MACCABEES CLOSE SUCCESSFUL MEETING

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR EN-
SUING YEAR AND CANDIDATES ARE INITIATED—ATTENDANCE
REACHES 600—COMMANDER MAR-
KEY PLANS FOR THE FUTURE.

State officers of the Knights of the Maccabees were elected for the ensuing year at the closing session of the convention yesterday. They are:

Past commander, J. S. Van Winkle, Albany; commander, J. W. Sherwood, Portland; lieutenant-commander, A. F. Davis, La Grange; recorder, Joseph Leonard Becker, Portland; finance keeper, A. R. Cyrus, Astoria; chaplain, Thomas A. White, McMinnville; physician, A. G. Prill, Seaside; sergeant, W. L. Sharp, Corvallis; master-at-arms, E. E. Taylor, Oregon City; first master-of-guard, C. O. Rice, Portland; second master-of-guard, R. B. Deyoe, Myrtle Point; sentinel, E. M. Lane, Portland; picket, J. D. Drake, Silverton. J. W. Sherwood was elected supreme representative and A. F. Davis, alternate.

Much of the time at yesterday's meeting was taken up in discussing measures relative to the changing of the order's laws, the proposed changes being championed by the Oregon Maccabees in order that the lodge might enjoy a more rapid growth in this commonwealth. Among the measures advocated was the plan of establishing a company of Maccabees on the Columbia and Willamette rivers, fishermen from the "dangerous occupation" list. "While we think that the fishermen off the banks of the stormy New England coast lead lives most dangerous, we are of the opinion that those in Oregon inland waters do not," said State Commander J. W. Sherwood, "and the supreme body of our order will be requested to remove the restriction."

One of the features of last night's meeting was the work of an especially selected degree team. Among the members of the team were Frank Motter, captain; W. F. Niedermark, E. L. Bryns, B. W. Davey, J. Bentley, William Meriman, P. M. Hall-Lewis, E. M. Lane, C. Bolen and C. Arisman. The 200 candidates who were shown the mysteries of the Maccabees were helped along on their journey by the active work of a real live goat furnished for the event by Albina tent. Over 600 knights, representing the 94 Oregon tents, attended. D. P. Markey, supreme commander, delivered an address.

His talk was entirely in regard to lodge matters, and to affairs of interest to Oregon Maccabees. He said that a sick and accident department for the Pacific coast was to be established within a short time. The supreme commander also said that the lodge was planning to establish a depository of funds for the coast, which would mean that all death losses occurring in this part of the nation would be paid here, instead of the insurance papers being first sent to the supreme officers at Port Huron, Mich., to be passed upon by them. It is also the opinion of Mr. Markey that a Pacific coast medical examiner would be appointed, who would pass on all applications received from Oregon, Washington and California tents. At the present time, the examiner who passes on these applications has been chosen at the state level.

At the close of the address a reception was held in honor of the supreme commander. Music was furnished by the Pratum quartet of Pratum, Or., and Frank Motter. The secret work was done by W. F. Rigdon of Salem. Mr. Markey left on the morning train for Everett, Wash., to attend the Maccabee convention of the Evergreen state. He is expected to return to Portland next Tuesday. While in the city he will be the guest of the Fraternal Temple committee, who will show him both the city and the 1905 fair grounds. In the evening he will be entertained at the Commercial club. On March 30 Mr. Markey will address the lodge at Pendleton, being accompanied by Mr. Sherwood.

"The convention just closed was by far the most successful Maccabee meeting ever held in this state," said Commander Sherwood this morning. "Nine years ago Mr. Markey was in Portland, and at the convention held at that time there were only a few dozen delegates. Last night he addressed 600 members of the order, nearly all of whom were delegates to the recent convention. The first Maccabee tent in Oregon was founded by myself in Portland in 1891, and Circuit Judge A. L. Frazier was its first commander."

HOLD A BUSY SESSION.

Ladies of the Maccabees Receive Reports From Officers and Initiate Class.

Supreme Commander Lillian M. Hollister of Detroit, Mich., occupied the chair at yesterday's session of the triennial convention of the Ladies of the Maccabees. She was introduced by State Commander Nellie H. Lambson and greeted with great enthusiasm.

