

KAISER DOES NOT LIKE "NEW WOMEN"

Leaves Palace When Delegation From International Congress Calls On Empress and Shows Displeasure Since Then.

(Copyright, Hearst News Service, by Leased Wire to The Journal.)

(By Malcolm Clarke.)

Berlin, July 2.—The Kaiser has not yet quite forgiven the empress that she received in private audience a number of the delegates to the international congress of women, who advocated principles the Kaiser strongly opposes.

It is stated that he even left the palace all day when the progress-loving women were expected, and that a certain coolness has arisen between the imperial couple since then. The Kaiser has very old-fashioned ideas regarding women, and is a bitter enemy of the admission of female students to the colleges and universities of Germany.

He maintains that woman's sphere is founded by the walls of her home, and has repeatedly said that the ideal German woman should have no higher ambition in life than to become the mother of many and sturdy sons capable of bearing arms.

While she was younger the empress agreed with her husband on this subject, but during later years she has followed the development of woman's progress with considerable interest much to the sorrow of her imperial spouse. In spite, however, of the government's having done to discourage women in government service, the number of women who have entered the railroad, telegraph and telephone service is rapidly increasing, and they have given far better satisfaction than their male competitors.

Kingly Meeting Falls.
The meeting between the Kaiser and King Edward, though apparently very cordial, failed, however, to efface the lack of personal sympathy between the two monarchs. At the dinner which followed, it might as well not have taken place at all.

The reception given the king of England by the people was more than cool, and all the cheering was done by the soldiers and marines who performed as they performed any other duty, with perfect precision. That King Edward was rather bored by the whole affair, outside of the interest he, as the born sportsman, took in the events of the regatta was evident to every one who watched his expression.

With his keen sense of humor, he, however, is said to have greatly enjoyed the incident which took place on board the Hohenzollern.

After luncheon the Kaiser, who wanted to smoke a cigar on deck, could not find his pocket knife. A young officer hastened to offer him one, but the Kaiser cut off the end of his cigar and returned the knife to the officer, saying in his most serious manner: "Keep it and guard it well—some day it will be historic."

King Edward, who overheard the Kaiser's words, is said to have made heroic efforts to keep from bursting out in laughter, and fortunately succeeded so well that his imperial nephew did not notice anything.

Tolstol is Well.
A German journalist who has just returned from Russia, where he visited Count Tolstol on his estate, writes that the great writer and philosopher is in most excellent health and if possible works harder than ever. He is at present writing an essay on Shakespeare, or rather, against Shakespeare, for the count hates the English playwright most cordially.

He accuses him of having been an insupportable aristocrat, whose heroes belonged to the higher classes, and who invariably ridiculed all artisans which figure in his plays.

The essay will be finished and published before the end of this month.

Dog Discovers Murder.
A dog belonging to a policeman in Brunswick has recently discovered a murder. A teamster named Duwe has been arrested and has confessed that he had murdered an 41-year-old girl, daughter of a widow, Mrs. Bebenoth. The dog was taken into the room where the murder had been committed, and Duwe, with a number of other suspects, was brought in.

The dog had no sooner laid an eye on him when it made a rush for him, and would have bitten him but for the interference of his master. Twice Duwe was removed and allowed to change his clothing, but the dog again picked him out. There was no other evidence against him and he would probably never have been convicted if he had not confessed.

Sultan Going Insane.
Sultan Abdul Hamid is declared to be on the verge of insanity and a state of terror is reported to reign at Yildiz Kiosk, where a number of officials have been executed, suspected of having conspired against the life of the sultan. It is impossible to get exact facts, but the grand vizier is said to have discovered that certain members of the harem had been approached by disaffected officers of the guards, that a plan had been laid to poison the sultan.

Several inmates of the harem have been thrown into the bosphorus and Abdul Hamid is said to be afraid to take any nourishment even if the food had been sampled by the chief cook in his presence.

The sultan is now reported to be such that it may be necessary to place him in a padded room that he shall not be driven to commit suicide by despair.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Dallas, Or., July 2.—Great preparations are being made for the celebration in Dallas July 4. The program is completed, and the different committees have spared no effort to make the affair a grand success.

