EMPIRE DERRICK HAD HIS TROUBLES

ALBANY PLAYERS DROBARE THAT DAVIS' HOME RUN WAS FOUL BY THE FENCE, AND ACCORDINGLY SEEK THE UMPIRE, BUT FAIL TO FIND HIM.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Albany, June 13.—Albany again went down to defeat before the Salem baseball team yesterday afternoon in one of the most remarkable contests ever played on the local diamond, and the deciding run, made by Salem in the tenth inning, was in reality a foul and should not have been counted for the visitors. It was a pitchers' game from the start. Each of the two pitchers struck out seven men. Sues for the Albany team, the catcher who took Lewis' place when the latter was released, played an excellent game, putting down the base runners and making two of the hits and one of the runs credited to the local team. The game was characterized by "ragging," both sides finding fault with the decisions of Derrick, the umpire.

In the tenth inning, Davis, the great Indian center fielder in the Salem team, came to bat, lined out a ball to the left field fence and the leather crossed the fence fully 10 feet outside the base line, but Empire Derrick called a fair hit and Davis walked around the bases and a home run was credited up to him. Albany has protested the game, it is said, although this has not been considered. The ball fell at the feet of one of the passenger conductors of the Albany & Salem railroad, who had just left the field and was about 30 feet from the fence, on his way to the station. This gentleman picked up the ball and threw it over the fence, and he asserts that it was fully 10 feet outside the base line, as do a hundred people who were grouped near the fence where the ball crossed. The Albany players and some of the Salem baseball team all agree that the ball was fair, and the Albany threatens to quit in a body unless a new umpire is secured. The boys declaring they will not play again with Derrick in the field.

A crowd of disgusted fans were hunting for Derrick last night, threatening to do him injury, but they did not find him, and the incident for the time being may be considered ended. The Albany catcher, who was struck on the mask by a pitched ball and his ear badly cut, and in the eighth inning Nehring was struck on the ankle by a batted ball and he was compelled to leave the game, and may be disabled from playing further this season. The ankle was already crippled and the blow resolved was so severe that Nehring will be badly disabled for some time. A physician who was on the ground made an examination of the injured foot and gave it his opinion that while no bones were broken the man would have to retire from the game permanently.

Excursions were run here for the game from Detroit on the east, in the Cascade mountains, and from Corvallis. Following is the record of the game:

ALBANY. Donavan, 1b., 5 0 1 1 0 0 1. Raymond, 2b., 5 0 0 4 2 0 0. ...

EUGENE TROUNCES SEATTLE STICKERS

ROSEBURG BUNCH DEFEAT PORTLAND

(Journal Special Service.) Eugene, Or., June 13.—The "Blues" won out in a brilliant contest yesterday, and by doing so won the series. Monday was the star among the visitors and showed himself to be the best all-around man in the league here by filling practically every position on the team with perfect ease. Shaw lost the game for Roseburg by having his right arm hit while at bat so that it impeded his throwing, causing him to make two errors and to allow, by slow throwing, several bunts and like hits to be run out.

PEELERS SKINNED THEIR EGG RIVALS

The eggbreakers of Wells-Fargo company and the Peellers caused a game of baseball at the Coast League grounds yesterday morning and for six or seven innings matters went on serenely, each team scoring enough runs now and then to renew the interest in the game, which threatened to fade away entirely owing to the refreshments on the grounds.

Along about the seventh session the crisis was reached. A crowd of thieves stole all the balls and a small sized riot on that account was narrowly averted.

After an ineffectual attempt to recover a ball the teams continued to play the game by using a turnip in lieu of a Spalding. The vegetable refused to stand the gaff, and on the occasion of being swatted with a bat, flew into several atoms, and the erstwhile knights of the diamond were forced to discontinue the performance. The score, at the time of the breaking up proceedings, stood 13 to 10, in favor of the Peellers.

PREDICT ADVANCE IN SALMON MARKET

SALMON MEN EXPECT BETTER PRICES THIS SEASON THAN FOR MANY YEARS—ESTABLISHMENT OF A MATCHERY OF FRASER RIVER—TRUCKERS MAKE MOVE.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Seattle, June 13.—Salmon men predict better prices for the 1904 pack than have prevailed for many years. The comparatively small pack of last year and the demand of the Japanese market combined to clear the warehouses ready for this season, and the indications are that England will want an unusually large supply of fish. A big market has been created in the orient, while carmenagers are not preparing this year for large runs of fish.

