Veterans who are planning to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Hood River on June 15, 16 and 17 may well hail with delight the news of the handsome steamer "Bailey Gatzert" having arranged to transport them to the encampment on Wednesday morning. Special efforts have secured the steamer for this day for the accommodation of the wearers of the blue. The luxuriant Gatzert insures great comfort for those veterans who shrink from a trip from their firesides. That special low round trip ticket prices are now in effect attests to the readiness of making it possible for all to attend. Boat will leave Alder street wharf promptly at 7 a. m. Excellent meals served on board—everything that denotes comfort. Steamer "Regulator" leaves Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock if you must go a day earlier. At the sign of The Dalles, Phone Main 914. Take a day's outing and enjoy the most beautiful and scenic ride in America: "No scene twice seen." Don't forget that the "Bailey Gatzert" leaves for The Dalles on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 7 a. m. in the future.

Col. and Mrs. Walter Duncan, who are inspecting local branches of the Volunteers of America, led the service last evening at the Volunteer's hall, Second and Everett streets. Both gave addresses on the work of the Volunteers. "During the past year we have lodged in our homes 350,000 men, have provided food for 252,000. The number of girls that have been lodged at our homes is 5,760, and 479 children have been provided with comfortable homes. We are now planning to open two children's homes on the Pacific coast. The Volunteers work in conjunction with all Christian denominations, and are steadily growing in strength and usefulness."

Numbers of people in south Portland have registered vigorous complaints against a band of young boys who cut flowers during the night and carry them away. It is said that two boys with baskets make regular trips each night from yard to yard stealing roses which they sell on the streets during the day. A watch will be kept for them and they will be apprehended in the act if possible.

Captain George Egbert, bailiff of the federal court, tells of a peculiar pear tree at his home, 800 Macadam street. He declares that it is a Bartlett tree and the fruit has advanced to one third its regular size. Though the tree is loaded with pears clusters of blossoms have begun to appear all over the tree. He regards the growth of the blossoms as something of a phenomenon.

Mr. Addington intends to take it to Seaview on Long Beach and tame it. He says he can train it to do all kinds of stunts. It was captured in the foothills of the Cascades.

No transfers at Cascade Locks. The steamer Spencer sails through to The Dalles without change. The trifling high water in the locks does not interfere with this staunch and fleet river boat. Leaves foot of Washington street at 7 a. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Telephone Main 1422.

W. A. Robinson, assistant superintendent of the registry system of the postoffice department, will reach the city from Washington today. He is on an annual inspection tour of the various offices of the coast and will be in Portland for several days.

HOGUE SCORES HUNT FOR DISOBEDIENCE

"When I sentence a prisoner to five days, or any other length of time, I want him to serve it," said Municipal Judge Hogue from the bench to Chief of Police Charles H. Hunt this morning. "I sent J. Hatchet to the city jail for five days, after great effort had been made by Attorney S. H. Haines to get him off on a money fine, and you let him go yesterday."

"I did not know about the matter. I did not know he had been sentenced," said the chief in reply.

"It was marked on the transcript, and that ought to be notice enough," retorted Judge Hogue. "When I sentence a man I want him to stay in jail, unless I otherwise order or consent."

"You have told me many times I might release prisoners," said the chief, warming up.

"I told you recently that I wanted no one released without my consent, and when I sentence a man and he is freed by you it makes me indignant," said the judge.

"Very well, then," replied the chief. "I will never release another prisoner if the court does not want me to," said the chief, meekly.

"When the prisoner was brought before me, Attorney Haines made repeated attempts to get him out," said Judge Hogue, "and I refused. He then said that if I would not let him out he would bring influence to bear and get him out anyway."

Hatchet, as the prisoner gave his name, was arrested Friday for being drunk. He was sentenced to five days in jail. This morning it was discovered he had been released.

OREGON DELEGATES LEAVE FOR THE EAST

Five of the delegates selected to represent Oregon at the national Republican convention will leave for the east Wednesday evening. Ira S. Smith of Malheur, delegate-at-large, and N. C. Richards of Baker, who will help do the honors for the Second congressional district, will leave for Chicago from eastern Oregon. W. B. Ayer, Multnomah delegate-at-large, is now at Bangor, Me., but will arrive at Chicago in time for the convention.

The members of the party which leaves for the windy city Wednesday evening are: C. H. Carey of Multnomah, representing the Second congressional district; J. U. Campbell of Clackamas, and Dr. J. M. Keene of Jackson, the First congressional district; C. W. Hodson of Multnomah and S. L. Kline of Benton, delegates-at-large. The party will journey by the Northern Pacific to St. Paul, and from that point on the Burlington.

It is probable that Mr. Carey will be elected chairman of the delegation. The delegates say the nomination of Roosevelt is a "cinch." Their belief is that Senator Fairbanks will be the nominee for vice-president. The convention will be a tame affair, it is prophesied, as everything will be conducted according to a pre-arranged program.