The officers appointed for the day by State Commander Lambson were: State past commander, Katherine C. Manion, Portland; state commander, Maggie B. Stetter, Albany; lieutenant-commander, Maud McClellan, Roseburg; state recorder, Edward B. Giesler, Portland; state finance keeper, Mary Elkins, Lebanon; state chaplain, Rebecca Smith, Salem; state sergeant, Lou E. Connell, Portland; mistress of arms, Bay L. Sherwin, Astoria; state sentinel, Emma E. Cyrus, Astoria; state picket, Alice O'Daniel, Pendleton.

The most important work of the morning was the election of a supreme representative to attend the supreme hive of the world, to be held in Detroit next July. Dr. Katherine Manion of Portland was elected to represent Oregon. With Mrs. Rebecca Smith of Salem as alternate, Mrs. Lambson will also attend as supreme mistress of arms.

Mrs. Hollister spoke of the credit due State Commander Lambson for her faithful work among the individual hives of the state. She called on Mrs. Lambson for her annual report, in which the state commander returned all the credit with interest to her deputies. Her report showed the work to be in a flourishing condition, and urged the hives to renewed effort.

A question box was conducted by Supreme Commander Hollister at the afternoon session. In answer to a question on official matters, Mrs. Hollister was led to talk of the success of a presiding officer. She suggested that each commander should have a responsible officer for the harmony and order of her own hive in the manner she used her authority. "Commanders must realize," she said, "that they are merely serving their hives, and as soon as they realize their service they will no longer use an iron rule." She also advised some action toward promulgating a new ruling for the protection of individual hives. "Sometimes a stranger may come to you from another hive," she said, "who is not socially acceptable to you. Or she may come to you with a high office in her own hive and insist on holding the same position among you. In such cases a ruling to relieve you of the connection would be acceptable."

In return for the greetings sent to the knights by the ladies, a committee of

TALKS ON ORIENT IN PEACE AND WAR

"The Oriental Trade" was the subject of an address delivered last night before a large audience at the auditorium of the Young Men's Christian association by W. J. Burns, president of the chamber of commerce. Mr. Burns has traveled extensively in the Orient and his address was illustrated with stereoscopic views.

Of especial interest were the views of Vladivostok, Chemulpo and a number of other places now prominently mentioned in the war news. Among the views shown was one of a squad of Japanese infantry on the march. The address was well received and Mr. Burns was warmly applauded.

GRESHAM WOULD BECOME A CITY

CITIZENS OF NEIGHBORING TOWN
ANXIOUS TO BE INCORPORATED
—PETITION IN CIRCULATION
—ASKING COUNTY COURT FOR NECESSARY AUTHORITY.

In order that they may enjoy the privileges of an incorporated town, the citizens of Gresham are preparing a petition to be presented to the Multnomah county court asking that their city may be made a municipal corporation.

D. M. Roberts, a real estate dealer of Gresham, this morning began the circulation of a petition among his fellow townsmen addressed to the county court asking the right to incorporate. Mr. Roberts said that he expected to have at least 75 signers to the petition within the next few days. He said that there were 30 voters residing within the limits of Gresham, and that nearly everyone of them will sign the petition as soon as it is presented.

"The town of Gresham is 12 years old," said Mr. Roberts this morning, "and it is growing rapidly. I helped survey the first two blocks of the town, and have been watching the growth with much interest. The building of the Oregon Water Power electric road out our way has helped Gresham wonderfully. There are now at least 400 people living there, and not a week passes but from two to three families move in. Empty houses are very few and far between."

"We are of the opinion that within a short time several mills and factories will be located in Gresham. A sawmill that will employ 15 hands will be built during the coming summer, and this is said to be just the beginning of an era of good times in Gresham."

AN ABSOLUTE NECESSITY

No Thinks At Least One Traveling Man.

I would as soon think of starting out without my mileage books and grip as to start out on a trip without a box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in my valise, said a traveling man who represents a St. Louis hardware house. Why? Because I have to put up at all kinds of hotels and boarding houses. I have to eat good, bad and indifferent food at all hours of the day and night and I don't derive any man's stomach will stand that sort of thing without protest, anyway I know mine won't. It has to have something to break the fall and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the crutch I fall back on.

My friends often "josh" me about it, tell me I'm an easy mark for patent medicine fakery, that advertised medicines are humbugs, etc., but I notice that they are nearly always complaining of their aches and pains and poor digestion, while I can stand most any kind of fare and feel good and ready for work when it needs me, and I believe I owe my good digestion and sound health to the daily regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, year in and year out, and all the joshing in the world will never convince me to the contrary.