In accordance with the cycle theory this year is the third after the big run, which came last in 1901, so the fish should be fewer than any year since the first. There is a market, it is conceded, for almost all the red salmon that can be packed.

Stock Fraser River. A meeting of the Puget sound and Fraser river packers to discuss the establishment of a hatchery on the Fraser river is the principal topic of talk among the salmon men, for it is the general belief that something must be done to preserve the industry by stocking the Fraser. That the upper waters of that river are the only spawning ground for sockeye salmon on the coast is coming to be the belief, and the great inroads made into the run of that fish each year will soon extinguish it completely, say the fishermen, if artificial propagation is not resorted to immediately.

Jealousy Prevents Action. Jealousy between the American and Canadian fishermen has prevented any concerted action toward establishing a hatchery, especially in official circles, but now it is planned to get the packers together for a close consideration of the question. Next year should see a big run of fish, and it is argued that if something is not done before this season is over, the Fraser's fishery will be neglected two years, to the peril of the entire industry.

DEMANDS HIGHER SALARIES

Seattle teachers have begun a movement, which is to be made national by the educational association, in the demand for higher salaries. Efforts to secure more pay have been fruitless so far, but it is planned by general agitation to accomplish the desired result in time. The public instructors declare their remuneration is ridiculously inadequate and disproportionate to the work they are called upon to do. They require from 12 to 15 years and that they are supposed to keep abreast of the times, in new methods, reading, lecture courses, travel and all other lines.

IMPOSSIBLE TO LIVE

Teachers take the stand that it is impossible for them to live as they should on the maximum wage of $68.67 allowed in Seattle. They say they have work only for nine or ten months of the year, and are forced to take vacations for the remainder of the year, for which they are allowed no pay, and their income ceases, even during the Christmas holidays. Seattle teachers pay landlords and grocers $114,350; laundries, $15,000; drygoods merchants, $85,000, while $10,000 is paid out in additional for incidentals.

BARKLEY PROVES HE WAS ROBBED

POLICE HAVE SUBSTANTIATED STORY OF SATURDAY NIGHT'S SANDSACKING OF IDAHO MAN—UNPLEASANT INCIDENT OF HIS WEDDING JOURNEY.

After thorough investigation, the police have come to the conclusion that the robbery of C. B. Barkley was the boldest and most daring of recent months. He was slugged from behind while going to a drug store at the corner of Sixth and Hoyt streets Saturday midnight, and robbed of $770 in bills. Patrolman Wilson has substantiated every statement made by the victim, and there is now no doubt that the affair occurred as told to the police.

This morning Mr. Barkley, who has wealthy relatives in San Francisco, left for that place to secure more money, so that he and his bride of a week may continue their honeymoon. He will soon return to Portland and join Mrs. Barkley.

Mr. and Mrs. Barkley are from Montpelier, Idaho, and had just reached the city to make a brief visit with friends at the Lewis and Clark house at 15 o'clock Saturday night. He was seized with cramps and went out for medicine. It was then that he was slugged and robbed.

Patrolman Wilson found Barkley while going to the central station to report for duty. He was lying in the street, his papers and pocketbook being thrown about in the dirt. Examination showed that he was not intoxicated, and the officer called a patrol wagon and removed the injured man to the station. On the way he revived and told of the robbery. There was a large welt on his head showing where he was struck.

WILL ADVERTISE FAIR IN A NEW WAY

In pursuance of a newly zealous program of exploitation the management of the Lewis and Clark fair has sent J. P. Marshall, of this city, on a tour of the northwest to enlist the legislatures for the better representation of their states and to generally advertise the exposition.

Mr. Marshall was for many years cashier of the Ainsworth National bank and was selected, for his wide acquaintance among the leading business men of the northwest. He left last night for Seattle, and later will visit eastern Washington, Idaho, Montana, Utah and Nevada. At the chief centers of population in these states, Mr. Marshall will distribute fair advertising and will besides confer with the leading political and business representatives, and strive to get increased appropriations, besides bringing the exposition before the general public in a new way.
