THIELMAN PAINTS THE ANGELS WHITE

JAKE'S ARM IS ALL RIGHT ONCE MORE AND THE STRONG WINGED DUTCHMAN SHUTS OUT THE LOS ANGELES NINE - DOLLY GRAY FITZGERALD A GREAT GAME.

Portland 2, Los Angeles 0. Thielman and Steelman, Gray and Spies.

In a pitcher's battle yesterday, one of the prettiest in some time, Thielman was the more effective and succeeded in whitewashing the Angels. Old Jake has not been winning very many games of late, due, it is said, to a bad kink that his pitching arm received while he was playing in the field recently, and the Dutchman was anxious to show Manager Dugdale that when he was in condition he could deliver the goods, and his work yesterday was convincing. But, while Thielman was bending over his choicest ones, making the Angels weep at every swing of the bat, Dolly Gray, who was doing slab duty for the visitors, was pitching brilliant ball and kept five of the Browns free from safe hits during the matinee, allowing but five all told, and they came in three innings. Gray threw a puzzling ball and always got the batter in the hole by his clever inshoot.

Portland's run came in the first and eighth innings on safe hits. Los Angeles was never very dangerous, only one reaching the third cushion. Toman secured a pretty double but died on the bunt. Thielman's support was perfect, not a misplay marred the performance. Raymond, Castro, Francis, Beck and Steelman played tight-edge ball and shared in the glory. Captain Flood hit Ross put up their usual good game. The story is well told in the summary:

CHESBRO'S TWIRLING IS EVENT OF SEASON

"The greatest event of the season, so far as the game itself is concerned, is the invention of a new delivery, or 'ball,' as the players call it, by Jack Chesbro," says Umpire Carpenter, now a member of the National League staff. "I have stood back of the plate for a good many years, but I never saw anything like this ball. Jack delivers it from the upper part of the palm of his pitching hand, but how he ever gets it up to the plate I don't see. It comes floating up so slowly that you can see the seams. It doesn't appear to be revolving at all, and it seems as if it would never get to the plate."

CANADIAN CAPTURES DIAMOND SCULLS

(Journal Special Service.)
Henley, England, July 7.—L. F. Scholtes of Toronto won the diamond sculls here today at the annual regatta. Scholtes defeated Clouset, and the time was six seconds behind the record.

DIAMOND GLISTENINGS

Manager Dugdale returned from the game yesterday afternoon a very sick man. He had contracted a high fever during the day and should have been in his room instead of at the game, but his interest in the team couldn't keep him away. This morning Mr. Dugdale was around, but was not feeling well at all.

WARREN AND SULLIVAN MATCHED

Tommy Warren and Jack Sullivan have been matched for the main event at Tommy Tracey's amateur boxing carnival tomorrow evening. These two clever lads have met before and are evenly matched. Those who witnessed their previous performances will surely go again, for they are capable of putting up a clever exhibition. Several good preliminaries have been arranged for and a treat is in store for the fight fans who attend the Columbia club tomorrow.

EASTERN SPORTS DISCUSS BOXERS

GOVARNIKS THINK JEFFRIES-KURBEN FIGHT IS AWAY OFF—CURBEN CLAIMS THAT HE WILL WIN FROM FITZSIMMONS ON POINTS.

(Journal Special Service.)
New York, July 7.—Two matters are under discussion by eastern followers of the prize ring these warm summer days. One is, will Jeffries and Munroe get together in August? There are men here, shrewd observers, who will give odds that the fight will not come off. They laugh at the idea that the champion is afraid of the Butte man. Jeffries is afraid of nothing that walks on legs and is supremely confident of his ability to whip anything in sight, but the big fellow is not in the fighting game for fun and he cannot see where the money is coming from in the fight in August to justify the work and money necessary to get into condition, to say nothing of the chance which is always present of losing the championship and the perquisites thereto appertaining. Hence the belief that the match is off.

The other pugilistic rarebit is the fight tomorrow evening between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack O'Brien. This will be the most important fight in the history of O'Brien's ring career. The Quaker, since his first trip to England several years ago, has made rapid strides toward the top of the pugilistic ladder, and many good judges of pugilism today believe him, next to Jeffries, to be the greatest fighter in the world. There is no denying the fact that O'Brien is the cleverest man in the ring today, and a stiff puncher. Whether he will try to mix it with Fitzsimmons, as he did with "Kid" Carter and Marvin Hart, remains to be seen. If he does he will find a tartar in the old man. O'Brien is none too fond of taking punishment, especially in the regions around his heart. Fitzsimmons delights in stabbing his opponents in the stomach. If he gets one or two home on the Quaker hostilities may end quickly.

O'Brien says he will win on points. Fitzsimmons says the contest will not go the six rounds, meaning that he will win by a knockout. The advance sale of seats has been the largest in the history of boxing in Philadelphia.

Jack Root wants some of Jack Munroe's game. He has challenged the Miner to meet him, and the challenge probably will be accepted. If the huge man succeeds in putting Root out in short order he will stand a better chance of getting Jeffries in the ring with him.

