

PREACHES GLAD GOSPEL OF PUSH

RUFUS JENNINGS, HEAD OF CALIFORNIA PROMOTION COMMITTEE, TELLS OF THE NEW PROGRESSIVE ERA THAT IS BEING INAUGURATED ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

Rufus P. Jennings, executive officer of the California Promotion committee, strayed from San Francisco this morning and is reviewing the city, preliminary to appearing before the Commercial club this evening and addressing the city on the Pacific Coast and its opportunities.

Manager Tom Richardson of the Commercial club has completed plans for the reception of Mr. Jennings and anticipates that practically all of the 700 members of the club who are in the city will be present. Theodore B. Wilcox, at the request of Governor Chamberlain, who is absent, is to deliver the address.

California Macs the Fair. "As an earnest of this spirit, we of California are going to do everything in our power to make the Lewis and Clark fair a success—and when I say everybody I mean everybody from the governor down."

"This commercial club in Portland is a good thing, is doing good work, and has secured the right man in Mr. Richardson; but your people will have to work together to make it a complete success. In California, this promotion committee, believe, is the most unique committee in the world in that it has got the whole state from San Diego county to Trinity county to work in unison. They are pulling as one man for the state of California. They, within the last two years, have agreed that if one man at a time pulled on a heavy anchor the chances are that the anchor would never be lifted. We of San Francisco want Portland, Seattle, Spokane, our own town and the other chief cities of the coast to pull together."

A Business Question. "This creating a western movement for the development of our vast resources and the settlement of our vast lands is a business proposition. It is just as much a business proposition as it has been for Mr. Harriman to surround himself with heads of departments who will do the work. It is a sort of people, in any part of our vast domain, will do all of us good. In San Francisco the men in this movement are willing to put up funds for an institution that will build up the interior of the state. I believe Portland men are realizing that this is good business and that they are willing to do likewise. It is a well known fact that the cities take care of themselves in their growth, but they have to depend on the surrounding country for prosperity. In California, the big tracts of land were long a business proposition, but now they are being cut up and the small farmer and the market gardener is having his day and the country is increasing proportionately in productive capacity. The same condition should prevail on the large raw tracts of land in this state."

Surprised at Portland. "As for Portland, I know that it was growing, but I did not expect to see the lovely city that I have been viewing this morning. The trees, the roses, the vines and the beautiful lawns and door-yards are in themselves worth going miles to see. The business, the air and the air of substantially in the heart of the city but increases my admiration for the city."

Regarding the personality of the California Promotion committee Mr. Jennings said: "This committee has been in existence less than two years. In it is one representative from each of the five original commercial organizations in San Francisco. On the committee are A. Scharboro, banker and viticulturist, from the Manufacturing Producers association, chairman; George W. McKear, a grain man, from the Merchants' exchange; A. A. Watkins, a hardware man, from the board of trade; Fred J. Koster, a business man who is at the head of the California Barium company and who has telegraphed me that he will be in attendance at the commercial club meeting this evening; and myself, I being the representative on the committee from the chamber of commerce."

In conjunction with this committee there is an advisory committee consisting of the governor, the presidents of the two big universities, a member from each of the railroads and members from different sections of the state. "And there is also in connection with this committee a committee on publicity, whose members are from all parts of the state; and the counties; committee having members from each of the 47 counties in the state. "These committees are together in meetings, and the result of these meetings is the work that the Promotion committee has been able to do for California."

DEATH OF CAPTAIN R. BRADLEY'S SON

"Dickey" Bradley, 12 years of age, son of Capt. Richard Bradley, for 30 years captain of the Oakland-San Francisco ferry service, and well known to the coast shipping trade, died suddenly at the Imperial hotel last night while en route home to Alameda, Cal., from a two-months pleasure trip to New Orleans, St. Louis and Canada. "Dickey," as everybody called him, was never ill a day in his life until about a week ago, when he was stricken with stomach trouble in Vancouver, B. C. His parents brought him to this city and he was removed from the Portland hospital to St. Vincent's hospital. At the hospital he improved and Thursday was removed to the Imperial. Yesterday he seemed unusually strong, and played about the hotel. In the evening he suffered a relapse, and Dr. Tom-mald, the attending physician, was hurriedly called. The physician was to have come back at 9 o'clock, but before he arrived the boy's condition became so serious that Dr. Barrett had been called in, but found life extinct. The body will be shipped to Oakland tonight.

