

STAY-AT-HOME VOTE IN THE STATE LARGE

Veatch's Election Predicted by Democratic State Chairman Sweek—Hermann's Success as Positively Asserted by Hill.

Reports received this morning from a number of counties indicate that the election all over the state will be marked by a light vote. Except where interest has been aroused by local contests over county candidates, the voters seem to be apathetic, and the number who stay at home will be unexpectedly large. This lack of interest was foreshadowed by the light registration, and it is evident that the Republican claims of an enormous majority for their state and congressional candidates will not be realized.

In the first congressional district thousands of Republican voters are staying away from the polls, resolved not to vote for Hermann and reluctant to vote for a Democrat. Alex Sweek, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, predicts the election of Colonel Veatch.

"The reports I am getting are favorable," he said this morning. "I think Veatch will defeat Hermann. The sentiment against Hermann is very strong in the northern end of the district and in the valley counties. I think they will give a majority for Veatch. Of course, it is impossible to tell how strong Hermann will be in the coast counties, and if they should roll up a heavy vote for him it might overcome the opposition in the remainder of the district. But I look for the election of Veatch."

"I think Veatch's chances are excellent," said Governor Chamberlain. "The opposition to Hermann among Republicans is very strong."

The normal Republican majority in the First district is the sole reliance of Hermann's adherents and they are confident that he will be elected, though they have greatly modified their claims to the size of his majority. Frank Baker, chairman of the Republican state central committee, with a cheerful disregard of the widespread revolt against Hermann and of the marked falling off in registration, continues to predict that the congressman will be re-elected by 7,500 majority, but the statement is meaningless and is not taken seriously by anyone. Other Republican prophets content themselves with giving Hermann from 3,000 to 4,000 majority.

In the First congressional district Congressman J. N. Williamson will probably poll considerably less than the normal Republican vote, but Multnomah county is expected to offset any deficiencies in the remainder of the district. Republicans predict the election of their candidates for supreme judge and dairy and food commissioner by large majorities, but the vote will probably be much less than they estimate. The Democrats are confident of victory for six circuit judges and several district attorneys. They will also make some substantial gains in the legislature.

AT OREGON CITY. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Oregon City, June 6.—Voting in the city wards was very light this morning.

FOLK COUNTY PREDICTIONS. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Independence, Or., June 6.—The Republicans of Folk county closed their the polls opened this morning, and 3369 of Stott money was also withdrawn. Both voters are eager to back their candidates, but say they can find no takers at even money.

There is widespread interest in the local option law, and the vote upon it promises to be comparatively heavy. Those who are opposing it are confident that it will be defeated in this county, but they also admit that it will probably carry in the remainder of the state, and possibly by a majority large enough to overcome the adverse vote in Multnomah county.

The direct primary law and the amendment to the state constitution in relation to the state printer's office, will meet with little opposition, though many voters will probably omit to vote either for or against them.

Voters are generally following party lines in voting for the two state officers, supreme judge and food commissioner, who are to be elected today. Party lines are drawn pretty sharply upon congressmen and the Republican nominees, J. N. Williamson, will have the normal heavy majority in this county.

Van Sant's Prophecy. Chairman John Van Zante, of the Democratic county central committee, confidently predicts the election of both John Manning and Tom Word.

"Manning has the harder fight of the two," he said, "but he will win by a safe margin. Tom Word's election is absolutely certain, but I estimate that his plurality will not be less than 1,000. It may run as high as 2,500, for he is making just such a run as Chamberlain made when he is getting a heavy Republican vote."

Frederick Holman will probably lead the Democratic legislative ticket, and unless Nottingham draws votes from him Holman will be elected. A. F. Fiesel is also polling well.

At Republican headquarters there is unmistakable anxiety over both Reed and Stott, though Whitney Boese assures all comers that they will be elected by decisive majorities. A. E. Courtney is also a case of uneasiness to the party managers, for it is a foregone conclusion that he will run far behind his ticket.

