AT THE THEATRES

The children are wild with delight over the DuBeck animal show at the Arcade theatre this week. To see the monkeys, cats, rats and mice perform on the tight wire is a most amusing spectacle.

For the second week of the new Neill-Morosco company at the Baker the play will be "Pudd'n Head Wilson." Many people know what it requires to properly put on a play of this standing, and it has seldom been produced since the Mayos starred in it a few years ago with such great success. The strength of the new Neill-Morosco company is a topic of general conversation among theatre goers everywhere in Portfand now, and no one doubts that the performance of "Pudd'n Head" next week will meet every expectation of the most exacting of the crimical audiences known to attend the Baker.

The Neill-Morosco enterprises by a special arrangement have secured the coast rights to that delightful comedy made famous by Nat Goodwin and Maxine Elliott, 'When We Were Twentyone," and are presenting it for this their opening week at the Baker theatre. The production and the new Neill-Morosco company have been pronounced by press and public alike to be of the highest artistic standing and crowded houses greet every performance.

Cordray's theatre is dark tonight on account of this being Good Friday, but the usual Saturday matinee will be given tomorrow, and "La Mascotte" will be sung Saturday night for the last time. The selection of this comic opera for this week was a wise one, for it has done much to emphasize the capability of the Olympia Opera company.

The GIRL FROM PARIS."

The Olympia Opera company will offer the many patrons of Cordray's something entirely new next week, commencing with the matinee Sunday afternoon and continuing all week, "The Girl From Paris" will be rendered in a manner that will reflect more credit on the company than anything attempted in Portland. The opera's success in the east is well known, and the fact that the Olympia Opera company contains members of the original New York cast assures a real treat for the patrons of Cordray's next week.

"THE SILVER SLIPPER." A saucy young woman on the planet ing at things on this wicked world, mischeviously kicked her slipper, a silver one, over the edge of her star into space. For this act of indiscretion she s tried by a jury of women, there being no men on the planet, and is senenced to earth, there to remain until she has recovered her missing slipper. This is the string upon which Leslie Stuart has hung many tingling notes and around which Owen Hall wrote the story of "The Silver Slipper" which will be presented at the Marquam / Grand Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, with aWednesday matinee, April 5, 6 and . Box-office returns of the Broadway theatre, New York City, show that during the engagement at that theatre all last season receipts averaged $14,780 a These receipts broke the record for the best seats. The advance sale of seats will open tomorrow (Saturday) morning at 10 o'clock, when not more than 10 seats will be sold to one on for any single performance.

We predicted a great week for the store, but our predictions have been far surpassed by the reality. That people of Portland appreciate merchandise of character and superlative quality has been demonstrated masterfully this week by

Women's Easter Apparel

Has Flown to Daintiness at Portland's Largest and Best Suit Shop

Second Floor.

Women's apparel stores are best judged by the thoroughness with which it does—not alone the business as a whole—but each line of that business. No matter what price you're prepared to pay, $18.50 for a jaunty tailored pedestrienne suit or $500.00 for the most charming Parisian creation in costumes for opera or evening wear—at both these points and every price stop between. Equal expert care is taken in selection of style, material and workmanship. Take the suits at $18.50—one of the lines here—to illustrate. Only a store such as this, that does the outfitting of most of the well-dressed women of Portland and her trading precincts, can afford to carry the immense stocks that mean variety of choice and satisfaction for every taste. And these suits at $18.50 up to $35.00 are an invitation to test the MASTERFUL RASTER SUPREMACY OF THIS GREAT AFFAREL SEOP, in all that good taste can ask in stylish suits ready to step into. We call attention again today to those suits popularly priced at. There's a satisfaction in being rightly fitted, and this store employs the only expert fitter in Portland.

And They Came in Yesterday.

Mean R? Of course we do. That's just why you can buy 'em today and Saturday for 89c. If they'd have arrived two weeks ago, when they ought to, you'd be paying $1.50 an this week for them, and mighty pleased too, to get 'em. For they are the handsomest, most perfect lot of dainty Easter gloves you ever gazed on. You'll tell the girls at the glove counter today, when you see the beauties (we mean the gloves) that the store reporter wrote the truth. These gloves should have reached us two weeks ago, for 'tis too big a lot to seil in less time in a regular way. A delay in the custom house and snow bound trains between Portland and New York made them tardy. Orders now are to sell—all, if possible—in two days, for they're Easter gloves, dainty shades, just suited to Easter gowns. There's a lull after Easter in glove selling, hence our hurry. STORY: 2,600 pairs, opened yesterday, fresh, new, plump stock, blacks, white, browns, pearls, oxbloods, modes, sand, gray, champagne, castor and tans, two large clasps, overseam sewed, gusseted between fingers, Columbia welts. A Word of Easter Footwear PINGREE SHOES have worked a

PINGREE SHOES have worked a revolution in the art of shoemaking. "Nothing but honest Shoes" has ever been the pennant they've held aloft. Shoes of solid leather, honestly made and perfect forms fitting. Pingree moids the shoe around the natural foot, instead of forcing the foot to fit the shoe. Artifice is unknown in the Pingree factory. Solid leather throughout, honest Santa Cruz leather that's oak-tanned to withstand Oregon rains. The Spring lines are now complete and include:

The famous Pingree Vogue for men

Pingree's Governor for men ... $4.00
Pingree's Gloria for men and women ... $3.50
Pingree's Shoes for young folks . . . $3.00, $2.50 and $3.00

You'll see frocks and stockings and shoes a harmony of blend shades. Your mother or grandmother recalls elegant shoe fashions. This quaintness and beauty are recalled in shoes of today, that, like gloves, will match the frock. Gibson Ties of champagns color—the plain toe is rounded, giving slim, tapering lines to the foot. A high, aristocratic arch is pitched gracefully with a Cuban heel; the heel covered with leather to match the shoe; three large eyelets are laced with a ribbon; light turned soles. Could you picture a prettier combination than shoes of this sort to wear with pongee or linen or grasscloth gown? The Shoe store is brimful not only of novelties that one in a hundred will wear, but the top-notch of shoe elegance such as few stores in the country show.

Easter Millinery Splendor

"The Olds, Wortman & King Millinery

IS SO NOTEWORTHY FOR EXCLU-SIVE STYLE TOUCHES HERE AND THERE, SO DIFFERENT FROM OTHER STYLES ABOUT TOWN THAT SHEM TO RUN ALL TO-GETHER, THAT IT SHEMS AS THOUGH THEIR BUYERS AND DESIGNERS MUST HAVE GONE INTO ANOTHER WORLD TO SE-LECT THEM—A HIGHER, BETTER STYLE WORLD,"

Was the exact remark overheard in one of our "French rooms" yesterday, from a lady patron who had "looked 'round" and came here for her Easter hat. When it costs no more to wear an Olds, Wortman & King hat, 'tis no wonder that critical, stylish dressers come here. The O. W. & K. tip in a hat stamps character and style upon it, and it costs nothing. Most folk don't like to own to wearing a hat bought from stores of little standing in the fashion world—that's why they pass them by and come here for Easter hats—AND IT COSTS NO MORE. Modern millinery splendor is measured by the O. W. & K. standard. 'Tis here that hats of regal beauty find their birth; it's here that those bewitching millinery conceptions which find so much favor with fashionable dressers are first conceived and carried out. It takes quality to bear an O. W. & K. label—hence one runs no risk. There is a conspicuous feature about the O. W. & K. hats that is always lacking in others. A fascinating style touch that instantly proclaims them as the handicraft of skilled artists—a dependability about the materials that insures lasting service.