I used to have heartburn about three times a day and a headache about three or four times a week, and after standing for this for four or five years I began to look around for a crutch and found it when my doctor told me the best investment I could make would be a fifty-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, and I have invested about fifty cents a month for them ever since, and when I stop to think that that is what I spend every day for cigars, I feel like shaking hands with myself, for I can keep my stomach and digestion in first-class order for fifty cents a month. I don't care for any better life insurance. My druggist tells me they are the most popular of all stomach medicines and that they have maintained their popularity and success because they do an advertised. They bring results, and results are what count in patent medicines as much as in selling barbiture.

NEEDED DISGUISE IN HIS BUSINESS

The day of disguises as an aid in capturing criminals by the police is not passed, as may have been presumed by many. It is still in vogue in the Portland police department, and is said to be one of the many things that have brought the force up to its present standard.

Monday night as two detectives were plodding along a north end street they noticed a man coming toward them, and his walk seemed perfectly familiar. Also his stature appeared like that of one whom they had met and knew well. As he drew near it was observed that his features were familiar. In fact, everything was just like the man the officers had known, with the single exception of the mustache, which was jet black. The man the officers had in mind has a light-colored mustache. However, as the man with the black lip adornment passed the officers, he addressed them, and to their astonishment, it was their friend and brother officer, Sergeant Siver.

"We hardly knew you because of your black mustache," said the detectives. "It does make me look vastly different, I know," said Siver. "But in my business it's necessary. You see I do lots of sleuth work myself, keeping tabs on various patrolmen, detectives and the like!"

Then the two detectives and Sergeant Siver, with his dyed mustache, parted over the array of prisoners lined up before him.

HUNT'S SOFT HEART WORKS OVERTIME

There was something doing in the kangaroo court this morning, when Lord High Chief Justice Charles H. Hunt, presiding, mounted the bench and looked over the array of prisoners lined up before him.

"Let's see your hands," said Hunt.

Nine pairs of hands went up, and after "Judge" Hunt gazed at them for a moment and found them all hard and calloused, he discharged every man in the line. Therefore there were nine happy hearts, and their gratitude ascended to the kind, old man who had liberated them.

Out into the cold world the nine men walked, and it seemed to them that not all their lives had they struck so soft a snap as that just encountered, when, after having broken city laws and been placed under arrest, they had been released by Hunt.

JAIL BREAK COULD HAPPEN ANY NIGHT

COUNTY GRAND JURY DISCOVERS
LACK OF SAFETY OF JAILERS AND WIFE AT NIGHT—FAYERS IM-MEDIATE INSTALLATION OF ELECTRIC ALARM.

On making a formal investigation of affairs at the county jail yesterday, as is required by law, the members of the grand jury were astounded to discover that absolutely no precaution has been taken by the authorities to protect the lives of the jailer and his wife at night or to prevent almost 100 desperate men being turned loose on the city if a jail-break should take place.

It was discovered that the only safeguard from attack by 100 or more criminals, many of whom are the most hardened and reckless known to the police of any city in the country, is an ordinary telephone. The utter inadequacy of a telephone in case of a jail break is shown by D. D. Jackson, the jailer. He informed Foreman Metchan and Juror Honeyman when questioned that sometimes when he has business to transact with a member of the jury, he goes to his telephone. He informed Foreman Metchan and Juror Honeyman when questioned that sometimes when he has business to transact with a member of the jury, he goes to his telephone.

"What is this arrangement for?" queried the foreman. "That used to be an alarm running to the police station," said Jackson. "The cord was unwound from the reel and extended to my bed, the knob being under my pillow. In case of a break all I had to do was to push the knob and in less than five minutes the patrol wagon would be here with the police."

provision for poles. I have seen the sheriff, the county judge and a number of others about it, and all have tried to get the connection made again, but none has succeeded in accomplishing anything."

"Don't you have any protection in the daytime?" "Oh, yes, up to 5 o'clock in the afternoon all I have to do is to touch this button"—indicating an ivory fixed in the wall near the device named—"and every deputy in the sheriff's office up stairs would be down here in a jiffy. After 5 o'clock my wife and I have no protection except the telephone which would be useless in an emergency, and my revolver. If I were asleep and a break occurred they could break down the front door to my bedroom and nab me before I had awakened."

The jury was unanimous in the belief that aside from the danger to which the jailer and his wife are exposed nightly, the city should not be left in danger of having a hundred criminals set at liberty at any time. All declared that as the expense would be slight, steps should be taken to afford proper protection immediately.
