

MORE TROUBLE FOR W. J. WARREN

ATTORNEY HAYES THREATENS TO BRING SUIT TO MAKE WARREN RETURN MONEY 'INVESTED' BY HIS CLIENTS—ORDER ARRIVES.

Attorney Walter G. Hayes, who represents investors in the contracts of certificates of the Hathorn Mutual Commission company, and who furnished the federal authorities with proofs that support the recent action of the postal department in excluding the concern from the use of United States mails, states that he will in a few days bring suit against W. J. Warren, general manager of the company, with headquarters in room 611, Dekum building, to recover money paid into the concern by his clients, and that he will also bring the matter to the attention of the next meeting of the federal grand jury.

In a recent circular, issued since the trouble with the postal authorities and announcing to the investors that the concern was forced to suspend business, Manager A. R. Hathorn and Attorney Hayes propose to undo the existing contracts of the investors, provided these investors will come forward with no business for the company in like amounts. It is alleged that from the 15th day of last December to the 1st of March this company did a volume of business amounting to $25,000, which they say is in excess of the business ever done by any similar company.

Attorney Hayes says the character of the business is similar to that of so-called "diamond companies" that have operated through the country, consisting of contracts on which the purchaser agrees to pay a certain amount of cash into the company in installments covering the contract period, at the end of which time the purchaser receives a certificate showing the amount due him or the article of merchandise that he is entitled to. The Devere Diamond company of St. Paul was declared fraudulent by the federal authorities last January, and it was ascertained that the Hathorn company has been excluded from the mails.

Orders were received at the local post-office today forbidding the delivery of mail matter and the payment of money orders by W. J. Warren, 611 Dekum building. The order was signed by the postmaster-general and is specific in its instructions. It is explained that the order was issued because the postmaster-general had been convinced that Warren was engaged in conducting a scheme to obtain money through the mails by means of false and fraudulent pretenses.

NEW STEAM ROLLER WILL FORWARD WORK

City Engineer Elliott was as happy this morning as a boy with a new pair of red-top boots. The cause of his joy was the fact that the new steam roller that had been ordered several weeks ago by the executive board street committee arrived yesterday. This morning it was put in active service on Union avenue, where the city's part of the street work there is many weeks behind. Mr. Elliott stated that the street-improvement work throughout the city is now two months behind, but he hopes that by working the four rollers now owned by the city day and night he will be able to catch up within a few weeks.

The new roller will be giving two of these machines on each side of the river. The latest addition to the city engineering department is a roller purchased from a Buffalo, N. Y., company and cost $3,500. It is the largest roller in the city, the rear tire being 24 inches wide, while those of the other large ones are but 18 inches in width. Mr. Elliott stated that the rollers had been forced to follow the street-improvement work so closely that his department was now away behind in its regular work. "But we begin on this as soon as we can," said Mr. Elliott, "and hope to be up with it before many moons."

JOHNSON A VICTIM OF WOMEN'S GOSSIP

Careful investigation by officers of the Oregon Humane society has led them to the belief that Fred Johnson, arrested yesterday on a charge of choking, beating and otherwise mistreating his two and one-half months' old baby girl, is largely the victim of feminine excitement and that he should not be prosecuted. Therefore, his case has been indefinitely postponed in the municipal court.

MOTHER'S APPEAL RESCUES CHILD

DETROIVE HAWLEY, ABUSED BY THE PERADING LETTER OF HER MOTHER, TAKES DOLLIE WELLS FROM HER COMPANIONS AND ARRESTS FOLLOW.