SUPREME COURT GIVES DECISIONS

DISPOSE OF SIX CASES AT SALEM TODAY—AFFIRMS DECISION OF CIRCUIT JUDGE W. R. ELLIS IN CASE OF NORTHWESTERN WAREHOUSE CO. AGAINST O. R. & N.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

Salem, June 13.—The supreme court handed down decisions in six cases at noon today, as follows:

In the case of the Fireman's Fund Insurance company-Northwestern Warehouse Co., plaintiffs, against the O. R. & N. Railroad company, defendants, from Umatilla county, the opinion of Circuit Judge W. R. Ellis was affirmed by Justice Wolverton. This was a joint action to compel the railroad to pay for wheat that had been stored in Barnhart station in charge of the company and that was destroyed by fire.

In the case of Rebecca Lumey, plaintiff, against the Southern Pacific Railroad company, defendants, from Clackamas county, decision by Circuit Judge McBride, a petition for re-hearing was denied.

In the case of Charles Atischul, plaintiff, against William T. Casey, defendant, from Crook county, the decision of Circuit Judge W. L. Bradshaw was affirmed by Justice Wolverton. This was a contest for possession of certain land on a patent from the general government.

In the case of E. W. Oliver, plaintiff, against the Oregon Sugar company, defendant, from Union county, the decision of Circuit Judge Robert Eakin was affirmed by Justice Bean. This was a contest for a balance due on 33 carloads of beets which were shipped and weighed in carload lots at the defendant's factory on the railroad scales. The plaintiff alleged inaccuracy of weights.

The case of Lillian H. McDarvell, plaintiff, against Frank S. Patry and H. K. Brown, sheriff, defendants, from Baker county, the decision of Circuit Judge Robert Eakin was affirmed by Justice Moore. This was an appeal by the defendants from a decree enjoining the sale of real property amounting to six lots in Baker City. The plaintiff purchased the lots after the court had ordered execution of judgment against them held by the defendant, she being an innocent purchaser of the judgment.

In the case of the Pacific Livestock company, plaintiff, against Kenneth Murray, defendant, from Grant county, the decision of Circuit Judge Clifford was reversed and a new trial ordered by Justice Bean. This was a suit to recover damages for trespass of defendant's sheep upon the plaintiff's unincloseed grazing lands in Grant county in 1902. The plaintiff secured judgment for $525 in the lower court.

CHURCH CHILDREN RECITE AND SING

IN BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED PLACES OF WORSHIP YOUTHFUL MEMBERS OF PORTLAND CHURCHES ENTERTAIN THEIR CONGREGATIONS.

Children's day was fittingly observed in the churches of the city yesterday, and some of the programs carried out were quite elaborate. Roses and greens were used unsparingly in the decorations.

The First Congregational church was beautifully decorated with masses of fragrant roses. The program which was rendered entirely by the children of the Sunday school, was one of the best of its kind ever given in the church. At the close of the service, each child was presented with a potted plant as a souvenir.

The exercises at Centenary Methodist church, East Ninth and East Pine streets, were held last evening, and the church was filled with friends and relatives of the children who participated. The decorations were elaborate, and the program of songs and recitations rendered by the children of the Sunday school was excellent.

At First Presbyterian church the Children's day exercises were held during the hour for the regular morning service. The program was elaborate, and great credit is due to the children who took part.

At Grace Methodist Episcopal church the color scheme of white and green was carried out in the decorations. Ferns and marguerites made a very effective combination. Each of the numbers was well given. At the close of the service every member of the graduating class was presented with a bible by John R. Foulks, superintendent of the Sunday school.

The exercises at Cumberland Presbyterian church were held in the morning. The orchestra of the Sunday school rendered an excellent program of appropriate music, and the children of the Sunday school acquitted themselves creditably.

The exercises at Central Baptist church were held in the evening, and given under the direction of Miss Ruth Shogren. The decorations were pretty, and all of the numbers were well rendered.

At Taylor street church the decorations were handsome, and the program by the children was very good.

Union Sunday school, at Kenilworth, had a very attractive program yesterday afternoon. Ruby Woolridge was presented with a handsome bible by Reinhold Griesel for securing the greatest number of new scholars during the past six months. This Sunday school is officered by members of churches of several different denominations. It has an attendance of from 40 to 75 children and teachers. It was organized about three years ago and is one of the most prosperous Sunday schools in the city.

LA GRANDE MORMON CONFERENCE IS ENDED

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

La Grande, Or., June 13.—Joseph F. Smith, president of the Mormon church, and Seymour B. Young, one of the 12 apostles, who have been in the city during the past few days in attendance at the Union stake quarterly conference, will return to Salt Lake City tonight.

President Smith made several good talks at this conference in which he brought out many points in the Mormon religion very plainly. The conference was attended by hundreds of the Mormon people from all parts of eastern Oregon, and also by many of other denominations. The choir at present consists of 25 good voices. When the tabernacle is completed a pipe organ will be put in the building. The Mormons then expect to have one of the best and largest choirs in the state.

The predictions are that the next few weeks we will have very warm weather. You had better

Those who have never used the Gas Range for cooking can hardly realize its many advantages. There is no hot stuffy kitchen or dining-room.

A Gas Range is so Convenient, so Economical and so clean that there is no comparison to be made in favor of coal and wood stoves. It is absolutely a fact that to cook on a Gas Range is cheaper than to cook with any other fuel.
