THIRTY YEARS OF THE HUMANE SOCIETY

The Chicago & Northwestern Railroad is nothing if not strictly up-to-date. It has now issued for gratuitous distribution a beautiful Russian-Japanese atlas which it is mailing free to all who send a 10-cent stamp to pay the postage. Its splendid maps show Russia-in-Europe, Russia-in-Asia, Japan, Korea, Manchuria and China, and its descriptive and historic matter covers every phase of information humanity could crave concerning the far eastern conflict now in progress. It is about such a publication as subscription agents would ask $5 for, and would be cheap at that. A. G. Barker, the company's agent, 153 Third street, Portland, mails the atlas from this city.

Detective Hartman this morning recovered $75 worth of dental instruments that had been stolen from the office of Dr. William Kocher, First and Main streets, on March 10. The instruments are said to have been hid by Joseph Smith, who was arrested several days ago by Detectives Day and Werner. At the time Smith was arrested, $75 worth of instruments and dentists' material were recovered by Day and Werner. This was only half of the plunder taken from Dr. Kocher's office, and Detective Hartman at last located the other part of the loot.

Albers Bros. Milling company has lately secured the services of Mr. C. A. Carlisle. Mr. Carlisle is an expert cereal man, having years of experience in the manufacturing of breakfast foods both in the east and on the coast. He speaks in the highest terms of Albers Brothers' cereals and believes the cereal manufacturing business on this coast has a splendid future. He takes charge of the city business for this firm, and will call upon the merchants in the interest of Albers Brothers' celebrated products.

Writing from Jefferson, Or., Thomas G. Hogan inquires of City Clerk Fields whether or not a man giving the name of Mrs. Mary Hogan, secured a marriage license within the last six weeks. The records show that on March 15 a license was issued to William Todd authorizing the wedding of William Baker, aged 29, and Clara Hogan, aged 22. Hogan does not state why he wishes the information.

Two steam heated polishers attend to the business of the Union Laundry, Second and Columbia. Some time other laundries may adopt these expensive machines, because of their excellence, but at present the Union's are the only ones in town. They are stem winders, and they don't "yellow" or burn the goods that pass over them.

Fine Brussels and velvet carpets are among the furnishings of the Hotel Van Noy, at Third and Pine, owned and conducted by Mrs. Nettie L. Slocum, former of the Klingston. It has gas and electric lights, steam heat and hot and cold water in every room. Private baths and all modern conveniences. Transient and permanent guests invited. Phone Brown 472.

Notice to many Journal readers who are corresponding and investigating our stock as an investment: All reservations withdrawn April 1. You must decide quickly. Big developments when snow goes. Couthe Coal & Iron Co., 601 Oregonian building.

The mission for non-Catholics, which is being conducted at the cathedral under the auspices of the Paulist fathers, will close this evening. Beginning next week Rev. Fathers Smith and Weyman, who have been conducting the revival, will conduct a Catholica mission at St. Francis' church.

At the full dress parade at Hill Military academy, announcement was made of the promotion of Adjt.-Capt. M. A. Van Houten, who is now a major, and Capt. L. E. Savage has been made adjutant in his place. M. R. MacEwen was made captain of company C.

"How the Mayor of Sodom Won and Lost," is the subject of Dr. Brougher's sermon at the White Temple tomorrow night. It will have special reference to Portland's moral condition and no doubt will be of unusual interest.

I pack furniture for removal or shipment—do it carefully and at little expense. Upholstering, repairing, refinishing, expertly done. C. E. Walborn, 284 Second; phone Hood 1677.

G. A. Morrison & Co. have moved their stock of wall paper, paints and picture frames from 228 First street to 207 Third street, between Salmon and Taylor.

Becker's Millinery, 214 Third street. Ladies are cordially invited to inspect the imported pattern hats and choice selection of novelties. Prices exceeding low.

For San Francisco, new fast steamer Aurelia sails Tuesday. Cabin $12, steerage $8. Charles E. Steelmick, agent. Oak street dock. Phone Main 2580.

Fine day! Buy Meredith's umbrella. Repairing and recovering. Two stores—Washington and 6th, Morrison and 6th.

The credit for the birth and progress of the Oregon Humane society is due to the efforts of W. T. Shanahan and sprang from an incident that occurred in Portland some 30 years ago. Mr. Shanahan was going home from his place of business when his attention was attracted to a crowd gathered in the street. By him joined the throng and discovered a negred teenager beating a poor horse which had fallen into the gutter. The animal was covered with mud and had already been beaten blind. Mr. Shanahan showed his way through the crowd and ordered the darky to stop. The darky was amazed.

"What can a man kill his own horse if he wants to?"
"No, he can't," replied Mr. Shanahan, "and if you strike him again I will put you under arrest."

It was a big bluff, but it worked, and the darky was further ordered to take the horse home and dress its wounds, which he immediately did. There was no law justifying Mr. Shanahan's threat at that time, but from that time Mr. Shanahan determined to work to crystallize public sentiment that has since responded to his efforts until now he has the satisfaction of knowing that his 30 years of labor has not been wasted.

The charter members of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and Children which organized in 1872, were: B. Goldsmith, president; Phillip Wasserman, Gen. G. E. Babbit, Dr. J. R. Cardwell, James Steel, Dr. J. A. Chapman, L. M. Parrish, William Wadham, Henry Failing, J. H. Woodward, W. S. Ladd, Rev. T. L. Elliot, and present Corresponding Secretary W. T. Shanahan. The society was not popular in its early days. Like everything else now, it had to contend with the prejudices of some very good people, who had a sneer for the man who would prevent a dog fight or remonstrate with the cruel driver while beating his horse. Often a dead cat was hung on the latch to Mr. Shanahan's door, with a card consigning the unfortunate feline to his tender mercy. The society, however, from year to year, increased its ordinances and state laws were enacted at the behest. It is now no longer safe to cruelly beat a child or an animal in any county within the confines of the state. Perhaps the most effective work of the society has been in connection with the public schools. During the past 22 years the society has awarded prizes annually for compositions relating to kindness to animals and kindred subjects.

Said Mr. Shanahan:
"That the work of the humane society has aided in individual progress away polished manners and fine sense, yet wanting sensibility, the man who needlessly sets foot upon a worm." But aside from the sentiment and the past earnest efforts of the human society, with the rapid growth of Portland, the time has come when a more liberal attitude is greatly needed. The work is to advance. Little has been asked of Portland citizens, and we feel assured that we have the sympathy of every good man and woman in Portland, and now ask for their influence and contributions of money to carry the work forward. The annual membership fee is $1 a year and it is our earnest desire to add 1,000 names to our list. Persons wishing to become members can send by mail or otherwise their contributions to me at 345 Alder street and receive membership cards in return."