The appeal of a mother to Detective Hawley of the Boys' and Girls' Aid society resulted in the rescuing of her girl, 14 years of age, from a life of shame, and the arrest of a young man, at least three more arrests will be made. The girl is Dollie Wells, daughter of Mrs. John Wells of Hood River. She declares she was enticed from her mother's home by William Yeadell, aged 19 years, and Claud Kelsey, aged 19, both of Hood River. Yeadell and the girl were arrested at The Dalles yesterday, and Kelsey will be arrested today. A saloon-keeper at Hood River, it is said, will be arrested for complicity. The girl is now in the House of the Good Shepherd here, having been brought from The Dalles by Detective Hawley. Several days ago there came a letter from Mrs. Wells to Detective Hawley, and begging him to assist her in rescuing her young daughter from the men who had lured her away. She declared that she had notified the marshal at Hood River, and that he declined to help her. Detective Hawley immediately took up the case, and wired the sheriff of The Dalles. He arrested the girl and young Yeadell yesterday.

H. PALMER DID NOT HAVE SMALLPOX

With his escape from the detention hospital ward for smallpox patients and his final examination and dismissal by the city physician, Henry Palmer, who was regarded as a victim of the dread disease, did not cease his activities. He appeared soon thereafter at the county court house, entered the room of court clerk J. W. Upton, and declared that he was formally discharged from his troubles in the papers and recognized him as soon as the odd condition of his face became apparent. "Are you the fellow who ran away from the pest house?" Mr. Upton excitedly asked. "Well, I reckon I am," returned the visitor reluctantly. "Stop where you are," shouted the clerk, "get right out of here—get out quick!"

The supposed runaway made his exit and went down to the office of Health Officer Evans, where in the hall he ran upon Mose Block and Al Sammon, who also recognized him immediately and, not knowing that he had been discharged by the city physician, they called upon Health Officer Evans, on whose motion he had first been committed to the hospital. It is now certain that he is not afflicted with smallpox, but his disobedient example is not recommended by the authorities to other wholes in future. He may show symptoms of smallpox and be committed to the detention hospital to stay until his disease can be positively diagnosed.

FORMALDEHYDE IS CAUSE OF PANIC

Several loose sprays of formaldehyde floated about the corridors of the city hall this morning, playing havoc with the eyes and throats of the municipal officials and city hall employees. This liquid poison is kept stored in the city hall, and is used by the city health officer at a late hour in the morning when persons suffering with smallpox have been confined. In moving a can of the stuff this morning a part of it was spilled. As the fumes of the formaldehyde wafted gently into the record rooms, Carl Liebe, who was working there, was startled by the knowledge that he was playing the hero act in "The Light That Failed." He rubbed his eyes a few hard rubs, but not a line could he read. Hurriedly putting on his hat and coat, he rushed down town and had a pair of glasses fitted right away. Of course, after being out in the open air a few minutes his eyes became all right again, but Liebe thought that it was the glasses that brought such relief to his weary lids.

Several of the city employees who were already wearing glasses began to wonder what in the world the matter could be. At about 11 o'clock a man in a white suit, with a white cloth over his face, came in with a can of formaldehyde and began to work. It was then found that the accident to the can of formaldehyde had been the cause of Liebe's new glasses and of Janitor Simmons' hasty flight to the roof.

MAYER PYSER IS WANTED. "Locate Mayer Pysar and tell him to come at once. Marie is dying. He arrived in Portland yesterday. Mrs. E. Wilson." This brief dispatch was received early this morning by Chief of Police Hunt from Seattle. The entire staff of headquarters officers spent the day endeavoring to locate Mr. Pysar, but at a late hour had not met with success. Who the woman named Marie is one here knows, neither is Mr. Pysar known, as far as learned.

MONTANA PUSHES 1905 EXPOSITION

The Lewis and Clark monument has received an encouraging letter from J. F. Marshall, special commissioner for Montana, in which he says that the papers and business men in the Coeur d'Alene district at Wallace, will form a commission as a push club to assist the state commission in securing a larger appropriation from the federal government for the monument and give an exhibit that the state will be proud of. "D. R. Peeler, commissioner and president of the First National bank at Kellsip, who is in charge of the project, will not visit the fair there, but proposes to spend his energy working up the Lewis and Clark fair, and says that he will use his influence to secure a larger appropriation of $20,000 to $100,000," says Mr. Marshall. "The people at Spokane have secured new quarters in Spokane hotel for the purpose of exploiting their section in connection with the Lewis and Clark exposition."