COON TO MEET TACOMA MEETING

FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE THE ATTACKS UPON HIM BY THE WILSON FACTION WASHINGTON'S CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR WILL APPEAR.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, July 7.—For the first time since the attacks upon him by the Wilson faction of the Republican party, Charles E. Coon, nominee for lieutenant-governor on that party's ticket will appear in public tonight. He will attend a political meeting at Tacoma, but will not be called upon to speak. While in Seattle yesterday Mr. Coon, whose home is in Port Townsend, conferred with a number of local politicians.

Mr. Coon's position since the stories were circulated about his private life has been most trying, yet the whippers and innuendoes have not even been of such a character that he could notice them or dignify those who have attacked him by making a reply. He has steadfastly refused to comply with the demand that he quit the ticket, yet he has little sympathy, apparently, in his own party, for his associates on the ticket make no attempt to defend him or in any way lessen his embarrassment. His personal friends are still seeking some way to even the score with those who have maliciously spread stories broadcast.

A. E. Mead, Republican nominee for governor, has his own political manager and refused to have any more than he can help to do with E. B. Palmer, chairman of the Republican state committee, and the man through whom the attacks on Coon were made. Mr. Mead and Harry Fairchild, who is directing his movements, are in eastern Washington, where they have determined to spend the greater part of the time until the election, in the hope of counteracting the effect produced when the railroad lobby dictated the ticket to the Republican convention.

AT THE THEATRES

FIGS WITH DIPLOMAS.

It requires a full barnyard menagerie to put on the greatest act in vaudeville, "Farmer Jones and His Educated Pigs," at the Bijou. Trained chickens, ducks, pigeons and, of course, the three wonderful pigs. The stage is set with a real old fashioned chain-pump from which water is drawn, piles of hay and a typical country home exterior. The farmer's wife feeds her pets which flock about her, the pigeons perching upon her head and shoulders. She sings a song and then the farmer comes in from his day's work, pumps a bucket of water and makes his preparations for the farm supper. While the meal is being prepared he puts his pigs through their paces for 30 minutes. Many other great acts, including the world's fair pictures.

SHIELDS HAS A QUEEN.

Light comic opera of the kind you'll enjoy on a hot evening is the attraction Shields' Park, the place where all people go. There is any number of catchy songs, graceful girls, and high-class specialties in "The Queen of the Musketeers." The park is a delightful contrast to a hot theatre.

ENGAGEMENT LENGTHENED.

On account of the success of "Just Struck Town" the Corday management has, by offering special inducements, succeeded in securing the Waiters company for four days more than the original contract called for. The special engagement will open with next Sunday matinee and the bill selected as "Just Before Dawn," the stirring melodrama which holds the record for popularity in eastern cities. It is new to Portland audiences but it is certain to prove a banner local success to the credit of Elmer Walters and his company. "Just Struck Town" tonight and Saturday matinee and night. "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" tomorrow night.

AT THE STAR.

The Divine Dodson at the Star theatre is one of the most amusing female impersonation acts in vaudeville, and with the marvelous violin playing of Emil Chevrolet, the great vaudeville patron would make any program worth journeying far to see. Nevertheless, it is the turn of Derenda and Green that is the feature of the program. Nothing like the club-teasing-act of these comedy jugglers has been produced on the coast.

AMATEURS AT ABOABE.

Tomorrow night will be amateur night at the Arcade theatre, and in addition to the regular program a number of the playhouse will witness the performances of many aspirants who desire to enter the vaudeville business. The sensation act of the Fowlers, in a background of rich and beautiful scenery, a ladder while a big man walks down it on his hands, and then later takes him on her arms while he balances himself in the air, must be seen to be appreciated. The dancing of the three McDonald sisters is also quaint and odd.

"THE BUTTERFLIES."

There is something bright and refreshing in "The Butterflies," which the new Baker theatre company is presenting all this week. It is just a delicious little comedy, filled with original, mirth-provoking lines and situations, and a background of rich and beautiful scenery. The scenes between Mr. Standing and Miss Reals never fail to bring bursts of spontaneous laughter and applause, so clever and humorous are they constructed and so finished the acting of these two artists.

"UP TO TOMPKINS."

Many people consider the theatre as a place of amusement only, such as "Up to Tompkins," the great three-act farce comedy, which the new Baker theatre company will put on next week, was written. There is not a sober or quiet moment in the piece, but a continuous succession of funny scrapes and situations. Stock companies usually produce many of these plays during the summer season, as they appear to be in demand. "Up to Tompkins" opens with the Sunday matinee.

THE COOL LYRIC.

One of the coolest places in town is the Lyric, the popular vaudeville house at Seventh and Alder streets. The bill this week is replete with high-class acts and crowds a dollar's worth into 10 cents.

LAWYERS IN SESSION.

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
Seattle, July 7.—Today the State Bar association is in session in Seattle, the leading lawyers from all parts of the state taking part in the discussions and reading papers on topics of general interest as well as particularly to attorneys. The gathering will be the largest of its kind ever held in the state, and its sessions will last three days.
