COMING DOG SHOW TO BE BIG EVENT

GREAT INTEREST DISPLAYED BY THE LOCAL FANCIERS—NOTED GAMES WILL BE PRESENT—EVERY EFFORT TO BE MADE TO MAKE THE SHOW THE MOST INTERESTING EVER HELD IN THIS CITY.

Are you going to the show? If you lack a soul you will stay away, for they will not associate with you. If you have a soul you must go. If you have two souls you can't keep away. And if you have a whole soul you will be in attendance at the approaching bench show most of the time.

Great interest is being evinced in the coming event throughout the Pacific states and British Columbia as well as in many parts of the east. The local canine stock has been so much improved of recent years by the introduction of new blood that it is tion of so much renowned blood that yearly increasing interest is shown in the annual Portland show by outside animals from distant parts increased year by year. Local owners, however, are confident that they can hold a fair share of the numerous trophies no matter what comes along. There are signs, however, that the quality of the exhibit will be a long way ahead of former years and that it will be numerically much greater. Word continues to float in from various states of individual challenges amongst outside fanciers as to the probable results of Mr. Mortimer's awards amongst their pets.

When Doctor's Disagree.
The best of judges, however, will often disagree on some essential points and the numerous surprises up north may be more than duplicated here. There are many dogs on the coast of various breeds that would be hard to beat anywhere but there are many others so close to them that it is not surprising that different judges may reverse former decisions. A very common mistake by the lay fancier who is not thoroughly posted is to be carried away with the idea that the dog with the perfect head is the one that should win. Some of those who officiate in the ring are even affected by similar sentiments, entirely overlooking many other perfect points in the makeup of an animal to the advantage of the one with perfect head, although otherwise very far from representing a true type. The advanced judges of the day, however, as a rule, although always appreciating the beauty of a perfect and intelligent head, will minutely scrutinize the general formation and structure of an animal. If the purposes for which it is required by man is traveling qualities then its running gear must and should take precedence over all other good points of less importance.

The addition of a good head, however, will and should always help along. It is required for a fighting dog for any other special purpose other essential points must be considered.

On Record Decisions.
One of the greatest surprises up north was probably the placing of Oregon Lad in pointers over Minnesota Joe and Woolton Bang at Vancouver, which decision has been since reversed at Victoria, which also is probably correct but this in turn may again be reversed. It is claimed that Ch. Joe is a dog hard to beat anywhere and Woolton Bang is another grand one and undoubtedly Oregon Lad with these two make a great trio. Lad is yet an immature animal of but 18 months, his sire possessing much of the same blood and type as Joe, in fact Mr. George Raper, who judged the P. K. C. show here last year stated that Bright, who is getting on in years must have been in his day a grander animal than anything in sight and it is not surprising that some of his offspring is giving other aspirants for honors a lively run for their places.

Throughout the many other breeds there is quite as much rivalry and interest being shown and it is very evident that every good dog and all their friends

IRISH TERRIERS TO BE EXHIBITED

The Irish terrier, one of the new breeds that will be seen at the Portland Kennel club bench show next week, is a true and distinct breed indigenous to Ireland. William Ollard, an enthusiastic Irish terrier fancier of Tacoma, writes that he will give a fine string of Irish terriers at the local show. He says: "The Irish terrier is one of the few breeds that affords constant interest to those who follow the whole year around, as well as being on an equality in interest when on the bench, and there is no limit in the field of sport that he does not fill. A week before the Vancouver show, on a three nights' con hunt, a terrier fancier's dogs killed 15 coons and just missed one last other. For bear likewise they are without an equal. For birds on land or water shooting they take no second place and in the coming bench show of the Portland there will be benched no less than 30 of this breed."

Good Work Accomplished.
Since the incorporation of the Portland Kennel club great work has been done in educating the public in the matter of closer and better knowledge of man's best and truest friend in the animal world. The improvement and beautifying of the numerous breeds has been greatly enhanced locally and the annual dog show has gradually become a leading social event of the year. A visit to the dog show is instructive and elevating to old and young. A close study of the wonderful development of the various breeds is most interesting to any admirer of God's creatures.

What the Poet Says.
We profoundly agree with the poet when he says:
"The poor dog in life the firmest friend
The first to welcome, foremost to defend."
Yet he unnoticed falls unheeded all his worth,
Denied in heaven the soul he held on earth.