MORE MINERS ARE EXILED FROM VICTOR. (Journal Special Service.) Victor, Colo., June 23.—Another deportation of union miners took place last night at Victor, where 30 men were shipped to their destination being ostensibly Colorado miners. The deportation was not previously announced and there was a total lack of the parties scenes which marked the earlier trips to exile.

MAYOR WILLIAMS VISITS WARSHIPS

CHIEF EXECUTIVE EXTENDS cordial greetings to officers of SQUADRON—JACKIES OF THE PAUL JONES RESCUE MARRIED COUPLE FROM DROWNING.

Amid the booming of cannon and the hearty "Glad to meet you, sir," spoken by the officers, Mayor George H. Williams and the other city officials visited the fleet of war vessels now in the harbor this afternoon. The officials were rowed to the monitor Wyoming at 2:30 o'clock where the officers of that vessel and those from the destroyers Perry and Paul Jones were assembled. The war vessels are the center of attraction on the waterfront, and vie with the carnival as a rendezvous of Portland pleasure seekers. All afternoon, the crowds scrambled about the turret and moored down, and the engine room to see "what makes the big ship go." The jackies are neatly dressed and do every thing in their power to provide every fair visitor with a souvenir of the ship and a keepsake to remember the blue jacket who explained.

DIVE KEEPER FINED $40 FOR SLUGGING

JED HART FAILS TO PROVE THAT THE MAN HE POUNDED INTO INSUBMITTABILITY ATTACKED HIM—CHINESE SAMARITAN TENDED THE RUFFIAN'S VICTIM.

For brutally beating and kicking William Jones so that he was unconscious for four hours, Jed Hart, a diver-keeper of the north end district, was this morning fined $40 by Municipal Judge Hogue. Hart attempted to show that he was attacked by Jones, but his statement was not believed, as there were no marks on him to show that he had received even a scratch in the fierce engagement. It was shown by Deputy City Attorney Fitzgerald that Hart was the sole aggressor, for he struck Jones with his fist, on one finger of which was protruding a large ring that inflicted deep gashes in the face of his victim. The only witness called by Hart was Dolly Green, a performer in the dive. She stated that she saw Hart and Jones in the concert hall operated by Hart. She knew but little of the case in point, however, and her testimony did not help Hart a trifle. Hart narrowly escaped being arrested on a charge of kidnapping when he was arrested after hours, as Jones testified that the fight took place at 1:30. Hart was able to show that the front doors were bolted. Jones received a terrible beating, and was rendered unconscious. He was operated during the hearing that a Chinese servant employed by Hart entered the dive where Jones lay at 4 o'clock that morning and found him still unconscious. Hart had left the helpless victim of his wrath lying on the floor without aid or attention of any kind. Acting the part of a good Samaritan, the servant carried Jones to a room in the house above, paid for a bed for him and secured medical attention for him. The result occurred a week ago and today Jones' face is still black and blue.

CHINESE GOODBYE TO BISHOP CRANSTON

A farewell reception and entertainment to Bishop Earl Cranston was given last evening at M. E. Chinese mission, 207 Alder street, by the pupils of the mission. The little hall was crowded, and an excellent program of solos, vocal duets, recitations and Chinese instrumental music was given. The room was decorated with flags and cut flowers. Rev. L. E. Rockwell acted as chairman for the evening. The opening address, a farewell to Bishop Cranston, was delivered by Rev. Chan Sing Kai, in charge of the mission. He congratulated Bishop Cranston on his appointment and expressed his regret that he was obliged to go so far away, but added that the bishop would never be forgotten by the Chinese of Portland, to whom he has always been a kind friend. Bishop Cranston replied briefly, saying that he was pleased with the work that had been done among the Chinese of Portland, and while he is away he will keep before him the Chinese people among the Chinese was started two years ago, and now the Sunday school is one of the most prosperous in Portland. The members have taken up the work of securing funds for a new building, and the Chinese have already raised more than $75 toward this end.