"Courteney is one of the most unpopular men on the ticket," said a prominent Republican worker. "He may pull through, but he will have a close shave. He never should have been nominated."

Up to noon a comparatively light vote had been cast in the north end. Republicans freely admitted that Word and Manning are running ahead of their opponents in the city.

Republican stalwarts expressed surprise at the way the members of their party are knifing Stott and Reed. Others professed to believe that the latter two candidates have a walkover.

"Eighty per cent of the union vote," the Democratic said Captain Kerns of the Ninth precinct. "Bird will get far more of this vote than will Word."

"Don't fool yourself," dryly commented court house deputy "Bird" has had two chances for election, and failed both times; Democrats are hardly foolish enough to throw their ballots away on a forlorn cause. This man Word is making a hard struggle, and I feel sure he will win."

Manning and Word were conspicuously in evidence during the day. They spent a good deal of their time in the north end. Each appeared confident of winning.

Saloons All Closed. A particularly noticeable feature of the election was the closing of the saloons. The law requires that saloons shall on election day shut their doors between the hours of opening and closing, and that it is usually violated. Rarely is it that it is observed. It is unable to get into a saloon through a rear or side door. Only one arrest for violation of the saloon closing law was made up to 3 o'clock.

The law marks an exception. What the law and order officers have seemingly been unable to accomplish, the Retail Liquor Dealers' association has effected by its simple ukase. At a recent meeting of the association it was ordered that all saloons be closed, and their respective proprietors and employees subjected to a fine of $25 if they were seen inside before the hour of closing polls.

The purpose of this order was to insure all saloons being in the field and exerting themselves against the local option law. In the north end the saloons men see what to them appears the gravest danger they have ever faced, from a business standpoint, and they are sparing neither time nor money to defeat it.

Nate Solomon Envy. Nate Solomon was one of the busiest men in town. He cast his vote in the Twenty-fifth precinct at 8:30 o'clock this morning and then went downtown. In one hand he carried a big package of folded election literature and all his pockets were stuffed with all his cigars. Every man he met, on whom he thought a missionary work would produce the desired effect, received a few tracts, a cigar and a heart-to-heart talk. Incidentally Nate put in a word for Sanderson Reed and Tom Word.

Mayor George H. Williams voted in the Twentieth precinct at 8:30 o'clock this morning. He spent the remainder of the day in his office.

At the Vote Progressed. "Cutting Courtney considerable" was the way the Republican precinct workers in the First ward looked upon the situation this morning. They also stated that a few who were supposed to be the faithful were forgetting the leaders' lashes and voting for Tom Word. John Manning was causing Sanderson Reed's South Portland friends an amount of worry. This morning, it was the enemy of all true reformers and is totally unworthy of the confidence of those who seek to further the public welfare.

TRAVELING MEN IN SESSION. (Journal Special Service.) Springfield, Ill., June 6.—The 15th annual convention of the National Travelers' Protective association opened in Springfield today with 400 delegates and about twice as many visitors present. The day was devoted chiefly to the election of the delegates. The regular business sessions will not begin until tomorrow. The city is decorated and given over to the travelers, who will remain here a week.

QUARTER MILLION LOSS. (Journal Special Service.) New York, June 6.—Fire this morning gutted the seven-story warehouse of McKesson & Co. Robbins & Co., drug and hardware, and the building occupied by the Hooper Wall Paper company, Sperry & Hutchinson and United Merchants' Photograph association. The total loss will aggregate a quarter of a million.

Yoting in the First ward went on quietly this morning, no trouble of any kind being experienced in either of the three precincts. Up to 11 a. m. 168 votes had been cast out of a total registration of 988. This was considered a fair percentage of the total vote, for most of the balloting was done between 10 and 11 a. m. Manning and Word appeared to be in a popular favor about the polls. Manning had some good Republican workers at this polling-place, and Sanderson Reed's friends were active. Whitney L. Boese, chairman of the county Republican central committee, made a short visit to the polling-place, but soon left, accompanied by B. D. Sigler, Republican candidate for assessor. Local-option workers were not much in evidence, and no effort was apparently being made by either side.

