richmond and Dean are the men who made the brutal assault on Mrs. D. E. Flanders Thursday night at her home, when she was robbed of $215. The detectives are inclined to the belief that they know something of the matter, if they are not the actual perpetrators.

TOILSOME WAY TO A FORTUNE

PICARD HEIRS ARE STILL CONFIDENT OF UNEARTHING A GREAT ESTATE, THOUGH THE PLEBINARY WORK IS PROVING ARDUOUS—SOME RECORDS FOUND.

Within a few days Attorney Isaac Sweet expects to be in possession of information which will enable him to begin active measures for recovery of the fortune left by Joseph Picard, who died in 1852 and was interred in the old Catholic Mission in this city. The estate consists largely of Canadian government bonds, but there are also big tracts of property lying in the province of Quebec. All the heirs are residents of this state, and many of them have written the attorney recently urging him to put forth every effort in bringing them into possession of their rights, and promising him all the expense money necessary in carrying out his plans.

While looking over the records at the county courthouse yesterday morning in connection with the estate Attorney Sweet stated that he had written a dozen officials and other prominent persons in Quebec relative to the estate, and anticipates receiving definite information within a few days. The records at Vancouver, Wash., have been examined and give considerable aid. Many of the entries on the old books there were already known to Prosper Picard and the other heirs. These records have all been copied and sent Picard, whose home is in Umatilla county, with the request that such as apply to the family be noted and returned to their counsel. "We have," Attorney Sweet said, "that a few months ago one of the papers in this city contained an advertisement asking for information that would lead to the discovery of the heirs. My informant is unable to tell the date of the paper containing the notice—in fact, not within several weeks of the time—nor can he remember what paper it was in. This means that the files of three dailies will have to be gone over for a period covering about two months. This will entail an enormous amount of labor, but there seems no way out of it; the information which may be given in the notice cannot be passed up."

"Everything learned seems to strengthen the indications that within a few months the work of securing the vast estate and turning it over to the heirs will be well under way. On account of the length of time that has elapsed, and the numerous obstacles standing in the pathway to acquiring this fortune, the work of straightening everything out will necessarily encompass a long period."

THE MAD MULLAH AND ENGLAND.

From the Chicago Tribune.
The British campaign against the mad mullah in the arid regions of Somaliland, in northeastern Africa, has cost the taxpayer $12,000,000 and accomplished nothing. Further financing of the "little war" causes the British ministry to shudder, as the army and navy budget for next year stands at the highest peace figure in history. The burdens of empire are many and unshirkable, and England's cheerful foe is troubled by none of them. He skips blithely about without a care in the world, cutting lines of communication and threatening outposts to the extreme and constant discomfort of his European opponent. Great Britain is not seeking to acquire territory in this contest, as Somaliland is already colored red upon the maps, but is merely trying to keep the mad mullah from knitting the natives who are friendly to England and who supply Aden with provisions. The mullah is now considered the less mad of the two parties concerned.

Between Friends.
From the Chicago News.
"Yes," said the author of half a hundred novels, "I am a martyr to insomnia."
"But," responded his friend, "think of the slumber you have furnished others."

Just a word about Lighting Fixtures, telling Why You Should Come to Us

MOST of the lighting fixtures in Portland have cost little, but they are very expensive in worry, inconvenience and eyesore. The rule is to use too many lights, and place them at the wrong places. In fireplaces and fittings, also, bad art and inutility are prevalent. Now, if you have one dollar, or a hundred or more, to spend on these lighting or heating arrangements, we can solve your problem for you—suggesting the correct and adequate effects, and making an artistic and lasting comfort out of what might in less competent hands be insupportable chaos. Oftentimes we can make over your old chandelier, or bracket, etc., at practically no expense, into something simple, and perfectly beautiful.

We love our business, and, therefore, we succeed in achieving correct effects for you. The cost need never be large.

THEY DON'T LIKE APPEAL COURT

SUNNYSIDE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OBJECTS TO THE ALLEGED SELF-APPOINTMENT OF PRINCIPAL E. D. CURTIS AS HIGHEST AUTHORITY ON DISPUTED QUESTIONS.

A resolution to the effect that a committee of one be appointed a higher court of appeals to the association, has caused much trouble to the members of the Sunnyside Alumni association. The resolution was introduced by Edward Wilcox a short time ago at a meeting of the association. It did not meet with favor and the motion to adopt it was rescinded. At a meeting held last Friday evening the question came up again. The resolution was read and immediately afterwards principal of Sunnyside school E. D. Curtis spoke of the advantages to be derived from passing such a resolution, then moved the previous question, thus barring further debate. The president put the question and the resolution was adopted. It was also recommended that Principal Curtis be appointed the committee of one. Those opposed to the resolution say that if they had been given a chance to speak on the question there would have been enough on the other side to prevent the resolution from being adopted.

"The real question was whether the society should be controlled by a minor faction or those under the leadership of Mr. Curtis," said one member. "I introduced the resolution and then Professor Curtis arose and explained it fully and closed his speech by calling for the previous question. This, of course, closed the debate. The president then presented the question and this resolution was passed with but three or four opposing votes. The reason why Mr. Curtis called for the previous question was to prevent the argument, which he knew would ensue, if one of the other side obtained the floor. After the resolution was passed the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the president, Miss Lizzie Shearer."

HOLLOW WIRE LIGHTING SYSTEM

1000 CANDLE POWER

Cheapest and Best Light Known

Attach Any Number of Lamps Both Inside and Outside of Building to Same Tank

THE BEST GASOLINE LIGHTING SYSTEM ON THE MARKET AS WELL AS THE CHEAPEST. EACH LIGHT GIVES 1000 CANDLE POWER AT A COST OF ABOUT ONE-HALF CENT PER HOUR.

BUSINESS MEN

Reduce your Light Bills 75 per cent. by using our Lighting System FOR STORES, HALLS, CHURCHES, FACTORIES, Etc.

DESCRIPTION OF THE SYSTEM.

The gasoline tank can be put outside of the building if desired. The tank is filled only partly full, leaving space in it for air pressure. Air is pumped into the tank by means of an air pump. An air gauge on the tank shows the amount of air pressure. From the tank the gasoline is forced by air pressure to each lamp through a flexible brass hollow wire tubing, which may be put through crevices, around corners and along ceilings, the same as electric light wires. One lamp, or as many as are wanted, can be connected to the wire tubing of a system, and all operated from the same tank. The light is generated at each lamp. By sending us a diagram with your order, giving measurements of the wire tubing (as explained fully in our price list), we braze the connections on the wire tubing so that any one can easily put up a system in a little while. It does not take an expert to put up our system, and when you move your store you can take your system along with you.

The generator in our system is the best and most practical generator for a lighting system that has ever been placed upon the market. This is true because the generator is so very simple and can be easily cleaned by any one, hence the lights always work and give satisfaction. It does not take a mechanic with special tools to take it apart and clean it, nor does it have to be sent to the factory to be cleared out. Our system is burned at a pressure of only 30 pounds, which produces the very best results, this being a great advantage in the saving of oil. It is a well-known fact that high pressure is hard on mantles. Another advantage in our system is that we use only one mantle on the lamps, hence the lights can be distributed better, which is a saving in mantles and in the consumption of gasoline.

Each lamp will light a space 30 feet square brilliantly, and it can thus be easily determined the necessary number of lights required. We have eight-gallon and ten-gallon tanks; also combination tanks. A Reliable Merchant Agent or Convasser wanted in every town in Oregon, Washington and Idaho in which we are not already represented
