DOGS PATIENTLY AWAIT JUDGMENT

JUDGE MORTIMER STARTED EARLY THIS MORNING AWARDING RIBBONS TO THE "GOOD AND FAITHFUL SERVANTS"—LAST OF THE ENTRIES.

BROWNS MAY PLAY IF RAIN HOLDS OFF

Owing to the soft condition of the grounds, the Portland-Seattle game was postponed yesterday. If the weather holds good and no rain falls before the time of game, there will be a contest this afternoon, was the announcement made by Manager Ely at noon today.

The Portland team was out at practice this morning, but did not use the diamond. The players put in an hour at running around the park and playing catch. No team plays were indulged in.

IRVINGTON BOWLERS DEFEAT SCHILLERS

The Irvington bowlers defeated the Schillers last night on the Portland alleys, winning two out of three games.

The first game was won by the Irvingtons by only 16 pins and the Schillers took the second by 31 pins, giving them a lead of 15 pins at the end of the second game.

The Irvingtons started out with a string of strikes in the third game and at the end of the firth inning were so far in the lead that the Schillers could not have caught them with automobiles.

Hyamith bowled the best single game, getting 211 pins in his second game. McManamy made the highest average for the three games, getting a total score of 567. Cook played a very steady game and Thielman's work in the two first games demonstrates that he is an expert with a ten-pin ball as well as with the horse hide and if he has his curves as well under control in the Browns' opening game as he had last night the Seattle Siwashes will not have a dead man's chance.

The scores were:

Irvingtons—
McManamy	179	210	178	567
Bourk	140	156	199	495
Morse	111	120	160	391

BASKETBALL SEASON CLOSES TOMORROW

Tomorrow night closes the basketball season in Portland. This event will be marked by a game between the M. A. A. C. and the Y. M. C. A. for the city championship. These two teams have each won a game by the narrowest of margins, and the deciding game will be a battle royal.

The players on both sides are old, experienced players and know the game from A to Z. It is a known fact that the standard of basketball in the northwest is ahead of the rest of the country. When the Californians made their northern trip a year ago they were overwhelmingly defeated by all their northern opponents, and as to the east, competent judges who have seen both the northwest and the east declare in favor of the former.

The boys all say that Captain Mackie of the All-Stars was born in a basket, but whether this is true or not, he is the best exponent of the fine points of the game ever turned out by Portland. Mackie's motto is: "If basketball interferes with your business, cut out the business."

Rasch, the captain of the M. A. A. C. team, is a large man, and is called "big fellow" by the fans. He is very fast for his size, and handles his team well. Freeman, the old All-Star player, credits Rasch with being the best player he has ever played against, and this is saying not a little, as Freeman has been in the game ever since he was old enough to wear pants. The teams will line up as follows:

M. A. A. C.	Position.	Y. M. C. A.
Brandon (Mgr.)	Forward	Mackie (Capt.)
Steadman	Forward	Thornton
Rasch (Capt.)	Center	Freeman
Barton	Guard	Livingston
Percy	Guard	Lowengardt

The officials will be Dan Poling and Alex Van Orsdel of Dallas college. The game will be called promptly at 8 o'clock in the M. A. A. C. gym.

BENCH SHOW AT SAN JOSE.

(Journal Special Service.)

San Jose, Cal., April 21.—The San Jose bench show opened today, and will continue through the remainder of the week. The exhibits, both in number and class, exceed the early expectations of the promoters of the show, and include all of the fancy canines that are being shown on the Pacific coast circuit this season. The attendance at the show promises to be unusually large.

SEEN AND HEARD AT THE DOG SHOW

The vagrant of the show is Humpty, a small, bewhiskered animal, without tag or pedigree, that was sent in from Wallace, Ida. Accompanying the dog was a note to the judge, which read as follows: "Dear Judge: I don't know the breed of this dog, and if you are able to tell me I will be duly grateful. I also request that when this dog is brought into the ring he will be allowed to enter on his hind legs, as he is an artist when it comes to performing on his rear pedals, and, besides, you will form a better impression of him when you see him make his ingress in that manner. Yours truly, The Proprietor of Humpty."

King Dodo, Fred H. Redsecker's prize Spitz, occupies the most luxuriously furnished house in the show. King Dodo's mansion is situated in the northeast corner of the Exposition building, and never fails to attract the attention of the spectators. The "king" sits inside of his castle and keeps a sharp lookout as people approach his quarters. Truly he is "monarch of all he surveys."

C. K. Harley's smooth and wire-haired fox-terriers from San Francisco are attracting considerable attention, as is also Mrs. Harley's English bulldog, Ivel Damon. Probably the costliest dog in the show is Mr. Harley's $3,500 champion fox-terrier Wandee Coastguard, that carried off all the prizes in England and New York City. Ivel Damon also swept the boards abroad and in New York.

One of the real characters of the show is Mr. Harley's trainer, Stanley Lomas. He is a typical Cockney, and is a most interesting fellow. He says that when his master's dogs enter the ring the judge will see at once that they are the real and genuine, and will affix the ribbons at once. "Mr. Harley is a true sport," says Lomas, "and dogs are his 'obby.'"