Today the annual pioneers reunion was held. The procession formed on Main street at 10 o'clock in the morning and headed by the Dallas and Monmouth and Dallas bands, marched to the grove where the exercises were held. Hon. William Galloway delivered the annual address, and the occasional address was made by Mayor J. C. Haxton. A basket dinner was given in the grove during the noon hour. At 1 o'clock in the afternoon the crowd gathered at the college campus, where the athletic sports took place. There was a game of baseball between two amateur teams. This evening a campfire was built at the grove, around which the pioneers rehearsed tales of by-gone days.

Sunday Camp Meeting.
On Sunday a gigantic camp meeting and basket dinner will be given at the grove. A noted divine will be present and speak both morning and evening. An excursion will also be given to Falls City to those who do not care to remain in the city.

On Monday morning at sunrise guns and artils will be fired and the glorious Fourth ushered in in good shape. The procession will form on Main street at 10 o'clock in the morning headed by the Monmouth and Dallas bands and the march to the grove will march to the grove where the usual exercises will take place. Harry Bell, principal of the North Yamhill school, will read the declaration of independence, and Hon. Claud Caton of Salem will deliver the oration. There will be music by two brass bands. In the afternoon there will be athletic sports on the campus.

Enough money has been contributed by business men of the city to pay the necessary expenses incurred by the committees, and all citizens are co-operating with each other to make this the most successful celebration in years.

WON $10,000 ON YALE-HARVARD BOAT RACE

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.)
Newport, R. I., July 2.—Paying wagers on the Harvard-Yale boat race is occupying the attention of the summer cottagers here. It is understood Reggie Vanderbilt showed his loyalty to Yale by wagering $10,000 on the contest.

Elisha Dyer, Jr., Harry Lehr and James B. Stokes were the heaviest winners aside from Vanderbilt. Mrs. Reggie Vanderbilt and Mrs. William E. Carter won enough money to buy a house with candy to keep them in sweet stuff for a week. No one will ever know just how much was won and lost here, but it can be estimated as not less than $20,000.

INTEREST AT ROSEBURG.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)

ASK PRESIDENT TO HELP THE MINERS

MONTANA LABOR ASSEMBLY DEMANDS THAT THE GOVERNOR OF COLORADO AND MONEY POWERS HAVE TAKEN THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.)
Great Falls, Mont., July 2.—The Trades and Labor Assembly of Cascade county has sent the following communication to President Roosevelt:

"Whereas a condition of affairs exists in Colorado that appeals to all fair-minded men and all good American citizens who have the blood in their veins that flowed in veins of their forefathers who founded this great American country, and declared as the fundamental principles that all men were created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, and

"Whereas, the governor of the state of Colorado and the money power has taken the law into their own hands, in disregard of all those rights of American citizens and therefore,

"Whereas, the American people have time and time again protected these rights in foreign countries and have gone to war that justice might be done to our citizens, therefore,

"Resolved, That we ask you, as president of the United States, to see that justice be done our citizens in Colorado."

WONDER WHO MORTON'S SUCCESSOR WILL BE?
(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.)
San Francisco, July 2.—Railroad officials generally are looking forward to the meeting of the directors of the Santa Fe in New York next Wednesday and wondering who they will select to succeed Second Vice-president Paul Morton. The latter assumes his new duties of secretary of the navy tomorrow. The general opinion among Santa Fe officials on this coast is that the vacancy will not for the present be filled but that the duties of the place will be discharged by Freight Traffic Manager W. B. Bidloe in addition to his own work.

The Santa Fe paid Morton $35,000 as second vice-president in charge of all its traffic. As a cabinet minister he will, of course, get much less. He is worth several million dollars, so the salary of a cabinet office does not weigh very much with him. He has a brother in Chicago who is rated as a millionaire ten times over and is at the head of the salt trust.

While a strong man, Morton's departure from the Santa Fe will not mean any change in the E. P. Ripley management of the property or in the ownership of a majority of its stock.

BANDS WILL PARADE.
(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Eugene, Or., July 2.—The committee appointed on the Fourth of July celebration for Eugene has decided to engage every band in the county and have each community which furnishes a band get up a parade, the bands to march at the head, and a prize will be given to the one making the best showing.

It is also intended to have a balloon ascension and parachute jump, besides the usual sports and a baseball game between the Eugene and Roseburg State league teams.

(Special Dispatch by Leased Wire to The Journal.)

Miss Walsh is the favorite niece of her millionaire uncle and on every visit he had given her some material token of his favor.

Miss Walsh is now confined to her room by her injuries. Her father and mother are watching tenderly over her and attempting to alleviate the pain of her burns.