Tickets for Ocean Beach. Season tickets, Portland to any point on the beach, $4.00. Saturday excursion tickets, $2.00. Sunday night, only $2.50. Tickets and berth reservations at O. R. & N. city office, Third and Washington.

GUGLIELMO SAYS HE WILL APPEAL

CONDEMNED MURDERER INTER-RUPTS CARD PLAYING LONG ENOUGH TO ANNOUNCE HIS INTENTION OF TAKING HIS CASE TO THE STATE SUPREME COURT.

Frank Guglielmo, convicted in 30 minutes by a jury in the circuit court of Multnomah county of murder in the first degree by the killing of 16-year-old Etta Gafardo, will appeal his case to the Oregon supreme court. In the county jail this morning he, with another prisoner in the same cell, was engaged in the child-like occupation of suspending a fancy colored hair comb by means of a thread hanging from the ceiling. His face has lost the pallid hue it wore in the courtroom during his trial, and appeared healthy and robust.

"Will you appeal your case to the supreme court?" he replied, "Yes, I think I will." It has been a general opinion about the courthouse that Guglielmo would take an appeal. His lawyers have eight more days, in which to file an appeal. "I suppose they will appeal the case," said District Attorney Manning this morning. "Murder cases are nearly always appealed, and lawyers do not think they are doing their duty to a client unless they appeal his case. But should that be done in the present case it will not make any difference in the ultimate result."

Isaac Swett stated for his legal partner, F. Murphy, this afternoon that it had been definitely decided to appeal the case to the state supreme court.

PARKER'S FRIENDS PREDICTING VICTORY

Indian territory and New Mexico and a territorial government for Porto Rico. Reference is also made to the Bryan Kansas City Platform.

No Quorum Present. At 10 o'clock this morning the sub-committee of the Democratic national committee was to have met to select Williams of Mississippi for temporary speaker at the convention, but not enough members could be gotten together for the work and an adjournment was taken until 3 o'clock this afternoon. A crowd of boomers arrived at the Jefferson hotel this morning from California, Nevada and Arizona. They immediately put a different note in the prevalent tone, which has been heretofore strongly pro-Parker. Congressman Smith of Arizona said: "Our delegation is for Hearst until the last ditch. We have no second choice; but if it should come to a showdown between Parker and Hearst, we would be for Parker. There is no demand in our part of the country for a restoration of the Kansas City platform. Our people don't want to ride a dead horse in the race."

News for Hearst. Senator Newlands of Nevada, who holds the proxy of the late National Committee member Ryan of the state, said that while in Nevada delegates are for Hearst, there is a friendly feeling among them for Parker.

John R. McLean of Ohio is a candidate for the nomination of vice-president, according to his friends. He will not attend the convention; neither will Hearst.

August Belmont, the New York banker, arrived this morning and took charge of the Parker campaign. He declined to discuss the situation, but is confident of Parker's nomination. Ex-Senator Allen of Nebraska is another arrival. Allen predicted that Bryan would make a poor showing in Chicago and that he would pale into insignificance. Allen is bound for the Springfield national convention of the Populists. Nothing definite is known as yet as to the permanent chairmanship. Bailey of Texas may not attend the convention. Others spoken of are Thomas Barkworth of Michigan, Mayor Rose of Milwaukee, and Patrick Collins of Boston. All three are Parker men.

At the Platters' hotel this morning boxes containing 25,000 Parker buttons were opened. It is probable that Parker's name will be placed before the convention by Martin Littleton, president of the borough of Brooklyn. Committeeman Bailey of Texas wired to Parker this morning, asking him to deliver the nominating speech on account of the illness of his son.

GORMAN GETS LEFT

Washington, July 2.—Senator Gorman did not leave for St. Louis this morning, as had been expected, the special train bearing the first section of the Maryland delegation, passing through Laurel, the senator's home town, without stopping. Gorman will probably leave tomorrow.

TAMMANY'S TRIP TO ST. LOUIS

New York, July 2.—Arrangements have been concluded for the trip of the Tammany men to the Democratic national convention. They will travel by St. Louis on six special trains—three by the New York Central, two by the Pennsylvania, and one by the Baltimore & Ohio. All will leave tomorrow morning.