Every member of the police department was on duty today. Chief Hunt laid his plans early last week to have all the city precincts policed. The men of the second night relief, under command of Captain Bailey, did extra duty during the opening of the polls until 1 o'clock, at which time they were relieved by the men of the first relief, under command of Captain Moore. The day patrolmen remained on their regular beats. Station Officers Quinlan, Gruber and Burns were on duty at polling places. Chief Hunt directed the city. The east side was in charge of Sergeant Slover, who went from place to place instructing the officers and keeping order. Sergeant Hogeboom had charge of all the territory south of Washington street, while Sergeant Carpenter had charge north of that street. The detectives did special duty, working from the central station.

Chief Hunt voted at 1 o'clock at the east end of the steel bridge. He was perhaps the most conspicuous voter of that precinct and had to run the gauntlet of numerous friends.

"I had to promise everybody I would vote their way," said the chief, laughingly. "One man offered to bet $5 he could tell how I would vote, but I did not take the bet."

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon returns were received from the Sixth ward, as follows:

Precinct 32, 93 votes cast. Local option running even with a great deal of scratching.

Precinct 33, 76 votes cast, with little scratching and no challenges.

Precinct 34, 78 votes cast. Local option running strong.

Precinct 35, 111 votes cast. Some scratching; strong anti-local action.

Precinct 36, at 2:30 o'clock, 65 votes were cast, out of 170 registered. Very little scratching, and voting is rapid.

Precinct 42, at 2:30 o'clock, 219 votes were cast.

Precinct 45, at 2:30 o'clock, 206 votes were cast.

PROMINENT EASTERN RAILROAD MEN LOOKING OVER PROPOSED ROUTE FROM BAKER CITY AND CONSTRUCTION SEEMS CERTAIN—WILL TAP RICE VALLEYS.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Baker City, Or., June 6.—The long-expected railroad from here to the Seven Devils, a distance of 60 miles, now seems certain of construction this season by the promoters, W. L. Vinson, W. C. Brown, vice-president of the New York Central railroad and of the Lake Shore railroad, H. A. Parker, vice-president of the Rock Island road and James A. Drake, a wealthy New York banker, arrived last night at Huntington in Mr. Brown's private car and today are going over the route of the proposed road in company with Mr. Vinson.

W. J. Patterson, a large land owner and irrigator of Baker City is also a guest of Mr. Vinson on this trip of inspection.

The proposed railroad will tap the rich Eagle and Pine valleys, big Goose Creek, Seven Devils copper mines, Medical Lake and Cornucopia gold mines. The building of the road means a tremendous increase of business here and the decision of these experts is anxiously awaited.

The party will return to Baker City the latter part of the week and rejoin Mr. Brown's private car, which was switched down from Huntington to Baker City today.

ELEVEN NON-UNION MINERS KILLED

When the troops were withdrawn from the district, it was freely predicted that the spirit of anarchy had reached such a state that some of the union zealots would take violent action, and not a few cases were recorded where non-union men were severely beaten.

The non-unionists, however, held steadily on, and for some weeks there have been no signs of an outbreak. Last week it was stated in Denver papers that no more trouble would occur in the Cripple Creek district. As a result of this false security the outrage of this morning has cast a feeling of terror over the entire district, the unrest and bitterness has returned, and it is now feared that pitched battles, the use of dynamite and kindred lawlessness may again spring up throughout the entire section.

GOOD FOR THE PUBLIC HIGHWAYS.

In France every carrier's and every market cart, instead of injuring the highway, improves it. Many of the tires are 10 inches wide. In the four-wheeled vehicles of that country the rear axle is 14 inches longer than the fore, and as a result the rear wheels run in a line about an inch outside the level rolled by the front wheel. After a few loaded wagons have passed over the road the highway looks as if a steam roller had been at work. A national law in Germany prescribes that wagons heavily loaded must have tires no less than four inches wide. In Austria the minimum for similar vehicles is 4 1/2 inches, and in Switzerland six inches.