Senator Sichel, before the judging commenced last night, felt sure that his Colonel would be a major-general before Judge Mortimer got through with him, and the senator's guess was right. Colonel carried off the honors in his class.

Miss Carrie B. Myers has her famous puppy Jack Harold entered. Miss Myers is an enthusiastic fancier, and is taking great interest in the exhibition. Besides Jack Harold, Miss Myers has Topsy, a fine field spaniel, entered in three classes.

Few dachshunde are in the show. This famous dog was recently defined as an "animal that was a dog and a half long and half a dog high." A person knowing the definition and seeing the dog could scarcely miss it, providing he knew how to spell the name.

J. Wesley Ladd's cocker spaniel, Portland Junior, is showing up well, and has many admirers.

A peculiar evidence of a dog's appreciation of the fitness of affairs was demonstrated this morning in a clever manner by C. W. Lawrence's Scotch collie Bob Hogue. This dog is entered in the show, and last night Mr. Lawrence took it home to sleep beneath its own roof. This morning, as usual, the dog took its ante-breakfast run about the house, and not returning in due season, Mr. Lawrence became worried and instituted a search for it. After a long search about the hills and not finding him, the worried owner sought the Exposition building and inquired if his lost dog was seen. The doorkeeper replied, saying that Bob Hogue came to the show before the doors were opened and begged for admittance. The dog was allowed in and at once he ran down the steps and found his stall, No. 134, and took the place that he occupied yesterday. That dog knew his business.

Jack Sutthoff of Cincinnati, a left-handed pitcher, arrived last night and joined Parke Wilson's Seattle team. Sutthoff has been in the National league for a number of years and is a good man in the box.

GALA NIGHT AT THE BENCH SHOW

OPENING NIGHT OF THE BENCH SHOW THRONGED WITH FANCIERS—JUDGE MORTIMER BEGINS HIS WORK AND MAKES HIS FIRST AWARDS.

It was a great night at the bench show. All the fanciers and their friends who could crowd into the music hall of the exposition building thoroughly enjoyed the first night's exhibition. Music hall! What more appropriate place could have been selected for the holding of a dog show? While inadequate to comfortably accommodate all who wished to gather round the "ring," yet it filled the bill so far as the dogs were concerned. And what music was dispensed by the anxious canines. There were sonatas in F and rag-time solos in D. The impudent and vain Spitz vied with the Great Danes and St. Bernards, while Fechheimer's Fox Terriers brought up the alto chorus in ringing style.

Dr. Zan wore a broad smile that wouldn't wear off. It was thought the smile was caused by his "Lief" walking away with first prize in the open, limit and winners dogs in the Great Dane class against strong competition.

Senator Sig Sichel's "Colonel" was the main event in the rough-coated St. Bernard collection and the senator to be sure was happy.

In all it was a gala night. Among the visitors were Brig.-Gen. Frederick D. Funston and his wife, and Lieutenant Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Ladd, Dr. and Mrs. M. McKay, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Panton and scores of others who admire the "friends" of man.

General Funston made a hurried trip around the building until he found his favorite dog, the Pointer, while Mr. Ladd found it convenient to remain in front of the Cocker Spaniel stalls.

The judging did not begin until 7:30, owing to the delay of trains from San Francisco and Seattle. As soon, however, as Judge Mortimer got started the work of awarding made rapid progress and the ring rail was thronged with fanciers, enjoying critically the movements of the judge. As the judging continued the crowd seemed well pleased with Mr. Mortimer's work and many complimented him highly on his expedition and judgment.

During an hour and a half last night the following awards were made:

ROSEBURG FANS ARE PROUD OF DRUHOT

(Journal Special Service.)

Roseburg, April 21.—The Roseburg fans are universally pleased with the excellent showing made by Carl Druhot, the Portland boy who is a member of Manager Ely's pitching staff. Druhot and Shea are both well-known here, having played with Roseburg during the past two or three seasons.

When the train pulled into Roseburg Tuesday afternoon a large number of the local fans were at the depot and gave Druhot a rousing welcome.

The Roseburg baseball team, under the capable direction of Manager Billy Morrow, is fast developing into a clever aggregation of ball tossers. Last week the team engaged in two exhibition games and succeeded in winning them both by overwhelming scores, defeating the local A. O. U. W. 29 to 0 and the Roseburg high school by a score of 27 to 0. The following players compose the team and are all in fine condition: Reed, Hunter, Gregory and Bilyeu, pitchers; C. Oswill, catcher; Morrow, first base; Hadlu, second base; Bradley, third base; Miller, W. Oswill and Millington, outfielders; Harvey Newell, shortstop.

There are several clever players among this team and it is the belief of the local fans that Manager Morrow has collected a winning combination for the coming pennant race.

Those who have watched the work of young Reed, Harvey Newell, Bradley and Morrow state that in their opinion these four players are good enough for faster company.
