

JUNE BRIDES AND OUT OF TOWN GUESTS OCCUPY SOCIETY

DURING the hot June days social activity would naturally cease entirely, but several gay functions have been given this week. Mrs. Durkheimer and Mrs. Baruh easily led with their reception Wednesday. Entertainments of all kinds continue to find their way on the calendar because there are so many out-of-town visitors to be honored. The warships and the carnival have secured some attention from parties of visitors and they seem to be still going strong. June has seen most of the weddings safely celebrated and the number will decrease noticeably from this time.

There have been several enjoyable excursions during the week. There were two excursions given by the Western academy, one by the Oregon conservatory and one by the pupils of Mr. William Wallace Graham. The concert given for the Seaman's Institute was well attended.

Outings on land and water continue in popularity. Several river excursions and picnics have been given by church organizations. The number of visitors to the beach and mountains is still small, but many plan to go this month.

Events of the Week

A pretty wedding reception was given by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Berger Friday evening at their home, 826 Corbett street, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Middlebrooks. The porch, prettily lighted with Chinese lanterns, was banked with blue and white streamers. Miss Spencer, dressed in white silk, served refreshments to the guests.

The hall was festooned with red and white streamers. The reception and dining rooms with blue and white streamers, had large bunches of marigolds and potted ferns here and there. The living room, entirely in red, was decorated with the dark mantelpieces.

Mrs. Berger's two little sons acted as pages and admitted the guests. Her little daughter, gowned in dainty blue organdie, stood at the head of the stairs to direct the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Berger, in white, stood in the parlor. The bride was handsomely gowned in violet silk with white lace and pearls. The bride wore a pretty cream veil.

Miss Kennedy played an enjoyable piano solo and Dr. Lindsay sang "O Promise Me" and "Answer." Miss Brock sang and McCurdy's orchestra played throughout the evening. In the dining room four young ladies in white, Miss Nicks, Miss Ryan and the Misses Holman, served iced and cakes. The table was prettily with a centerpiece of sweet peas and with fern trailers winding about on the lace cloth.

The guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Arnold Lindsay, Dr. and Mrs. James Moore, Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Henkle celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Monday evening, when a host of friends surprised them at their home in Independence. During the evening Rev. Dr. Thompson read the wedding ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Henkle repeated their vows. The guests presented them with a handsome silver tea set. Luncheon was served in the dining room.

The Misses Mal and Clementine Hirsch returned Tuesday from their trip through Yellowstone park. They went from here with a party of six.

The Fortuna club was agreeably entertained Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Foster at their home, 711 Mississippi avenue. A short business session occupied the early part of the evening. Cliché was played and Mrs. De Wert and Mr. R. A. Woodburn won the prizes. Refreshments were served on small tables on the lawn. Mr. Schomp and Mr. Patterson were admitted to membership. The club will go on a moonlight picnic in about two weeks. A small steamer will be chartered to take the party to one of the islands, where the evening will be passed in true picnic style.

An enjoyable affair was the lawn reception given Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. E. Davis, 299 Angel avenue, by the Philolettian society of the high school in honor of their members in the June graduating class. The lawn was hung with Chinese lanterns and high school pennants. Gray and cardinal, the society colors, were also in evidence. Progressive table games were played. Miss Cleveland and Mr. Marshall securing the prizes. Partners for the contest were chosen in a pretty and unique manner through a gray and cardinal may-pole. The score cards in the evening. Later, the scores were in evidence. Mrs. Beth Bradley entertained a number of her friends informally Thursday evening at her home in Fulton Park. The guests were: Mrs. Rhoades by her relatives. In a guessing contest of advertisements, Miss Hazel Bonner and Mr. Arthur Dibble won the prizes. There were festoons of Chinese lanterns hung among the trees and comfortable seats were distributed about the lawn. Ice cream in cornucopias was served. Miss Bradley left yesterday for her new home in Marshfield.

A pleasant lawn party was given Monday evening at the home of Miss Elsie Fischer, 114 East Third street, with Miss Elsie Rometsch, Miss Elsie Marsh and Miss Elsie Fischer as hostesses. The lawn was illuminated with Chinese lanterns. The evening was passed with table games. Punch was at the disposal of the guests throughout the evening. Later, ice cream, cake and sandwiches were served. Those present were: Miss Elsie Fischer, Miss Elsie Rometsch, Miss Elsie Marsh, Miss Klump, Miss Tillie Klump, Miss Mattie Mathews, Miss Myrtle Bennett, Miss Elsie Lowitz, Miss Edith Berns, Miss Marion Drewery, Miss J. M. Shea, Mr. W. T. Simons, Mr. Nye Kern, Mr. Ben Veiguth, Mr. Charles Breyer, Messrs. Henry and Charles Jennings, Mr. Raymond Pease, Mr. Claude Smith, Messrs. Ray and Will Ruppel and Mr. Roy Smith.