ROBBERS DEFEATED BY SHOE PURSE

"Drop your money in your shoe or don't have any." In the prescription Charles Schwartz gives to his highwaymen, Schwartz is visiting in this city from Tacoma. He had between $70 and $80 when he made a trip to south Portland last night and before starting on his return to the city stopped in a saloon to get a match. While doing so he was closely observed by two men who lounged in the place. They followed him for several blocks, and perceiving their actions, he took the money from his pocket and slipped it into his shoe. On reaching Park and Salmon streets he was accosted by the men, one of whom thrust a revolver in his face. The highwaymen made a thorough search of his clothing, but failed to find the money.

DEATH OF W. W. SCHELLEGG

W. W. Schlegel of Russellville died yesterday afternoon of paralysis, after an illness of four months. Mr. Schlegel was 54 years of age at the time of his death and has resided in the city for many years. For 14 years he has been employed by the Pouvey Bros. company. He leaves a widow, a grown son and a daughter. The funeral will be held at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the burial will be made at Lone Fir.

LIQUOR DEALERS JOIN INTERESTS

ONE ORGANIZATION FORMED FROM THREE LOCAL LIQUOR DEALERS' ASSOCIATIONS AND J. E. KELLY IS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF NEW BODY.

Consolidation of the three organizations hitherto existing among the retail liquor dealers of Portland was effected yesterday afternoon at a largely attended meeting in Eagles' hall. The Merchants' Protective association, the

JOHN E. KELLY, President of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association.

Retail Liquor Dealers' union and the old Retail Liquor Dealers' association are now merged in a new combination, which is expected to become affiliated with the National Retail Liquor Dealers' association.

John E. Kelly was elected president of the new association. Mr. Kelly was vice-president of the old retailers' association and was one of its leading spirits, having had the management of the recent campaign by the association against the local option law. His conduct of the campaign won the approval of his associates and resulted in his election as head of the new organization. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice-president, D. A. Germanus; secretary, Louis Dammasch; treasurer, John Englehardt; executive committee, Charles Kirchner, Frederick Reich, H. H. Harmon, Louis E. Trummer, J. V. Lanekin. All of the officers elected will serve until January 1, 1905, when another election will be held.

Another meeting will be held two weeks from yesterday and a constitution and by-laws will then be adopted. The new association starts with a membership of about 150 and expects in time to supplant every retail liquor dealer in the city. A donation of $25 was voted for the annual Fourth of July picnic of the Catholic orphanage.

WOMAN IS CAUSE OF FIERCE FIGHT

E. J. HAYES AND JOHN NUSBAUM BATTLE WITH FISTS, AND ALL ON ACCOUNT OF THE FORMER'S JEALOUSY, SO THE LATTER DECLARES.

Domestic troubles in the home of E. J. Hayes, residing at 547 Fourteenth street north, last night resulted in a fierce fight at Fourteenth and Main streets between Hayes and John Nusbaum, a miller, employed in Albers Brothers' mill. The prisoner declares Hayes is jealous without cause, saying he has never attempted to break up the home of Hayes.

When the fight was at its height Patrolman Jones chanced by on a street car and alighted to investigate. Some one suggested that he search Nusbaum for a gun, and took from his hip pocket a revolver. This morning Nusbaum was arraigned in the municipal court on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, and was fined $20.

There has been trouble in the Hayes family for many months. Previously Mrs. Hayes caused her husband's arrest on a charge of assault, Judge Hogue at that time persuaded them to live in peace for their children's sakes.

DRY FOURTH IS NOT IMPROBABLE

It is bothering the small boy, and others, too, for that matter, to know whether or not it will rain on the Fourth. So erratic has been the weather in this city on previous Fourth's that bets are being made freely by those who claim intimate acquaintance with the weather man. Publicly that official refuses to make a prediction on the weather for Monday. Conditions are too unsettled, he says, to justify an opinion. However, it was announced at the weather office this morning that conditions were favorable for fair weather for the next 24 hours at least.

To those who desire to speculate on the weather next Monday, Mr. Beala has prepared a form sheet in the shape of statistics on weather conditions on previous Fourth's of July. Since 1871, conditions are too unsettled, he says, to justify an opinion. However, it was announced at the weather office this morning that conditions were favorable for fair weather for the next 24 hours at least.

GO TO THE TRENCHES

squadron on June 23, by Victory Alex. St. Louis, July 2.—This report explains why the squadron remained in the outer roadstead, naming as the reason that the channel cannot be used by vessels of a deep draft, owing to the action of the tide at Fort Arthur during certain hours. As to the whereabouts of the Port Arthur fleet at the present time, all is a matter of speculation, and if the squadron has again gone out, as is rumored, no official advices have been given out.

