RAIN UNLIKELY FOR THE PRESENT

EXPECTATION OF SHOWERS DECREASES AS THE WEATHER CONDITIONS BECOME SETTLED—CROPS SUFFER FOR LACK OF WATER.

There are no indications that rain will fall in this immediate section soon. In spite of the complaints of farmers and others who are in sore need of showers, the weather office has no encouragement to offer. At 1 o'clock this afternoon it was announced that fair weather would likely be experienced in this section and weather conditions had become settled to such an extent as to dispel any indications of rain.

SHORT CROP EXPECTED.

Lack of Rain Keeps Down the Hops. (Special Dispatch to The Journal.) Salem, Or., July 1.—Joseph Harris, a hop dealer, reports that hops in Washington are in an unpromising condition with prospects that the crop will be from 25,000 to 40,000 bales. In New York he says about the same condition exists as last year, and the crop will not amount to more than 50,000 bales, or less than half a crop.

ARABIA TO SAIL FOR THE FAR EAST

BIG ORIENTAL LINER HAS CARGO OF 5,000 TONS—ORIENTERS WOULD HOLD SERVICES ABOARD ON SOUTH MATS' BODY, BUT THIS IS AGAINST LAW. If all goes well the oriental liner Arabia will sail for the far east tomorrow morning before daylight. Captain Pope moved her up from the Albina dock last evening to the Southern Pacific wharf, where she will receive the last of her cargo. As the warships are lying in that vicinity, it required some very expert piloting to bring her through the draw of the steel bridge and placed in the desired position for taking on freight. Only one towboat was available at the time, but the big liner was made to glide through the draw and circle around the armed fleet as easily as though she had been a toy boat.

REGISTERED 103 DEGREES.

The Dalles, Or., July 1.—The thermometer on Wednesday registered 103 degrees. Even the night following was hot, which is something unusual in this vicinity. Today is cool and cloudy and a cool west wind is blowing.

Sane Third and Fourth.

If you're particularly anxious to save your temper, anxious to let the neighbor boys live and anxious to avoid startled nerves and a severe headache, take the patent "Baitley-Gates" for a day's outing up the Columbia to Cascade Locks on Monday, the Fourth. Steamer leaves Alder street wharf at 8:30 a. m., returning to Portland at 8:30. Excellent meals served on board. Round trip $1.—"Gates" makes same trip Sunday, the day before the Fourth, connecting with the steamer "Regulator" for points above the locks.

ARABIA TO SAIL FOR THE FAR EAST

With the Arabia lying in the vicinity of the warships another attraction is provided for the large number of visitors who call down that way every day. She is receiving about as much attention as her big formidable-looking neighbors. It is said that some of the Chinese residents were preparing to hold services on the steamer, just prior to her departure, over the body of Lou May, a prominent Chinese merchant, whose remains are going to be shipped back to the orient. But the captain announced that it will be impossible for the deceased man's friends to carry out such a program. He explains that the immigration authorities will not permit it, as they have an iron-clad rule in force forbidding any Chinese to go aboard a steamer just previous to her sailing unless they intend making the passage. Unless they have business of a very important nature they are not allowed aboard at any other time. There is hardly a day elapses that a Chinaman is not prevented from going aboard.

DOCK EMPLOYEES FEAR EPIDEMIC.

Lower Docks Are Loaded With Sewerage and Fever May Follow. Unless the docks should be thoroughly cleaned after the high water subsides it is feared that much sickness will follow the occupancy of the docks. The water has gone down sufficiently to permit of the lower docks again being occupied, and a few of the offices have already been moved from the upper floors. Owing to the lower floors having been inundated so long they are in a filthy condition. Decayed vegetation and other refuse matter have been

DRYDOCK IS BUSY.

Takes On Big Barge and Three Other Vessels Will Be Docked Soon. A barge 225 feet in length and belonging to Wakefield & Jameson was taken on the drydock yesterday to be repaired. The barge is longer and of greater weight than any of the vessels which have been taken on the dock excepting the British ship Beacon Rock which is now occupying the three inner pontoons. It is expected that both vessels will be in shape to lower into the water about Monday. Better progress is being made in completing the work on the ship than was at first thought would be the case. The barge is being overhauled and recaulked.

LOGGERS COME FOR FOURTE.

As is usually the case, all the logging camps down the Columbia have closed down until after the Fourth, and the wilders of the six are flocking into Portland by the boatload to participate in the celebration scheduled to come off on Monday. On the Lulline, which arrived this morning, there were nearly 200 loggers, who state that there are more to follow them. They came from Stella and Oak Point principally. By the first of the week they estimate that there will be in the neighborhood of 1,000 of them in Portland from their immediate vicinity.

ALONG THE WATERFRONT.

Tomorrow morning the new steamer Oregon of the Oregon City Transportation company's fleet will go out on her maiden trip. She will go up the river as far as Salem. After having her boilers repaired the steamer Dalles City will again resume her run tomorrow. Carrying a general cargo the steam schooner Aurelia arrived in port this morning from San Francisco. The captain reports that he encountered head winds all the way up the coast, and as a consequence the vessel arrived a day late. P. P. Baumgartner, local agent of the California & Oregon Coast Steamship company, was informed this morning that the steamer Nome City had been chartered by an excursion party to make a trip on Puget sound to the Fourth, and he was invited to go to Seattle and assume management of the affair.

OBSERVE GRAND ARMY DAY AT LA GRANDE

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) La Grande, Or., July 1.—Grand Army day is being observed at the eastern Oregon reunion in this city of the G. A. R. veterans, Women's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans. The camping ground is crowded with tents. Addresses were made this afternoon by the assistant adjutant-general and others. The election of officers will also take place today and tonight there will be another big campfire. The big crowds now in the city will remain until after the big celebration on the Fourth, to be held here.