Whist man, vain insect hopes to be forgiven
And claims himself a sole exclusive heaven.
Oh! man, thou feeble tenant of an hour,
Deprived by slavery or corrupt by power.

By nature vile, ennobled but by name,
Each kindred brute might bid the blush for shame."

CRACK HIGH JUMPER HAS NOVEL HISTORY

Pegasus is a high jumper that threatens to supplant Heatherbloom as the world's high jumping horse. Already Pegasus has made a record of seven feet, two inches, which is within one inch of the present world's record held by Heatherbloom. Pegasus is now in active training for a record attempt, which will be made some day during the week at Madison Square garden, New York City, where he is the star jumper of the Barnum & Bailey show.

Every day Pegasus jumps close to seven feet and the ease with which he clears the bar at that height shows him to be a phenomenal jumper and one that is capable of improving with good training.

Like many great horses on the turf, Pegasus has an interesting story attached to his rise. Until recently he was driven as a road horse by a farmer just outside Philadelphia. But Pegasus was too strenuous in his work at the farm and at every opportunity he would bolt away and try to clear every obstacle in sight. Even the trolley wires did not seem too high for the ambitious jumper once he made up his mind to jump, and it is doubtful if this amount could buy him.

After clearing the harness several times the farmer decided to dispose of the erratic animal, and he was sold to Mr. Bailey for $75. He is now worth close to $500, and it is doubtful if this amount could buy him.
Once in the hands of experienced horsemen, Pegasus improved wonderfully. He proved a natural jumper and with less than five months' training he has cleared a five-foot record at a public performance held at Chicago, where a number of representative horsemen watched the performance. It has been Mr. Bailey's belief that Pegasus could break the record held by Heatherbloom, and an effort will be made to accomplish this feat during the week. Pegasus is ridden by Elmer Brooks, who has handled him for several months.

AT THE LINKS

Jack Moffat, the well known golf instructor at the Waverly golf club, will leave on May 4 for Duluth, where he will instruct players at the Northland Golf club. At the end of four months Mr. Moffat will return to Portland. As a professional golfer, Mr. Moffat has a splendid record. He holds the record of 75 holes on the local links, and also holds the professional record of Tacoma links and also at Gearhart Park.

Last year a match between Alex Smith, the champion, and Jack Moffat attracted considerable attention at Tacoma, the former winning by one hole. Mr. Moffat also held several records in Scotland.

This evening Roderick MacLay, N. E. Ayer, Mr. Oliver and Jack Moffat will leave for Victoria to participate in the coast championship games.

Mr. MacLay's work in the tournament was a display of fine golf. He has a natural pose, and it is a treat to see him play.

J. Wesley Ladd, one of Waverly's most enthusiastic golfers, carried away two substantial trophies as the result of his good work in the matches.

No more ideal days could be wished for than the past four days. The ladies thoroughly enjoyed the outdoor sport.

AMONG THE BOWLERS

The contest for high score this week on the Portland alleys was very interesting. Vigneux started off with 222, and Watkins went one better, getting 223. Knease then put up a 224 score, and Case raised it to 227, when Knease came back with 231. Kelley then put up a 232 score, and Capen raised it the same evening to 232.

A two-man team tournament is being arranged to be played about the 20th. Not less than 10 teams will enter, and as they are pretty evenly matched, some good games will be played. Twenty-five dollars in prizes will be given to the winning teams.

L. C. Keating and L. Van Horn, who were tied with 573 each in the monthly tournament of the 200 club, will roll the deciding games Monday night.

J. F. Kelley had his bowling clothes on Friday night, getting 975 pins in five games, an average of 195 per game. A game between the Portlands and Blake-McFalls will be played Thursday night, and as each team has a record of over 2,500 pins, it will be a good game.

TROPHIES WON BY THE GOLF PLAYERS IN SPRING TOURNAMENT

In the men's putting there were three ties and no result was obtained.

REAL JOHN WILL BE AT THE DOG SHOW

The accompanying is a good likeness of the Blue Belton English "Real John" C. K. C. (4619), owned by Ben Bogart of Portland, Oregon. John was whelped February 23, 1901, and was bred by Joe Lewis of Greenwich, Conn. He has won four firsts on the bench in the east in the puppy class, winning first in a class of 14 at the New York bench show in 1901. Last April at Victoria, B. C., he won four firsts, beating Champion Roy Montez and Victor L. Clark in the winners' class, and winning two firsts in Seattle, Wash., the next week. He ran in the N. E. field trials in 1902 and has proven himself a great sire. He will be entered in the Portland bench show this month.