WRIGHT'S (Wright and Wrongs Nobody)

More About "Round the Horn" Pianos and the "Coupon" Proposition

In our article of June 24 we showed that the "Round the Horn" shipment of pianos, which we have heard so much about, had been multiplied fourfold upon investigation. The coupon scheme, which originated with this shipment, is not, upon investigation, as it appears to be. Our esteemed competitor comes back at us with a feeble attempt at humor; and in his desperate effort to bring the minds of the public, tries to "square" himself by ignoring the facts and figures given in our article, which so sensibly concern the piano-purchasing public—for instance, the various prices asked for the Jacob Doll piano.

A Business Point of View

The freight rate from New York by rail is $2.50 per hundred, and by the Horn $1.75 per hundred. The average piano, boxed, weighs 500 pounds, costing $15.00 by rail and $17.75 via the Horn, a saving of $4.00. There being 20 pianos in a saving in freight amounting to a total of $120.00. Now, it will be remembered in this connection that they said in their advertisement of May 29 that "this is the largest shipment of fine pianos ever made in the world, to our house," which, on the face of it, amounts to at least $60, making a total net saving of $176 on this mammoth order. Nothing is said about the cost of doing business (see elsewhere) and, according to their own statement, a piano can be shipped in harness (saving the weight of a box) by rail for $15.50 per piano, which is less than the "Round the Horn" method. Why, then, ship around the Horn?

Does This Justify?

Does this justify the reduction they claim they are making? No! No sane man or woman believes that. It is claimed that, owing to superior methods of doing business (see elsewhere, if they are patented), they have been able to sell pianos cheaper than other dealers. But, according to the "Round the Horn" saving in freight of $4.00, and a saving of storage amounting to 20 cents per piano, and that to learn the truth Portland paper is the best advertising medium (?) they are now selling pianos for $150 less than formerly, besides accepting a coupon at $25, making a total saving to the customer of $155. This is an admission that they have been making more than $155 on a piano, for no one believes that they are selling at cost.

A Good Suggestion

Let some one who has bought one of their pianos previous to this coupon sale price of the same piano now, and see if it is now offered for $155 less than you were able to buy yours.

Building Up a Community

The Eilers Piano House gives us some fatherly advice in the following words: "The way to build up a community is not to attempt to pull down the business of other people, but to dig in and try to do something along those lines yourself. That is just what we are going to do. We are going to force the issue relative to false advertising, whether it comes from the Eilers Piano House or any other house in this city. The piano should be placed upon a higher and broader plane, commensurate with its elevating and ennobling influence upon human character. In view of the degrading 'methods' resorted to by the house herein referred to, we hereby offer ourselves to the re-statement of the noblest of instruments, which has been betrayed in the dust. When any other Portland pianist or broker takes the same methods we will condemn them in like manner. We may be found doing business at the new store in the old, legitimate way, trying to build up the community by legitimate advertising. THE CRY OF THE PUBLIC—"For Once Let Us Have a 'Sane' Fourth of July"

"I'LL SEE THAT THIS GUY GETS THEMSELVES ANYWAY."

"I'LL BATE THE LOUPE OUT OF VEZ."

THEY UNCLE LOOKS OUT FOR HIS OWN. The word has been shouted in highway and lane. That in Portland's great Retail Day shall be "Sane". So'll be bet for cents that this bunch may cry. But will not bust a bomb on this Fourth of July.

HIDDI TANS HIS JACKETS. By his shootin' the crack-pot shows he's done. Faith's 'em with his wife I'll convince you. The son, It's been better for you till he down an' die. That touch paper annoys this Fourth of July.

THE SMALL BOY'S REASONING. Oh, what the world would a boy have to gain. If all of creation should say that he's sane. And he not permitted to put out an eye. Or blow his horn on the Fourth of July!

THE BASTARD POLICEMAN FINDS HIS OWN REASON. Well, what the world would a boy have to gain. I caught 'em a 'tude' the bomb to his tail. An' the doggie I saw down the avenue fly. So 'e'll lie up in prison this Fourth of July.

A WORD TO THE REVELERS—Should you be in great distress, Because you've soiled your coat or dress, And should have clothes to clean and press, The Fashion Tailors are the best.
