FIGHTERS AWAIT CLANG OF GONG

W. W. NAUGETON DISCUSSES TO-NIGHT'S BATTLE FOR THE JOUR-WAL READERS-BOTH MEN ARE AT WEIGHT-SEATS BEING SOLD AT PREMIUMS.

(By W. W. Maughton.)

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
San Francisco, March 25.—Two well groomed young men, accompanied by a host of well known sports from all over the coast, met this morning at Harry Corbett's and shook hands. They were Jimmy Britt and Young Corbett, who are to meet tonight in one of the most interesting boxing contests that has ever been brought off in this city. Shortly after the meeting the two box-ers went in separate directions, Britt his father's home and Young Carbett to the baths, where he will take a little light exercise and prepare for a rest prior to weighing in at 6 o'clock tonight. Both fighters are at weight and in the pink of condition for the fray, and the battle will be one that will be worth the big prices being paid for seats, which, by the way, in large numbers have got into the hands of speculators, who are shouting their wares in front of the pool rooms this morning and selling at exorbitant figures. The five dollar seats are going at $10 and $12.50, and Harry Pollock, the well known New York sporting man, who is here with handsful of Corbett money to bet, paid $150 for 12 of the pasteboards.

Howl Over Odds.

There was a great deal of talk at the poolrooms this morning over the betting, and while a number of the Corbett bets have been placed at 2 to 1, there is an awful howl over the odds. break has been made, however, and before night it will be flowing the Corbett way like water through a break in the levee. Britt money has tightened up to the surprise of the talent, and there were loud shouts from the counter for a chance to place Corbett at 20 to 11, with few takers. Britt's managers say that they will have full pockets at the afternoon session, and that there will be no lack of coin when the betting straightens out.

Britt said this morning that the report that he was playing for right-hand punches against his usual style of lefthanded fighting is not correct. He is going to poke away with his left just as in days of yore, and he is depending upon that member to lead him to vic-tory. He will avoid "low fighting" and punch for the stomach with a fair and square wallop. His tactes will be to have Corbett do most of the leading.

Corbett Is Confident.

Corbett was reticent and said that he had no plan of action that he cared to make public. "I am confident of success," he added, "and that is all I can say in addition to what I have already say in addition to what I have already told you about my condition." The Denyerite was in the best of humor and looked more amiable than is his wont. During his training he became very peevish; but Harry Tuthill, his trainer,