The old-fashioned country reception, given the high school graduating class, by the alumni, Tuesday evening, was well attended and very successful. The hall of the Western Academy of Music was elaborately decorated with cardinal bunting festooned from ceiling to wall and draped about the walls. Red roses were in profusion. Receiving the guests at the door was the reception committee composed of Mr. Otto J. Cramer, Miss Zaidie McConaughy, Miss Edwina Mastick, Miss Florence Hilton, Mr. William Harris and Mr. Jay H. Upton. A short informal program was given by the alumni association, welcomed the guests and Mr. Arthur Murphy responded for the class. The evening passed with dancing, most of the numbers being quadrilles, Virginia reels and lancers. Refreshments were served in the supper room.

A pleasant gathering at the home of Hiram Rhoades at Portsmouth last Sunday, June 26, celebrated the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Rhoades and Mr. Harry Hamilton of Portland. The parlors were prettily decorated with roses, sweet peas and palms. Dinner was served at 3:30 on a large table decorated with scarlet ramblers. After dinner the company adjourned to the lawn for social intercourse.

A beautiful old glass water bottle was presented to Mrs. Rhoades by her relatives. Mr. Hamilton received a handsome carving set.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Rhoades, Mrs. James Stewart, Charles Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hamilton, Mrs. S. A. Hamilton, Mrs. D. H. McCarty, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Helen Hamilton, Master Jack McGee, all of Portland; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Alcorn, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Watts, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Alcorn, all of Linton.

Who Were Married Last Week.

beautiful with huge bouquets of Joseph lilies. The room was entirely in white and pink, with dainty pink sweet peas here and there. A bridal veil was knotted and draped in the corner of the room where the brides stood. Mrs. Durkheimer, Mrs. Baruh, Mrs. Leo Friede and Mrs. Starr, brides received their gifts in this room.

The drawing-room made a brilliant picture with scarlet rambler twining about the mantel, the bookcases and the window-seats. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. A. J. Giesy, Mrs. Simon Harris, Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, Mrs. Mark Levy and Mrs. Eppstein of San Francisco.

The dining-room was decorated with wisteria and La France roses. Streamers of wisteria were festooned in the bay window, and the window-seat was banked with the roses. The sideboard also presented masses of roses and wisteria peeping out from between the shelves. The table was exquisite with a handsome Japanese cloth of Canton linen, Gairland naparagus fern, and intertwining streamers of pink mull started from a huge bowl of the mull caught by the chandelier. The ends were fastened at the corners of the table. A handsome centerpiece was formed with a huge cut-glass bowl full of La France roses, in which stood a tall cut-glass vase also filled with roses. Mrs. Ben Neustader and Mrs. Felix Friedlander served iced and cakes. Mrs. N. Teal and Mrs. Emmanuel Sichel served the salad. Assisting in the dining-room were Miss Almee Newman, Miss Germaine Samuel, Miss Emma Sorenson and Miss Eppstein of San Francisco.

The company was one of the most handsomely gowned assemblies seen in Portland this year. Mrs. Durkheimer and Mrs. Baruh were in the lead, dressed in white silk. Mrs. Baruh wore embroidered champagne silk crepe. The brides were both in white silk net over silk. There were 300 guests in attendance.

The Woodlawn Grammar School alumni held their first reception Thursday evening at the school building in honor of the school's 25th anniversary. A warm welcome by the president, games and music were the order of the evening.

The hall was prettily decorated with roses, maple boughs and ferns, a part of which had been transformed into miniature wood, which was strung with Chinese lanterns. Here at tete-a-tete tables were served at the pleasure of the students.

The officers of the alumni are as follows: President, Mr. Sam Foster; vice-president, Miss Edith Woodcock; secretary, Mr. Charles Reynolds; corresponding secretary, Mr. George Davis; treasurer, Mr. Chester Cooper; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Patience McManor.

A delightful garden-party was given at the home of Mrs. J. P. Water, Saturday, June 26. The garden consists of a grassy lot completely shaded by four large trees, three of which are cherry trees loaded with fruit. Cards were sent to the guests in advance, and refreshments consisted of ripe cherries, with biscuits and cheese sandwiches.
