TUESDAY WANT AD. NEWS

Seaside Spruce Lumber company, at Seaside, Or., is advertising, under "Help Wanted-Male," for steady young men to work in door factory. The company prefers experienced men.

"Wanted—Young man or boy with good education and plenty of grit, to learn the florist's business." So reads the advertisement of 102 East Seven-teenth under "Help Wanted—Male."

The Northwest Electric Engineering company, 309 Stark street, advertise their business under the heading, "Electrical Works." The Portland Electrical works, 351 Stark street, also advertise under the same heading.

Room 16. The Kingston, 191% Third street, is advertising for plain sewing for ladies and children, under "Wanted."

As indicated in the case of dry goods stores, the metric system is in general use by retail dealers; the metric rule and the kilogram scale for weights are al-ways used. The old libra, or Spanish ound, is still familiar but is used very little, from the custom-houses, where it is almost entirely supplanted, to the smallest store. In measuring capacity, the liter is perhaps somewhat less gen eral in ordinary use, and this may be in part due to the fact that the weight by kilograms is always used in the re-tail stores wherever possible. Outside of these stores, the street venders would naturally cling longer to the older and more familiar measures. So the old fanega (somewhat more than 2.5 bushels) the frasco (2.5 quarts), and the arrobs

(25.36 pounds) are still used to some ex-tent in outlying agricultural districts. The lical venders of wood and charcoal