IS HERO OF MANY PRIZING BATTLES

J. Cooke, lightweight champion of England and middleweight champion of South Africa, who recently arrived in this country for the purpose of getting on a match with the best American welterweight, has issued a challenge to meet all comers at 145 pounds. According to those who are familiar with Cooke's record, he is by far the best man of his weight that has crossed the ocean to tackle the Yankee boxers. He has disposed of all the welterweights in England, and although his fighting weight is 145 pounds, he has been obliged to tackle heavyweights to keep himself busy.

Cooke has fought about 113 battles and has only lost 10. He claims that he has never been knocked out. One of Cooke's important matches in England was with Jack Bonles, an English champion heavyweight, who was at one time knocked out by Kid McCoy in two rounds. Although conceding many pounds in weight to his opponent, Cooke put his man out in four rounds and beat Dave Berry, the English lightweight champion, three times. He also defeated Tom Woodley three times. Woodley will be remembered as the conqueror of Eddie Connelly when the latter was in his prime.

VANCOUVER WON FROM P. K. C.

The Vancouver High school defeated the Portland High school in a hotly contested game of baseball yesterday afternoon. The Vancouver boys managed to make three runs in the ninth inning, tying the score, which had been five to two in favor of the Portland team through the wildness of the local club's pitcher. The Portland boys are disgusted with the treatment accorded them, for the Vancouver boys posed as a high school team, yet they used pitcher Howard, the crack twirler of the Vancouver team of the Oregon State league. The Portland boys say they do not know how many other members of the Vancouver team may have been professionals, but they do know that Howard is, and therefore not eligible in an amateur game.

LOHMAN'S PLAYERS ANNEX ONE MORE

PORTLAND OUTRATTED OAKLAND, BUT SELLER THE VICTORY REFUSED TO COME—THIELMAN'S WORK WAS NOT SO GOOD AS USUAL.

(Journal Special Service.)
San Francisco, April 9.—Peter Lohman annexed another game from Portland today. Peter's chances did not always have a rosy appearance, and for three innings it was an even break. Then the veteran turned loose a bunch of ginger and a new lot of glass eyes for his cohorts. They caught Thielman napping and in the fourth inning he was found for four hits, which, with a bunch of errors, netted four runs. With one in the third, Lohman had enough to win. Portland came through with one in the third and another in the fourth and a third in the seventh. Castro thought his men could get near the wire at the finish and delay defeat, but Portland scored but once and it was all over.

McCredie and Brennan played great ball in the outer garden, the former having five chances and the latter eight. The Browns seemed to have their batting eyes and pounded Schmidt hard, but the unfortunate fourth inning proved too much for them.

The score follows:

Last season Portland had company on the toboggan chute. The other teams win a game once in a while, so the Browns are all alone on the slide.
The fans gather each evening at the score board awaiting the returns, and go away protesting that they will not come again, but they are back at the old stand again the next night to be met with the same old story: "Lost again."
For the wounded feelings of the local fans who are sparring for a ray of hope now and then, the following clipping may be somewhat soothing:
"Seattle may be able to play baseball, but judging from the miserable exhibition given Tuesday, there is no reason why the northerners should not be at the bottom of the list and Eli's men occupy a much higher position."
When it comes to ball playing, Seattle certainly is not in it with Portland. The game put up yesterday was lifeless from start to finish, with a few possible exceptions. Hughes pitched a good game and deserved more credit than he received.
"Hall was in the box for Los Angeles and added his name to the list of 'whitewashers.' He pitched a fine game and had perfect support. His work deserves special mention, as he left a sick bed to take his place in the box. At no stage of the game was Seattle dangerous. The score was: Los Angeles 4, Seattle 0."—Los Angeles Record.

Perhaps now that the team has started scoring a few runs they will get completely into action by winning a game or two.

Louis Castro's record in the past has been too good for any one who has not seen him play, to comment unfavorably regarding him. So far his record with Portland has been eminently satisfactory. He is probably worrying over the non-success of the club, of which he is captain, and that may have a discouraging effect upon his best efforts.

Castro, Thielman, McCredie and Francis found Mr. Schmidt for long juicy drives, which were helpful as far as the Browns' tallying was concerned.
